A BIG DEFALCATION

Startling Discovery Made by a Bank Examiner.

A SHORTAGE OF NEARLY $80,000

The Tradesmens' Bank of Conshohocken, Pa., Systematically Robbed.

The Cashier a Fugitive From Justice—He Was Prominent in Public Affairs and a Leading Church Member—Great Excitement in the Thriving Manufacturing Town—How the Cashier Escaped.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 1.—This thriving iron and general manufacturing town, four miles below Norristown, on the Schuylkill, is the scene of a financial earthquake which has caused widespread regret, not only for its immediate effect, but as tending to cause a deplorable feeling of insecurity among bank depositors and stockholders throughout the entire county.

William Henry Cresson, Vice-President and Cashier of the Tradesmen's National Bank, since its organization—about six years ago—is now a fugitive from justice and an embezzler of the bank's funds to the extent of about $75,000.

The discrepancy in Cresson's accounts was first discovered last week by United States Bank Examiner James who simply visited the bank in his routine of duty, not suspecting that anything was wrong. Several subsequent visits were made and their frequency aroused the suspicion of the other bank officials.

Tuesday Mr. James made known to the directors the result of his investigation and they at once confronted Cashier Cresson with the charge that he was a defaulter. It is understood that he did not deny the accusation in toto, but he contested the correctness of Mr. James' figures. Later in the day when the directors attempted to locate the cashier they were unable to do so, and at last accounts he was still missing with no clue to his whereabouts.

Bank Examiner James says the deficit will be more than $50,000, and may reach $75,000. He says the embezzlement of the bank funds by Cresson has been going on for some time. His method was false entries and substitutions. The plunder, Mr. James says, consists of cool cash, none of the securities having been molested.

Cashier Cresson is said to have invested heavily recently in stock of both the electric light and gas company, and held other stocks. He was a director of the Tradesmens' Building and Loan Association, an active member of the Board of Trade, and conspicuous in almost every enterprise of a public nature. He was vestryman in the Calvary P. E. Church, and was on earnest worker and liberal contributor in the cause of religion.

THE TRUNK IN COURT.

The Box In Which Dr. Cronin Was Packed Offered in Evidence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The defence in the Cronin trial made a vigorous effort to exclude the testimony given by the witness McGarry in regard to his talk with O'Sullivan on the morning of May 5. This effort the prosecution opposed on the ground that a favorable ruling by the court would exclude all evidence contained in conversation. Judge McConnell deferred passing on the motion, and McGarry was not cross-examined.

George Reilly, a barkeeper, testified to hearing a conversation between Coughlin, O'Sullivan, Whalen and others shortly before the murder. Coughlin said a certain North Side Catholic was talking too much and would get the worst of it. James Quinn, one of the party, corroborated Reilly. W. P. Hatfield, in the employ of Revell & Co., testified to selling chamber furniture and a trunk to a man who gave the name of Simonds. He afterward saw the furniture in the Carlson cottage. The trunk in which Dr. Cronin's body was found was offered in evidence.

A Democratic Split.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 1.—The making of this city a separate assembly district has caused a split among the Democrats. The two factions held conventions, one nominating ex-Assemblyman John Mulvey and the other Alderman Wm. Jacques for the Assembly. The Republicans claim that they can carry the county.

Schaeffer Will Play.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 1.—Jacob Schaeffer, the billiardist, of this city, who, it was supposed, would take no part in the international billiard tournament, has decided to become a participant in it. A friend of Schaeffer's remarked to-day that the Pittsburger would come out with flying colors.

Closing Saloons in Hartford.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 1.—The County Commissioners decided not to grant liquor licenses to grocery stores or to places kept by women. They decided to make the license fee $450. Their decision will probably close a third of the places in Hartford where liquor has been sold.

To Meet the Pope's Delegate.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 1.—Monsigner O'Connell, president of the American College at Rome, and Rev. J. P. Donahoe, chancellor of this diocese, will go to New York to-morrow to meet and receive Archbishop Satalli of Rome, the Pope's delegate to the Catholic Centennial.

Abrams' Victim Dead.

BELLE VERNON, Pa., Nov. 1.—Hon. J. M. Bowell, who was assaulted by Capt. Decatur Abrams at Uniontown on Monday last, is dead. The stories of the affair are conflicting. Capt. Abrams says that he threw the stone which caused his death in self defense.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

She Met in the Catskills and Were Married Very Quietly.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 1.—A marriage which has been concealed since August, and which has its own tinge of romance, has just become a matter of news among New Haven's society people.

The heroine is, or rather was, Miss Annie Day, the pretty 19-year-old daughter of Erastus Day, of Colchester, Conn., chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. The hero is Eugene Collier, son of wealthy parents of Hudson, N. Y., and a student in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York.

The young people met in the Catskills, where Miss Day was summering with her father. It was love at first sight, and after three weeks proposed and was accepted. They were married the middle of August and agreed to keep it quiet for a year. They meant to be married again in style and have a wedding reception which all their friends and relatives might attend, but the second ceremony will probably be omitted.

UNDER FALLING WALLS.

Workmen Injured in New Jersey by the Collapse of a Building.

PASSAIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 1.—One of a number of new building beings constructed on Monroe street collapsed yesterday evening and a number of persons were buried under the falling walls and more or less injured. Defective masonry is said to have been the cause of the accident. The buildings were being erected by Charles Barnard, of Burlington.

The following named persons were injured: Richard Cormick, a bricklayer of Washington, D. C., back broken, recovery doubtful; L. Goodwin, of Washington, D. C., head fractured; Samuel J. Taylor, of Baltimore, leg fractured; Wm. Johnson, of Baltimore, severe internal injuries; John Nash, of Burlington, N. J., ribs broken.

HER BODY CREMATED.

First Incineration at the New Crematorium at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1.—The advocates of the cremation of the human body after death gave their first demonstration in Baltimore of their idea of what is the proper disposition of mortal remains.

The body incinerated was that of Mrs. Gertrude Hartman, of this city. The new crematorium is at London Park Cemetery, and C. S. Baldwin, of Lancaster, Pa., supervised the arrangements.

Mrs. Hartman's ashes were placed in a jar and buried in London Park Cemetery. Mrs. Hartman died last August. She had been married two years.

A Boy Indicted For Manslaughter.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 1.—The Grand Jury found a bill against Joseph B. Barros, of New Bedford, for manslaughter. Barros is the eight-year-old Portuguese boy, who last September was charged with causing the death of a playmate in a cranberry bog in Plymouth, stabbing him with a jack-knife. There is some doubt whether the boy and his mother are still in the vicinity of New Bedford, or have sailed for their old home on Cape De Verde Island.

NEWS FOR GUNNERS.

Ducking Season Commenced To-Day on the Susquehanna Flats.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1.—To-day is the first day, according to law, for the shooting of wild ducks on the Susquehanna flats, and sportsmen have been busy making preparations for the opening of the season.

The law permits shooting three days each week, namely, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The reports as to the number of ducks are rather more favorable than they have been for several seasons. Canvas-backs do not usually arrive in any number until the middle of November, and during the past few seasons there have been few of them at any time.

Many Baltimoreans, New Yorkers, Philadelphians and Bostonians own yachts which they keep at Havre de Grace all the year. Less fortunate persons hire boats and outfits from the market-gunners, the usual price being about $5 a day for each of the first three-days' shooting, after which the price drops off about one-half. Spesutia Island Narrows, at the lower part of the flats, are reported as being almost covered with ducks at times. At the mouth of Bush, Middle and Back rivers they are also plentiful, although the gunpowder is said to be not so favored. One gentleman killed over seventy ducks one day last week at Dunder Shore. Many sportsmen are using wood powder, which is noiseless, and they predict good results, as it will not frighten the ducks. The gunners make a big effort on the first day on the flats to kill all the ducks they can, so as to give their boat the credit of being the leader.

A Desperate Character Shot.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—Patrick Hughes, a desperate character, was fatally shot yesterday evening. He entered the house of Martin Schultz and demanded money from Schultz's 12-year-old daughter. She called to her father, who attempted to force the ruffian from the house. He drew a knife and made a murderous assault on Schultz, who secured a gun and fired two charges into Hughes' body.

The Galena Safe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The United States man-of-war Galena, which ran her nose into the mud on Romer's shoal down the bay on Wednesday evening, reached the navy yard yesterday evening. Lieutenant William J. Barnett, the executive officer, said they got her off the shoal without the assistance of the tugs that had been sent to her rescue. The Galena landed six of the Navasa rioters in Baltimore.

HOT RELIGIOUS WAR

A Conflict Precipitated by a Revivalist.

THE MILITIA ORDERED OUT.

The Mayor Powerless to Control the Mob and Serious Trouble is Anticipated.

An Attack Upon the Catholic Church Causes a General Row With the Methodists of Axtell, Kan.—Several Catholics Put in Prison—A Town Organizing to Rescue the Imprisoned Catholics.

TOPEKA, Nov. 1.—Adjutant-General Roberts received a telegram to-day notifying him of a riot at Axtel, Marshall county, and asking that a detachment of militia be sent at once to quell the disturbance. The Adjutant-General at once ordered out Company G of the Third Regiment at Marysville, and left on the first train for the scene of the trouble.

Axtell is a town of about 700 people, and is settled largely by Catholics. On Wednesday a Methodist minister, named Johnson, from the eastern part of the State, arrived at Axtell to hold a revival meeting. He had quite a large congregation in the evening at the Methodist church, and in the audience were a number of Catholics. Soon after beginning his remarks the minister began an attack upon the Catholic Church. He became so abusive that one of the Catholics present called him a liar. He continued his remarks until the Catholics could stand it no longer.

Four of them rushed to the pulpit, and, taking the preacher by the collar, threw him down. In a moment the pulpit was surrounded by an angry mob and a general row ensued. Although the Catholics were in the minority, they were too much for the Methodists, and succeeded in throwing the preacher and two others out of the house. The whole town was soon aroused. Four Catholics were arrested and put in the city prison.

This so enraged the Catholic population that they organized to assist their imprisoned associates. The town of St. Bridget, a few miles distant, is settled entirely by Catholics, and it is reported that the whole town is organizing to go to the rescue of the Axtell Catholics. The Mayor says he is powerless to control the mob and fears a conflict between the two elements. The Adjutant-General will not reach the town until 9 o'clock this evening.

GOVERNMENT MESSAGES.

The Postmaster-General Fixes Telegraph Rates With the Western Union.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—Postmaster General Wanamaker, has issued notices to the different telegraph companies, fixing the following rates for Government business during the current fiscal year:

For day messages of not more than 10 words exclusive of date, address and signature, 10 cents for all distances not exceeding 400 miles and 1-2 cent for each word in excess of 10 words.

For distances exceeding 400 miles and not exceeding 1,000 miles 15 cents for the first 10 words and 3-4 of one cent for each word in excess of 10 words. For distances exceeding 1,000 miles there shall be added to the price of the message fixed, for miles, distances over 400 and under 1,000, the sum of ⅗ cent for each word.

For night messages not exceeding 20 words, exclusive of date, address and signature, 15 cents for all distances and ⅕ cent for each additional word.

Instead of computing the actual distance of transmission the distance for payment shall be taken to be the number of miles between the Capital of the State or Territory, from within which the message is sent and the Capital of the State or Territory within which the message is received, such distances, to be computed upon the shortest practical routes between such Capitals. If a message be sent and received within the same state or territory the distance for payment shall be taken to the distance of 400 miles.

The rate for signal service cipher messages is fixed at 2½ cents per word over each circuit. Mr. Wanamaker also directs that if at any time during the year any company shall charge the public a less rate than the presented Government rate, the Government rate is also to be reduced to the same figure.

A Boy Suicides by Hanging.

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 1.—At 8 o'clock last night Jesse Harvey, aged 16 years, a nephew of J. N. Merriam, a well-to-do merchant, hung himself in his bed room. He screwed an iron hook in the ceiling, made a noose with a piece of clothes line and then stepped off a chair. No cause is assigned for the deed. The lad's parents live in Franklin, Pa.

He Stole a Chew of Tobacco.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—In the Criminal Court here Patrick White was convicted of robbing Thomas Carroll of a chew of tobacco. Conviction would have been impossible had not White been a hard character who has frequently figured in criminal trials.

New Railroad Line.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 1.—A charter has been granted to the Beach Creek, Pittsburg & New York Railroad Company which will build a line connecting the Vanderbilt's Beach Creek Railroad with the Pittsburg & Western.

Another Yale Student Dies of Fever.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 1.—Charles E. Brainard, of the junior class at Yale, son of Loverett Brainard, of this city, died of typhoid fever at his home here. He came home with disease about two weeks ago.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of The Press, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Many a turkey will bid farewell to earthly cares during the coming month.

—The members of the Borough Council will meet in regular session this evening.

—"Early to bed, and early to rise," won't make a man rich if he don't advertise.

—The case of the City vs. Joseph Sullivan for illegal selling, has been indefinitely postponed.

—Many items of social and local interest are crowded out of today's issue, but will appear to-morrow.

—Whether Prohibitionist or Republican, you can make no mistake in voting for a man of Mr. Coddington's character.

—John Williams, an employee at the Pond tool works, was arrested by officer Lynch, yesterday, for drunkenness. He was this morning fined $5.

—To-morrow The Press will publish a sketch of the life and character of William Archibald Coddington who is nominated for Assemblyman from this district.

—A conference of Young Men's Christian Associations is to be held at Jerusalem. Delegates are expected from Bierut, Damascus, Jaffa, Nazareth and Jerusalem.

—A number of the members of the Atalanta Wheelmen, of Newark, will attend the athletic games that will be held by the Plainfield Bicycle Club on Nov. 14. One of them will contest in the races.

—One of the city butchers had the misfortune, while driving into Washington street from Front, with a large parlor stove, yesterday, to upset the stove and scatter the broken fragments into the roadway.

—The regular meeting of the Union county branch of the State Charities Aid Association of New Jersey will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at Library Hall, Elizabeth, second floor.

—Today is the first day of the gunning season for rabbits and quail. Many of the farmers in this county, however, have put up notices forbidding hunting on their premises. Early this morning scores of hunters with guns and ammunition were seen piloting their way to the thicket and woods in search of game.

—The drilling of freight cars at the freight house in this city, is growing more and more dangerous each day. Scarcely a day passes that one or another of the numerous truckmen who frequent the freight yard, barely escapes with his life, in spite of the carefulness of the railroad hands on the drill engine.

—The proposition to raise the national flag over the public schools is meeting with general favor, and in a large number of districts money has been appropriated for the purpose. It is to be hoped that this and adjoining counties will follow the example of the Washington school in this city, and float a flag over the public school buildings.

A Surprise Party

Was tendered to Miss Jennie Collins at her home, corner of Third and New streets, last evening. Prof. Frazee furnished the music for dancing, which was indulged in by a large number of young people until an early hour this morning The committee of arrangements consisted of Miss Nora Casey, Miss Annie Collins and Miss Maggie Casey. Supper was also served during the evening.

Many cases of rheumatism, which have resisted the skill of the profession, have promptly yielded to that wonderful remedy, Salvation Oil. 25 cents.

Take the news home to Mary, and tell her that my cough has gone, and that a 25 cent bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup did the blessed work.

FLOGGED TILL THE BLOOD RAN.

A School Trustee Accused of Furnishing the Gad.

Mrs. Roantree accuses Miss Carpenter, Principal of the New Market Public School, of flogging her thirteen-year old son until the blood ran, and she also says that School Trustee Davis furnished the gad.

Last Tuesday's Press exclusively published a report of the affair which took place the day before. As it is against the law to administer corporeal punishment except upon the expressed wish of the parent, the news of Miss Carpenter's action created much excitement in the little village, which was increased by the information that the boy's widowed mother would prosecute the teacher.

One of the School Trustees—not Mr. Davis, however—told a Press reporter: "It is well-known that corporeal punishment is against the law and it is never inflicted unless with authority of the parent. But although no such authority was given in the case in point, the fact of a teacher being attacked by a scholar would warrant defense in any case. That order must be maintained in a public school and that the teacher must have control over her pupils is a conceded fact, and the Trustees are determined to thus control the school if it becomes necessary to expel a number of refractory scholars. The parents should aid and not oppose such efforts in behalf of good order and discipline."

But Mrs Roantree denies that her boy attacked the teacher. She was interviewed by a representative of The Press this morning, and related the following story: "I am a poor woman whose husband died recently, leaving me to support by day's work a family of children. Some time ago while working for the sister of Miss Carpenter, I had some words with the latter and ever since she has so persecuted my boy Theodore, that I was compelled to keep him out of school.

"Last Monday I sent him again for the first time in three weeks. She kept him in for another boy's fault, but I sent her word that if Theodore had been doing wrong I would punish him. She paid no attention but sent some message to Mr. Davis, one of the Trustees He did not come himself but sent a big whip with which Miss Carpenter flogged Theodore so terribly that there were deep cuts in his hips from which the blood ran.

"I took the boy to Mr. Davis' house but he would not see me. I showed his wife the cuts and also showed Mrs. Storms the wife of another Trustee, and a lady that was visiting her. They all said it was a shame. Mr. Storms is a Justice of the Peace and I tried to make a complaint before him, but he said he had to go away and would not be home until to-night. They all know I am poor and are trying to make so much trouble for me that I cannot afford to go to law for redress."

Entered Into Rest.

Monday night, between nine and ten o'clock, Helen Alice Nitsch (Catherine Owen), went quietly and peacefully to sleep in death, her frail body and brave spirit worn out by sufferings both physical and mental.

Her warm sympathy, the kindly interest and helpfulness she was always ready to extend to others, no matter how racked by pain was the slight frame which held her bright courageous spirit, endeared her to many friends who have brightened the last hours of her painful illness by their loving ministrations. Even death itself had no power to chill the love in the hearts of her friends. They gathered close around and with reverent hands adorned and beautified the room in which lay the mortal remains of her they delighted to honor.

Brave, loving, self-sacrificing mother! energetic woman! thoughtful, helpful friend! God grant to you the rest and peace you have never known here.

Of the long line of carriages which followed Mrs. Nitsch's body to its last home, not one was hired. Those of her friends who were debarred from going themselves, sent their carriages for the benefit of those who had none of their own.

Will Destroy His Sight.

Geo. Smith, aged 18 years, of North Plainfield, a young man who is learning the sash and blind trade at Spicer & Hubbard's planing mill, met with an accident while at work yesterday afternoon which will probably deprive him permanently of the use of his right eye.

The young man was working with a large chisel when in some unexplained manner the chisel flew up, the keen edge striking and cutting through the ball of the eye. The patient was taken to Reynolds' drug store where he fell unconscious on the floor. Later he was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the entire hospital staff labored in the hope of saving the boy's sight.

The patient was subsequently taken to his home in North Plainfield, and today his condition is reported as little improved.

Free Lecture.

Rev. Dr. M. L. Gates of Elizabeth will give a free lecture in Vincent chapel this evening at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Epworth League. Rev. Dr. Gates will lecture on "Astronomy," and a cordial invitation is extended to all, especially the young people, to be present.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss E. U. King, of West Second street, is visiting friends at Jersey City Heights.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mowrey, aged 28 years, died at her home on East Front street, at four o'clock this morning, from pneumonia.

"Miss Susie C. Emerson, '89" of this city, says the Alfred University, "is studying music, vocal and instrumental, and elocution, in New York."

Mr. William Archibald Coddington, the Democratic nominee for Assemblyman in this District, will speak in Rahway, to-night, with Attorney General Stockton.

A necktie and apron surprise was tendered to Miss Emma Minich of Manning avenue, in the Borough, last evening. The guests met at the residence of Miss Kittie Ackerman.

Mr. S. E. Hazell will deliver his lecture on vocal music in the public school at Somerville, to morrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, instead of in the morning as previously announced.

The funeral of the late John M. Jackson, who died at Trenton a few days ago, took place at No. 28 North avenue, this city, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. Schenck officiated and interment was made in the Methodist cemetery.

The members of the Hitormissit tennis club of North Plainfield, gave a fancy dress masquerade party at the residence of Miss Capitola Conover on Jackson avenue, last evening. About thirty young people enjoyed the dancing and supper which followed.

Miss Lillie Fritts and Miss Belle Butler, sailed from Europe for home, on Wednesday. They left Plainfield with Miss Bulkley, Miss Yates and the Misses Kirkner, on July 10. The younger of the Misses Kirkner was seriously ill in Berlin, but has now thoroughly recovered.

Miss Ida Angleman, of this city, one of Miss Kimball's associates in the office here of the General Secretary of the C. L. S. C., has accepted the management of the Epworth League department of the Methodist Book concern in New York. The C. L. S. C., at their new office in Buffalo, will have much difficulty in filling Miss Angleman's place.

Little Christian Helpers.

The "Earnest Workers," a class of twenty-four little ones of Trinity Reformed church, gave an entertainment and parlor sale at their teacher's home, 59 East Fifth street, during Tuesday evening and Thursday afternoon of this week.

The programme consisted of charades, songs, recitations and tableaux in which latter Annie Slater, Nellie Arnold, Sadie Addis, Jennie Smith, Josie Banks and Carrie Smith, took part. The entire affair was a success in every way.

The aim of the class has been to raise money enough for a share, which is $10, in the church debt, and hereby to get one of the certificates given for each payment of that amount. By the entertainment described above, not only was money raised sufficient for the purpose mentioned, but there was a surplus over which will be given to the Sunday School. The class wish to thank all the kind friends who helped them.

The "Bachelors" Halloween.

Last evening at their rooms, the Bachelors Club entertained and banquetted about forty members and friends. A bountiful repast was served at ten o'clock by the club's caterer, and after toasts and speeches segars were served and the party adjourned to the parlors of the club and passed the hours in pleasant conversation, story telling and singing.

The company is still awaiting the "Story that was not told." It was rumored that a West Front street real estate speculator knew and could recite "Casey at the Bat," but he was unable to prove the rumor true and it was said his brother had something to do with his failure to respond.

After congratulations and many good wishes for the club's walfare, the party dispersed in the wee sma' hours well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Married by Friends Ceremony.

At the residence of the bride No. 168 East Second street, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, occurred the marriage of Mr. John D. Furnas of Wainsville, Ohio, and Miss Ella D., youngest daughter of Mrs. Sarah Clifton of this city. The ceremony was according to the prescribed rites of the Society of Friends, and was performed by the bride and groom themselves, in the presence of a number of witnesses including the members of the immediate families and a few near friends of the bride. The usual hand-shaking followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Furnas will remain in this city for an indefinite period, after which they will permanently locate in Ohio. The bride is a sister of Mr. Chas. B. Clifton of this city.

Dumped in the Mud in Their Party Clothes.

The servants of Mrs. E. J. Waring of Washington Park, gave a party and dance in which a number of their colored friends took part, last night, in the spacious laundry of Mrs. Waring's residence.

Four of the youngest and most popular of the belles were returning just before midnight packed in a carriage together while their escorts walked. Turning a corner too suddenly they were all upset and dragged through the mud. One gown of blue velvet and yellow satin was entirely ruined, and the dresses of the other young women were also much damaged. No lives were lost.

FUR MUFFS AND CAPES.

WE have just received three cases of Muffs, Capes and Fur Trimmings from three of the best Fur Houses in New York, which are now being displayed. The large assortment comprises everything desirable in this line, and we can confidently say that no such exhibition of these goods have ever been made in this city before. THIS WEEK will be the best opportunity to get the choice selections, as later on they will be sold. "A word to the wise," etc., you know.

LACE CURTAINS!—Is another specialty with us this week. We have purchased several "closing out" lots from the Importers, and offer EXTRA BARGAINS in these goods.

WINDOW SHADES!—We have been very agreeably surprised at the increased demand made upon us in this department. Everybody is pleased with the excellent and prompt manner in which our work is done.

PARTIES having houses to Shade or Carpet, will do well to get our "estimate" before ordering elsewhere.

No. 28 EAST FRONT STREET.

ELECTION OFFICERS' DUTIES.

Who May and Who May Not Register and Vote.

The following requirements of the registry and election laws are of general interest and importance. The provisions that were operative last year have been repealed and the old law is in force. Those which govern registration and next Tuesday's election are very simple, but confusion is likely to arise on account of the recent changes:

All persons entitled to exercise the right of suffrage at the General Election are entitled to registry by one of these methods: Those who voted at the last general election, and are on that registry, not having lost such right by removal or otherwise; those who appear personally, and those who are shown by the affidavit of a voter in the district to be so entitled.

It is the duty of the Board to correct the registry and erase names of persons known to have removed. They should act only on the best obtainable evidence, but should they act honestly and erase the name of a qualified voter, he could not vote at the coming election, and no action would lie against the Board.

A man may vote from a number different from the one registered in the same district.

An illegal ballot does not need to be deposited before the voter can be arrested. It is a crime to offer an illegal ballot.

A voter may live in a different district from the residence of his family. Or he may be temporarily absent from his family ten years and retain his home with them. He cannot have two homes, but it is a matter of intention, and the best general way to ascertain that intention is to swear him.

None but registered persons may vote, but should the original register be destroyed or inaccessible, the certified copy on file in the clerk's office should be obtained.

If a fraudulent vote be cast on the name of a regularly registered citizen, and the latter subsequently offer his vote it should be accepted. Because the Board has wrongly permitted a fraud it cannot deprive the voter of his rights.

The polls must close at the appointed hour, no matter if the room is full of qualified voters.

THAT FRAZEE LEE WILL CASE.

Can the Court of Errors Rule Two Ways?

A peculiar state of the Frazee Lee will case is that Chancellor McGill, as published exclusively in THE PRESS the day his decision was rendered, has admitted the will to probate, and thus secured to the church $80,000 of Frazee Lee's personal property, unless his decision is overturned by the Court of Errors, to which an appeal has been taken.

But the judgment of the jury at Elizabeth, Wednesday, was that the testator was incapable of making a will and did not know what he was doing. An appeal has been taken on that also to the Court of Errors.

Now is it possible for the court to pursue the apparently contradictory course of sustaining both the judgment of the jury in giving $2,500 worth of real estate to the contestants, and the decision of Chancellor McGill giving the $80,000 of personal property to the church?

Wednesday's verdict only deals with the Lee homestead of about 40 acres, and the contestants, in any event, will have to bring a formal suit to get possession of the remaining real estate.

FOOT BALL.

Leal's Team to Play Two Strong Elevens.

Cutler's school, of New York, will send its strongest football team to Plainfield, to-morrow afternoon to play Leal's eleven consisting of the following: Rushers—Apgar, Edsall, Beebe, McGee, Walz, Erickson and Conant; Quarter back—Cox: Half backs—Stewart and Wyckoff; Full back—Moore.

The above team is a particularly strong one, and good work may be expected. Game will be called at three o'clock.

Tuesday afternoon (election day) the same eleven will play the Columbia Grammar school Alumni team, on the Plainfield grounds.

Election Clerks, Read This!

The clerks of election districts should be careful, when making out their returns, to put in the full name of the candidate the same as it appears on the ticket voted, and not by abbreviation or initial letters only, as the votes are counted exactly as returned.

If clerks of election would also see that the returns are sent promptly by mail to the County Clerk it will save the Board of Canvassers time and trouble.

A Grand Rally.

It will pay the men of Plainfield to hear what Mr. Hoagland of Newark has to say to young men at the Y. M. C. A. hall, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be live singing, brief telling remarks and a hearty welcome for every young man in the city.

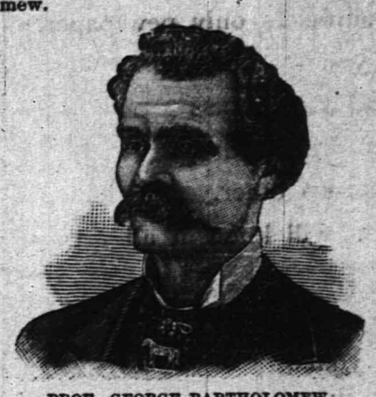
Accept this invitation for yourself and bring some young man with you. There will be no charge and no collection.

The first successful blood-purifier ever offered to the public was Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Imitators have had their day, but soon abandoned the field, while the demand for this incomparable medicine increases year by year, and was never so great as at present.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

An Interesting Interview With the Greatest Horse Educator in the World.

A reporter of the PRESS this morning elbowed his way through a crowd of men, women and children who stood admiring Bartholomew's two mammoth cars at the station of the Central Railroad. Pressing an electric button, a man appeared at the door of the palace car and making our desires known we were ushered into the presence of the greatest horse educator in the whole World, Prof. George Bartholomew.



PROF. GEORGE BARTHOLOMEW.

Prof. Bartholomew is the originator of giving an entire performance with horses on the stages of theatres and is the originator of the acts. He has imitators but their efforts are so feeble that they don't amount to anything. He is a self-made man and in his early career, where many persons would have given up in despair, his determination and great will power sustained him, until he has achieved the pride and ambition of his life. There is no other person that has ever developed horse sense on the same principle and no other persons whose horses act in the same manner. Neither in personal appearance, manner of address, inclination nor ambition is Bartholomew a showman. A distinctive characteristic, so unlike the majority of show people, he has not a bit of braggadocio. He is a diffident, almost bashful man, modest and plain-spoken. He impresses one as a man who loves and thoroughly understands the business in which he is engaged. He uses no mystification, makes no pretense to a hidden power and does not talk for effect.

Prof. Bartholomew was born in Erie county, N. Y., May 14, 1833. He went to California in 1849 during the gold craze. Failing in finding gold he farmed for three years, and in 1855 commenced the show business, exhibiting one, two, six and eight trained horses at various times. He was the owner of three circuses at different times. In 1880 he appeared in Chicago with twelve horses of the present school. In 1884 the school was enlarged to sixteen and in 1888 to twenty-four. He traveled from 1880 to 1886, retired in March 1886 and commenced the present tour in June 1888. His intention now is to quit forever next June and keep his horses for his own amusement only. No amount of money would cause him to part with his equine family. Mr. Bartholomew has never touched liquor nor tobacco in any form and has never uttered an oath. There are very few people in the World that have his patience and disposition.

Speaking about his horses and horse education, he said he did not prefer any particular breed of horses to handle. On the whole those of a mixed breed are most easily taught. "You see a thoroughbred is raised for one special service, a trotter for another and a Percheron for another. Outside of their own particular line they are not of so much value. But get a horse that combines the breeding of the three, and you have a horse that is serviceable for any kind of work. All horses are not alike. Some are nervous, active and quick to comprehend; others are slow, phlegmatic and dull. One horse may be taught one feat and be wholly unable to master another, just as one boy with taste for grammar and a dislike for arithmetic, will succeed in the first but fail in the latter. It is generally conceded that the horse possesses memory, and upon that concession it must be admitted that he can think. The horse is an apt scholar. After you have imbued him with the fact that you desire him to learn, you can teach his capabilities. My methods are similar to a schoolmaster's, only that greater patience is required to give my pupils time to comprehend what I desire of them. Get the horse's confidence, convince him that you are his friend. Patience, perseverance, kindness and tact will accomplish wonders in the treatment of horses. If horses would get one-tenth more attention and kindness than they do, the owners would get more work out of them, and the horse would not only be a beast of burden, but a docile and agreeable companion to all that have anything to do with the most naturally intelligent animal there is."

Naturalization.

The above Court will sit at the county clerk's office at Somerville, on the afternoons and evenings of Saturday and Monday, for the purpose of issuing naturalization papers.

—All the available working force of the Central Railroad is concentrated at Cranford to place switches and make the necessary connections for the B. and O's Staten Island branch.

As a family medicine, Ayer's Pills excel all others. They are suited to every age and, being sugar-coated, are easy to take. Though searching and thorough in effect, they are mild and pleasant in action, and their use is attended with no injurious results.

Yesterday's Registration.

Following are the totals of names registered in the several wards and election districts, yesterday, together with the number of names registered in the whole city, making a total of 2,280.

WARDS	1st Day	2d Day	Total
First	510	74	584
Second	506	39	545
Third	371	46	417
Fourth, 1st Dist.	314	72	386
Fourth 2d Dist.	284	64	348
Totals	1,985	295	2,280

In the First Ward, yesterday, three names were dropped from the original list, one of the persons having died, and two having removed to other wards. In the Fourth Ward, First District, four names were dropped for obvious reasons. Three names were dropped from the Fourth Ward, Second District.

By the Holy Cross Choir.

There was a large gathering in the school room of the Church of the Holy Cross, last evening, and all were much pleased with the entertainment presented by the Choir under the auspices of the Guild for the benefit of the organ fund.

Want of space alone prevents as extended a notice of the programme as it deserves. The tableaux were especially fine; Mr. George Taggart's "Original Eccentricity" was encored; Mr. C. F. Denecklau, Jr's solo was very pleasing, and the instrumental performances of Messrs W. E. MacClymont, Edward Haselman and Joseph Battels were good.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Brown Bros., dealers in groceries, etc., at Brookline, Mass., have failed.

New York subscriptions to the World's Fair Guarantee Fund now amount to $1,797,543.

The Winola Hotel at Lake Winola, Pa., was burned yesterday. Loss about $10,000.

John King, of Elizabeth, N. Y., was killed while trying to stop a runaway team.

Miss Josie Robinson, daughter of a Wilmington, Del., banker, fell from her horse and was killed.

Governor Gordon, of Georgia, reprieved for one week "Pig" Vann, who was to have been hanged at Summerville, Ga., to-day.

Near Homesville, Chester county, Pa., Wm. Boston fatally stabbed Wm. Crear, a neighbor, during a quarrel. Boston is under arrest.

Charles McElvaine, the condemned murderer of Grocer Luca, was removed from Brooklyn, N. Y., to Sing Sing with the greatest secrecy.

James C. Sylvis, of Bloomsburg, Pa., a prominent labor advocate, is dead, aged 57. He was a member of the 127th Pennsylvania Cavalry.

The suit of O. M. Hopgood, of Boston, vs. Horatio Southworth, has been settled by the latter paying $4,900 for alienating the affections of Hopgood's wife.

Ex-Gov. William Pinkney Whyte, of Maryland, has resigned the position of director and general counsel of the West Virginia Central Railroad Company.

Sick Headache

IS a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most reliable remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Railway Co., Burnet, Texas.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured."—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kansas.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used in small daily doses, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H. Strout, Meadville, Pa.

ALARM IN CANADA

The Dominion Drifting Toward Annexation.

A PREMIER SAID TO FAVOR IT.

A Note of Warning Sounded by a Government Organ.

Agitation in Favor of Closer Trade Relations and Political Union—A Powerful Organization Has This Object in View. The Facts Cause No Little Comment in Political Circles.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—The Dominion Government is evidently becoming alarmed at the hold the agitation in favor of closer trade relations, and in some quarters political union with the United States, is gaining on the country. Their chief organ in Quebec, "La Canadien," to-day comes out strongly favoring imperial federation as deserving of serious attention by all who are anxious to maintain existing institutions, and to oppose an effectual barrier to the Americanizing and revolutionary tendencies of the Liberal party, which are gravely threatening the stability of confederation and gradually drifting Canada toward annexation.

The Premier of Quebec, "La Canadien" says, is the heart and soul of a powerful organization with this object in view, and which is preparing a section of public opinion for radical changes, and it tells the Government's friends that they will never combat the Quebec Premier with success unless to his vigorous programme they oppose one equally vigorous, clear and well defined, and unless the Americanizing idea they oppose the British idea, firmly and without ambiguity, and unless against the advantages of a closer union with the United States, they set off the advantages of a closer union with Great Britain and sister colonies.

Until now the organs of the Dominion Government have ridiculed the idea that the movement in favor of closer relations with the United States had any following or foothold in Canada, and the admission of one of its chief mouthpieces and exponents of its views that the agitation in that direction is gravely threatening the stability of the confederation, and gradually drifting Canada into annexation with the United States, has caused no little comment in political circles here.

DAVITT CONCLUDES.

He is Thanked by the Presiding Judge Hannen.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Parnellites have just cause to feel elated over Mr. Michael Davitt's speech before the Commission. In concluding his address Mr. Davitt declared that the "Times'" attempt at the moral assassination of the political character of a public man was without a parallel in a political party in the history of any country. He appealed to the Commission to say that the "Times" had not proven its charges.

Chief Justice Hannen complimented Mr. Davitt on the ability of his address and the assistance he had given the court in connection therewith.

Sir Henry James, in opening his address in behalf of the "Times," gave a historical review of the principal events leading up to the present situation in Ireland. He denied that any such injustice existed in the government of Ireland by England as to justify the present attitude of the Nationalists. The speaker dwelt at much length upon the numerous measures adopted by the Government during the past half century to improve the condition of Ireland.

STANLEY BEATEN BACK.

A Belief that the Arab Slave Traders Hold the Key to the Situation.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Rumors of disaster to the Stanley expedition are now freely circulated. It is the prevailing impression that Stanley has been beaten back in his attempt to reach Zanzibar by passing down the west shore of the Albert Nyanza, and that the Arab slave traders hold the key to the situation, is widely accepted.

There is little doubt but that the organization is sadly demoralized and broken up into cliques, and that some of the reports that have been brought to the coast by runners have been of such a character that they are suppressed in the interests of civilization. If any of the white men of the expedition succeed in gaining the ear of the world their audiences will be amazed, but it is more probable from the stern expression of incidents that are known to have occurred, that only inklings of the truth in regard to an expedition which started out with such eclat and which, since its inception, has attracted such unprecedented interest, will ever be made known outside of special circles.

MRS. MACKAY'S SUIT.

Publishers Will Have to Pay for Stating that She Was a Washerwoman.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Society circles are taking great interest in the libel action brought by Mrs. Mackay against the "Manchester Examiner." The libel consisted of an allegation published in the "Examiner" to the effect that Mrs. Mackay was a poor widow with two children, and that she was a washerwoman for Nevada miners, when Mr. Mackay was attracted by her, and becoming infatuated, married her.

The lawyers for Mrs. Mackay contend that the words contained in the article suggest that their client is not a lady by birth and education, nor accustomed to associate with persons of good position. Counsel for the defence admit the first innuendo, but deny the second and have paid £10 into court as a proffered settlement of the damages.

The question now raised is whether the payment applied to the whole libel, or only to the innuendo which was admitted. The court ruled that it applied only to the latter.

Tried to Strangle Her Daughter.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—In Kilburn a woman made a determined attempt to strangle to death her two daughters, and was only prevented from accomplishing her purpose by the prompt intervention of neighbors. The woman was taken into custody, and in explanation of her act, said that she wanted to put her daughters out of the way in order that they might escape becoming victims of Jack the Ripper. It is said that the woman has become insane from reading and brooding over the press accounts of the Whitechapel murders.

TURNED ON THE HOSE.

A General Jail Delivery Prevented by the Liberal Use of Water.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 1.—George Solliday, the Sheriff of Washington county, was notified that some of the prisoners confined in the jail were attempting to break jail. The Sheriff, with several deputies, went to the jail to investigate matters and found a number of the prisoners in a state of insubordination. Several of them had in some way gotten their hobbles off and one man, Delaney, charged with cracking a safe, had sawed off the rivets to his cell door and opened the door.

The Sheriff tried to get them back into their cells when several of them armed with knives and one with a razor, threatened to take the lives of their unwelcome visitors. The Sheriff finally procured the hose used at the jail and turned a stream of water upon the belligerents and drove them back into their cells, where they were locked up. As a safeguard, two officers, armed with muskets, were put on guard during the night. Several saws used by the prisoners were found yesterday, and it is very evident that a general jail delivery was intended. The timely discovery made by the Sheriff is all that frustrated them from carrying out their plans.

HIS WONDERFUL CURES.

"Dr." Holland's Methods in the New England States Exposed.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—A long expose is printed of the methods of Alonso Folsom, who, as "Dr," J. H. Holland, has been traveling through Massachusetts and New Hampshire professing to be able to work wonderful cures, taking money and notes of land in return for his treatment. In several instances the patients were nearly frightened to death by the Doctor's direful diagnosis and his drugs made them still worse.

Folsom claimed to be a Quaker and nephew of the celebrated Holland, of Philadelphia, with an office in Keene, N. H.

It has been ascertained that Folsom lives in Chelsea, Mass., where he does a real estate business. He claims to have bought the notes in good faith from the genuine Dr. Holland.

DIED IN HIS CHAIR.

Death of Dr. Seltzer, a Descendant of the Organizer of Johnstown, Pa.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—Dr. Van S. Seltzer, aged 55, one of Ohio's most distinguished physicians, died yesterday while sitting in his arm chair. Deceased had not been very well for several days but was able to attend his patients.

He was of German ancestry, his grandfather having emigrated from Germany at an early age and settled in Pennsylvania, being the organizer of the now famous Johnstown, Lebanon county.

Flurry in Cotton Oil Certificates.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There were rumors yesterday, after business hours, that the heavy drop in cotton oil certificates was due to the discovery of an over issue of stock, and that a defalcation amounting to about $3,000,000 had occurred. Both these reports were officially denied. After the close of the market the decline was explained by the announcement that Messrs. Flagler and Constable, two of the directors, had refused to serve longer on the board, and had sold their stock. The stockholders meet this afternoon for the annual election, and some important changes other than the two named are expected.

Rejoicing on the Kansas Border.

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 1.—There has been great rejoicing on the border for the past two days over Secretary Noble's letter on the Cherokee strip situation. A public meeting was held at Caldwell, attended by 2,000 people. Speeches were made complimenting Noble and resolutions were passed to that effect, which will be forwarded him. It was not a political affair, but all joined, as the action is looked upon as predicting the near approach of the opening of the strip to settlement. At Hunnewell another enthusiastic meeting was held; also one at Arkansas City.

Liabilities of the Douglass Company.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—It is announced that the expert examining the books of the Douglass Axe Company finds assets including the plant sufficient to pay all the direct liabilities of the Company which are about $350,000. The indirect liabilities are not easily estimated as the assignees are continually receiving notices from banks holding maturing notes endorsed by the Company. A meeting of creditors is expected some time next week.

A Confederate's First Pair of Shoes.

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., Nov. 1.—William Bowen, known in history as the barefooted color bearer of General John Morgan's Confederate brigade, has just been married at this place to Miss Maggie Kyne. The first pair of shoes he ever wore were taken from the feet of a dead Federal soldier, whom he slew at Cynthiana with his flagstaff, in a battle there in 1863. His ex-comrades-in-arms remembered him handsomely.

Torpedo Works on a Big Scale.

PHILADLPHIA, Nov. 1.—A company of New York, Philadelphia and New Haven capitalists, with an investment of $6,000,000, has been formed, to construct twin-screw sea-going gun torpedo boats. They will be built at shipyards on the Delaware River, and Dr. Gatling, the gun inventor, will have charge of the work. Contracts for the construction of thirty of the boats will be given out in a few weeks.

The Delaware Fugitives Released.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—J. Alex. Harris, who was arrested by the police on a charge of being a fugitive from justice in the State of Delaware, was discharged on habeas corpus proceedings. Miss Ellis, who eloped with Harris was also given her liberty, there being no charge made against her.

His Removal Made Him Insane.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 1.—Ex-Postmaster T. W. D. Phillips of Burnville, has become insane because of his removal about ten days ago from his postmastership, which, with the exception of a short term in the Garfield administration, he had held for years. He has been taken to an asylum.

A Dance Hall Burned.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 1.—Liberty Palace Rink was destroyed by fire last night while a ball was in progress. There was considerable excitement, but all who were in the building escaped.

QUEER DOINGS OF PEOPLE.

A PHILADELPHIA man committed suicide rather than take some physic ordered by the doctor.

A CITIZEN of Tacoma, whose fiancee died recently, had himself and the deceased photographed together.

A VIENNA millionaire who died a short time ago had such an antipathy to darkness that he provided by will for an electric light to be kept burning in the vault during the entire year, the interior of his coffin also to be electrically lighted.

AN eccentric farmer of Marion, Mo., who died recently, by his will bequeathed $50,000 to found a home for "indigent hackmen." The strangest circumstance in relation to the will is that there are few hackmen in that portion of Missouri.

WHEN Mrs. Hastings, of Carlisle, N. Y., passed over the dark river her husband had an epitaph all ready for her monument. A portion of it reads: "She never borrowed one single thing from her neighbor during her thirty-four years of wedded life."

A GENTLEMAN living at Marietta, Ga., is thoroughly temperate as to ardent spirits, but never drinks any water. He confines himself to milk and coffee, and seems to enjoy as much of health as the usual run of mankind. He says he has no aversion to water, but has no desire to drink it.

A RESIDENT of Hall County, Ga., lately made a will leaving all his property to the blind, one-armed and one-legged Confederate veterans of Hall and White counties. He is the father of several children, who are thus debarred from any right to his property, which amounts to about $10,000.

AN Erie man had great fun the other day by letting a good eel loose in a crowded store and telling the people to save themselves, as the big rattlesnake had escaped from the dime museum. In the melee a large quantity of goods was badly damaged, boxes and jars smashed and the floor flooded with molasses. Four ladies fainted. The eel and the practical joker escaped.

A LANSING (Mich.) man has a novel way of ridding his face of whiskers. Every Sunday morning for the past twenty-two years he has sat down before the glass and pulled the hair out of the lower part of his face with a pair of tweezers. He says that it hurt like most any thing at first, but he don't mind it a bit now. He is seventy-five years old, and is loaded with nerve and grit.

TWENTY-SIX years ago a soldier, now of Portland, Ore., was seriously wounded while aiming over a stone wall at Gettysburg. Recently he made up his mind to get married, and that old stone wall recurred to his mind. It was there he met with his first serious trouble, so since he must get married he would do it there, and then if he didn't like it he could lay it to the wall. So he tucked the young lady under his arm and hied him to the Gettysburg cyclorama, where the ceremony went merrily on, the couple standing facing the pictured image of the identical old wall.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

HUGE plates of glass are now cut by electricity.

THERE are 6,000 kangarao skins received in Newark, N. J., every week.

NEARLY every vessel clearing from San Diego, Cal., nowadays carries from ten to thirteen tons of honey.

THE increase in the value of all Southern crops this year over last will range somewhere between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000.

ONE of the singular developments in the growth of Southern industries is the manufacture there of large quantities of stoves for the North.

A FIRE kindler made of asbestos and used with kerosene oil is one of the latest labor-saving machines which a Maine Yankee has put upon the market.

OF 13,000,000 barrels of salt annually consumed in the United States Michigan furnishes two-sixths, New York one-sixth, ten other salt-producing States one-sixth, and two-sixths are imported.

THE skillful cork-cutter can produce from 1,500 to 2,000 corks a day, his only tools being two sharp broad-bladed knives. Machines have been introduced which can turn out about 2,000 corks an hour, but they are useless for the cutting of the finer qualities.

THE state of the gem market may be thus described: The price of emeralds and rubies is yearly increasing. Diamonds and white pearls are not getting dearer. Black pearls have been increasing steadily in price for the last four or five years; in fact it is almost impossible to supply the demand for them.

CALIFORNIA will make 8,000,000 gallons less of wine this year than last. This is because so large a portion of the grapes went not to juice but to raisins. The wily vineyarders found that they could squeeze more money out of dried grapes than by squeezing wine out of the fresh ones.

THE trade in oysters with the West, says a New York dealer, is increasing annually. Time was when the West was mainly supplied by the fresh-water cove oysters of Baltimore, but the westerners have now learned that the Chesapeake oyster can not touch, in point of flavor, the juicy salt water oyster of the North. So New York City it getting all the Baltimore trade. There are seven houses in the western packing trade in Gotham, and each one opens at least 150,000 shells daily.

EXTRAORDINARY FEATS.

A COLORED man of Yorkville, S. C., on a small wager, recently ate seven dozen fried eggs in four hours.

AT a Cochocton (Pa.) pie-eating match last week the winner disposed of eighteen pies in one hour and a half.

THE feat of sculling across the English channel from Dover to Calais in a small, open punt was performed recently by one Molesworth.

THERE is a Jewish penman in Vienna, Austria, who can write four hundred letters on a grain of wheat. In order to furnish the Emperor with satisfactory evidence of his extraordinary skill he has written the imperial family a Jewish prayer on the narrow edge of a visiting card.

A REMARKABLE feat was lately completed by Julius G. Ellinger, a cooper of Allegan, Mich., making 10,000 barrels in forty weeks, working eight hours per day, which beats all records of barrel-making in the United States. Every stave, head, hoop and nail must be handled separately, and some staves from one to three times. In making 10,000 barrels it takes 170,000 staves, 55,000 pieces of heading, 60 000 hoops and 180,000 nails. It would require ten box cars to carry the timber and fifty to carry the finished barrels.

AN extraordinary diving feat has been accomplished at Blackpool North Pier. The weather was boisterous, but Miss Annie Johnson essayed the task of staying under the water longer than two minutes fifty-one and one-quarter seconds, which ranked as the record achievement. She stayed three minutes ten seconds, which is eighteen and one-quarter seconds longer than the time made by Lurline some years ago. Miss Johnson is nineteen years of age, and is one of the most accomplished lady swimmers in the world.

GLASS BLOWERS ON A STRIKE.

More than One Thousand of Them Protest Against a Reduction of Wages.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There are over one thousand green glass blowers on a strike. They are employed in about twenty factories, two of which are in Brooklyn; the other are at Salem, Bridgeton, Clayton, Glassboro, Lockport and Clyde, N. Y., and in Pennsylvania.

The reasons for the strike are that wages have been reduced and the employers insist upon having two apprentices to every fifteen men. Work was stopped on July 1 for the summer season, but it has not resumed since for the reasons given above. The manufacturers say that the reduction is necessary to enable them to compete with the French and Belgium manufacturers.

Must Not Run For Alderman.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Acting Secretary Batcheller to-day informed Thomas McMasters, Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels at Buffalo, N. Y., that he must not accept the nomination for Alderman in that city and hold his present office. The department received information that Mr. McMasters was an aspirant for aldermanic honors.

Bridgeport's Chief of Police Resigns.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 1.—Chief of Police William E. Marsh tendered his resignation, which was accepted by the Police Commissioners at a special meeting of the Board last evening. Charges have recently been brought against the Chief for allowing gambling places and houses of ill repute to exist without restraint.

THANKSGIVING DAY

The President Proclaims Nov. 28 as a Day of Prayer.

LATE NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

Silver Men Looking After Congressman Reed's Record.

The Friends of the Maine Representative Are Much Concerned Over the Opposition—The Two Dakotas Formally Admitted as States—Mrs. Harrison Leaves for Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The President has issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States.

A PROCLAMATION.

A highly-favored people, mindful of their dependence on the bounty of Divine Providence, should seek a fitting occasion to testify gratitude and ascribe praise to Him who is the author of their many blessings.

It behooves us then to look back with thankful hearts over the past year, and bless God for His infinite mercy in vouchsafing to our land enduring peace, to our people freedom from pestilence and famine, to our husbandmen abundant harvests and to them that labor recompense for their toil.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America do earnestly recommend that Thursday, 28th day of this present month, be set apart as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and that the people of our country, ceasing from the cares and labors of their workingday shall assemble in their respective places of worship and give thanks to God, who has prospered us on our way and made our paths of peace, beseeching Him to bless the day to our present and future good, making it truly one of thanksgiving for each reunited home circle as for the nation at large.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and fourteenth.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

By the President.
JAMES G. BLAINE,
Secretary of State.

CHIEF BELL'S REPORT.

The Secret Service Bureau Find Italians Dangerous Counterfeiters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—John S. Bell, Chief of the Secret Service, in his annual report to the Secretary, of the operation of his bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889, reports 437 arrests for counterfeiting or passing counterfeit money during the year. Natives of Italy, he says, continue to occupy the fore-front of foreign born people as counterfeiters. Out of 165 foreigners arrested eighty-six were Italians. During the year $477,031 of counterfeit and razed notes were captured, together with scores of plates, dies and moulds.

Chief Bell reports that since 1881, "flash" notes or imitations of money have been seized to the amount of $128,203,13),—representative value.

Congress, he says, during its last session, increased the scope of the Secret Service, but failed to increase the amount of appropriation commensurate therewith; he therefore, recommends an increase of appropriation from $64,000, this year to $100,000 for the next fiscal year.

SILVER MEN AT WORK.

They Are Hunting Up Congressman Reed's Record on the Question.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Congressman Reed's friends are much concerned over the opposition developed to his candidacy for the Speakership among the silver men from the coast. Mr. Reed has always been a strong anti-silver man, and his record on this question is being hunted up by those interested in the subject.

With Secretary Windom in favor of more circulation than now prevalent, the silver people believe an increased monthly coinage is among the immediate possibilities, and they don't propose to have any Congressional committees fixed up against them if they can help it. This feature of the contest has never been considered before, but it means a great deal. With the members favoring silver against a candidate for the Speakership he can hardly be elected.

The West and South combined against the East and against the Cleveland administration when it was proposed during the last Congress to suppress the coinage of two millions a month. The same combination will certainly elect a Western man unless Mr. Reed can explain matters.

The President's Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—It was decided at the Cabinet meeting yesterday that the proclamation by the President formally admitting the two Dakotas to the Union should be issued as soon as possible and without waiting for the certified returns from Montana and Washington. The proclamation admitting the Dakotas is being prepared and will probably be promulgated this afternoon. As soon as the certificates from Washington and Montana have been sent to the President he will issue another proclamation admitting those States.

Mrs. Harrison Goes to Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Harrison left the city this afternoon for Philadelphia, accompanied by Postmaster-General Wanamaker. She will be the guest of Mrs. Wanamaker for a few days and will then proceed to New York to visit her sister. Mrs. Lord, who is quite ill.

THE RIOTERS ARRIVE.

They Complain That the Trouble Was Caused by Inhuman Cruelties.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—The brigs Alice and Romance have arrived here from Navassa. They had on board 123 negroes, 42 of whom are charged, under oath of Roby, one of the white bosses, with mutiny, riot, and inciting to murder. The other 81 are held as witnesses. All of them, criminals and witnesses, were taken to the city jail and locked up.

The accused, including the eight landed by the Galena last week, will have a hearing next Wednesday. United States District Attorney Hayes stated to-day that from the statements of some of the negroes it is shown that a conspiracy to murder the whites was planned some days before the 14th of September, and that on a given signal it was carried out. The attack began in conformity to the plans by beating C. W. Roby, the superintendent of the mines. He was left for dead. The crowd then proceeded to the superintendent's quarters and before night five whites were murdered in the manner described in former despatches.

John Hazard, one of the accused, went to Navassa eight months ago. He found things in a pretty bad way. They had to work from 7 a. m. until sunset, he says, and were allowed only four lumps of hard tack and a small piece of corned beef each day. That and other cruelties, such as lashing, tying the men up by the thumbs, he says, caused the trouble.

GEN. GRANT'S BODY.

George W. Childs Says It Will be Removed from New York.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Mr. George W. Childs said to-day that the body of Gen. Grant will very probably be removed from its present resting place in New York to West Point or Arlington Cemetery.

"Several years before Gen. Grant's death," said Mr. Childs, "he said that his military superior, Winfield Scott, was buried at West Point and he would like to lie there. He also expressed a wish that his wife might be buried at his side. At the time of Gen. Grant's death New York came quickly forward with its offer to provide a resting place. Now, however, influential Grand Army men have asked that the body be removed to Arlington, and special arrangements have been made to allow of Mrs. Grant being buried there. United States army officers seem to prefer West Point. Within a few weeks I expect to see Mrs. Grant, and she will, of course, be the first to act."

Wrangle Over a Sewer Contract.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—The conflict between the Commissioner of Public Works and the City Engineer over the first contract in the series for the big sewers which are to cost $5,000,000 and since which the Engineer refused to accept and use the form of contracts provided by the Commissioner has at last reached a focus and the Commissioner will make a contract according to his own ideas and to the right which the statutes give him. He will let out the contract to the lowest bidder and the contractor has agreed to accept the Coleman form. The contract will be signed next Monday.

Delegates to the Women's Convention.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Miss E. S. Tobey, State president of the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance Union; Miss Charlotte Harrison Allen, of the Woman's "Journal," and Mrs. A. M. Greely, of Ellsworth, Me., have gone to Chicago to attend the convention of the National W. C. T. U., which is to be held in that city from November 8 to 12. The Massachusetts delegation will number 25 ladies. Some of them will leave here Monday and the remainder Wednesday for Chicago.

He Organized Pony Express Routes.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Hiram A. Jones of this city is dead, aged 70 years. He had held many public offices, including a custom-house position in New York, and was once division superintendent on the Erie Railroad. He was the first to start pony express routes across the continent and arranged the whole programme personally. He was once superintendent of public schools in this city.

Arrested on Suspicion of Murder.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 2.—George Lippie, a gambler of this city, was arrested here last night, on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Wm. Sedam, of Indiana, who was found in a dying condition on the railway track at Addison Tuesday night. Sedam was frightfully cut with a hatchet and it is supposed that the murderers placed his body on the railway track to avert suspicion.

Republican Ratification Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The Republican clubs held a crowded ratification meeting at the Cooper Union last night. Chauncey M. Depew was the principal speaker. Hon. Stewart L. Woodford, Hon. Commodore P. Vedder and Hon. J. Sloat Fassett also spoke. Gov. Hill was roundly denounced by all the speakers, and the Republican State ticket was heartily supported.

The Montana Election Decision.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 2.—No decision was rendered to-day in the Silver Bow appeal case. By request of counsel, Judge DeWolfe will render his decision on Wednesday next. It is understood that the Board of Canvassers have found irregularities in the count of the Silver Bow returns.

Her Son on Trial for His Life.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 2.—In the trial of Edward Walker for killing his brother William in Stamford last August the boy's mother testified that she saw Bartley Ryle shoot William while the brothers were wrestling in front of Ryle's store. The trial is still on.

POINTING TO BURKE

Carlson Says He Was the Man Who Hired the Cottage.

SENSATION IN THE COURT ROOM

Evidence Which Made the Accused Man Turn Pale.

Iceman O'Sullivan Implicated by the Carlson Testimony—Severe Cross-Examining Tells Against the Suspects—Damaging Evidence Against Coughlin—The State Satisfied With the Case.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The latest evidence in the Cronin trial visibly staggered the defense. Mrs. Charles Carlson's identification of Martin Burke as the renter of the famous cottage was vividly dramatic.

As she stood face to face with the sullen prisoner and leveled her finger at him, while Lawyer Donohue attempted to shield Burke's crimson face by standing in front of his client, judge, jury, spectators and attorneys gazed in silent astonishment.

Jonas Carlson, the aged owner of the cottage, was possibly more dramatic. He would not allow his view of Burke to be obstructed, but, tottering from the stand till he reached the row of defendants, he raised his arm and, shaking his hat in Burke's face, exclaimed:

"This man rented my cottage!"

Aside from this, the most damaging testimony was against O'Sullivan, old Carlson testifying that he saw Burke and the iceman in frequent consultation and that after the lease was signed he heard Burke say to O'Sullivan: "Well, I've rented it."

He also swore he saw Burke on the steps of the cottage the night Cronin was murdered, and that at 7 o'clock Burke and a stranger were talking loudly within. Then he repeated the story of the Hammond letter and the finding of the paint and bloody marks after the assassins had abandoned their house of slaughter.

Forest's tantalizing cross-examination was unusually severe, but instead of breaking down the weight of evidence, brought ridicule upon himself by the aged Swede's quick and angry retorts.

Charles Crouse and Joseph McDevitt identified pictures and plates of the cottage. Garrity, the saloon-keeper, swore that Coughlin asked him to find somebody who would "slug" a man so as to disfigure him, and when Garrity said the victim might be killed Coughlin replied it did not matter. Forest tried to show that Garrity was moved by animus against Coughlin, but the witness showed he had always been the detective's friend, and though admitting a record not invulnerable as to veracity, his words were convincing. He proved Forest's equal in repartee, and the running fire between the two ended in the lawyer's discomfiture.

State's Attorney Longenecker authorizes the statement that he had known of Burke's confession to the Winnipeg prisoner for some time and that there is nothing in the confession to help the case of the State, because the Winnipeg prisoner cannot be brought to Chicago. A silent effort was at first made to bring him here as a witness. Now, Judge Longenecker says, he has enough evidence against the Cronin conspirators without Gillette's testimony, and will not try to get him here as a witness.

Captain Schuettler, has made new discoveries affecting John F. Beggs, which the ex-senior guardian of Camp 20, will have a great difficulty in explaining. Schuettler inadvertently told a well-known Irishman about what he had found, but did not explain its full significance for reasons best known to himself. The attorneys for the State, when questioned on the subject, failed to disclose any details of the new evidence, which they admitted was very damaging.

Spellman Located at Portsmouth, Ohio.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 2.—Edward Spellman of Peoria, Ill., who is wanted at Chicago, is in this city on business connected with the Whiskey Trust. He was "spotted" by Sheriff Yeager and admitted his identity. He said that he expected to be in Peoria Sunday, and from there intends to go to Chicago Monday, to testify.

AN OLD WRETCH.

He Dishonors His Daughter's Home and Is Severely Punished.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 2.—Last night Charles Edmunds, a butcher, on entering his residence discovered his wife and her father, John McCreery, a white-haired man 62 years of age, in a compromising position.

The couple attempted to escape, when Edmunds seized the father and, after beating him terribly, threw him down stairs, his head coming in contact with a door, the force of the blow breaking his skull.

After chastising his wife Edmunds left his dishonored home and sent an attorney there who found the old man dying, and had him conveyed to the hospital.

Mrs. Edmunds said she had consented to the crime as her father had been drinking. She is 34 years old and has four children. Her father came here ten days ago from Colorado.

Found Dead in Her Home.

IRVIS, Pa., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Valentine, a wealthy widow, was found dead in her home yesterday with her head under the sofa. The house had been ransacked and trunks and drawers broken open. While there were no marks of violence, it is thought she was robbed and murdered.

A Johnstown Victim Identified.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 2.—The body of a man found last night in the Conemaugh River has been identified as John Schwartz, of Allentown, Pa., who was a passenger on the ill-fated day express lost at Conemaugh.

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

The promised sketch of the life of Wm. A. Coddington, nominee for Assembly, will appear Monday.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Young black ducks will be flying Westward in about two weeks, gunners say.

—The dwelling occupied by the late Henry G. Latimer, is offered for sale in another column.

—At the Crescent Club bowls, last evening, at the Olympia, one of the members made, 209, 205, 203, 162, 203, 150.

—The good health of THE PRESS is shown by the life in its advertising columns. There is naught that is dead, nor sickly, nor sleepy there.

—One year ago yesterday, Lord Sackville West, British Minister, was dismissed by President Cleveland for writing an offensive letter.

—A regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, was held last evening, but only business of importance to the Corps was transacted.

—The polls will be open from 6 A. M. to 7 P. M. on election day. This will give the workingman a chance to cast his vote without losing a day's work.

—At a regular meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., held last evening, new by-laws were considered, but final action was deferred for a week.

—The new clapper for the Crescent Avenue church bell arrived from Troy, N. Y., today, and will be placed in position by T. O. Doane this afternoon.

—On Halloween, no less than ten gates were lifted from their fastenings in a single block on Seventh street. Most of them, however, were easily found yesterday morning.

—Prof. Bartholomew's equine paradox will close its engagement here this evening. Last night's receipts amounted to nearly $430, and this afternoon's proceeds were likewise large.

—A party of hunters from this city spent yesterday in the vicinity of White house station on the New Jersey Central Railroad, returning home last evening with about forty cotton tails.

—During the afternoons and evenings of November 4, 5, 6 and 7, there will be held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Soci ty, a fair in the lecture room of the German Reformed church on Craig place.

—During the coming week, Dr Ketcham and the Rev. Mr. Richards will hold Mission Fund meetings in their churches every evening. These are the Simultaneous Meetings arranged for by the Presbyteries of the whole State.

—The Somerset County Teacher's Association met in the public school building at Somerville today. Prof. A. C. Apgar of the State Normal school, was announced to deliver the address on "Our enemies and friends among the insects."

—People who have money to spend read THE PRESS, and only those of decidedly bad taste read any other daily. Consequently a patronage of these columns brings one hundred times the returns of an advertisement anywhere else.

—One of the hind wheels on a wagon loaded with coal, the same belonging to Mr. Evan Jones, dish d on Park avenue, near Fourth street, yesterday morning, and the coal had to be transferred to another vehicle before it could be taken to its destination.

—"Such a pleasant time as we've had," was the general expression of those who braved the dampness to attend the Social Reunion of the members of the W. C. T. U. and their friends on Thursday afternoon. It was also an opportunity for many to become acquainted with one another.

—A beautiful American flag 10x20 feet in dimensions and containing forty-two stars, will be floated from a flag staff on the roof of the North Plainfield public school, as soon as the flag staff can be placed in position.

—At the Borough Council meeting last evening, serious charges were preferred against certain borough officials, which, if investigated, and found to be true, will in all probability summarily "bounce" the alleged offenders.

ADDITIONAL MAIL FACILITIES.

A Wagon Delivery in the Suburbs Arranged.

Today began the labors of the additional letter carrier recently allowed Postmaster Force, to do service within the below prescribed limits, which heretofore have been unable to enjoy the benefits of free delivery service in consequence of the distance from the postoffice. The bounds are from the county line and Grant avenue at Front street to Clinton avenue; through Clinton avenue to Sherman avenue; thence to Plainfield avenue; thence to Fourth street; thence to Clinton avenue, taking in all the territory lying within the limits above described.

The service will be performed by substitute carrier Edward T. Dunn, during the illness of carrier Solomon Flaig, who was originally assigned to the route. Mr. Dunn is a veteran of the long past civil war, having served as a brave soldier in the 15th N. J. Vols. Three new letter boxes will be located along the new route as soon as furnished. There will be two deliveries a day and two collections. The carrier will deliver mail matter with a horse and wagon. Substitute carrier John Neighbor has been promoted to carrier and assigned to the route formerly served by Mr. Flaig.

For Assemblyman, Wm. A. Coddington, of Plainfield.

Accident at the Electric Light Station.

At 10:05 o'clock last evening an accident at the Electric Light station on Madison avenue caused by blowing out a cylinder head resulted in extinguishing all the electric lights in the city. The accident was due to the carelessness on the part of a green fireman, who had only been in the company's employ for about a month past. The fireman turned the water into the boiler, and evidently neglected his duty, for the water overflowed into the engine, thus blowing out a cylinder head. Consternation prevailed about the station until Manager Moore arrived on the spot, when he and the engineer restored everything to its normal condition. The accident caused a delay of about ten minutes only.

About midnight the fireman mysteriously left the station, and has not yet returned. This morning traces of the accident were visible in the Electric Light station.

A Contrast to Mr. Ackerman.

In another column is a reply to Mr. Ackerman's entirely prejudiced view of how a first voter should cast his ballot. The communication is witten by a young man who votes for the first time at the coming election. His letter is so conscientious and unbiassed that it is impossible to judge from it what party's candidate will be honored with this honest young man's maiden vote.

THE PRESS only knows, in this relation, that the writer's family is Republican through and through. His brother was for years the editor of one of the blackest Republican daily papers in the country, and the writer of the communication is naturally—and very justly, too—a great admirer of his brother.

Upset on the County Road.

Mr. Chas. VanWinkle, the able assistant in Messers Jackson & Codington's law offices, had a narrow escape from serious injury, a few evenings since. Mr. Van Winkle was returning from Westfield, where he had been serving subpœnaes. While passing along one of the county roads, now in course of construction, his buggy was upset and he was thrown out on the macadam pavement, sustaining slight injuries to one of his wrists.

Fortunately he prevented the animal from running away, and the only damage resulting to the buggy was a broken shaft.

A Word to the Wise.

Complaint is made by the merchants of this city against the milkmen from the surrounding country, who drive into town early in the day, and after supplying milk to their customers, leave their rigs hitched in front of the business places until nearly noon, so that other customers cannot drive up to the curb. Officer Lynch has been requested to ask these milkmen to "move on" and "tie up" in more secluded places.

Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day approaches now
And visions bright arise
Of turkey-roasts ad-libitum,
Doughnuts and pumpkin-pies.
Of feasts with which none else can vie
Except—you'll own it true—
The feast of good things Collier shows
At 3 Park avenue.

Another Death at Bayway Crossing.

Paul Polaski, aged twenty-eight, was struck by a train at the Bayway crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Elizabeth last night, and instantly killed. He was employed at the Bowker fertilizer works Elizabeth, and was on his way home from work.

—It's too (two) bad—our town clock.

THE EFFECT OF THE VERDICT.

Frazee Lee's Will Not Yet Admitted to Probate.

Considerable misapprehension seems to be felt as to the effect of the verdict of the jury in the Frazee Lee will case. The egregiously incorrect statements published in most papers, and the wild accounts in all of what has happened, call upon THE PRESS to set people straight. The true facts are these:

The case decided at Elizabeth Wednesday, was brought to recover the farm on which Frazee Lee lived, consisting of about sixty acres of land. The right to bring such a suit is based upon the fact that the probate of a will is not conclusive evidence of its validity until the lapse of seven years from the date of probate, after which it may not be questioned. But the order of the Chancellor admitting the will of Frazee Lee to probate has been appealed from, and therefore the will is not yet admitted to probate, and if the Court of Errors and Appeals should reverse the decision of the Chancellor, the result will be that the will will be absolutely void. Should his decision be sustained, however, the will will be admitted to probate and the Church will be entitled to the personal property devised by it, out of which the legacies must be first paid, and also the costs and allowances incident to the suit.

The verdict of the jury, however, does affect the whole of the real estate of which Frazee Lee died seized, for the reason that the verdict of a jury, in one suit between parties, is conclusive in any other suit involving the same questions, between the same parties. An appeal in the ejectment suit would be upon questions of law arising in the case, and if the Court of Errors should hold that the law, as stated by the trial judge was correct, the verdict will be sustained. If it should be held otherwise, the result would merely be a new trial.

A formal suit will have to be instituted by the heirs to recover all the other lands, but the verdict in the present case will control that as well. No proceedings for appealing the case have as yet been taken, but it is probable that they will be instituted very soon.

Don't forget to vote for Wm. A. Coddington for Assembly.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Councilman and Mrs. F. E. Marsh of Madison avenue, arrived home today.

Miss Edith Hickling of Brooklyn, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. B. Brooks, of West Seventh street.

Dectective Philip Breen of the New Jersey Central Railroad, was in the city today on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winter have returned from Europe and are at the New York House, New York city.

Mr. Fred Lucas of Poughkeepsie, formerly connected with the establishment of Mr. E. Love, is in Plainfield visiting old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Samelson of Newburg, N. Y., visited their son in this city, yesterday, on their way home from a trip to California.

Major A. D. Godown, of this city, left on Wednesday last for Montreal, Canada, where he has accepted a lucrative position for the Winter.

Mrs. George R. Rockafellow and daughter, Miss Minnie, of West Front street, have gone to Elizabeth and Rahway to spend a week with relatives and friends.

Mr. T. Bond, of East Front street, is erecting a handsome dwelling house on the North corner of Front and Richmond streets. A new barn will also be erected on the premises.

Miss Mamie French of West Front street, gave a Halloween party to her friends on Thursday evening. Dancing was the principle feature of the evening's festivities. The guests departed for their homes about 3 g. m.—good morning.

A Plainfielder Gets Six Years.

Charles C. Cleveland, a painter by trade, and a former resident of this city, was arrested at Asbury Park last July for an alleged attempted criminal assault upon little Lavinia Fowler, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. Geo. Fowler, of that city. Cleveland was indicted by the Monmouth County Grand Jury at the September term of Court.

This week he was tried, convicted, and sentenced to six years in State Prison.

A Washingtonville Whisper.

The wedding bells will soon be chiming again in Washingtonville. The happy couple who are this time candidates for matrimonial honors are Mr. Wm. James and Miss Amy Deal.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.

No person should travel without a box of HAMBURG FIGS in his satchel, for they will be found invaluable when change of food and water has brought on an attack of indigestion, or torpidity of the liver. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Grape Juice for Sickness.

The art of cultivating the Oporto vines and fermenting the Oporto Grape into wine in this country, and of preserving the Grape Juice fresh without fermentation has been brought to a greater degree of perfection by Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., than by any other person; in fact, he was the pioneer in introducing and advertising Native Wines. He has purchased hundreds of tons of grapes, besides his own vintage. Mr. Speer's success has arisen from the strict purity and valuable properties of his wines for invalids and feeble persons, and his reputation extends around the World.

FUR MUFFS AND CAPES.

WE have just received three cases of Muffs, Capes and Fur Trimmings from three of the best Fur Houses in New York, which are now being displayed. The large assortment comprises everything desirable in this line, and we can confidently say that no such exhibition of these goods have ever been made in this city before. THIS WEEK will be the best opportunity to get the choice selections, as later on they will be sold. "A word to the wise," etc., you know.

LACE CURTAINS!—Is another specialty with us this week We have purchased several "closing out" lots from the Importers, and offer EXTRA BARGAINS in these goods.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

BOROUGH COUNCIL MEETING.

A Short Session and But Little Business of Importance Transacted.

The Borough Council met in regular session, last evening, with Mayor Cooley in the chair. All the other Councilmen were present except Mr. Emmons. After the preliminary opening a petition was presented and referred, asking for two street lamps, one at Rock View and Cedar avenues, and the other at Maple and West End avenues.

Warren Engine Company also communicated to Council the fact that Mr. Ira Riker was desirous of becoming a member of the department. The matter was laid over.

Sundry license applications were presented, referred and granted.

These claims were read, referred and ordered paid, together with a $5 claim of Thos. McDonald, for janitor's services: Powlison & Jones, $1.90; Wm. Sharkey, $2; Wm. Gratton, $2.25; A. D. Cook & Bro, $25 90; Wm. Pangborn, $5; Thos. McDonald, $31.50.

Mr. McGee submitted the fire department by-laws, together with some slight amendments, all of which were adopted. As a member of the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee, he reported the committee's recommendation to renew the street lighting contract; also the engagement of the fire department engineer as janitor. The report was filed.

The Street Committee, through Mr. Smalley, reported verbally that all the work authorized at the last meeting had been completed at a cost of about $90.

Mr. Bettman again called attention to the hole in the gutter in front of his residence on Willow avenue which he said he had filled in at his own expense, and which the Street Commissioner had dug out and sold for the latter's personal benefit. Some discussion followed, and again Mr. Bettman's request to have the hole refilled was ignored.

An ordinance amending the peace and moral ordinance, relating to street obstructions, was read for the third time and adopted.

Mr. McGee presented a resolution which prevailed, requesting the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee to submit a proposition for street lighting, at the next meeting.

A long and spirited discussion followed on the subject of compelling Mr. James Merritt to lay a 600 foot board walk along his vacant and unimproved property on the Westerly side of Westervelt avenue, extending from Grand View to Mountain avenue, so as to accommodate a half-dozen or so of persons who live in the vicinity of the old camp meeting grounds.

Mr. Smalley, Chairman of the Street Committee, said that if a resolution was introduced and passed authorizing the Street Committee to proceed with the work, the committee would do so, whereupon Mayor Cooley remarked that it was eminently proper for the Street Committee to introduce a resolution to that effect.

Mr. McGee "spoke out in meeting" claiming that it was unjust to put such a heavy expense upon one man just to satisfy personal malice, and to benefit a very few, when there are lots of places on Somerset street, the borough's main thoroughfare, where there are no sidewalks at all; neither, he said, has there been any effort made to compel the property owners on Somerset street to lay walks.

A resolution by Mr. Smalley to the effect that 30 days' notice be given Mr. Merritt to proceed with the work, and in case he refused to comply with the notice then the borough will proceed to lay the walk, was adopted.

The matter of using the Council Chamber for lounging purposes was brought up by Mr. McGee, but no definite action was taken.

Upon resolution adopted Patrick Kelleher was appointed janitor of the Council Chamber, services to begin on Nov. 1, Mr. Smalley voting "no."

Council then adjourned.

WASHINGTONVILLE WHISPS.

Items of Interest to Our Readers in the Valley.

Mr. Francis Bartells has received the contract to paint the two large bridges recently built near Scotch Plains.

Mrs. John Madden of Chicago, is making a visit among her former schoolmates and friends in the Valley. She is at present visiting Mrs. Harrison Coddington.

While Edward Sage was grooming a young horse recently the latter suddenly bit him in the face. Fortunately the wound was not serious, though somewhat painful.

Mr. George Stewart of Elizabeth, recently purchased a fine piece of property from Mr. Wm. F. Spencer, on which he contemplates building a handsome residence. Mr. Daniel Acker has the contract to complete the building before Spring.

Mrs. Thomas Stead, who is hale and hearty, and who has lived in the country for nearly ninety-four years, is now thinking of removing to the city, as she is under the impression that she would live longer in the latter place, the country being too quiet for her.

The "open" season for hunting, according to law, begins today. Hunters, however, should remember that the farmers have a right to refuse persons trespassing on their lands, and non-residents found trespassing forfeit their dogs and guns to the owner of the premises.

It is well to remember that the oldest cases of rheumatism and neuralgia have been speedily cured by Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents a bottle.

A FIRST VOTER'S REPLY.

His Conscientiousness Puts to Shame Mr. Ackerman's Dishonesty.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In the issue of the Central Times bearing date of October 30, appears a letter signed Ernest R. Ackerman. Mr. Ackerman seeks to impress upon young men the importance of their first vote. He urges that if they choose between the parties of their own free will and judgment, they inquire into the history of those parties and decide for themselves. He says that they must not consider election day merely a holiday; they must study political questions and must examine the records of parties and ascertain the qualifications of candidates in order to vote conscientiously and wisely.

If Mr. Ackerman had said nothing more, he would have done well. But he proceeds to point out the excellencies of the Republican party over the Democratic party. Some of his statements are true, some of them are "taffy," but no fault can be found with them from a Republican standpoint when they are taken alone. But taken in connection with what he has already said, they inculcate the falsest and most pernicious of political principles. Not what the parties have done, but what they are doing and what they promise to do on the leading questions of the hour, should be the considerations which young voters should take into account. The great issues of 1860 and 1870 upon which Mr. Ackerman dwells so lovingly, were dead and buried long ago and in their place have sprung up new issues and new questions to be settled.

I claim that there is not a single voter of average intelligence in this country who has the moral right to choose his party before his principles, which is what Mr. Ackerman and politicians generally ask us to do. Am I a free trader? I must join the Democratic party. Am I a protectionist? Then I must join the Republicans. But never must I be a free trader because I am a Democrat, nor a protectionist because I am a Republican.

Again, Mr. Ackerman attempts to drag national issues into State politics. I think Mr. Ackerman is a very intelligent young man and he must know that the three issues in this State campaign are: Local Option or High License, Ballot Reform and Taxation. Any voter who casts his ballot on these three questions for the candidate of the party with which he is most in sympathy on national issues, does an act that is foolish and wrong. I hope Mr. Ackerman will not, though I know that a lot of people are in accord with his false construction of what makes and constitutes honest and conscientious voting. FIRST VOTER, THIRD WARD.

A vote cast for Wm. A. Coddington for Assemblyman, will not go astray.

"BUZZ."

The Literary Venture that Walter L. Clarke of this City Will Launch Next Month.

The new monthly magazine to be devoted to New Jersey literature and published at Plainfield, to which THE PRESS has already referred, will be copyrighted under the title of "Buzz," and the first issue will be ready in December. While New Jersey writings and New Jersey writers will be given prime attention, a sufficiently high literary standard will be maintained to insure the publication a welcome in and support from all homes. New Jersey has already produced men and women who have achieved laurels in the world of letters, and "Buzz" will not only give space to new stories, sketches and verses from these, but will bring to the light new genius and talent.

Besides the literary features of the forthcoming number, the public will be interested in the prize contests announced in the publisher's department. Four prizes will be offered for stories and sketches concerning "The Jersey Schoolmarm," "The Jersey Schoolmaster," "The Jersey Editor" and "The Jersey Lawyer." Literary contributions coming within the scope of the magazine will be welcome from all.

Among the celebrated Jerseymen who will furnish material for early numbers are Julian Hawthorne, author of "Sinfire" and other masterly creations, and Frank R. Stockton, whose "The Lady or the Tiger?" "The Casting Away of Mrs. Leeks and Mrs. Aleshine," "The Dusantes," "The Merry Chanter," and other tales, have become so popular. Will Carleton, famous for "Over the Hill to the Poor House," "Betsy and I Are Out," "Farmer Stebbins at Ocean Grove," and other notable poems, will write for some number of the first volume a characteristic string of verses, whose scene is located in New Jersey. Everything published in "Buzz" will be original, and the public is expected to take a State as well as a literary pride, in the new venture.

A Shooting Match.

J. Frank Kleinitz of Philadelphia, the champion wing shot of Pennsylvania, with R. E. Irwin, of the same city, will shoot a match at fifty live birds at John Erb's Park, on Bloomfield avenue, against Phil Daley, Jr., of Long Branch, with Frank Class as a partner. The match has been made and $200 forfeit placed in the hands of Ed Updergrove, the President of the Mercer Gun Club, and $200 a side under the Harlingham rules. All of the above shooters are well known here, and most of them have contested on the Middlesex Gun Club grounds at Dunellen.

The biggest thing out is what the druggists term Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; its sale is enormous and it has never been known to fail. Price 25 cents.

To Enforce the Law.

The New Jersey State Veterinary Association met in Saenger Hall, in Belmont avenue, Newark, Tuesday evening, and elected R. Wayne Parker counsel for the Association. A committee was appointed to aid the counsel in enforcing the law as follows: Veterinary Surgeons, J. C. Corliss, J. D. Hopkins, L R. Sattler, Wm H. Lowe and E R. Vorhees, the latter named from this city.

Violating the Game Law.

Many farmers who come to town complain of the unlawful shooting of rabbits by parties from this vicinity. One farmer residing near Weston's Mills reports that almost daily for the past three weeks a number of young men are seen shooting them for sport, and any other kind of game that meets their eyes, whether unlawful or not.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

DEAD IN THE RUINS

Fall of a Factory Building During a High Wind.

TWENTY-FIVE BODIES FOUND.

Girls and Women Found Dead by the Wreckage.

Probably Forty of Those Buried are Dead. The Accident Happened After the Workmen Had Left the Building—A Sudden Extinguishing of Lights Was the Only Warning.

GLASGOW, Nov. 2.—The wall of a building that was being erected alongside of Templeton's carpet factory on William street was blown down yesterday evening. An immense mass of debris fell on the roof of the weaving department of the factory, crushing it in and burying fifty girls and women. It is probable that forty of those buried are dead.

The work of searching the ruins for bodies was carried on during the night with the aid of electric lights. By 1 o'clock this morning twenty-five bodies had been recovered. Eighteen persons were badly injured. As far as ascertained twenty-five girls are still missing.

The accident happened shortly after the workmen had left the new building. There were 140 girls at work in the carpet factory. The majority of them made their way out safely, but many had narrow escapes.

The wrecked building was 300 feet long. It is said that the foundation was laid over a disued coal pit. Survivors of the accident say that a sudden extinguishing of lights was the only warning. All made a rush for the exit, which quickly became jammed. There most of the bodies were found. The tremor resulting from the fall of the building was felt for a great distance.

TALK OF THE CLUBS.

The Caldwell-Murat Split the Chief Topic in London.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The collapse of the matrimonial engagment between Miss Gwendolin Caldwell and Prince Murat, close upon the heels of the Hatzieldt-Huntington wedding, has thrown the gossips of the clubs into ecstacies, and furnished the music halls with an almost uncharitable fund of "gags" at the expense of the American girl in search of a title and the impecunious owner of a title in search of a fortune.

Opinion with regard to the cause of the rupture is divided, but it must be said that the division is unequal. While there are some who are outspoken in condemnation of the action of Prince Murat in haggling over the price of his title after having offered it for sale, there is a little larger number who profess to believe and doubtless do believe that the lady's bid was entirely too low, judged from the upset price of a title of equal rank, but much more battered and disfigured, which was disposed of in the matrimonial market a few days ago, and regard the Prince as abundantly justified in refusing to close the sale.

It is not to be understood, however, that the Murat title is permanently withdrawn from the market. It is merely withheld until competition shall become a little sharper when it will doubtless be sold for a good round sum of money acquired in lard speculations and petroleum ventures, or some other of the means of rapidly accumulating wealth which abound in America, enabling its new possessor to air her vanity and cause a flood of envious tears to flow from the eyes of others of her sex who may deem themselves less fortunate.

PRAISE FOR DAVITT.

Congratulations Flowing in on the Land League from All Sides.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A large number of the Nationalist members of Parliament who made no secret of their disapproval of Michael Davitt's action in addressing the Parnell Comission, believing that he he should follow the example of the home rule leader and leave the Commission severely alone, are now foremost in expressing their opinion that he was right in adhering to his determination to be heard in his own behalf. Congratulations are flowing in to him from all sides, and there is hardly a man to be found who will not admit the fact that the famous Land Leaguer is to-day a greater man in popular estimation than he was at the beginning of his address, prominent Conservatives voluntarily adding their congratulations to the volume of approving letters and telegrams he is receiving.

Mr. Davitt's address was indeed a masterpiece, and the Irish cause is greatly benefited by his having delivered it, no matter what the decision of the Commission my be.

In Defence of the "Times."

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Sir Henry James, continuing his argument for the "Times," befor the Parnell Commission, called the attention of the court to numerous circumstances tending, in his opinion, to show that Mr. Davitt, in America as well as elsewhere, associated with persons who were pursuing treasonable ends and seeking the separation of Ireland. The speaker also charged that it was part of the regular policy of the Nationalist leaders to keep Ireland in an unsettled condition in order to furnish ground for politicical agitation.

Another Big London Strike.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The London lightermen have decided to go out on strike next Monday against insufficient wages and an imperfect working schedule. It is possible that they will be joined by the dock laborers out of sympathy with the lightermen who assisted th dockers in their recent great strike.

France Pushing Priests.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Government has suspended the payment of the stipends of fifty-five priests in various parts of France for preaching political sermons on the occasion of the recent election in disregards of the prohibitory order of M. Thevenet.

Cannon Lost the Final Bout.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The concluding bout between the wrestling champions Cannon and Pietro took place last night and was won by Pietro who threw Cannon squarely after a five minutes struggle.

GRIEVING FOR GRETCHEN

Some Are Born Girl Hunters, Some Achieve Girl Hunting.

And Many, Alas, Have the Search for a Servant Thrust Upon Them—In the Wake of a "Want Ad."—The Great Domestic Servant Problem.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

One windy day not many weeks ago an inconspicuous "Want ad." might have been observed by an attentive reader of a daily paper snugly nestling in the middle of a column among 975 of its fellows:

HOUSEWORK.—Wanted a thoroughly competent houseworker. Must be a good cook. To a capable woman good wages will be paid. Call, with references, etc., etc.

When "the girl comes, with brown locks curled, crying, 'Oh, what a beautiful world,'" then shall we hear no more of the servant girl problem; meanwhile some women are born girl hunters, a few achieve girl hunting and many of us have the sport (an' ye will) of girl hunting thrust upon us.

Eight hundred girls looking for situations, one hundred and seventy-five situations looking for girls. A painful interest attaches to "small ads" in certain moods of mine. Between the Scylla of the "girl lately landed, who is willing to learn" and the Charbydis of the "refined and educated young lady who will assume light household duties and give music lessons," what shall one choose? Is there any balm in Gilead in the shape of the "respectable woman to do general household or mind children;" the "tidy English young person" whose ambition is to go into "a fine family;" the working housekeeper whose ideal is a "widower's small family" where she can feel at home and take an interest; the "well-recommended" girl who is "willing and obliging, no cards:" the "Russian maid who speaks a little English;" or must one pin one's hopes of a breakfast to the "Southern lady who has met with sudden reverses of fortune, owns a typewriter, and would not object to assist with fine sewing?"

I had in my time hired out as a second girl and tried to hire out as governess in a spirit of wanton, if professional, curiosity, and now what avenging spirit would guide the footsteps of those unknown shes who should enter on a tour of inspection of me.

It was with becoming humility that I entered the room where sat the first individual who rang the front door bell and offered to fill the yawning kitchen void. She was Scotch, squarely build, strong looking, with a colorless complexion, dark hair and a rather heavy but sufficient amiable and intelligent face, which reminded me somewhat of Jennie Deans. I may as well call her Jennie, for I had not the presence of mind to ask her name. No amount of practice in interviewing is of much assistance in a real emergency. In fact, I may confess that I waited in some trepidation for her to interview me. A long course of servant girl and mother-in-law and plumber jokes has an unbalancing effect on the judgment.

Jennie, I ascertained, by awkward approaches, had never lived out in this country. She had a seven years' reference from a Glasgow family, but she had left it in West Hoboken. Finding her not formidable I consulted privily a list of questions half drawn from my pocket and asked if she was a good bread baker. She told me that in Glasgow her fame spread far and wide as an expert on stones, but bread baking was an unknown science not there pursued. She was sure, however, that she could learn. Perceiving with relief that I was not afraid of Jennie, I asked her to send for her reference and call on me again. It is well to say that I had been advised by an experienced housekeeper to engage at least seven to pay me a second visit after their "characters" had been duly investigated, with the assurance that not more than one in seven would come. Jenny fulfilled the prediction by staying away. And yet I cherish her memory. She did not ask me if I used electric lights instead of gas, or whether the laundry tubs were porcelain or soapstone, or whether I interfered in the kitchen or allowed followers. She was neatly dressed, looked wholesome and had a pleasant voice. I hope she is having her afternoon out this sunny Thursday, alternating week and week with the upstairs girl.

My second caller gave me a cold chill. Her graceful, slender figure, pretty, piquant face and jaunty little turban were unmistakably American. Had I fallen into the hands of the "lady of culture, who would fill any position not too menial?" My list of inquiries which I had this time laid openly on the table prepared to write down the answers I hastily concealed under the cover of a magazine.

Mrs. Nellie Richards, or a name of home growth equally obvious, was the title of my visitor. Her story was a common one, but it interested me. She had helped her mother run a boarding house until about sixteen months ago. Then her mother had died and she had married a telegraph operator. The time she had spent in wedlock seemed to her a thousand years. First her husband lost his place and they went to live with her father in a little town on the edge of New Jersey. Then she became dissatisfied with her husband's readiness to depend on the bounty of her relatives. She urged him to look for work. They had occasional quarrels and she had fits of jealousy. Finally she decided that if they separated for a couple of years, she maintaining herself until he regained his foothold, they might both gain wisdom. She looked for a situation as copyist and thought of taking in sewing. Then she came to the conclusion that her most sensible course was to do the work she was best used to, that of the kitchen. She had felt the subtle attraction which I had hoped might inhere in my modest four lines, and although an American girl and of good common school education, had come from Jersey expressly to see me. She had relatives of whom I was at liberty to inquire concerning her, but I must be cautious in my questions, for her aunt kept three servants and she preferred that the fact that she was going to live out should be broken gently to her. There seemed to be no cause for very serious or prolonged trouble between Nellie and her husband, and I felt constrained to urge her to go home, but I felt some respect for the common sense of the woman who could choose domestic service in spite of genteel precedent.

Number three was Irish Mary, bright-cheeked, big, rawboned, awkward, honest, with immense feet and a dreadful voice, but good humor shining in her gray-blue eyes. Mary had lived four years in one family. She had nursed two children belonging to it through scarlet fever and a maiden aunt through typhoid. She was devoted to them, but the children were growing up and they had no further use for a hired girl. She couldn't cook much because there were ten in the household and her hands had been full with the scrubbing and dishwashing and cleaning. Besides the maiden aunt liked to cook and didn't want to be interfered with. She wanted the privilege of going to mass before breakfast Sundays, but if she felt free to go in case she chose, she shouldn't choose very often. Her mistress whom I saw afterward said that she had not been to early mass once in four years, that her temper was perfect and that in case I should inherit a fortune I could trust her with my diamonds. Mary was an excellent girl for the place she was good for, but alas, she was not for me. She appeared to have a faculty for epigram that would confound the itinerant peddler and show up like a Brush light in the dim intellectual glimmer of the average drawing room.

Let me pass hastily over number four. She was an American, young, good-looking, with unexceptional references as to character and abilities, but she was a widow who couldn't come unless permitted to bring a child of three years. Number five was almost her duplicate; Irish-American, strikingly handsome, with an 18-months-old baby and a letter from a well-known clergyman. The world, and I as part of it, was hard on both of them. They couldn't get places because they couldn't leave their incumbrances.

Number six brought an interpreter. The interpreter was a fat, untidy and jolly young German woman, who looked as if she had been snatched from a mardi gras procession. She wore a wide, flaring hat of cheap felt flaming with primary colors, the tendency of her heels was oblique in the extreme, her ensemble was chaotic and heterogeneous, with dress skirt of one color, waist of a second and jacket, which wouldn't button, of a third. Her hands were large and her face wore a lazy, good natured expression. With her was a small, pale girl whose face and hair were all of a color and who looked wild and shy. This was Minna who spoke no English, but who could, so the interpreter said, understand any remarks that I might address to her in that language. A little experiment established the fact that Minna was dazed equally by my English and German, and the antics of a small boy who accompanied the party and informed me that "this is the way to dance," with appropriate illustrations, broke a silence that was becoming painful. Minna had lived some years with a German family, was paid $17 a month and guaranteed expert in German cookery. She would take $15 if her linguistic deficiencies could be borne with.

Number seven was the servant girl of the newspapers, a bona fide but solitary specimen. She was broad-shouldered, and her nose and chin expressed pugnacity. Her hair was heavy and dark, and it needed only a glance to tell me that she possessed more—well, call it resolution of character—than I. I had latterly neglected to tremble, but in this awful presence I breathed a prayer that I might not be found worthy to be employed. I was not. On the contrary I was treated with thinly veiled scorn. The ogre—I hope I am doing an able woman no injustice—informed me that she was a good "plain cook." In an evil moment I asked her to define plain cookery. As I spoke I felt her eyes fix themselves on mine.

"Don't ye know what is plain cookin'?"

I responded meekly that I did not know just where to draw the line.

"Plain cookin' is meats an' vegetables an' bread; I give satisfaction in them, but I never make no pastry, nor no puddens, nor fixin's of any kind. Maybe I could if I tried, but I ain't never ben asked to. No girl that goes out to general housework ever expects to. 'Tain't any part of her business."

The ogre expected from $14 to $17 for her plain cooking according to the size of the family; but my ignorance had sunk me so low in her esteem that she did not insist on being engaged.

There was a Norwegian, to. She did not come to Mahomet, but Mahomet went to the mountain. It was clear at the top of it that she lived up six flights of the darkest stairs that ever mortal climbed. The tenement house covered its entire lot and the one which backed up against it did the same. The staircase, therefore, was unlighted, save by malodorous kerosene lamps, though it was midday. Slatternly figures peered out of doorways, and it was only a spirit of adventure, not unmixed with something like terror, which led me to persevere. In a dingy, but to my surprise, perfectly neat room under the sky, I found a young countrywoman of Ibsen, whose white teeth and fascinating name, she was called Otilla, were sufficient reward for the climb. She spoke a piquant broken English which would have made the fortune of a dialect story writer.

Otilla could bake and doubtless she could brew.

Otilla could broil a steak.

She could roast a fowl.

She could make soups.

She knew how to take care of hardwood floors.

Why was not Otilla the coming woman? Because a housewife who knew a good thing when she saw it looked up the fascinating Norse's reference in the brownstone front which she had formerly graced with her presence and hurried back to secure her before I arrived. She is doubtless distilling at this hour a flavor of Scandinavian romance, $16 worth per month, in the housewife's kitchen.

For several days I had an interesting mail. There were several employment agencies which kept on hand first-class servants of all nationalities, also colored, and which noticing my advertisement begged leave to acquaint me with their facilities for supplying the same. Most of them appeared to act also as agents of the steamship lines. There was one newspaper of which I received a marked copy, from which I could observe that it was trying to build up a "small ad" page and accordingly inserted "wants" free. There were women in the country who would, if I thought they would suit me, come to town and call. There was a young woman in town who wanted a chance to fill a vacancy temporarily until she could earn enough to buy a gown in which she would appear well enough to take a place which had been offered her behind the glove counter of a dry goods store, and who, when permitted to do some scrubbing and scouring, came before breakfast and was followed at short intervals by her mother and small brother who also ate heartily, sent out to buy pickles with money advanced them and partook frequently of tea and pickles throughout the day. The young woman knew nothing of scouring and imported her mother to show her how. The mother knew less apparently and they left behind them an uncleaned establisment and a depleted larder. This slack-twisted shop girl had a coiffure that was radiant with love-locks and apparel brilliant as a peacock somewhat bedrabbled. Not a professed servant approached me who was not plainly her superior.

This narrative is written down unvarnished. Sufficient time has not elapsed for the application of any retouching fluid. In spite of the failure of the domestic Commons and House of Lords to elect a kitchen sovereign, the impression which I received of her royal highness, Bridget, was not on the whole unfavorable. She was well mannered. She appeared to answer with some candor as to what she could or could not do. I could not blame the yellow-haired Gretchen who left her last place because she had to sleep in the front basement and was not provided with any comfortable room, nor could I help observing that the woman who changes servants monthly possesses very commonly some charcteristic which would make it to the servant's advantage to leave. Questions which were put to me as to whether I required a girl to leave her door always open, whether she would have to sleep with another woman, whether I would allow her sister to call on her, gave me some insight into the servant's point of view. My girls appeared to be what domestic service had made them, good material enough, but untrained. And until we women treat domestic service as a profession to be respected we'll not get much polish on our rough stones. As soon as the're cut they try a more highly thought of setting. And, meanwhile, the headless parliament?

There will yet appear, mayhap, the coming woman.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

The Secretary of Agriculture's Annual Report.

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Senor Romero Has a Grievance and Hurries Back to the Capital.

Minister Mizener Makes a Speech Which Does Not Suit Mexico—Formal Preparations for the Opening of the Coming Session of Congress—Sending Out Cards of Admission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The annual report of Secretary Rusk, of the Department of Agriculture, and the first issued under the newly constituted Department, has just been made public. The Secretary makes the usual references to the work of the several scientific and other divisions of his Department, and, in addition, he deals at length with certain plans for the thorough reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, and suggests several new features in the interest of the development of agriculture.

The report calls attention to the fact that the first efforts toward a reorganization were hampered because of the surprising fact that the appropriations for the current fiscal year were made entirely upon the basis of the old organization, no account being taken of the entire change in the status of the Department. The Secretary insists upon the necessity for his relief from this embarrassment and for adequate appropriations to enable him to meet what he believes to be the obligations of the Department to the country.

The Secretary closes his report with this earnest exhortation: "The great nations of Europe strain every nerve to make Science the handmaid of War; let it be the glory of the American people to make Science the handmaid of Agriculture."

MINISTER MIZNER'S SPEECH.

M. Romero Hurriedly Returns to Washington on Account of a Protest.

WASHINGTON Nov. 4.—M. Romero, the Mexican Minister, hurriedly returned to Washington from the Pan-American excursion. His visit is in connection with the alleged protest of his Government against the presentation speech at Costa Rica of United States Minister Mizner to the Central American States.

That part of the speech to which objection appears to have arisen, is as follows: "The States of Central America must unite. A strong Federal Government is your only salvation. Colombia is massing her troops on the southern border of Costa Rica. Mexico has a covetous eye on Guatemala. It will be only a short time before Colombia will seek to seize your State, and Mexico will seize Guatemala. Central America will be blotted from the map of independence, and her identity sunk in that of Colombia and Mexico. The time is drawing near, and only the most energetic action in federating Central America will save your freedom."

Miller for the Supreme Bench.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—It is said that the President has finally determined to appoint Attorney-General Miller to the vacancy on the Supreme Bench, and then transfer Secretary Tracy to the Attorney-Generalship. This will leave a vacancy in the Navy Department, and it is believed that Mr. Goff will be appointed to fill it.

The Coming Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Formal preparations for the opening of the first session of the Fifty-first Congress are apparent. The State Department will this week send out cards of admission to the Diplomatic galleries in the Senate and House chambers to the members of the various foreign legations in the city.

SWEPT INTO THE SEA.

The Captain of the Jennie Rosaline Drowned—Crew Lashed to the Rigging.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 4.—The mate and four of the crew of the schooner Jennie Rosaline, Captain Barthow, or Barton (both names given), with timber from Savannah for Providence, were brought into Charleston yesterday.

The Jennie Rosaline was wrecked in the storm of Oct. 25 off Hatteras Shoals. The masts were carried away, and she sprung a leak.

The steward, a negro from Savannah, was killed by a boom.

The captain, his wife and the mate were swept overboard. The mate caught the taffrail and lashed himself to it, but the others were lost. The seamen were all washed overboard, but caught the rigging. They were picked up the second day by the schooner Flora Rogers, from Boston. The mate says the storm was one of unusual violence.

Death of a Prominent Vermonter

RUTLAND, Vt., Nov. 4.—Charles Sheldon, senior member of the Sheldon Marble Company, and one of the best known business men of the city, died of pneumonia, at the age of 76 years. His early life was spent in New York State, where he was prominent in politics with Thurlow Weed. He came here in 1850 and entered the marble business. He was a close friend of James G. Blaine, but never took a prominent part in Vermont politics. He leaves a widow and six sons.

Ready for the Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The different political factions have finished their work and are now predicting majorities. Tammany claims a vote of 110,000, and the County Democracy leaders say their organization will poll up 115,000. The Republicans say their State ticket will receive a vote that will surprise the natives. Everything is quiet to-day about the different headquarters.

CRESSON'S PRIVATE BOX.

The Fugitive Cashier Left Securities That Will Go to the Bank.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 4.—The defalcation of Wm. H. Cresson, the fugitive cashier of the Tradesmen's National Bank of Conshohocken, has taken another turn and the directors say the bank will be re-opened in a few days and all claims paid in full.

On Saturday they explored the contents of Cresson's private box in the vault and found $75,000 worth of life insurance, all in force, two mortgages for $2,000, stock in the Good Brothers' Iron Works to the value of $2,000, and $1,000 worth of stock in the Spring Garden Farmers' Market Company of Philadelphia.

They have entered suit against him as a fugitive for $80,000, and under this will attach every dollar of his personal effects. All of the life insurance policies are written payable to his heirs or assigns, except policies for $15,000, in which his wife is named as the beneficiary. Forty-five hundred dollars worth of the insurance is on the endowment plan, and mature in March. All of the insurance but the $15,000 in Mrs. Cresson's favor will be converted into cash. The directors hope to realize $25,000 at the lowest possible calculation out of Cresson's assets, which they discovered Saturday.

Execution has been issued on State Treasurer Hart's $15,000 judgment to cover the amount of State funds deposited in the bank, and all of Cresson's property with the exception of his gas and electric light stock is practically in the hands of the directors of the bank. The directors intend depositing in the bank $50,000 so as to avert the necessity of assessing the stock and reopening the business in a manner calculated to re-establish confidence in the concern.

SAID TO BE AN EMBEZZLER.

A Secretary of the Board of Education Short in His Accounts.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Edwin Royle, Secretary of the Board of Education, is missing, and it has been discovered that he is a forger and embezzler. Royle has held the position of Secretary of the Board since 1881. He was respected and popular, and aged about 34 years. Royle was married in April last, and his wife is still in Paterson.

It has been discovered that Royle has made up fraudulent bills, charging the different schools in some cases with burning two or three times the amount of fuel actually consumed.

Royle confessed to the Board of Education that he had used his position for his own gain, and that he had forged the names of other officials to bills and accounts. The amount of his defalcation is not yet known, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

GOLD IN CONNECTICUT.

Valuable Ores Discovered on a Farm Near Bristol.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4.—The discovery of a vein of lead and silver ore near the premises of Frank Downs, in Bristol, has led to further investigations. Recently Peter Casey, in prospecting there, found what he supposed to be native copper in a piece of quartz. He took it to H. A. Seymour, who pronounced it gold and the decision was confirmed by the acid test. Another test was made and some very rich lead and silver ore was thrown out.

R. C. Downs, who is in Bristol on a visit from California, examined the gold and pronounced it genuine. He intends to put money into the mine and see what there is in it.

Shot and Killed Her.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 4.—John Shubert accidentally shot and killed Mrs. Pauline Hagley at the Woman's Home last night. Shubert had been out hunting and Mrs. Hagley was teasing him because he had failed to shoot any rabbits. Shubert pointed his gun at her and it was discharged and the woman fell dead. Shubert immediately surrendered himself to the authorities and a coroner's jury afterward rendered a verdict of accidental shooting.

An Embezzler Arrested.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Orlander Mayo was arrested at Bridgeton, Maine, yesterday, charged with the embezzlement of $849 from the Swan & Scott office of the Maverick Company. Mayo who was a clerk in the company's office here took the money from the safe last week and disappeared, $763 of the stolen money was found upon his person when he was captured.

Three in a Hole.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 4.—An unknown man, woman and child were drowned in the roadway at Diamond Flats yesterday. They attempted to drive through a hollow spot that had been overflowed by the Lackawanna River. Their bodies were not recovered. The calamity was the result of the overturning of their buggy.

She Died From Her Injuries.

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 4.—Nellie Blumberg, a domestic employed by Dr. A. E. Wallace, accidentally dropped a lighted lamp last night. The oil ignited and the frightened girl attempted to smother the flames with her dress. Her clothing caught fire and she was so badly burned that she died from her injuries.

Went Ashore on Chatham Beach.

CHATHAM, Mass., Nov. 4.—The schooner Davis S. Siner, from Frankford, Me., for New York, with a cargo of paving stones, went ashore on Chatham Beach last night. The captain and crew were safely taken off by the life saving crew and it is thought that the vessel can be floated.

Killed on the Naugatuck Road.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 4.—John Clancy, aged 30, was instantly killed by a passenger train on the Naugatuck road at Derby, Saturday night. The body was mangled almost beyond recognition. Clancy was a resident of Derby.

THE BASEBALL WAR

Brotherhood Representatives in Conference To-Day.

A VERY LIVELY TIME EXPECTED

There is Capital Behind the Players and They Feel Sure of Success.

Ward Says the Brotherhood Will Not Be Deterred by Legal Bluffs—The Reserve Rule Does Not Reserve—The Programme Will be Announced on Wednesday—Pennsylvania's Colored Club.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—To-day the Brotherhood of League Players will make their final declaration of war. In this meeting of the eight representatives of the different chapels the definite arrangements regarding the move about to be made by the players will be completed.

While the affair will be rather informal, and aside from sending out an address announcing their reasons for seceding from the League they will do nothing very important. They will decline to confer with a committee from the League.

The convention of importance is the regular meeting Wednesday, when the "Players' National League" will be formally organized and put on a business footing. There will be the election of a President, Secretary and Directors, the adoption of rules, etc.

The fight between the League and the Brotherhood hinges upon the interpretation of the reserve rule. Said John Montgomery Ward: "The word was used in a technical sense, and the Court will probably permit evidence to show its meaning. The word 'reserve,' as used in a baseball contract, was no more intended to mean a 'contract' for the ensuing year than it was meant that the magnates should inherit the earth."

"It might be explained," said Ward, "that professional clubs play under the National agreement. These clubs all play under the same rules, and, for their general welfare, act in concert in all their regulations. Every club is permitted to hold on the reserve list a number of players, which is, in reality, an arrangement between themselves that any player reserved will not be allowed to sign with another team. The breaking of this rule leaves the offending club liable to expulsion, which, of course, means death, as no other club would play them while under the ban. And the player who broke the reserve rule was simply blacklisted. Such a thing as enjoining him was never thought of."

In concluding his interview, Ward said: "If a player is reserved and he is under contract, he is entitled to his salary. But we are not. The League have the power to reserve a man, let him lie idle and not give him anything. In a nutshell, the League have everything—the player nothing."

The story that Comisky was to captain the Chicagos has been shown to be false by the announcement of his signing a St. Louis contract. Anson's place at first will be taken by Tener. It is now certain that Brooklyn and Cincinnati will go into the League, leaving Von der Ahe to fight it out with five clubs whose strength he need not fear.

Colored Ball Players.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 4.—Capitalists of Latrobe, Pa., have taken steps to put the Keystone Ball Club, of this city, composed of colored players, on an equal financial and playing footing with the celebrated Cuban Giants and Gorhams, the crack colored ball clubs of New York city. Arrangements have been made to have the Keystones complete with the clubs mentioned for the colored championship of the world, and play in every prominent city of the United States.

BEAUTY HANGS HERSELF.

The Rich Belle of Ottawa Commits Suicide in a Cellar.

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 4.—A mystery hangs over the tragic death of Miss Kate Van Koughnel, the young and beautiful daughter of the late Hon. Mr. Van Koughnel, who committed suicide here by hanging herself. She was immensely wealthy, and a year ago was the pet of society in Ottawa, being admittedly the belle at all the vice regal and state balls in the gay Canadian capital.

When the rash act was committed the deceased was visiting Mr. Pool's family here. She retired to her room at night in the best of health. She was found hanging dead in the cellar at daylight in the morning. In certain quarters it is hinted that the deceased was the heroine of a romantic love story, in which a prominent Canadian official figured. Others say that for some time past her brain has been weakening, and that she committed suicide while in a fit of temporary insanity.

To Die on the Same Scaffold.

SNEEDSVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Unless Governor Taylor interferes with the Supreme Court's decision three brothers and their two cousins—the five Barnard boys—will swing from the same scaffold here on Dec. 23 for the murder of Henley Sutton. Public sentiment is divided as to the degree and punishment. Many think the Governor will mercifully interfere and save the necks of some of the boys. Others are strongly of the opinion that he will let the law take its course. The five doomed men are now locked up in the jail at Knoxville where they have been since last May.

Killed by a Blast Explosion.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 4.—By the premature explosion of a blast in a quarry on the Grafton & Greenbrier Railroad in Barbour County, yesterday George and Frank Wiseman were instantly killed and Alexander Oldacre was fatally injured.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Florida oranges will soon be in the market.

—The grocery stores will remain closed all day to-morrow.

—The City Council will meet in regular session this evening.

—Vote early to-morrow, and thus avoid the rush later in the day.

—To-morrow being a legal holiday no paper will be issued from this office.

—"Listen to my tale of whoa," is the familiar air of our delivery clerks in town.

—The polls will remain open until seven o'clock, to-morrow evening, so as to give the laboring men a chance to vote.

—The Plainfield Camera Club will hold a regular meeting at their rooms on Park avenue, this evening, at eight o'clock.

—The woods will be thronged with pot-hunters to-morrow, many of whom will start out for their destination this evening.

—The city was flooded with political documents on Saturday night, urging the citizens to vote for the Republican candidates.

—A regular meeting of the Plainfield Crescent League will be held at the Club House, East Second street, next Wednesday evening.

—Pass on the word that Mr. Frank Hoagland will talk to young men at the Y. M. C. A., to-night at 8 o'clock. Good singing an especial feature.

—The polls will be open from 6 A. M. to 7 P. M. to-morrow. This will give the workingman a chance to cast his vote without losing a day's work.

—The regular devotional meeting of the "Y" will be held in their rooms on the corner of North avenue and Peace street to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

—It was communion Sunday at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday, and eight new members were admitted—seven by letter and one by confession of faith.

—To-morrow is a legal holiday in New Jersey, New York and such other states as hold elections. The banks will be closed and there will be no PRESS issued.

Complaint is made that on Richmond street where holes have been dug for the erection of telephone or electric light poles, heaps of dirt have been left on the sidewalk.

—You will have to buy your food for all day to-morrow and Wednesday's breakfast, today. To-morrow being a legal holiday, the grocers and butchers will be closed all day.

—Mr. John Leal conducted the devotional exercises in Warren Mission chapel, last evening. Several new hymns from Yatman's "Temple Themes" were taken up and rehearsed.

—One of THE PRESS carriers has bought himself a gun and begun practice previous to a trip after rabbits to-morrow. His total slaughter so far, includes two sparrows and a cat.

—The backbone of the storm broke about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the sun shone out brightly. Last evening the weather was delightfully clear and pleasant.

—John B. McGrath, proprietor of the Spring Lake Hotel, has presented a silver cup to be shot for at Summit, on Thanksgiving Day, between members of the visiting club from this city and the Summit Lyceum.

—Mr. Charles Reed, Clerk of the Board of Freeholders, was in Summit on Friday, to open the patent ballot boxes for to-morrow's election. He is also visiting other sections of the county for similar purposes.

—The Woman's Temperance Aid Society invites the Plainfield Reform Club and its friends, to Reform Hall, on its anniversary, next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be music, and an address by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell of the Methodist church.

—The storm on Saturday was the cause of disabling the telephone in the High school. It was reported that the instrument had been burned out and the woodwork set on fire by the crossing of wires, but Manager Runyon assures us that little or no damage was done.

In Need of Books, Magazines, Etc.

Persons having books, papers or magazines which they are willing to part with, for the use and benefit of the inmates of the county jail at Elizabeth, are requested to leave such books, papers and magazines at the drug store of Mr. H. P. Reynolds or with Mrs. C. A. Marsh, No. 10 Third place. They will be distributed under the supervision of the Union County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association.

ONE YEAR ENOUGH.

A Prohibition Sunday Picture.

About sundown of last evening, four drunken men fighting on the front lawn of one of the handsomest residences of Front street, was hardly a creditable Sunday picture for Prohibition Plainfield.

When a restricted number of saloons were licensed at high figures in this city, the police could locate and keep an eye on them all. These saloons could not afford to risk the loss of the $700 fee, and were therefore on their good behavior—closing every night at eleven o'clock and all day of Sundays.

Now that anybody can sell without restriction and without fee, they don't care. All night long and all day of Sunday it is the same, as the terrible business is carried on behind doors and windows closed to the police, and, probably, in some places they know not of.

And yet the Central Times imagines Plainfield wants another year of no license.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. A. W. Sutphen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent Sunday with relatives and friends in this city and North Plainfield.

Mr. James E. Martine of this city, addressed a Democratic mass meeting at Mt. Bethel, on Saturday evening.

Mr. Gilford Mayer and family, of Park avenue, have removed for the Winter to No. 153 West 44th street, New York city.

Mr. D. F. Knight and family, of East Ninth street, have taken up their permanent residence at No. 115 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

Rev. D. W. Morehouse of New York city, delivered an able and interesting discourse before the Unitarians of this city, yesterday morning.

—Prof. Haywood has secured a permanent academy for his dancing classes. They will meet hereafter every Saturday afternoon, in what was formerly Laing's Hall.

Messrs R. Stelle and L. L. Manning are back from Perry county, Pa., where they found sport much duller than usual. "Halse" stayed awhile longer, and will hunt further.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pearson, of Second place, and their sister Miss Annie Bunting, are traveling as far West as California, where, if the country and climate suit, they will make a permanent residence.

Mr. Ernest Marx, the expert photographer, of this city, has received a letter from the Education Commissioners of France, requesting him to donate his exhibit of photography now at the Paris Exposition, to the public schools of that city. Mr. Marx sent an affirmative response at once.

The funeral of the late Elizabeth Mowrey, who died at an early hour on Friday morning, took place from the deceased's late residence on East Front street, this morning. The remains were taken to Little Washington, N. J., for burial, from which place Mr. and Mrs. Mowrey and five small children removed to Plainfield about a year ago.

Mr. F. C. Knowland of this city, accompanied by Mr. C. G. Levison of Brooklyn, who holds the medal for accurate fly casting, and Mr. Chas. Bunk also of Brooklyn, started for Lake Hopatcong this morning, where they will complete the contract of clearing the Lake of bass. Some excellent fish stories, embodying heroic escapes, etc., may be looked for upon their return.

At the home of the bride's parents on West Seventh street, the wedding took place at one o'clock, Saturday afternoon, of Miss Grace F. Randolph and George E. Rogers. The Rev. D. J. Yerkes officiated. Only the relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left immediately after the ceremony, for Philadelphia. Upon their return they will reside in this city.

Charles Milligan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milligan, whose Summer residence is in Washington Valley, died of consumption at the residence of his wife's parents, 1,047 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N Y., on Saturday last, after a lingering illness. The funeral service will be held at that place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Milligan was a promising young man and had many friends. His bereaved parents and family have the heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

A good son, sincere Christian, and able lawyer is the Democratic nominee for Assembly, Wm. A. Coddington.

Football To-morrow.

On the grounds of the Crescent League, to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, Columbia school football team of New York will meet the following eleven representing Leal's school of this city: Rushers—McGee, Beebe, Walz, Erickson, Edsall, Hallock and Conant; Quarter back—Cox; Half back—Stewart and Wyckoff; Full back—Ackerman.

Admission including seat on stand, fifteen cents. The weather promises to be fine and the game also.

Not 100 More but 1,000 More.

The Journalist, a New York paper devoted exclusively to newspapers and newspaper men, puts THE PRESS circulation at only 100 more than the news. Undoubtedly the writer of the article was afraid to tell the truth that the paid circulation of the news is probably less than half that of THE PRESS.

—The Reception Committee of the Y. M. C. A., are requested to meet for a few minutes this evening at 9 o'clock.

OPENING THE SEASON.

Westfield Bowlers Lose Their First Match.

The bowling season has fairly opened, and the first of the teams in this vicinity to roll a match was the Nameless of Westfield.

On Friday evening last they went to Newark and met their old adversaries, the Pin Knights. Although the Westfield bowlers passed their opponents on the second frame they were unable to hold the lead, and were beaten by the superb bowling of Messrs Balding and Manners. Mr. Worth acted as umpire. The score was as follows.

Don't Neglect This.

After casting your vote to-morrow, your next duty is to secure your seats for the Bicycle Club games of the 14th, if you have not already done so.

In addition to the races the management have arranged for a Tug of War between teams from the Plainfield Club and the Elizabeth Wheelmen, and as the latter club is very anxious to meet the Plainfield boys again it is presumed they will bring a much stronger team than they did last Spring when the home team was victorious. Seats are on sale at Shaw's and Randolph's.

A Disgraceful Scene.

About dusk, last evening, four men named Thomas King, Wm. Keys, John Menely and John Slayon, engaged in a free fight on East Front street, near Richmond. The police were summoned to the spot by telephone, but when they arrived the men had departed.

Chief Carey and Officer Lynch later captured two of the men on East Second street, and Officers Grant and Hope apprehended the other two near Farragut avenue. All four were locked up, and this morning Mayor Male fined them $10 each.

A good son, sincere Christian, and able lawyer is the Democratic nominee for Assembly, Wm. A. Coddington.

Stealing Church Notices Now.

Among other items in the shabby news of Saturday stolen from THE PRESS of the day before, the accounts of John M. Jackson's funeral, the opening of the night schools and how George Smith lost his eye, were copied almost verbatim.

But exceeding even such daily specimen of dishonest journalism, is the cool nerve displayed by Saturday's news in robbing these columns of a week before of a number of church notices sent exclusively to THE PRESS.

Special About Mechanical Drawing.

Owing to Tuesday being a holiday, the regular lessons of the Y. M. C. A., Drawing Classes will be postponed one week. All members of the new class who have missed any lessons by absence, and any others desiring to join the classes are requested to be present on Tuesday evening; the teacher will be glad to help them bring their work up to date, and give any other assistance desired.

A high and manly character is that portrayed in the sketch of Wm. A. Coddington's life, elsewhere.

Simply a Matter of Expense.

The testimony in the case of the damage done by the recent washout at South Plainfield, to determine whether the county or township is involved in the expense of the necessary repairs, and which was to have been heard on Saturday before Commissioner Boice, was further postponed until Saturday next, owing to the non-appearance of the township representatives.

Lessen the Mounted Carrier's Labors.

Patrons along the mounted mail carrier's route would facilitate the delivery of their mail and lessen the labor of the carrier, by the erection of small mail boxes in front of their residences, in which the carrier could deposit their mail. Such boxes can be procured at a small cost at Griffen's hardware store.

—If you want to vote for a man of character and one who will do what is right by the masses of the people, cast your ballot for William A. Coddington, the Democratic candidate for Assembly of the Third District of Union county.

It was once supposed that scrofula could not be eradicated from the system; but the marvelous results produced by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla disprove this theory. The reason is, this medicine is the most powerful blood-purifier ever discovered.

FUR MUFFS AND CAPES.

WE have just received three cases of Muffs, Capes and Fur Trimmings from three of the best Fur Houses in New York, which are now being displayed. The large assortment comprises everything desirable in this line, and we can confidently say that no such exhibition of these goods have ever been made in this city before. THIS WEEK will be the best opportunity to get the choice selections, as later on they will be sold. "A word to the wise," etc., you know.

LACE CURTAINS!—Is another specialty with us this week. We have purchased several "closing out" lots from the Importers, and offer EXTRA BARGAINS in these goods.

WINDOW SHADES!—We have been very agreeably surprised at the increased demand made upon us in this department. Everybody is pleased with the excellent and prompt manner in which our work is done.

PARTIES having houses to Shade or Carpet, will do well to get our "estimate" before ordering elsewhere.

HER MAJESTY'S CORSET.

It is the BEST because

1st, IT IS THE ONLY CORSET EVER MADE that will reduce the size and increase the length of the waist of FLESHY LADIES without injurious tight lacing.

2d, IT IS PROOF AGAINST PERSPIRATION AND MOISTURE, and will neither corrode nor soil the underwear, stretch at the waist, nor do the bones move or come out in wear.

3d, It is the best and only real ABDOMINAL AND SPINAL SUPPORTER in existence.

4th, IT ALWAYS retains its original shape; never becoming the form of the wearer. It is invaluable to young ladies, because it STRENGTHENS THE SPINE; removes and prevents STOOPING AND ROUND SHOULDERS. In this respect it will be found beneficial to all ladies, as it aids the wearer to assume an erect and healthful position in walking or riding.

5th, THIS CORSET MUST NOT BE MORE than 2 inches smaller than the size of your waist when measured tightly over your dress. If so ordered no Corset Maker can make one to order (at any price) that will fit as well, or with as much ease and comfort, or give such a magnificent form.

CANDIDATE CODDINGTON.

A SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

Self-Made and a Credit to His Creator—A Good Son—a True Christian, and an Able Lawyer.

Wm. A. Coddington, the Democratic candidate for Assembly from the Third Assembly District of Union County New Jersey, is a native of Bound Brook, N. J., and a resident of the city of Plainfield. He comes of sterling stock, his father having been the well-known Israel A. Coddington, for many years Assessor of Warren Township, Somerset county.

The early education of the coming Assemblyman was received at the public schools of Bound Brook. This training completed, he took the preparatory course at the Hasbrouck Commercial and Collegiate Institute and completed special courses in the State Normal and Model Schools at Trenton. Left in his boyhood at great disadvantage by the death of his father, William Archibald struggled manfully onward and upward with a pluck, a determination and a perseverance, closely approximating heroism. With nothing but his own good qualities to support him, he has fought his own way towards the top of the ladder and has gain considerable distance in the ascent. The generosity of his heart was early manifested in his devotion to his widowed mother and his sister, whom he has maintained in comfort at many a self-sacrifice of things dear to the heart of every young man.

Preeminently a self-made man, he possesses that independence of spirit deemed so valuable in one holding public office, and holds himself subservient to no considerations save those of justice, righteousness and truth.

Many future and some present new citizens can attest heartily to Mr. Coddington's worth as a public educator. For four years he taught school in Somerset county and during that time was an active member of the Somerset County Teachers' Association, which has built up the cause of knowledge in no small degree. When he resigned his position as teacher he held next to the highest office in the Association, that of Vice President. Although no longer a member of the Society, he is still one of its most valued friends, and as a lecturer before the meetings of that body he is held in high regard.

It was while teaching school that he first took up the study of law, and when he parted from his pupils it was to take the final steps towards becoming a member of the bar. For the past two years he has had a large and notable clientage, and has been identified with the famous law firm of Suydam & Stillman, by whom he is held in the highest esteem and respect.

Mr. Coddington's legal experience has found him concerned in many prominent Court cases. By reason of his ability and integrity he was chosen sole representative of the Montague heirs of an estate in Boston valued at $50,000, and was also given full power of attorney by all the heirs in the Irwin and Nolty estates in Pennsylvania, valued at 80,000.

A member of the Congregational church at Bound Brook, he holds therein the office of deacon, and is also Superintendent of the Chimney Rock Sunday school, which under his management is enjoying the utmost prosperity. Last year through his instrumentality the school which hitherto had had to meet in groves in Summer and private houses in Winter, was enabled to erect a handsome chapel of its own, at a cost of $1,500.

Not the least among his public services have been those rendered as Secretary and Counsel of the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, an institution of which he was one of the active founders and in whose work of humanity he has taken most ardent part.

Mr. Coddington's life has been one which gives him peculiar fitness for the responsible position of Assemblyman. He comes from the people; he is devoted to the people. He has acquired an invaluable readiness in debate; and into his speeches, whether studied or off-hand,—and he is an adept at both—he throws an energy, a fire, an eloquence and a conviction that never fail to command attention and that always tend towards triumph for his cause. Never so happy or so natural as when he can uphold and uplift the cause of humanity and justice, he stands ready to become a zealous law-maker and law-giver as well as law-defender. If elected to the office for which he has been nominated and for which he is receiving an enthusiastic support, he will be prominent for his activity in and his devotion to the best interests of the citizens, and his constituents will have no reason to regret his election. His high character, his nobility of purpose, his unimpeachable qualities of heart and mind, are considered unanswerable arguments why he should be chosen to represent the people whose wishes he so well understands and whose desires he will do so much to attain and perpetuate. As an Assemblyman he would be a working Assemblyman. He could not be a drone if he tried.

Barefooted in the Street.

Officer Flannagan found a poorly-clad woman drunk and leaning against a post on North avenue, about three o'clock on Saturday morning. The woman was young and good looking. She said she came from New York, and was without hat and shoes. She was provided with shelter for the night, and next morning she was given a hat and pair of shoes.

ALONZO GETS 10 DAYS MORE

While Butch Miller and His Pal Get Ten Years.

The Court of Sessions met at Elizabeth Saturday morning at 10:30 with Judges McCormick, Wiley and Hyer on the bench.

Alonzo Randolph (colored) of this city who had plead guilty to a charge of petit larceny in stealing a watch valued at $15, in consideration of the fact that he has already been confined over two months, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

Frank and Butch Miller and John Jennings who recently raided the houses of Mrs. Dr. Crouthers and Mrs. Ross at Elizabeth were brought up for sentence. On the indictment for entering without breaking, each received a sentence of five years in the State Prison with a fine of $300 and costs of prosecution. On a second indictment for larceny, Frank and Butch Miller were given an additional penalty of five years, a fine of $300 and costs of court.

Read the sketch of Mr. Coddington's life, in another column.

The Banner Week.

Prof. George Bartholomew's Equine Paradox did the largest week's business ever done by an indoor entertainment in Plainfield. It gave eight performances without a change of programme. Three times there was "standing room only," and two days it rained very hard.

Many hundreds from the surrounding towns and country came to see it and the horse show was the leading topic of conversation in all classes of society. It happened that the entertainment deserved the extraordinary patronage it received. Negotiations are pending for another visit of a week in April next. The following is the week's business:

Monday evening, 614 persons	$166 50
Tuesday evening, 573 persons	205 35
Wednesday matinee, 902 persons	259 35
Wednesday evening, 841 persons	242 80
Thursday evening, 690 persons (rain)	295 10
Friday evening, 1,106 persons	329 85
Saturday matinee, 1,147 persons (rain)	336 45

Manager Mishler, Saturday evening, made a liberal present to Mr. W. R. Mattox and his son Aaron the stage manager, for courtesies shown during the week. It was in every particular an engagement that will linger pleasantly in the memory of all who saw it, and its financial success has cheered the Music Hall treasury. The summary is eight performances, 6,685 persons, and $2,143.50.

Gorman's Minstrels.

The Gormans and their minstrel entertainers will be the attraction at Music Hall next Thursday evening. The Gormans eliminate the old style first part that has for so long been a leading feature in minstrelsy. An entirely new idea has been substituted which abounds in lively situations, charming music and ridiculous dialogue.

The entertainment is refined throughout; vulgarisms are absent and wit is regnant. The romantic picture of Southern cotton fields and all that is delightful in negro life, is introduced. James Gorman has this season excelled himself in producing for an after piece, "The Princess of Cambodia," a complete burlesque opera, put on the stage with realistic mechanical effects and properties. The costumes are handsome, the music charming and the situations and libretto excruciatingly funny.

Vindicating Willie VanNest.

Emma Jane Day, the female incendiary from Summit, who was re-committed to the county jail at Elizabeth, last week, after a few days' freedom, seems to be reconciled to her fate. The girl has become utterly depraved by the association of criminals. She left Summit about four weeks ago after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Henry Ardell. The other sister, Henrietta, has three years more to serve in the Reform School.

Officer Kelly of Summit, says that young Willie VanNest is not guilty of the crime of setting fire to Drake's laundry in this city, and for which he is now serving time in the Reform School, as he is certain that Henrietta Day is the guilty one.

An Artistic Job.

Mr. F. S. Dunn, Manager in this city for the Electrical Construction and Supply Company, has just completed wiring for incandescent lighting, Mr. Charles Potter's handsome residence on West Seventh street. The gas fixtures throughout the house have been re-wired in an artistic and skillful manner, so that the house can now be lighted either by gas or electricity. An electric gas lighting manual has also been placed in the building, thus adding efficiency to the service.

A high and manly character is that portrayed in the sketch of Wm. A. Coddington's life, elsewhere.

There is nothing in existence that will equal Salvation Oil in curing pains in the joints and muscles, or spinal affections. Price 25 cents.

A preacher, who had been annoyed by the incessant "hacking" of members of his congregation, recommended such to try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—Vote for Wm. A. Coddington for Member of Assembly. He is a citizen of Plainfield.

The consciousness of having a remedy at hand for croup, pneumonia, sore throat and sudden colds, is very consoling to a parent. With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, one feels, in such cases, a sense of security nothing else can give.

Reform Hall.

A moderate sized audience was in Reform Hall last evening. President Harper occupied the chair, and Mr. Vanderbeck's full choir discoursed music. The devotional services were conducted by Mr. Eden Boice.

The regularly invited speaker for the evening being absent on account of other pressing engagements, remarks were consequently confined to members of the club. Messrs Harper, Boice and Angleman each in a few pointed words advocated the cause of total abstinence from all intoxicating liquor.

At the close of the meeting announcements were made as follows:

Mother's meeting in Reform Hall Tuesday at 3 P. M. Business meeting of the club in basement of Reform Hall, Thursday evening next, at 7:30. Anniversary of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society in the main auditorium at 8 o'clock P. M., Thursday, when an address will be delivered by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell of the Methodist church.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the brain material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

GLADSTONE'S POLICY

The Conservatives Afraid of the Great Leader.

CABINET MEETING ON FRIDAY

Bills in Favor of the Workingmen to Be Introduced in Parliament.

The Report of the Parnell Commission Already Made Up—Emperor William Magnificently Entertained in Turkey—Excitement Over the Prize Fight Between Jem Smith and Jackson.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The first meeting of the Cabinet this season will be held next Friday, when it is supposed that the programme of the Government for the forthcoming session of Parliament will be outlined.

It is now regarded as possible that Mr. Gladstone will accept in some shape the leading planks of the Radical and Social platform. The notion which Conservatives entertain that Mr. Gladstone is going to the greatest possible lengths to court the votes of the working classes, compels the Government to promise to introduce legislation for the workingmen, and this policy will therefore be pursued as a species of self defence. The bills which the ministers are likely to propose in this line will include an amendment to the allotment act and a practical measure for the improvement of the dwellings of workmen.

The Queen's speech will also refer to the proposed appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into the exaction of mineral royalties with a view to their abolition. The abolition of tithes and the Irish land question will be the leading measure of the session, and both the Irish peasantry and the English working-classes are likely to reap some benefits under a Tory administration, as a consequence of Mr. Gladstone's persistent efforts in their behalf. The Conservatives have once more grown afraid of Mr. Gladstone and will try their utmost to deceive the people concerning his policy and their own intentions.

The report of the Parnell Commission is already practically made up. It is reported that it will avoid any condemnation of the "Times," and at the same time decide that the charges against the Parnellites are not proven.

A TWELVE-ROUND FIGHT.

Jackson and Smith to Battle Before the Pelican Club.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The boxing match between Jem Smith and the colored pugilist, Jackson, is the sole topic now in sporting circles. The date has not yet been definitely fixed, but it will probably occur on the 16th or 17th of this month in the large boxing-room of the Pelican Club. Both men have been training well since the arrangements for the match have been ratified.

The committee of the Club has elected ninety-two new members, who have joined with the sole object of being able to witness the encounter. Most of them will be disappointed, for the Club already has 1,500 members, and the room which has been selected for the match only holds 6,000. The seats will be balloted for, after the wealthy principal supporters of the boxing contests held in the Club have secured their seats. Two Continental sporting men have offered $1,000 apiece if allowed to be present. This tempting sum, however, failed to secure admission. There is very little betting on the part of the public, but the most prominent members of the Club are backing Smith heavily, and it is easy to get 3 to 1 against Jackson's chance from any of them. Joe Thompson, who won $100,000 by the Searle-O'Connor sculling race, stands to win an even greater sum on Jackson.

The articles, which were drawn up by Sir John Astley, are supposed to favor Smith. One clause is to the effect that no fancy points are allowed, so that the men have to hit their hardest all the time. The fact of the articles favoring the Englishman makes his supporters at the Club somewhat jubilant, inasmuch as if it was purely a boxing-match the long reach of Jackson would stand him in good stead. But as it will really be a twelve-round fight Smith is credited with possessing the best chance.

A member of the Club has laid an even $500 that the match will be ended before the twelfth round. He expects to see one of the men insensible by the ninth round. Smith is sure to try to get close to Jackson, so as to prevent the latter from making use of his long reach. If he does so the American will probably fare badly. Smith has a wonderful right, which, when the chance occurs, he brings with great force on the ribs just over the heart, so as to wind his adversary.

TURKISH HONORS.

Emperor William Received on a Magnificent Scale by the Sultan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4.—Soon after his arrival at the Yildiz Kiosk Emperor William witnessed a parade of the Turkish troops. He complimented the Sultan upon the appearance of the men, and especially praised the artillery. The Sultan afterward had a grand banquet in honor of the Emperor, and a state reception followed, at which the chief officers of the Ottoman Empire were presented to the German ruler.

Yesterday the Emperor and suite attended the Protestant Church, and took luncheon at the German Embassy. Last night the Emperor gave a banquet at the Yildiz Kiosk to the Turkish dignitaries, and afterward held a reception, chatting affably with the notable guests.

London Lightermen's Troubles.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—There is a disagreement among the leaders of the London lightermen's strike and it is possible that the proposed movement will be abandoned. Some of the leaders are satisfied to accept the concessions which it is known can be obtained beforehand, while others favor striking in the hope of more considerable gains. The disagreement will probably be overcome to-day.

Stanley Heard From.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 4.—Several letters have been received from the explorer, Henry M. Stanley, during the last few days, the latest being dated August 29. He was then at Nyanza. Emin and 800 others were well. Wadelai was in the hands of the Mahdis.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

Heroes in New York Who Daily Risk Their Lives.

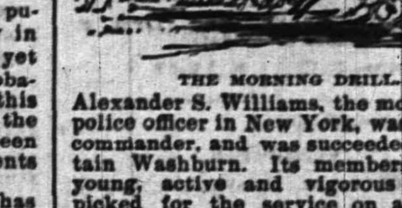
A Compact Corps Whose Services are Invaluable—The Squad at Drill—Very Knowing Horses—Patrolling the Fashionable Drives.

COPYRIGHT 1889.

There is a heavy tramping of hoofs around a curve in the road, and a cloud of dust obscures the view of High Bridge and hides the green hillside on the eastern bank of the Hudson. Suddenly, with a great clatter, four lines of horsemen dash past, five abreast. They are in true alignment, notwithstanding their headlong speed. In front rides a vetern, and at a word from him the command checks its pace like one man, and comes to a halt, on a little square in front of the old picturesque-looking hotel that is now used as the headquarters of the police of the Thirty-first Metropolitan Precinct, New York City, and the rendezvous of the famous "Mounted Squad."

Although it is hardly an hour past daybreak, the blue-coated troopers are already at morning drill. Sergeant William Revell, the instructor, is an old army cavalryman, and he puts them through the regular course of military tactics. There is plenty of room on the little square for these evolutions, and the trained animals show remarkable intelligence. They wheel in single formation, break and fall into fours, face front and advance in a single unbroken line, so straight that you might run a rope across the square and be sure of touching every horse's nose with it. At the word from the sergeant, men and horses sweep past like a whirlwind, stopping at the "Halt!" almost instantly. "Right about face" brings the whole troop around with a swing that reminds us of the trick horses in a circus, heels and heads elevated an instant, while the shining, silky skins reflect the sunlight, as they describe the circling motion in obedience to the command. The "Attention" and the "Dismount" are the same as in cavalry tactics. The fifteen minute drill is followed by inspection and then the troop is ready for the duties of the day.

To strangers who visit the big city and, indeed, to many New Yorkers themselves, the sight of a mounted policeman is a novelty. Yet the mounted squad is an important element in the upper portion of the metropolis. Organized in 1871, it consists of thirty-five men, two sergeants, one sergeant instructor and a captain. Inspector



THE MORNING DRILL.

Alexander S. Williams, the most daring police officer in New York, was its first commander, and was succeeded by Captain Washburn. Its members are all young, active and vigorous fellows, picked for the service on account of their excellent horsemanship and fine athletic qualities. Their salary is $1,200 a year, sergeants receiving $2,000 and the captain $2,500. Besides, it is considered among the police a mark of honor to be appointed to the corps, as its members are exempt from any of the petty duties that annoy the foot patrolmen and have better chances of recognition and promotion, for it is an organization where courage, coolness and strength are sure to tell, sooner or later. The splendid young fellows fully appreciate this and are ever on the alert for some opportunity to distinguish themselves. There is probably no corps in the country, civic or military, in which the spirit of hearty emulation prevails to such an extent as in the mounted squad.

The squad is divided into two commands, the regular and special patrols. The regular patrol is in two platoons. The special mounted patrol consists of eleven men and a roundsman. Its duty is a pleasant one. They are the finest looking men in the corps and bear to it the same relation that the gigantic Broadway squad does to the regular police. They patrol the leading promenades uptown, Fifth, Lenox, St. Nicholas, and Jerome avenues, from Seventy-second street to 170th street. This vast territory includes the most fashionable quarter and all the drives that are patronized by the "upper ten." The blue-coated troopers ride in and out among the liveried carriages, keep the roadways clear, stop runaways and prevent fast driving and frequently have a sharp brush after a thief or a pick-pocket. They skirt the edges of the Park and keep a sharp lookout for "mashers," who would otherwise make life a burden for many of the ladies who ride out unescorted for an airing. It is one of the funniest of sights to witness a big policeman warning off some stylishly dressed fop who has persisted in following either in carriage or afoot, ladies with whom he has no acquaintance.

But such things are trivial incidents alongside of the daily experiences of the mounted squad. Hardly a day passes on which half a dozen runaways are not caught by the officers, some of them at the risk of life. One of the bravest men in the service is Sergeant Gannon, the hero of half a hundred thrilling escapades. About forty years of age, broad shouldered and bronzed, he has been several times promoted for distinguished courage and has silver medals, cups and parchment testimonials, testifying to his heroism. Like most of his fellows, Gannon is an exceedingly modest officer and dislikes to talk about his exploits.

STOPPING A RUNAWAY.

"The pluckiest man in the corps," said he, "is Officer Chris. Rabbit, who is now laid up from injuries received while catching a runaway team the other day on Seventh avenue. He stopped the team; but he took a big risk, for it was going along at breakneck speed. Rabbit, however, isn't a man to be scared at anything, so in he dashed, right in front of the wild horses, just as he had done safely and successfully to a dozen teams before. His own horse swerved a bit, and, before he could extricate himself, he was down with his horse partly above him. It was a narrow escape but he'll soon be around again all right.

"I don't think the question of risk enters a man's mind so much when he's on horseback, as when afoot," he continued. "I remember once, on Jerome avenue, seeing a team coming along at a terrific pace. Mr. J. B. Ayers was seated in the wagon and it was clear that he had lost all control of the horses. There were lots of people out driving that day, which made a runaway all the more dangerous. Inspector Thorne was on the avenue, and so was Robert Bonner with one of his fast turnouts. I started for the team and, waiting till it swept by, I grabbed it and was instantly pitched headlong from my horse. But I didn't let go. Somehow I held on to the bridle, and the next thing I knew we were all down together in a heap, horses, men and carriages. Several people drew up and helped us out of the tangle and, although I felt pretty sore, I wasn't seriously hurt. Strangest thing about it was that nobody was hurt, not even the horses; but to look at us there on the ground, all in a bunch, they told me afterwards, one would have thought somebody was pretty sure to be killed.

"But the queerest experience I ever had with a runaway was with the team of Mr. J. K. Gracie, of the Mexican Telegraph Company. His horse bolted on Lenox avenue. The road was pretty clear. Well, it came bowling along, swinging from side to side in a dangerous sort of way, and threatening to pitch over. I was behind, and after a sharp brush came up alongside. The off horse was the fellow that had caused all the trouble; I could see that with half an eye. He was furiously excited and plunging as though he would tear the wagon to pieces. The nigh horse was calmer. I never knew just how it happened, but as I came alongside I saw a chance and throwing my leg off my own brute, I leaped on the nigh horse and was firmly seated in a couple of seconds, with the reins well in hand. I pulled them up, all hot and white with foam, in less than a hundred yards, with my own horse, Roundsman, close behind, and looking as pleased as though he had done the thing himself instead of having put me up to it, as he really did."

The whole history of the corps, since it first began to patrol the suburbs and the beautiful drives of upper New York, is one of pluck and bravery. Officer Huston is another member who has distinguished himself by many rescues from deadly peril and also by cleverly running down many a marauder in the section between McComb's Dam Bridge and Jerome Park. One of his runaway experiences show remarkable courage. A carriage containing a young lady, helpless from terror was tearing along St. Nicholas avenue. The horses had been scared by something and were frantic. The road was full of vehicles and a collision was inevitable. Huston met the furious brutes in the middle of the road, interposing his own horse as a barrier. He grasped the reins, threw both horses on their haunches and at the same instant the lady was pitched from the carriage, but fortunately more frightened than hurt. Huston escaped without a scratch, although he declared that he took the biggest risk of his life.

"ROUNDSMAN."

Although they are a little old-fashioned the stalls where the horses of the mounted squad are stabled are a model of cleanliness and comfort. On the walls and just above the horses' heads are metal strips on which the names of the occupants are painted. Stableman Adam Furston, who has had charge of the animals ever since the patrol was organized, shows much affection for his equine pets.

"There is Roundsman," he said, pointing to a magnificent brown cob next to the door. "His master is Sergeant Revell, the father and instructor of the squad. Roundsman is eight years old and has carried the Sergeant on many a hot chase. That big fellow in the next stall is Pompey. Yes, he's a monstrous horse, fully fifteen hands and about 1,300 pounds. He is twelve years old and I sometimes think he knows more than any man in the squad," he added, as he rubbed Pompey's nose softly, while the intelligent brute winked in corroboration of the statement. "He knows every telegraph post uptown and could stop a runaway himself, if let alone. Yes, sir; there ain't a horse can escape him when he once gets started, for Pompey is tricky and cute, and will get across the bolter by strategy somehow, even if he has to cut across lots to do it. He is Henry Clay stock and took the first prize at the horse show in Gilmore's Garden several years ago. When the annual parade comes off on the 29th of May, Pompey, who seems to know just what is going to happen, puts on airs, for he is always ridden by Superintendent Murray, the Chief of Police. Just see how his chestnut skin shines, though he's a veteran he's as frisky and quick as a two-year-old.

"That brown horse there is George and the other next to him is Billy. He's a famous runner Billy is, and you can't tire him out either. Leo here is just like him. Look at Jumbo, there. Isn't he a big fellow? He isn't as plump and handsome as Roundsman or Fanny the bay mare over in that box stall, but he's a capital horse. Fanny is the fastest and fieriest of the stud. Sergeant Delany rides her and she behaves for nobody else. Another spirited creature is Flora, the Captain's mare, that sleek little beauty yonder that's looking at you so shyly. Lord bless you! She'd kick your head off if she had the chance. She kicks her stall to flinders occasionally just for fun. She is of Kentucky racing stock, and Captain Westburn has got a capital record out of her, trotting to wagon.

"All the horses are good stock, well-bred and valuable, probably averaging $500 to $700, some even higher. They get the best of care, plenty of exercise, and all the corn and oats they can eat."

All are cob-built, stocky but clean-limbed and nimble as a set of racers. Their average weight is 1,200 pounds, and their height 14 hands. Napoleon, Pompey and Jumbo standing out like giants among their fellows. On duty the horse keeps watch as well as his rider. He can detect a runaway like a flash, and with ears set back and eyes beaming with excitement, he is off in pursuit before the spur touches his flank. He knows, too, how to break up a crowd without trampling anybody, and when chasing an offender will leap low walls and fences like a steeplechaser. None but a cob can do such work daily without breaking down.

The men of the mounted squad love these horses. In the hot noon of summer they can be seen seeking the shady nooks of the drives and avenues to cool the animals, and every officer on the squad makes it a rule to carry some tidbit in his saddle pouch to feed to his mount between meals. For quick, efficient service in the open territory in the immediate vicinity of a thickly populated city, the mounted patrol is unsurpassed. Every year demonstrates its increasing value and importance, and it is expected that before the World's Fair brings its multitude of visitors to the suburbs of the metropolis, the mounted squad will be largely augmented in numbers, as it will certainly be relied upon for a much wider field of duty than it now occupies.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

How Election News Was Received at the Capital.

THE PRESIDENT DISAPPOINTED.

Mahone's Defeat in Virginia Discussed Privately by Cabinet Officers.

Annual Report of the Quartermaster-General to the Secretary of War—The Maritime Conference Resumes Business—The Pan-American Delegates to Return on the 11th.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Harrison, like his predecessors, gets the news of elections and other important events telegraphed directly to the White House over the wire which connects it at all times with the Western Union system.

He paid very little attention to the scattering despatches of the day, although at the Cabinet meeting the probable results of the elections were canvassed and their effect on the Administration discussed.

To-day the President had the returns brought into the library and talked them over with the members of the Cabinet who dropped in. The President and most of the members of the Cabinet, Mr. Blaine being the chief exception, seemed disappointed in the result in Virginia.

NEEDS OF THE ARMY.

The Quartermaster-General's Annual Report to the Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Quartermaster General S. B. Holabird of the Army has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of War. He recommends the enlistment of men for the Quartermaster General's department; the establishment of drill halls for winter exercise of troops; and states that repairs are needed to the roads leading to the national cemeteries at Chalmette; Fort Scott, Kan.; Natchez, Miss.; Springfield, Mo., Knoxville, Tenn.; Mound City, Ill.; Richmond, Va., and Vicksburg, Miss.

He also recomends that permanent means of approach be established to the National Cemeteries at Alexandria, Va.; Arlington, Va.; Culpeper, Va.; Fredericksburg, Va.; Fayetteville, Ark.; Fort Gibson, Indian Territory; Keokuk, Iowa; Poplar Grove, Va.; Seven Pines, Va., and Yorktown, Va.

The report is composed mainly of accounts of routine operations performed during the year.

To Secure His Brother's Release.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—George Bidwell, whose connection with the great Bank of England forgeries, a number of years ago, made him notorious, has had an interview with Solicitor Walker Blaine, at the State Department, in regard to the case of his brother, who is serving a life sentence in England for his complicity in the forgeries. Both Bidwells are citizens of the United States and George is endeavoring to have the Government do something towards securing his brothers release. George Bidwell was pardoned in 1886 and since his release has published a book of hip experiences.

The Marine Conference.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—The International Marine Conference has resumed business. It was agreed that the Conference, after disposing of articles one and three, should proceed to consider all the other divisions on the programme, and that a number of small Committees be appointed to aid the Conference in disposing of the different subjects.

To Join the Pan-American Delegates.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister; ex-Senator Davis, of West Virginia; Senor Quintana, of the Argentine Republic and Solicitor Walker Blaine, of the State Department, left Washington to join the Pan-American excursion party at Pittsburg. The excursionists will return to Washington on November 11.

A Respite and a Pardon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 5.—The President has granted a respite until January 8, 1890, to David Lemmans, who was sentenced to be hanged in Kansas, for murder committed on an Indian reservation. A pardon has been granted to John A. Kimball, under sentence for violating the postal laws in Utah.

Two Persons Accidentally Killed.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 6.—John F. Jones, who ran the elevator in the Tremont and Suffolk mill No. 2, fell down the elevator well and was instantly killed. He leaves a widow and three children destitute. Mrs. Maggie Lanery, aged 30, an occasional mill hand, while crossing the Concord River railroad bridge, was struck and killed by a Boston & Maine shifting locomotive. She leaves a child, aged 5.

His Victim Dead.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 6.—Mrs. G. Walker, the colored woman who was so severely cut with a razor by Chas. Lees about a week ago, died from the effects of the wound yesterday. Lees is held on a charge of murder.

New Bedford Whalers.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 6.—Revised returns of the catch of the Arctic whalemen give eleven additional whales, a total of fifty-eight for the season.

Governor Lee to Grover Cleveland.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 6.—Gov. Lee has sent the following despatch to ex-President Cleveland: "Virginia has buried Mahone by probably 30,000 majority."

BAD FOR BURKE.

Trying to Convict the Suspect on "Evidence of Flight."

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—D. E. McKinnon, the detective, of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, who arrested Burke at Winnipeg, will be one of the witnesses at the Cronin trial this week. It is expected that he will arrive to-day.

His testimony will be valuable to the State as showing Burke's flight to be an evidence of guilt. All the evidence so far in the hands of the State's Attorney shows only that Burke was at Winnipeg and arrested there. McKinnon's testimony will show that Burke at Winnipeg was trying to escape by using a false name, and trying to avoid a discovery of his identity.

McKinnon arrested Burke at the railroad yards while the suspect was skulking around attempting to enter by the back way so as to board the train without passing through the well-lighted station. When searched at the police station a money receipt in the name of "Cooper" and a railroad ticket purchased under a false name was found on Burke's person. Burke also strenuously denied his true name. All this will be used as evidence of flight, and will tend to prove Burke's endeavor to escape.

It is rumored about the Criminal Court building that Heffner and Mills will come with McKinnon.

SENSATIONAL DEATH.

An Important Witness in a Poisoning Case Dies Suddenly.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 6.—A sensational death occurred last evening in Pittston, it being associated in the minds of the public with the Glynn poisoning case.

Mrs. Rabbet, a sister-in-law of James Glynn, the suspected poisoner and daughter of Mr. Craglin, the first victim of the supposed poisoning, was taken with cramps yesterday morning. Last evening she died after suffering great agony.

She was an important witness in the coming trial of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn, now in prison here. The coroner is investigating the matter.

Another Labor Federation.

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 6.—At a meeting of the Cigarmakers' Union in this city steps were taken to organize a federation of the different trade and labor organizations of central Pennsylvania. Each trade organization will be independent, but the federation will be managed by a legislative body composed of delegates from all the unions that are represented.

The Broken Conshohocken Bank.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 6.—John Slingluff, president of the Montgomery National Bank, has suggested that the Tradesmen's Bank, of Conshohocken be reorganized with a capital of only $50,000. This would obviate the necessity for raising about $50,000 in cash in order to keep the bank running under its present capital.

Barb Steel Wire Trust.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 6.—It is reported that a movement is on foot to form a barb steel wire trust. Options have been taken by the Federal Steel Company on all the large plants in the vicinity. The trust, if formed, will be capitalized by several million dollars.

Shooting Affair at Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 6.—John Matthews, colored, was fatally shot by Charles Carter, also colored, in a fight over a white woman of bad reputation. Matthews was taken to the Red Cross Hospital. Carter escaped and is still at large.

Politics Cause a Murder.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 6.—Michael Fall, a young Democrat, and Phil. Lambert, a Republican, engaged in an altercation over politics, and Lambert, after being badly beaten, got a shot-gun and fired at Fall, killing him instantly.

Stabbed by Negroes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—During an election quarrel at Grand and Sullivan streets among a number of negroes Charles May was fatally stabbed by Robert Briggs. The murderer and two companions have been arrested.

The Walker Murder Trial.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 6.—In the trial of Edward Walker, of Stamford, for murder before Judge Prentice in this city. Mrs. Walker, mother of the accused, and his two sisters, testified that the pistol found on Edward was at home in the bureau at the time the shot was fired. He came to the house after it soon after the shooting, and said that Bartley Ryle had shot Jim, and he was going to shoot him. Mrs. Walker took the revolver away from him but he finally got possession of it. Johnny Walker said his two brothers were wrestling, and when Edward threw Jim Bartley Ryle shot Jim from behind the counter.

Arguing Against Parnell.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Continuing his argument for the "Times" before the Parnell Commission Sir Henry James declared that Parnellism was a conspiracy to destroy landlordism and rupture the Union. Mr. Parnell's visit to America, though ostensibly to collect money for the relief of distress, was really to secure support for the League's treasonable aims, and he appealed to men well known as plotters against the British Government.

Lightermen Give In.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Seventeen lightermen firms granted the demands of the men. It is thought that this indicates a settlement of the trouble without serious consequences. A proposal to accept the services of the Lord Mayor and Cardinal Manning as meditators between the men and their employers, as was done in the dock strike, is being favorably considered.

DALY WHIPS GABIG.

Eleven Fierce and ..dy Rounds Fought at Fishkill, N. Y.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 6.—A rattling prize fight took place at Highland Falls between Jim Daly of Philadelphia, and Bill Gabig of Pittsburg, heavy-weights, for a purse of $300, in which Daly proved the victor.

Daly weighed 180 pounds. He has met Gabig before and the fight was then a draw. Daly broke Gabig's nose at that time.

Gabig weighed 192 pounds. He has met Jake Kilrain, Jack Dempsey, Mike Cleary and several other good ones.

The 24-foot ring was pitched in the dancing pavilion. Daly was seconded by Steve Brodie and Tommy Campbell. Gabig was looked after by William Kenney and Dr. Vallette, both of Philadelphia.

Time was called at 1.50 a. m. It was three-minute rounds, one minute rest, with two-ounce gloves, to a finish.

In the first round some fine sparring was done, but no actual work. In the second round Gabig landed on Daly and followed it up. Daly tripped and both fell.

In the third round body blows were exchanged freely. Daly made a drive for Gabig's head, but missed. He accidently hit Steve Brodie a blow in the head. Daly was awarded first blood. Daly injured his right in this round, but even with this handicap Gabig was no match for him. In the eleventh round, Daly at Brodie's suggestion to put an end to it, hit Gabig under the eye knocking him senseless. The referee declared Daly the winner.

AMUSING DIVORCE SUIT.

A Member of the Maritime Conference in the Providence Courts.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6.—A prominent member of the International Maritime Conference, Captain A. M. Bisbee, representing the Empire of China, is just now occupying public attention here as plaintiff in an amusing divorce suit.

Captain Bisbee is a native of Cape Cod, where his wife, Flora, lives. For ten years past he has been in the service of the Celestial Emperor. A little over a year ago he came home on leave of absence and alleges that his spouse celebrated his return by pulling his beard, scalding him with the teakettle and knocking him down several times with a stove poker.

He has, therefore entered suit in the Supreme Court for absolute divorce. It is understood that there is another side to the story. Friends of his wife allege that he attempted to run his home and family on an Oriental plan that was incompatible with the dignity of an American housewife, and she took heroic measures to persuade him to return to nineteenth century ways. The suit promises to be lively and entertaining. Capt. Bisbee is now in Washington attending the conference.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

The First Thursday of February Will Probably be the Date.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Parliament will probably meet on February 6. There is a feeling that the session should begin early, and the first days of the session of 1890 will probably be more stormy than those of any other of this Parliament, an expectation which always inclines Ministers to prefer Thursday rather than Tuesday as the opening day, because the suspension of the standing order as to Wednesday affords scope for discursive conversation. The first Thursday in February is, therefore, the day obviously marked out, but that is the only suggestion that is easy to make, for the more one talks with the Ministerials and their allies as to the legislative programme of the coming year the less clear seems the path of the Government. The opinion is becoming quite common among the leading politicians that the Government will attempt to satisfy the claim for Irish legislation by some intermediate proceeding, making use of the report of the special Commission and other matters that may come to hand for postponing the introduction of a Land Bill or a Local Government bill until the following year.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

H. C. Waggener has been appointed postmaster at Kenkana, a fourth-class office in New York State.

Garrett De Graff, a farmer, was waylaid and robbed of $100 by three highwaymen near Amsterdam, N. Y. The thieves were captured.

Fire destroyed the City Bakery, George Deislore's Bending Works and the Dowel Pin Works at Allentown Pa. Loss, $10,000; no insurance.

M. Selig & Co., notion jobbers, at 201 Market street, Philadelphia, have assigned, with liabilities likely to reach $100,000. Assets about one-third.

The Hartford, Conn., Board of Trade adopted a resolution urging the issue of 5,000-mile passenger tickets interchangeable over the New England railroads.

The public schools at Middletown, N. Y., have all been closed by orders of the Boards of Education and Health, owing to the prevalence of diphtheria, in an epidemic form.

Andrew J. Pyne, chief page of the House of Representatives, died suddenly at Harrisburg, Pa., yesterday of heart disease. He was appointed a page in 1861 and served continuously ever since.

The strike of molders in the Brooks Locomotive Works, at Dunkirk, N. Y. which has lasted nearly two weeks has ended, the men returning to work on conditions that the union is not to interfere with the managers employing such men as they choose. The men discharged will not be reinstated.

Several hand sewers working on army shoes at the factory of John Peach & Co., at Randolph, Mass. are on strike for an advance of one cent per pair, demanding twenty-three cents for sewing and twenty-seven cents for stitching. The union prices are twenty-two and twenty-six cents respectively. The strikers places will be filled.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Over four thousand copies of Monday's PRESS were printed, and read by the people.

—The trial of criminal cases was resumed in the Union County Courts at Elizabeth, today.

—The regular monthly business meeting of the Reform Club will be held in Reform Hall to-morrow, Thursday evening, at 7.30 sharp.

—Messrs J. P. Laire & Co. announce today that they will present a handsome set of polishing irons to each purchaser of a stove on Saturday, Nov. 9.

—It is said that a man named Patrick Cahill who resides in the Short Hills, will be arrested today for attempting to vote in both the First and Second wards, yesterday.

—The fourth grand ball of the Columb a Social Club will take place at Turn Hall, on Somerset street, to-morrow evening. Prof. O'Reilly will furnish the music for dancing.

—On the fourth page of this issue will be found the general results of yesterday's elections. It seems that the Republican candidates have not universally received the endorsement of the people.

—Messrs P. Muldoon and P. Galbert were gathered in by Chief Carey last night for disorderly conduct. This morning they pleaded not guilty to the charge, and Mayor Male adjourned the case for a week.

—John Jennings and Anton Owens, the two burglars sentenced Saturday at Elizabeth to 5 and 10 years respectively in State Prison, tried to dig out Sunday night, but were caught in the act by Warden Dodd, formerly Chief of Police of this city. This morning, five years and costs were added to each of their sentences.

—In our report of last Sunday evening's meeting in Reform Hall, we omitted to mention that the President read a communication from the Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, cordially inviting members of the Reform Club to attend Mr. P. A. Burdick's meetings, commencing next Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in Music Hall.

A Wedding of Friends.

As announced in THE PRESS some days ago, the wedding of the daughter of the late ex-Councilman William Taylor will take place in the North Meeting house, corner of Sixth and Noble streets, Philadelphia, Tuesday morning of next week, at ten o'clock. The steel engraved invitations read as follows:

SALLIE J. TAYLOR requests your presence at the marriage of her daughter,
BERTHA,
to
CLEMENT BIDDLE WEBSTER,
Third day morning, Eleventh month twelfth.

Miss Taylor is now at the home of her grandfather in Philadelphia. After the wedding a reception will be held at the bride's uncle's, 130 North Eighteenth street, from one to three o'clock

The Administration Rebuked.

Most of the New York papers this afternoon claim that Fire Alarm Foraker is defeated for Governor of Ohio by 4,000 to 6,000 plurality; and Mahone cries "Fraud!" beneath a heap of 30,000 ballots that swamped him in Virginia.

A great benefit has been secured to the poor by the introduction of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup: for it now only takes 25 cents to cure a cough or cold.

Anybody troubled with rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff neck, or any pain or ache, should procure a bottle of Salvation Oil at once. Price 25 cents.

SWINDLER AND CONFIDENCE MAN.

A Young Man Leases An Office in the Love Building and Presents a Spurious Check for the First Month's Rent—He Subsequently Elopes With Diamonds, Jewelry, Etc., Valued at $100, from a Dunellen Boarding House.

A clever swindler, sneak thief and confidence man has been operating among the residents of this city and Dunellen, during the past few days. The man is about twenty-six years of age, dresses well and is a good conversationalist. He travels under the name of "William Charnas," and his residence is variously given as New York, Brooklyn or Philadelphia, as the case may be.

The fellow begun his exploits here on Friday last, when he engaged board at Dr. Griffen's on East Second street. He spent one night at the doctor's and left in the morning with a night key in his possession. On Saturday he engaged an office over Mr. Edward Love's wall paper and stationery store at North avenue and Peace street, and presented a spurious check for the first month's pay, receiving $11 cash in change.

The man gave the name of "Horace S Ely" of No. 22 Pine street, New York, as his reference, and claimed that he represented the Globe and Equity Insurance Companies. He took measurements of the room and told Mr. Love, that he would open an office there on Monday.

The fellow then went to Dunellen and engaged board with Mr. C. W. Johnson for $25 a week, but as Mr. Johnson could not accommodate him before Monday he secured temporary board with Mrs. Emily Apgar where he remained over Sunday, telling Mrs. Apgar that his mother and sister would join him on the following day. Early Monday morning, while the other inmates of the house were absent or at breakfast, "Charnas" ransacked their sleeping apartments and stole a handsome set of diamond earrings and wedding ring belonging to the wife of Conductor M. L. Rarick, of the New Jersey Central Railroad, a silver watch, a plain gold ring and a silver-headed umbrella. The thief then quietly left the house, and has not since returned. The authorities are endeavoring to trace the criminal.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

A soft pink light glows from the bright red electric lamp that Dr. M. B. Long has had placed outside his office door on Park avenue.

Invitations have been issued for a reception to be tendered the friends of Dr. and Mrs. Henry H. Lowrie upon the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, Saturday, Nov. 16.

Mr. Fred W. Yates, son of the Hon. Joseph W. Yates, is now a student at Yale College, but is yet undecided as to his ultimate profession. His home for the Winter is at 242 York street, New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Manning announce the wedding of their daughter Margaret and John B. Drayton, to take place at the Crescent Avenue church, Wednesday evening, the 20th inst., at six o'clock.

The friends of Dr. C. M. Field and Mr. Frank P. Searles, will be glad to know that the ship "Neba," on which they sailed for Sydney, Australia, arrived at that place on Monday, making the voyage in one hundred days.

It is stated that one of the quartette of Plainfield fishermen who spent the day angling at Perth Amboy, yesterday, fell asleep in the cars at Elizabethport, on the return trip, last evening, and was carried through to Jersey City.

Mr. William Mattox is the efficient stage carpenter at Music Hall, who deserves and receives so much credit for the effect of his work at stage setting for the varied shows that come to Plainfield. Secretary Marsh, of the Board of Managers, made him a handsome present upon the close of the Equine Paradox engagement.

A Lecture That Realized Their Expectations.

The Somerset County Teachers' Association held a meeting at Somerville on Saturday. Although the weather was discouraging, a fair number were present, as a rare treat was in expectation. Prof. A. C. Apgar, teacher of Natural Science in the Normal School at Trenton, was to tell the teachers about "Our Enemies and Friends among Insects."

For two hours Prof. Apgar held the close attention of all those present, as he related how often through ignorance we hated and killed our best friends and admired and protected our enemies; that in all this world of destroying bugs, worms, locusts, mosquitoes, etc., there was always an antidote in some bug or worm that destroyed these, our enemies.

The greatest destruction came where an enemy was brought into a country and the corresponding friend left behind. As an illustration the apple crop of California is periled by its enemies, and the people are seeking far and wide to find friends to destroy the insects that are killing the trees. The two lectures were very interesting and valuable.

After intermission the Association convened at 1:30 and listened to a practical paper by Mr. T. E. Hazell, of North Plainfield, on "Music for Schools." At the close of the paper he conducted a short singing exercise, with the teachers present. Thus closed another very pleasant association for Somerset County.

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE.

An Auspicious Opening of Their New Club House.

About fifty of the members of the Plainfield Crescent League and a host of their friends, gathered at 13 East Second street, Monday evening, to join in the opening of their new club house that had just been completed.

The interior of the building had undergone a thorough renovation, and was pronounced to be one of the most charming and convenient club homes in the State. The members at a former meeting had put their hands in their pockets and generously contributed about one thousand dollars, which Trustees C. C. Burnet, J. T. Fritts, A. W. Waldron, Jr., F. M. Slater, R. M. Stelle, C. P. Leggett and J. K. Arnold, had used in a most judicious manner.

Down stairs are located four of the finest bowling alleys in the State, in a lofty room that is equalled nowhere else in New Jersey. Upstairs are a suite of handsomely furnished rooms for reading, smoking, and business meetings. The building is lighted throughout by electricity, and well-fitted toilet and coat rooms are also among the comforts and conveniences.

At precisely eight o'clock, President E. C. Kieb stood at the head of alley No. 1, and addressed the groups of representative citizens gathered about the room. He said: "Gentlemen, at the eleventh hour I am called upon to make a speech in reference to this occasion of our first occupancy of these handsome rooms. I am a very poor speech-maker but a better bowler. So I will open the alleys with a 'strike' and hope every member of this club will do likewise." Mr. Kieb then bowled the first ball that had ever rolled over the alleys, and swept down every pin, amid loud applause.

All present enjoyed the occasion thoroughly, and overflowed with admiration of the new building and praise of the work of the Trustees in accomplishing it all. A large number of applications for membership were handed in during the evening, by the guests.

The League was incorporated last month, and opened its Club House with the following membership of 78:

E. C. Kieb,	T. S. Miller,
H. S. Teel,	W. K. McClure,

HOUSEHOLD BAZAAR.

The Novel Fair the Crescent Avenue Presbyterians are Arranging.

The new chapel and Sunday school rooms that are being added to the Crescent Avenue church, have now got the roof on and their first coat of paint. It is intended to hold within these new walls a Household Bazaar during the afternoons and evenings of December 12, 13 and 14, that is to eclipse in novelty and financial results all previous efforts.

The booths will be designated, supplied and furnished as near as possible in accordance with each day of the week. Monday, wash day; Wednesday, sewing day; Friday, visiting day with five o'clock tea, etc. Miss Kate Martine will be chairman of Monday's Committee, the Choir will have charge of Tuesday's booth, and Mrs. VanNest Talmadge, Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Mrs. Charles Hunter and Mrs. H. B. Newhall will preside over the corps of fair women who will serve for the other days of the week respectively. Mrs I. C. Pierson, will be chairman of the Refreshment Committee.

Two Photographic Exhibitions.

The Camera Club at a regular meeting, Monday evening, decided to hold another exhibition of their work, shortly after the Christmas holidays. The Club is also arranging for a public exhibition of microscopic photographs, of which Mr. James E. Greensmith, of West Front street, owns a large and valuable collection. An effort is being made to persuade Dr. H. H. Lowrie to act as exhibitor.

Public Prayer Meeting.

Bear in mind the public prayer meeting in the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, 73 West Front street, which will be continued from 2 to 5. Mr. Burdick's coming for Gospel temperance work, is the subject for the meeting to-morrow, at 2 P. M.

—The total number of names registered in the whole city was 2,280, and the total number of votes cast yesterday was 1,761. Thus it will be seen that 519 of the voters in the city did not cast their ballot.

FUR MUFFS AND CAPES.

WE have just received three cases of Muffs, Capes and Fur Trimmings from three of the best Fur Houses in New York, which are now being displayed. The large assortment comprises everything desirable in this line, and we can confidently say that no such exhibition of these goods have ever been made in this city before. THIS WEEK will be the best opportunity to get the choice selections, as later on they will be sold. "A word to the wise," etc., you know.

LACE CURTAINS!—Is another specialty with us this week. We have purchased several "closing out" lots from the Importers, and offer EXTRA BARGAINS in these goods.

WINDOW SHADES!—We have been very agreeably surprised at the increased demand made upon us in this department. Everybody is pleased with the excellent and prompt manner in which our work is done.

PARTIES having houses to Shade or Carpet, will do well to get our "estimate" before ordering elsewhere.

EDSALL'S, No. 20 West Front St. EDSALL'S.

THE best place to get GENUINE BARGAINS.

If you are not satisfied with the quality and price of the Flour you are using, send an order for a bag of "Pride of the Pantry."

It is bound to suit the most particular; and the Price is WAY DOWN.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.

THE RESULT IN THIS CITY.

Yesterday's Election Noted for Its Quiteness—Only a Light Vote Polled—The City Gives Grubb a Plurality of 308 and Ulrich 297.

The election in this city yesterday passed off very quietly, little or no interest being manifested throughout the day. The total number of votes cast was 1,761 against 2,219 in 1888. The total Prohibition vote in the city was 38. Annexed is the result in detail:

	Votes.	Grubb.	Abbett.	LaMonte.
1st Ward	437	250	179	7
2d Ward	401	259	132	8
3d Ward	329	225	89	12
4th Ward (1st Dist)	312	171	131	8
(2d Dist)	282	107	173	3
Totals	1761	1012	704	38

Plurality—308

	Ulrich.	Coddington.	Massett.
1st Ward	255	173	7
2d Ward	260	137	4
3d Ward	228	86	12
4th Ward (1st Dist)	160	141	8
(2d Dist)	103	172	2

Plurality—297.

THIS YEAR'S DEMOCRATIC GAINS

Majorities—	1888.	1889.
1st Ward, Ulrich	61	75
2d " "	163	119
3d " "	154	130
4th Ward, Johnson	10
" Coddington		60
Ulrich's majorities	368	264

Complete returns giving Abbett's majority in Union county, and Ulrich's majority in the district, are not yet all in.

THE NORTH PLAINFIELD VOTE.

The vote in North Plainfield yesterday was light, only 729 votes being polled in the two districts. Following is the result:

	1st Dist.	2d Dist.
FOR GOVERNOR.
Grubb, R	206	180
Abbett, D	164	152
LaMonte, P	13	13
FOR ASSEMBLY.
Garretson, R	209	180
Klotz, D	160	151
Voorhees, P	13	13
FOR SHERIFF.
Ringleman, R	202	173
Coddington, D	169	158
Sperling, P	13	13

Somerset county gives Coddington for Sheriff 538 majority and Klotz for Assembly 136 majority.

NEW MARKET.

The election was very quiet, the entire Republican ticket being elected by big odds, as follows:

FOR GOVERNOR.
Grubb	168
Abbett	120
FOR COUNTY CLERK.
Conger, R	178
Convery, D	111
FOR ASSEMBLY.
Eggert, R	170
Tappen, D	113

Versatile and Prolific Novelties.

The entertainment that Gorman's elite minstrels present to the patrons of Music Hall, to-morrow evening, is original, novel and refined. They promise that the audience will be surprised when the curtain rises on the first part to find instead of the usual array of minstrels seated in the old style horseshoe circle, a beautiful scene on the Hudson River near West Point, introducing the Cadets in a marching song and chorus, complex evolutions and novel rifle drill.

The "All America Base Ball Team" give a musical account of their tour around the World, the new and beautiful dancing novelty "The Golden Shoe Quadrille," the "Elite Quartette" and "Madrigal Boys," the characteristic song and dance sketch, "The New South," and the entertainment concluding with James Gorman's latest oriental operetta, "The Princess of Cambodia," presented with realistic mechanical effects and properties, and introducing George Gorman in his greatest character creation, O-do-nel-lo, a Millesian potentate. Mr. Gorman will be remembered by his famous impersonations of "Kranky Too" in "The Cigardo," burlesque on "The Mikado," and "The Embassador" in "The Golden Ball." The Gormans are recognized as the most versatile and prolific novelty producers in the minstrel profession.

Exercises of Special Interest.

The anniversary of the Woman's Temperance Aid Society, of which Mrs. P. M. French is President, in Reform Hall, next Thursday evening, should draw together a large assemblage. Rev. Mr. Mitchell of the M. E. church, will deliver an address, and Rev. Mr. Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, will also be present and participate in the exercises. Music and other pleasing attractions promise to render the occasion one of unusual interest. Hour for commencing, 8 o'clock. All will meet a cordial welcome.

Electric Light in the Public Schools.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, Monday evening, Secretary Wadsworth and Treasurer Murray were appointed a committee to secure an estimate for wiring the Irving school for the purposes of electric lighting.

TRUSTEE DAY TALKS.

After Investigation He Considers the Flogging Warranted, But He Would Not Have Done so Himself.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In your issue of the 1st, commenting upon the school trouble, you say in relating what a school trustee told you: "But although no such authority was given in the case in point." Now, this is precisely the opposite to what I communicated, and the quotation as first published in THE PRESS is correct: "But had no such authority been given in the case in point, the fact of a teacher being attacked by a scholar would warrant defense in any case."

I repeat emphatically that Mrs. Roantree did personally authorize the chastisement of her boy in case of disobedience, he having been the source of complaint on more than one occasion. As to the statement that the boy did not attack the teacher, the evidence proves that he did, and the mother's re-iteration of the boy's denial only, does not alter the fact.

Miss Carpenter states she was not aware of the personal difficulty between her sister and Mrs. Roantree at the time of the occurrence, and I will give her credit in believing if she had, it would have had no influence upon her action in this or any matter appertaining to her official position.

Having personally investigated the matter, I believe the castigation was fully deserved and warranted under the circumstances.

But in the face of the law against such punishment in schools, I am inclined to believe that were I a teacher I would not become the deputy of a parent to do what is the parents' prerogative. I would in similar instances instantaneously suspend a pupil, and unless the parent returned with him or her and promised compliance with the rules, I should apply for such pupil to be expelled.

No illegal act of any teacher would ever be endorsed by me during my term of office, nor would I under any circumstances permit the consideration of one's being poor to enter into the question of the rights of a scholar in relation to the justice due to the rich and poor alike.

Yours very sincerely,
STANLEY DAY.

New Market, Nov. 2.

From Our Foolish Contemporaries.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

There is no doubt whatever, among the leaders, that the Republicans will carry the legislature. This much seems to be admitted by the Democrats, and if the Republican vote is brought out we'll get the Governor by a big majority.

(Somerville Unionist-Gazette.)

We believe he (Mr. Abbett) will be beaten, and beaten so badly that he will wonder just where he has been hit. So bold and so bad a man cannot have a second term in this State.

(An Unknown Exchange.)

The Camden Daily Telegram, formerly a Democratic paper, later independent in politics, has come out solidly for Gen Grubb, and predicts his election by a large majority. They are "coming on" like sheep over a wall.

(Last Thursday's Shabby "news.")

Senator McPherson was escorted to the depot by the band, and took the 11:13 train for his beautiful farm, at Belle Mead, where he can sleep until after election, and then awake a wiser, if not sadder man, when the people have overthrown the saloon power now seeking not only to control our Legislature, but also our Judiciary.

Entertainment and Fair.

An entertainment and fair was given by the Ladies Aid and the Helping Hand societies of the Dunellen M. E. church on Thursday evening last. Notwithstanding the fact that the night was stormy, the attendance was very large, and about $200 was realized from the fair.

The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, tableaux and dialogues, and great credit is accorded Mrs. Davis for her delightful soprano solos, Miss Seran for her skillful piano selections, and Miss Apgar for her able recitations.

During the fair Messrs. F. H. Gise and Jacob Fisher contested for a handsome chair. The latter won, having collected $145.

The Trinity Choir.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church met last evening, and decided upon a permanent choir for the ensuing Winter. The result was the engagement of Miss Emma Ward, of Newark, who had proven the most satisfactory of the candidates for the position of leading soloist.

Miss Ward possesses a fine mezzo-soprano voice. She is also a singer of much experience in church music. The choir will consist of Miss Emma Ward, soprano; Mrs. E. H. Bird, contralto; Mr. Robert Gorton, basso, and Mr. D. J. Randall, tenor, Free Singing Class.

The Young Men's Singing Class will meet to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 8 o'clock, instead of Monday evening at 9 o'clock, as heretofore. A thoroughly competent teacher has been provided in the person of Mr. E. O. Embury, and no pains will be spared to make the instruction thorough, useful and a pleasure to all. Young men who desire instruction in singing and reading music are requested to apply at the Association rooms, to-morrow evening, when, at the close of the lesson, an hour for the regular session of the class will be decided upon.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A Short Session and But Little Business Transacted.

President Dumont rapped the City Council to order in regular session at 8:30 o'clock, Monday evening. The other members present were: Messrs Dunham, Erickson, Gallup, Jenkins, Marsh, Newhall and Squires. The minutes of the October meeting were read and approved.

Mr. E. H. Holmes petitioned the Council for permission to erect a frame office 12 feet high and not to exceed 100 feet on the ground. Referred with power and subsequently granted.

From Jacob Schneider, a communication in the shape of a claim for $50 damages, for loss of time and expenses incurred by reason of a dog's bite. Tabled.

From S. A Ginna calling attention to the unsightly condition of the sidewalk and gutter on the South side of Broadway between Cedar Brook and Richmond street. Referred to Street Committee with power.

The monthly reports of the Treasurer and Collector were received and filed. The latter showed a total of $9,120 74 collected during October, $2,227 55 of which has been deposited to the credit of the Board of Education.

The quarterly report of the City Physician was received and filed.

The Treasurer gave notice of certain notes falling due this month, and provision was made for the payment of the same, at a later stage in the proceedings.

Corporation Counsel Marsh submitted his semi-annual report, which was filed.

The Fire and Building Committee, through Mr. Erickson, reported the granting of the petitions of P. Lynch and the D. J. Boice estate, presented at a former meeting.

Mr. Squires presented a resolution authorizing the Corporation Counsel to draw up a renewal of the street lighting contract; provided, however, the Electric Light Company will give the Council the privilege of again renewing the contract for another or second year upon the same terms as heretofore. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Marsh, from the Street Committee, reported that the work of macadamizing Madison avenue and Fourth street, East of Broadway, had been completed, and that repairs are now being made on South avenue. The committee was granted an extra appropriation of $1,000 for street work.

Mr. Jenkins called to its third reading the ordinance providing for the permanent repair of Elm place. It was adopted on its third reading.

The Mayor and Treasurer, were, upon resolution adopted, authorized to execute a three months' note for $4,500 in anticipation of taxes for 1889. The Treasurer was directed to pay a note of $750 on the poor fund falling due this month, and to borrow $900 for three months in anticipation of the 1889 taxes.

Crosswalks were ordered laid at the intersection of Front street and Elmwood place and at East Ninth street and Broadway.

The Treasurer was directed to pay off the two fire department notes falling due this month, and to discount at the City National Bank a three months note for $1,500 in anticipation of taxes.

Mr. Dunham called attention to the vacancy in the Board of Commissioners of Appeal, caused by the death of the late Rudolphus MacDonald, and Mr. J. Fred. MacDonald was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Auditing Committee reported on the claims sent in during the evening and the Council adjourned.

A Big Safe.

Walter Scott & Co., last week, had placed in their office one of the Marvin Safe Co's. celebrated "Bankers' Fire and Burglar Proof Safes." It is 85 inches high, 60 inches wide, 33 inches deep, with two Bankers' chests in the bottom, with double-time locks, which cannot be unlocked until the time arrives at which the clocks are set. The safe is also equipped with outside combination locks of the latest improved system. Verily the World and the press business move on. Mr. W. R. Northup transferred the safe from the car to its place in the office in four hours. It weighs six tons.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

ELECTION RESULTS

Gen. Mahone Snowed Under in Virginia.

DEMOCRATS CARRY NEW YORK.

Abbett Elected Governor of New Jersey by a Plurality of 7,000.

BRACKETT WINS IN THE BAY STATE.

The Republicans Carry Pennsylvania by Their Usual Majority.

The Democrats Make Great Gains in all the Elections—In New York and New Jersey it was a Clean Sweep—Mahone Arrested on the Charge of Shooting but Released on Bail—A Close Vote in Ohio, Both Parties Claiming the State—Massachusetts Also Close—Mayor Chapin Re-elected in Brooklyn by Upward of 8,000 Majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Democrats have carried the State by a majority of over 20,000 for the head of the ticket, Frank Rice, Secretary of State. Tabor for Attorney-General and Wemple for Comptroller run behind, but nothing like as much as the Republicans expected.

The surprise, however, will be in the Assembly, the Democrats having made gains in many country districts. At this hour the Democrats claim to have elected fourteen members in districts now represented by republicans. A gain of two more would give them a majority of one.

The Senate will remain about as it is now, the Democrats having lost a member in the Saratoga district and having gained one in the Albany district.

The Assemblymen gained are as follows:

1. Boyce, Saratoga.
2. Vosburgh, Montgomery.
3. Huson, Yates.
4. Abbey, Ontario.
5. Van Vrauken, Schenectady.
6. Pealer, Steuben.
7. Maynard, Delaware.
8. Henderson, Herkimer.
9. Dempsey, Oneida.
10. Sage, Greene.
11. Lane, Otsego.
12. Lewis, Otsego.
13. Kill, Niagara.
14. Wissig, New York.

From late returns it is ascertained that the next Legislature will be composed as follows:

Senate—21 Republicans, 11 Democrats.

Assembly—67 Republicans, 61 Democrats.

NEW YORK CITY VOTE.

Tammany Makes a Clean Sweep of County Officers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Tammany laid out the fusion ticket with a vote that piled up the city Democratic majority on the State ticket to 64,787. Governor Hill's majority last year was 69,102. The vote for Wemple and Tabor is about 5,000 below that for the head of the ticket.

The rout of the fusion ticket is very nearly complete. James Fitzgerald, for Judge of the General Sessions, is the only survivor. Frank T. Fitzgerald (Tam.) has fully 12,000 majority for Register, and Arnold (Tam.) about 8,000 majority for President of the Board of Aldermen.

In the Senate fight Tammany re-elected Cantor, Ives, and Stadler, and beat Murphy with Brown. Grady was beaten by Ahearn.

The iceman, Turner, made a hot canvass and came within a few hundred votes of beating Lispenard Stewart, Waterbury being nowhere. The complexion of the delegation to the Senate is not changed.

CHAPIN ELECTED.

The Democrats Carry Brooklyn by a Large Majority.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Alfred C. Chapin, who in 1887 was elected Mayor of Brooklyn over Colonel Andrew D. Baird by a majority of 882, was yesterday again victorious by a large majority. With him the entire Democratic tickets of Kings County and Brooklyn were successful.

This result was accomplished in the face of a net increase in the Republican wards of 3,136 over the registration figures of 1887, and also despite an apparently unprecedentedely strong feeling of revolt against the continued ascendancy of the Kings County Democratic Organization.

The Democratic State ticket also carried the city by a large majority.

Judge Gildersleeve Defeated.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—For Judge of General Sessions the County Democracy nominee, Fitzgerald, at present Assistant District Attorney, defeated Judge Henry A. Gildersleeve, the Tammany nominee, by a majority of about 5,000. The complexion of the Board of Aldermen will show about the same relative Tammany strength shown in the vote for the Legislature.

The Result in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Nov. 6.—The Democrats elect Charles E. Bishop Mayor by 2,000 majority. The Republicans re-elect Laughlin Senator. The Assemblymen elected are: William F. Sheehan (Dem.); Mott Endies (Dem.); LeRoy Andrews (Rep.); H. W. Guenther (Dem.); William B. Currier (Rep.) The Republicans carry Erie County by about 2,400. The Democrats have elected Jacob Stern Surrogate, and Joseph Beaver County Judge.

Sunset Cox's Successor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Amos J. Cummings, Democrat, for Congress in the Ninth District, received 15,578 votes against 24 for John L. Thomas, Prohibitionist.

Payne Elected.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 6.—S. E. Payne, Republican, is elected to Congress from the Twenty-seventh district over Woolsey R. Hopkins. The vacancy was made by the resignation of N. W. Nutting.

Mayor Gleason Re-elected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Patrick J. Gleason was re-elected Mayor of Long Island City by about 200 majority over Fredrick W. Bleckwenn. Both are Democrats.

MAHONE LOSES ALL.

McKinney Carries Virginia by an Estimated Plurality of 30,000.

RICHMOND, Nov. 6.—There was a perfect Democratic cyclone in Virginia yesterday. Richmond gives a majority of nearly 4,000 against Mahone—a Democratic gain of 2,000. The probable majority for P. W. McKinney, Democratic candidate for Governor is over 30,000.

In the counties comprising the "black belt," which formerly gave Republican majorities ranging from five to fifteen hundred, Democratic victories are reported.

Lynchburg, a Democratic city, makes a gain of over 10,000. Norfolk and Portsmouth report a combined gain of 15,000. Official and semi-official dispatches from the Ninth Congressional District, a white Republican stronghold, state that McKinney carried it by handsome figures.

The negroes failed to vote with their usual spirit, large numbers of them voting the Democratic ticket.

The later estimated returns were even more of a surprise to the Democrat than the earlier ones.

Richmond City gives 5,443 Democratic majority a gain over the Cleveland vote lasts year of 3,515.

Norfolk City gives a Democratic gain of 1,300; Wythe County 520 Democratic majority, gain of 600.

The city of Petersburg, Mahone's home, goes Democratic by 446, a gain of 6000. Cumberland, always a big Republican county, has gone Democratic by a small majority. Warren gives 870 Democratic majority, a gain of 300. Pulaski, 225 majority, a gain of 105. Rappahannock, 850 Democratic majority, a gain of 300. Allegheny, a Democratic gain of 200. King William goes Democratic and elects a Democratic member of the House.

Mussey, the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati "Commercial Gazette," was severely beaten here by a Democratic lawyer for interfering with the election and inciting the negroes to protest against the manner in which he thought they were being shut out from the polls.

MAHONE ARRESTED.

Taken Into Custody for Shooting a Man in Petersburg.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 6.—There was the greatest excitement among the Democrats of this city last evening over their victory.

A party of young men went to General Mahone's house and fired off a lot of rockets.

General Mahone ordered them off. They continued their jollification, when suddenly a pistol shot was heard and one of the young Democrats, Herbert Harrison, fell. He had been struck by a ball in the thigh.

Mahone was promptly arrested and taken to the station house. The hearing at the station house resulted in Mahone being held for the action of the Grand Jury and bound over to the December term in the Hustings Court in $2,500 bail.

RESULT IN NEW JERSEY.

Abbett's Majority About 10,000 and the Assembly Democratic.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 6—The election in New Jersey was for a Governor, for all the Assembly, and for one-third of the Senate. The present Governor is a Democrat, and both Houses of the Legislature are controlled by the same party.

Leon Abbett, the Democratic candidate, has been elected by a large majority over General E. Burd Grubb, the Republican candidate, and the Democrats have retained control of the Assembly. The latest returns indicate that the Republicans will regain the Senate by gaining the Senator from Cumberland county and retaining Atlantic county. The Senate will stand 11 Republicans to 10 Democrats. Abbett's majority will be nearly 10,000.

The result as to the Assembly is very mixed on account of the redistricting of the State by the last Legislature, the districts having been so changed that intelligent forecasts of the result have been impracticable.

The latest indications as to the Legislature are as follows:

THE NEW SENATE.

Atlantic County—John J. Gardner, R.

IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Brackett Elected Governor and the Australian System a Success.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Yesterday's experience has seemed to prove beyond doubt the success of the Australian system of voting, and testimony from all sections of the State is almost unanimous in its praise. In this city the voting places presented a remarkably quiet appearance, and the scenes therein have, in many cases, been in marked contrast to those usually witnessed. Voting proceeded with dispatch, and voters enjoyed a freedom from the importunities of ballot distributors that they have never known before.

Very few cases are reported where instructions as to the methods of voting were necessary, and practically the only aid required was for those who come under law as "by blindness or other physical disability unable to mark their ballots."

While voters expressed their pleasure at being able to vote without the usual solicitation in the interest of one candidate or another, the ward officers were also delighted at being able to attend to their duties without being disturbed by the customray bustle and disturbances outside the rail. There was some slight friction caused by a conflict of opinion with regard to the duties of precinct and other officers, but it was insignificant and made but little trouble.

The complete vote of this city for Governor is: Russell (Dem.), 28,086; Brackett (Rep.), 22,922; Blackmer (Pro.), 1,515. Russell's plurality, 5,084.

Reports from 281 cities and towns outside of Boston give Brackett 62,880, and Russell 51,911. In 1887 the same towns and cities gave Ames 68,578 and Lovering 53,336.

IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Boyer, the Republican Candidate, Elected by a Big Majority.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—Boyer, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer, will have a majority of between 50,000 and 60,000. The vote will be very light, compared to that of previous years, but the Republicans made a gain of nearly 25,000 over the vote of two years ago.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Following are the estimated pluralities in the following counties for State Treasurer: Juniata County, Boyer (Rep.) 50 plurality; Blair, Boyer, 1,350 plurality; Monroe, Bigler (Dem.) 1,650 plurality; Lehigh, Bigler, 21 plurality.

Bucks County goes Democratic by an estimated majority of 4,550; Republican gain, 877. McKean County gives a Republican majority of about 1,000.

Eight counties in the State show a Republican gain of 3,016.

Lancaster County gives an estimated Republican plurality of 6,000; Union County an estimated Republican majority of 650.

Montour County gives Bigler, Democrat, 550 plurality; Pike, Bigler, 550 plurality; Northumberland, Bigler, 100 plurality; Warren, Boyer, Republican, 500 plurality.

Tioga County gives Boyer 3,000 majority. Green County, Bigler, 950 plurality, a Republican gain of 701. Forest County, Boyer, 75 majority, a gain of 29. Chester County, Boyer, a majority of 3,000, a gain of 551. Cameron County shows a Democratic gain of 20. Lehigh, a Democratic gain of 207 and Monroe, a Republican gain of 89. Snyder County gives a Republican plurality of 500 and Crawford County, Republican plurality of 2,000, a gain of 533.

CLOSE VOTE IN OHIO.

Both Parties Claim the Election of Their Candidates.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—The return of the vote is very slow. There are State, legislative, judicial and county officers voted on. There was heavy scratching on the county candidates. A large Republican defection was expected in this county, but unofficial reports indicate that the scratching of Foraker's name was not so extensive as was expected. The vote was heavy in this county.

The Democratic Committee claims Campbell's election and a close vote on the Legislature. The Republican Committee claims that Hamilton County has not shown heavy enough Democratic gains to authorize such a claim, and assert that the Legislature will be certainly Republican. Some unexpected Republican gains have been reported from Northern Ohio, and Chairman Conger announces that the vote on the Western Reserve is unusually heavy, and that there are Republican gains in Southeastern Ohio.

It would seem that Campbell is probably elected by a small plurality.

Chairman Neal, of the Democratic State Committee, early this morning telegraphed to James E. Campbell that the Republican State Committee and Governor Foraker have conceded the election of Campbell by a small majority.

IN NEBRASKA.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—The vote in Nebraska was small, notwithstanding the day was fair all over the State. The estimated majority for the Republican State ticket is 20,000. Norville (Rep.) for Supreme Judge is elected by 17,000 majority. Morrill and Knight (Reps.) were elected State University Regents. Laws, for Congress from the Second District, to succeed the late Congressman Laird, was elected by over 7,000 majority.

IN IOWA.

DES MOINES, Nov. 6.—Hutchison's home gives Boies 450 majority, a Democratic gain of 700. Hutchison lost his own ward by 61; his home city by 330 and his county by 450. He carried Blackhawk, Boies' home county, by 223, a Democratic gain of 700. Johnson County goes 1,250 Democratic. Indications are that Boies (Dem.) is elected by a small plurality.

IN MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—The vote in Maryland was very heavy. Baughman's (Democrat) majority for Comptroller will be 10,000, of which he receives 6,000 in Baltimore city. The Legislature will be largely Democratic. Davidson, (Dem.) for Mayor of Baltimore, is elected by 3,500 plurality.

IN ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The election in this (Cook) county resulted in a victory for the Democrats. Crawford (Dem.), for Recorder, is elected over Stephens, (Rep.), by a safe majority. The Democrats elect ten of the County Commissioners and the Republicans five.

Municipal Election.

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 6.—The municipal election resulted in the re-election of Mayor C. H. Burke, Democrat, by 100 plurality, with Democratic council on a joint ballot.

BAYARD'S WEDDING

The Ceremony Performed in Washington To-Day.

MISS MAY CLYMER THE BRIDE.

She is a Great Granddaughter of a Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Ex-President Cleveland and Members of His Late Cabinet Witness the Ceremony. Bishop Leonard of Ohio Officiates—Off for the Honeymoon Tour—The Bridegroom is Past Sixty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard and Miss May Willing Clymer were married at the latter's house, 1617 H Street, at noon to-day. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Leonard, of Ohio. The bride wore a traveling costume.

MISS MAY WILLING CLYMER.

After the couple were married a reception was held which lasted for some time. Among those present were ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland, ex-Secretary and Mrs. Whitney, ex-Postmaster-General Dickinson and wife, ex-Attorney-General Garland and several members of Washington society.

After the reception Mr. Bayard and his wife started on a honeymoon tour, which will include a trip to New York and other Northern cities.

Upon their return the Delaware statesman and his wife will go to Wilmington. They will reside at Delamere Place, the Bayard homestead. It is a noted house, and has many historical associations. It is a home worthy of such distinguished occupants. The house is a large mansion of stately proportions, and is surrounded by a small forest. A fine view of Wilmington and the Delaware River can be obtained from its portico. Mr. Bayard's study is on the first floor, which also contains a library drawing room, reception room, and dining room. A beautiful lawn, adorned with flower beds, stretches out in front of the house to the edge of the big grove of fine trees.

Mr. Bayard has for so many years been a prominent figure before the public as hardly to require description. He was born in Wilmington sixty years ago. In fact, he celebrated his sixtieth birthday on the 29th of last month. He is, however, a vigorous man and shows little indication of his age. His hair is iron gray, and his face, which is always clean-shaven, has an austere expression. Mr. Bayard was admitted to the bar in 1851, and two years later became United States District Attorney for Delaware. He has served three terms in the United States Senate.

Miss Clymer, the bride has long been known as a member of Washington society. She is distantly related to her husband, who, it is said, is known in her family as Uncle Tom. She has a pleasing face and dignified carriage. She is a daughter of the late Dr. Geo. Clymer, who was once a surgeon in the United States Army. Her great-grandfather, George Clymer, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a strong supporter of the Revolution. The Clymer family has been socially conspicuous in Pennsylvania for more than a century. One of the members, Heister Clymer, was elected to Congress, and was a candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

Miss Clymer's trousseau is said to be one of the most elegant ever imported. It comes entirely from Paris, and was selected by her cousin, who is the wife of a French viscount. Little attempt has been made to follow the latest modes, but every gown is a marvel. One of them, a visiting gown, is of golden-brown velvet, cut en princesse. It is described thus: The bottom of the skirt has a deep hem, with open-work insertion above it and a band of sable far on the lower edge. The gown is in one piece, without the ordinary waist forms, and is shirred about the waist as high as the bust to fit the figure. The waist fastens at the back. There is a shoulder cape of velvet, with a hem and needlework like that on the skirt, and a high fur collar.

TALKING FOR THE "TIMES."

Sir Henry James Says Parnell Acquiesced in Outrages.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Sir Henry James, before the Parnell Commission, argued that Mr. Parnell and his colleagues acquiesced in outrages, inasmuch as they did not condemn them, but rather excused them. Agrarian crime, he said, had increased as home rule agitation spread.

He referred to the speeches of Sheridan, Brennan, "Scrab" Nally and others to prove that the agitators were ready with criminal means to effect their purposes, and ridiculed the idea that only extremists were responsible for crime.

He quoted from Davitt's speeches in 1880, and argued that the quotations showed a purpose to combine the forces of both the moderates and the extremists in the American Clan-na-Gael with those of the constitutional party in Ireland to keep Ireland unsettled. The organization was to cloak its real object with a constitutional form. Mr. Parnell had not then assumed the disguise of moderation, but associated with Fenians. His reception at Cork in March, 1880, on his return from America, had a decidedly Fenian character, and when his friends welcomed him at a dinner, Mr. Biggar made the memorable Hartmann speech, wherein assassination was encouraged and applauded, the killing of the Czar by the Nihilists being fresh in mind. The Commission had been furnished with evidence regarding the importation of arms into Ireland through men who were openly supporting Mr. Parnell, and who were members of the League, in active sympathy with its work.

Surely, said Sir Henry, if it had been proved that crime was rife in many districts where no distress existed, but where the League had aroused the people against the authorities, the charges of the "Times" against the League as a source of crime must be held as proved.

LA BLANCHE AFRAID.

Dempsey Visits His Saloon and Urges Him to Fight Again.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—La Blanche, "the Marine," opened a saloon with the proceeds of his recent fight with Jack Dempsey. Last night Dempsey called at the saloon with a party of friends and reminded "the Marine" of his promise, made at the close of the fight last August, to give Dempsey another fight. La Blanche hemmed and hawed and finally said he did not propose to take chances with anybody.

Dempsey offered "the Marine" $500 if he would fight. La Blanche still demurring, Dempsey said that if the California Athletic Club could be induced to give a purse of $5,000 for another fight he would give $2,500 of it to La Blanche in case the latter lost and only keep $1,500 himself. La Blanche did not fly at the offer, but said he would give his decision in a week.

The Insolvent Wool Dealers.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Wm. H. Cate, Jr., late postmaster of Chelsea, Mass., was before United States Commissioner Hallett to-day on a charge of embezzlement from the United States and was discharged it appearing that the United States had not sustained loss or been defrauded. It appeared that Cate received a check for $109 to pay for 5000 "special request" envelopes, but that the envelopes were never ordered by Cate.

The Body Identified.

WINDHAM, N. H., Nov. 7.—The badly decomposed body found by the Turnpike, here last Monday, has been identified as that of Morris Kennedy, who was between 55 and 60 years of age, and who did odd jobs in this neighborhood. He served in the army during the late war, and about three weeks ago received a pension and some back pay, after which he disappeared. It is surmised that he drank himself to death.

The Chelsea Postmaster Discharged.

DEDHAM, Mass., Nov. 7.—A second adjourned hearing was held in the case of Brown, Steese & Clark, the insolvent wool dealers in the Insolvency Court and many claims were presented and admitted. The next meeting will be held on the third Wednesday in December.

Run Down by an Express.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Elizabeth Swallow, aged 45, while walking with her husband, Thomas Swallow, on the Old Colony railroad track from Readville to Canton Junction, was run down by the 3 p. m. express from Boston and her body was cut in two, the lower part being thrown into the river. Her husband narrowly escaped being struck.

Cut His Throat with a Razor.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7.—In a drunken quarrel William Dixon, a laborer, cut the throat of Joseph Gilbert, a sailor, with a razor. Gilbert died within a few minutes. Dixon says that Gilbert knocked him down and was on top of him when he drew the razor and cut his throat.

Revival in a Penitentiary.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 7.—A remarkable revival is in progress in the penitentiary here. Between eighty and one hundred of the leading cracksmen, forgers, counterfeiters, pickpockets and men of that ilk have been converted. Hunter and Crossley are conducting the meetings.

Linen Company's Earnings.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 7.—At the annual meeting of the American Linen Company it was shown that the net earnings were $118,000. John S. Brayton was elected president, Daniel E. Chace, clerk and Philip D. Borden treasurer of the concern.

DEAD TO THE WORLD

Miss Drexel Takes Her First Vows as a Sister of Mercy.

THE RECEPTION IN PITTSBURG.

The Millionaire Heiress Dons the Holy Habit of Religion.

A Number of Friends Witness the Impressive Ceremony—No Show or Display Made—Archbishop Ryan Preaches the Sermon—She Will Hereafter be Known as Sister Katherine.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 7.—To-day Miss Kate Drexel, daughter of the late F. A. Drexel, of Philadelphia, was received into the Convent of St. Mary of Mercy as a novice.

A large number of relatives and friends from Philadelphia were present. Her spiritual adviser, the Right Rev. James O'Connor, of Omaha, made the journey from Nebraska to this city to be present at the ceremony, which was conducted by the Right Rev. Bishop Phelan, of Pittsburg.

Although Miss Drexel at first refused to wear the white gown and orange blossoms of the bride, she finally consented to attire herself in a beautiful white satin dress, fashioned most artistically by a Philadelphia modiste.

Miss Drexel entered the chapel dressed in the garb of a postulant. This consisted of a plain black dress, lace cap and black lace veil. This costume she wore at the reception until the ceremony of blessing her religious habit took place. She was led into the sanctuary where the ceremony was held by the mistress of novices, Mother Inez.

They were preceded by one of the younger sisters, who acted as cross-bearer and who carried aloft a large gold crucifix, which signified that the postulant's future life must be her own salvation.

When the procession appeared before Bishop Phelan the novice stepped forward and with her attendants knelt at his feet. They held lighted candles in their hands and the Bishop asked the usual questions about her admission into the order. The first question was:

"My child, what is it you demand?"

Miss Drexel replied: "The holy habit of religion."

Then followed a long list of questions and answers, in which the novice renounced the world and took up her new life. The nun's habit was then blessed with the cincture beads and veil by the bishop. The novice was then led out and dressed in her new habiliments. She was again led in robed in the habit. When the procession re-entered the chapel a choir of trained voices sung anthems of joy.

The postulant was then blessed, and the ceremony closed with a benediction of the Most Holy Sacrament.

Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, preached the sermon, which was a eulogy of the aims and objects of the order, and was specially directed to the postulant. After the sermon a banquet was tendered the visitors and community of sisters by the postulant.

After remaining in the convent in this city for two years more the postulant will be professed and finally received. If, in the meantime, she wishes to leave the convent and rejoin the outside world she may do so. The service of profession is more solemn and impressive than the reception. The postulant prostrates herself and the bishop spreads a black pall over her, meaning that she is dead to the world. The choir chants a mournful hymn and the postulant is given the black veil and silver ring.

"Sister Katerine," as Miss Drexel was called, will take her departure for the West when professed. She will locate in the convent at O'Connor City, Neb., near Omaha.

Since entering the novitiate of the convent, six months ago, Miss Drexel has avoided meeting any person who was prompted to visit her out of curiosity. She has had her mind occupied by teaching a select school of small children in the convent.

There was no display made at the reception. The ceremonies were conducted as quietly and unostentatiously as possible. The fair novice made a special request that all the pomp and splendor be dispensed with. She also wished to be kept secluded as much as possible, and asked that none but her near relatives and friends be permitted to attend the exercises.

The Cotton Trust Sensation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The sensational news about the Cotton Trust has at last brought matters to a trying point. At the meeting of stockholders it was announced that the total shortage was $552,511. Messrs. Flagler and Moss offered to make good $250,000. The plan of reorganization and incorporation of the trust has been considerably modified as a result of the disclosures. Outsiders attribute the shortage to speculation in certificates by Messrs Flagler and Moss.

France's Claim in Egypt.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The only Ministers of the Powers who attended the Prince of Wales' reception in Cairo were those of Germany, Denmark and Greece. The Prince's journey was not only a useless one, but it showed small regard for French feeling. The "Journal des Debats" says France has not abandoned her claims in Egypt.

The Burial Place of Gen. Grant.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—The attention of George W. Childs having been called to the statements published in several newspapers that he had expressed the opinion that the body of Gen. Grant will be removed from New York, Mr. Childs authorizes a denial of the report.

KEEPING UP ITS REPUTATION.

The "News" Doing the Dirty Work of Dirty Minded People—The Rev. J. W. Mitchell Brands the Editor as "Unscrupulous," and His Statements as "Lies."

A lot of evil thinking and dirty-minded colored people of this city, jealous of the better breeding and education of the pastor of Mount Olive Baptist church and those of his congregation who are far above them, have been trying to ruin the Rev. Mr. Mitchell's character and blast the reputation of ladies of his church, for some time. Yesterday these colored gossips found the news ready to help in any such dirty work, and a story was concocted that fairly delighted the shabby paper, and caused the slanderers to smack their thick lips in glee.

The story implied that a certain colored lady of this city—one of the most refined and modest of her race—had been guilty of intimacy with her pastor and that there had been trouble in the Mount Olive church, about the scandal. The lady's husband told a PRESS reporter this morning that the whole story was false; and the Rev. Mr. Mitchell in an open letter to the news, given below, states his side of the case, and plainly says what he thinks of the one principally guilty of spreading the dirty scandal.

The letter is printed in THE PRESS, because it would be altered into an endorsement of the news if entrusted to its dishonest care. This is it:

To the Editor of the Evening News:—In the columns of your paper dated Nov. 6, there is an article headed: "A Pastor in Disgrace." Then follows my name which designates me as the pastor referred to.

I am surprised to find that we have in our city one occupying so high and noble a position as the "editorial chair" yet be so discourteous and so unscrupulous as to throw broad-cast in the community, statements which reflect so discreditably on a Christian minister.

Allow me sir to make a true statement of the facts both as to myself and the action of the church.

In regard to the matter in question I will have the public to know that the pastor of the Mt. Olive church sustains no improper relations to the lady designated in your paper, nor any other, nor has any one that I know of claimed that such was the case. The family in question who resides on North avenue has for sometime sustained the relation of intimate friends to the pastor's family of the Mt Olive church. My wife and daughters have frequently visited said family and have in some instances spent the night in company with the lady of the house. As for my part, I dropped in whenever it so pleased me.

Secondly, I would have the public to know that I never walked locked arms with any lady on any secluded street; that statement in your paper of the 6th inst., is a base fabrication or in other words a lie and I challenge proof.

True, my wife and I have at different times accepted invitations, at said house, to tea. Several times, after tea, the lady in question has accompanied us down to the church, to a service or prayer meeting. I have also known my wife to go in company with said lady from the church to her house and remain there until I came from my lodge after her, at which time I have walked up the street with them, until I came to where I had to turn to go to my lodge.

In regard to frequenting said house in question; yes, I remember having visited it a number of times as stated, one was when the husband of the lady was sick abed. I on that occasion rendered them some little service. I have in view other times, when working up festivals for the benefit of the church or when I have been looking for strangers without the city once; when expecting a company of singers I went to and fro from the depot four or five times that day to said house, but remember a committee of ladies were there waiting to serve them with refreshments.

Now Mr. Editor will you tell me what there is in all this and the like that effect morality.

Now a word as to the rumor, that was cast abroad in the community, lets trace it from its origin. There is it seems a house in this city, where certain females of color meet from time to time to gossip. According to rumor their conversation is on the line of immorality. They, so is said, express their views one to another relative to men. Why sir, I have been informed they have expressed their desires from a lustful stand-point about Pastor Mitchell. It is said, by the lady who is responsible for the public rumor, she went to this place over a year ago, and in her jocular, jovial manner, being among her friends, cracked a joke concerning Pastor Mitchell; allow me to say here that one of the ladies say it was not said in a joke but in a serious tone. (I say this that the public may judge.) The statement here was of a reflective character. As long as these individuals continued to love each other, all was well, but they became alienated, then the statement made for pasttime was whispered, and Pastor Mitchell became the sufferer.

Now Mr. Editor. who is responsible for the gossip of these women? Surely not the pastor. In this case, he is not his brother's keeper.

As soon as Pastor Mitchell ascertained what was rumored in the public, he called together the deacons of the church, and urged them to investigate this matter. Parties concerned were summoned and after a careful sifting they framed the following report which was adopted by the church. The report:

"Whereas, certain reports detrimental to the pastor's reputation have been spread in the community, we as your Board of Deacons have investigated the same, and have found according to evidence given they are false. Mrs. ———, however, admitted that she did in time past say in a joke something that reflected upon the character of Mr. Mitchell, for which she is sorry and hopes to be forgiven."

This report was unanimously adopted, except so much as referred to the forgiving of the member who gave rise to this rummor—the church feeling that its honor and that of the pastor have suffered much—could not be satisfied short of the exclusion of the offender, and so she was excluded.

Another incorrect statement made in your paper was the church was divided as to the pastor's guilt or innocence. Such was not the case. The members testified as to the pastor's conduct both in and out of their houses and by a standing vote declared their belief in the pastor's innocence.

J. W. MITCHELL,
Pastor Mt. Olive Church,

THIS MORNING'S FIRE.

St. Mary's Rectory Damaged to the Extent of About $2,000—The Origin of the Fire a Mystery.

At a little after four o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the rectory of St. Mary's church on West Sixth street, and in less than an hour later the interior of the large three-story brick building was completely burned, involving a loss of about $3,000.

Rev. Father Stafford who occupied a room in the upper story was the first to discover the fire. He was awakened by the stifling smell of smoke, and arousing the other inmates of the house, Rev. Father Smyth and the help, set to work removing the furniture, most of which was carried out and deposited in the house of the Sisters on the opposite side of the street.

The flames spread rapidly, and when the firemen arrived the interior of the house was all in a blaze, and the fire was consequently hard to fight. The firemen fought bravely, however, and in about an hour's time had the fire under control. Rev. Father Smyth was one of the most active workers at the fire, and at one time he was nearly overcome by the smoke. Rev. Father Stafford succeeded in saving his valuable library, but aside from this he lost nearly all of his personal effects.

The total loss on the building and contents will probably not exceed $3,000 and there is an insurance of $6.000 in the German-American Insurance Co., on the house.

The fire originated in the butler's pantry on the ground floor and its origin is a mystery.

The German Fair.

The fair of the German Reformed church which has been in progress in the church building since Monday, will probably come to a close this evening, when special attention will be given to the wheel of fortune. The following persons constitute the Committee of Arrangements:

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, President; Mrs. Jacob Blimm, Vice President; Messrs Bach, Sauermann, Menzenbach, Hook, N. Smalley and Miss Annie Schuehlein.

Reception Committee—Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Schlereth.

The various tables were presided over by the following ladies:

Fancy table—Mrs. I. Boehm, Miss Annie Angerbauer, Miss Kattie Blimm, Miss Emma Meiers.

Candy table—Miss Annie Schuehlein, Miss Binnie Blimm.

Doll table—Miss Tillie Oriemann, Miss Boelke.

Next Thursday's Tournament.

It is hoped that the public will show their appreciation of the Bicycle Club and its interesting series of athletic contests, such as is advertised for the 14th by a large attendance at The Crescent, on that night.

Realizing that long distance events become tiresome as well to the spectator as to the contestant, the Club has made up a programme of short and interesting races, varied during the evening by an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding, as good as any ever given in the city, and by three three-minute heats of a tug-of-war.

The management have gone to great expense in having ten gold and ten silver medals made for prizes, in addition to a handsome silver shaving mug and brush for the winner of the consolation race. These prizes are all on exhibition in L. W. Randolph's window, and seats can be secured of him or R. J. Shaw.

Abbett's Plurality Over Eleven Thousand.

Later returns from New Jersey run Leon Abbett's plurality for Governor up to 11,791. The Democrats have 14 majority in the House of Assembly and the Republicans 1 in the Senate. Up to a late hour last evening the State Democratic Committee hoped that the party would control the Senate as well as the Assembly, but they were disappointed. The result hinged upon Atlantic county, and a despatch received at 11.30 P. M., gives Gardner, Rep., 357 plurality there. Mercer county, usually Republican by 1,200, gave Grubb 90 majority.

From the latest and most reliable data obtainable Union county gives Abbett a plurality of 720. Voorhees, Rep., has 164 plurality in the First District, Marsh, Dem., 508 in the Second District, and Ulrich, Rep., 349 in the Third. Elizabeth gives Abbett 1,051 plurality; Rahway 53 for Abbett. The Prohibition vote in the county was only 226.

Following are the successful candidates who were elected to represent the several counties in the State at the next Legislature:

The consciousness of having a remedy at hand for croup, pneumonia, sore throat and sudden colds, is very consoling to a parent. With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, one feels, in such cases, a sense of security nothing else can give.

PLAINFIELD CHARMS SET FORTH.

A Letter That Appeared in a Boston Journal Last Week.

The following interesting letter was sent to the Christian Register of Boston by the Rev. W. P. Tilden, whose able sermons in this city THE PRESS has had occasion to commend:

The are twelve Plainfields in the United States, showing that it is a favorite name. But we doubt if any one of them equals in rural beauty and general attractiveness this growing city of New Jersey. Situated on the New Jersey Central Railroad, only an hour from New York, less by express, it furnishes not only a Summer retreat for New Yorkers, but on all the-year-round home for many who do business in the great city. It is said that eight hundred city workers leave here for New York every morning, returning to their homes in the evening.

With a dry, sandy, and gravelly soil and good pure water, easily found by driving iron pumps, it has long been noted for its general healthiness. Here New York physicians send their overheated invalids in Summer, and their frozen and thawed ones in Winter, to be made good as new by the dry soil and genial atmosphere. A white-headed citizen said to us, the other day, that he believed many years had been added to his life by his leaving Brooklyn, so open to the East wind, and coming to live in Plainfield. A rosy cheek blooming under his snowy crown confirmed his opinion of the healthiness of the place.

One of its great charms consists in its being a country city. There are no "blocks" save in the business streets. Separate houses with generous grounds are the general rule; and, while it is mainly a plain field as to surface, it is so picturesquely laid out, with many curved and diagonal streets, that the usual checker-board monotony of cities with a plain surface is largely obviated.

The soil, though light, is rich; and the shade-trees, with which the streets are abundantly fringed, have a heavy foliage, which is just now in its golden glory.

The population is estimated at ten thousand, and is constantly increasing. Many new buildings, some very beautiful, are going up.

The city had fourteen churches, representing the leading denominations, when Rev. D. W. Morehouse, Secretary of the New York Conference of Unitarian churches came here a few months ago, to see if there were any demand for a church of our liberal faith. He found a few earnest Unitarians waiting for him. After holding a few Sunday evening services, the little band of brave men and women felt they were ready for action; and on the 17th of July they organized the first Unitarian Society of Plainfield. Now there are fifteen churches in this city; and the last, though the youngest and smallest, is yet destined, as we fondly hope, to do good and noble service for a progressive Christian faith.

We have started a Sunday school, and are most fortunate in having a superintendent—H. B. Wells, Esq., formerly of Newton, Mass.,—who has had large experience in that capacity, and seems to have been born for that special department of church work. He has introduced Mr. Spaulding's service and textbooks; and a sufficient number of teachers have volunteered their aid. We have a Bible class of near twenty adults, who show a lively interest in the themes presented for consideration.

We are fortunate in having the Mayor of the city—Hon. Job Male—an interested member of the society. He is a Unitarian to the "manner born" being a member of All Souls', New York, in the early ministry of Dr. Bellows. He came to Plainfield years ago, and is one of the city fathers. He has given the city a library building costing twenty thousand dollars, and is widely honored and beloved.

As the young society found it difficult to obtain a suitable place of worship, Mr. Male opened one of his private houses, fitting the lower part for Sunday services, and offering it free to the society till they could do better. This has been simply, but conveniently furnished by the society. We held our first meeting in the "Home Church" last Sunday, and the rooms were so well filled as to suggest the necessity of early enlargement.

We have chosen delegates to the National Conference, and are beginning to feel that, small as we are, we are not alone, but members of a larger body.

Everything looks very hopeful for this new society. The city is growing, the State is growing; and we may confidently count on a prosperous and self-sustaining church as the ultimate and sure result.

Somerville Unites With Plainfield.

In the matter of increased freight house facilities Somerville joins THE PRESS in a protest against its present freight house. The Somerset Messenger of yesterday, says:

"There appears to be one thing Somerville and Plainfield can unite on, and that is a protest against the locations of their respective freight houses. The present structure here is located between the tracks, and its use by trains often cuts off all approach to the station by passengers. Besides it is dangerous to those receiving and delivering freight. Can't the railroad company be induced to make a change, at once, and before a serious accident results?

It was once supposed that scrofula could not be eradicated from the system; but the marvelous results produced by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla disprove this theory. The reason is, this medicine is the most powerful blood-purifier ever discovered.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Reports of Last Month's Circulation.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library was held in the Library building last evening at 8 o'clock. Present, Messrs Male, Dumont, Tyler, Babcock, Baldwin and Tracy; the President, Mr. Male, presiding. In the absence of the Secretary, Mr. Tracy was elected Secretary pro tem. The minutes of the regular meeting held Oct. 2, 1889, were read and approved.

The following bills were presented and ordered paid out of the general fund, (being first verified) W H. Williams, papers etc., $10.30; J. H. Tier. ice, $14.49; Miss Adams, librarian, Oct., $50; S. H. Allen, janitor, $40 70

Mr. Guy Seguin la Tourette presented to the Library and Art Gallery, an Indian stone battle axe, and a book entitled "A North Jersey Jaunt." On motion it was resolved that the thanks of the Board be tendered to him therefor. Mr. Frederick R. Smalley presented to the Library and Art Gallery five Indian arrow heads found at New Market, Middlesex county, New Jersey, and on motion it was resolved that the thanks of the Board be also tendered him.

The report of the librarian for the month of Oct., was received and ordered to be placed on file as follows:

Dunellen News.

Mr. R. J. Swackhamer and family have returned from their Western trip. Upon their return a delegation of Mr. Swackhamer's men called at his residence and presented him with a beautiful gold-headed umbrella.

Mr. Wm. E Terry, one of Messrs C. Schepflin & Co's employes gave a party to his friends a few evenings since. The occasion was one to be long remembered by those who participated.

A new Democratic pole and flag was erected in front of Maier's Hotel on Monday.

Considerable excitement was occasioned by the election on Tuesday, but no serious difficulty resulted.

Mr. John Levers of Drill Engine No. 30 has resigned to accept a position with a Newark house as traveling salesman.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

Politics Killed Him.

A letter was received last Monday morning by Joseph F. Sheppard, of this city, bearing the sad intelligence of the death of his uncle in Phillipsburg, Dr. Joseph F. Sheppard. The Doctor was a native of Flemington and removed to Phillipsburg many years ago, building up a large practice. He was a candidate at the Warren County Democratic caucus a few days ago for Surrogate, but was defeated by Wm. O'Neil

He then announced himself as an independent candidate and was making an active canvass when stricken down by death. It is thought that he overexerted himself in the canvass. He had complained of a severe cold on Friday night, but was able to sit up until a late hour entertaining company. The next morning he was found dead in bed. Dr. Sheppard was a man of intelligence and of good standing in his community. Mr. Sheppard of this city is his namesake.

Men's Night School.

All former pupils of the public night school for men, and any others desiring to enter the classes that will begin next Tuesday evening, are requested to be present at the High School building, tomorrow evening, from 7:30 till 9 o'clock, for the purpose of classification. They can then be assigned to their proper grades, and be already to commence study when the school opens.

The teachers selected are Miss Gilbert, Miss Humpston, Miss Dean, Miss Cook and Miss Petrie; and Mr. Townsend Rushmore will teach book-keeping again this year.

—Stimultaneous observations taken in all parts of the country show that nearly all great storms follow the same general direction, from West to East.

AFTER THE BATTLE

President Harrison Talks About the Election.

SAYS HE WAS NOT RESPONSIBLE

Foraker Acknowledges Defeat and Congratulates Campbell.

Ohio Democrats Claim the Legislature—New Jersey Republicans Say They Have the State Senate—Iowa Conceded to the Democrats—Latest Figures All Around on the General Result.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The following newspaper statement, it is understood, is authorized: "The President does not regard the defeat of the Republican party in Virginia, Ohio, and Iowa as involving the administration. While he is, of course, sorry that the result is as it is, he is not surprised.

"The result in Iowa he attributes to the temperance issue and to the unpopularity of one of the candidates with the farmers. He does not take the responsibility for Mahone's candidacy in Virginia, but holds that whatever assistance and support he gave Mahone was not more than he would have given any nominee of the party. Mahone was in no sense personally his candidate.

"He attributes the result in Ohio to the opposition of the voters on general principles to the election of any man to an office for a third term. He regards it as a protest against a third term for Foraker, and against the idea in general of a third term.

"He does not feel that the voters were passing a verdict upon the national administration."

THE BUCKEYE SURPRISE.

The Democrats Elect Their Entire Ticket and Carry the Legislature.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The Democrats of Ohio realize to-day that they won a bigger victory than they thought they had. Gov. Foraker's concession of Mr. Campbell's election was followed immediately by a claim from Chairman Neal of the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

In the collection of the first returns only the vote on the head of the ticket was considered, and it was thought that Foraker's defeat was due to the scratching of his name. The election of any other Democrat was hardly looked for by even the Democrats themselves. Chairman Neale's private information show that the rest of the Democratic State ticket has followed the head of the ticket, and he says he is sure that the whole ticket has been elected by pluralities ranging from 5,000 to 8,000. He places Campbell's plurality at 10,000.

"You may say," said he, "that this committee has positive knowledge that 19 Democrats have been elected to the State Senate and 17 Republicans, while 60 Democrats have been elected to the House and 53 Republicans, so that we have a majority in the General Assembly of eight on joint ballot, giving us the United States Senator.

Governor Foraker declined to say anything concerning his defeat. He was seen immediately after he had sent a telegram of congratulation to Mr. Campbell, and seemed very happy in his defeat, although declining to talk about it. The following is his telegram to Governor-elect Campbell:

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 6.

HON. JAMES E. CAMPBELL, Hamilton, Ohio:

To the full extent that a defeated candidate can do so with propriety, allow me to offer my congratulations and assure you it will give me pleasure to extend you every courtesy I can show you in connection with your inauguration and the commencement of your administration.

J. B. FORAKER.

Chairman Conger, of the Republican Executive Committee, said he was astonished at the result, and had nothing to say in explanation. It was a surprise to him.

10,000 IN IOWA.

The Latest Returns Show a Big Majority for the Democrats.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7.—The latest returns show the election of the entire Democratic State ticket by a majority probably exceeding 10,000. Boies seems slightly ahead of the balance of the ticket. The Republican State Committee concedes the election of Boies by from 5,000 to 8,000 plurality. The Committee claimed a victory for Hutchison at first, but gradually as the returns came in the result was not in accordance to their estimation.

RESULT IN MARYLAND.

The Republicans Make Slight Gains in the Baltimore Vote.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—The State Legislature, as indicated by the latest returns will stand: Senate—Democrats 18; Republicans 8. House—Democrats 56; Republicans 35. A Republican gain of 4 Senators and 13 Delegates. The total vote in Baltimore for Mayor was: Davidson (Dem.) 40,932; Shaw (Fusion) 36,346; Eichelberger (Pro.) 632; Democratic plurality 2,954. Cleveland's plurality in 1888 was 5,945. Baughman (Dem.) for Comptroller gets 8,000 in the States. The Democrats elect twelve First Branch and seven Second Branch men and the Fusionists ten First Branch and four Second Branch men.

MASSACHUSETTS COMPLETE.

Brackett's Majority About 6,000 and Recounts Asked in Close Districts.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Returns from every town in the State except Gosnold, which has about 20 voters, give Brackett (Rep.) 126,792, Russell (Dem.) 120,813, Blackmer (Pro.) 13,854; Brackett's plurality, 5,979. In 1887, the last off year, Ames (Rep.) had 17,606 plurality. In 1888 he had 28,000 plurality.

The State Senate will be composed of 29 Republicans and 11 Democrats, as compared with 32 Republicans and 8 Democrats in 1888. There are 162 Republicans and 78 Democrats returned to the lower House, a Republican loss of 1 from last year. In some districts the vote was very close, and recounts will be asked for.

Celebrating Campbell's Victory.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—The most unique way of celebrating the success of James E. Campbell was displayed by Allen O. Myers, the journalist. He rode through the streets of this city mounted on one of John Robinson's camels. The animal was gaily attired, and the turnout was followed by an immense mob of yelling men and boys.

HOW NEW YORK STANDS.

The Latest Figures Indicate a Democratic Gain of Ten in the Assembly.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Frank Rice, for Secretary of State, is elected by about 20,000; his majority in this city being 64,780 over Gilbert, Republican. Some districts are still missing in the interior of the State, but these returns will not materially alter the indicated majority of 20,000.

Wemple for Comptroller, Danforth for State Treasurer, and Bogart for State Engineer, ran from 3,000 to 6,000 behind Rice.

The next Senate will stand 13 Democrats and 19 Republicans, which is a gain of one in the upper branch of the Legislature. The Suffolk County District, which is represented in the present Senate by S. E. Hawkins, Republican, will be represented in the next Senate by his brother Edward, who is a Democrat. P. H. McCarren replaces a Republican in the Fourth Brooklyn District. Later advices show that Donald McNaughton, who is a Democrat, is re-elected by 262 majority in the Twenty-ninth District over W. A. Sutherland, who was at first reported victorious. The only Republican gain reported is that of H. J. Donaldson in the Saratoga District.

The latest figures indicate a Democratic gain of ten in the Assembly. Unless official returns in close districts should alter the record the next Assembly will stand fifty-nine Democrats against sixty-nine Republicans. The Democratic gains come mainly from Columbia, Genessee, Herkimer, Oneida, Ontario, Niagara, Otsego, Steuben and Yates counties.

12,000 FOR ABBETT.

The New Jersey Vote Incomplete but the Republicans Have the Senate.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 7.—Returns from about twenty districts are still incomplete. The complete figures will probably raise Abbett's majority to over 12,000.

Ex-Assemblyman Beckwith telegraphs the State Democratic Committee that Gardner (Rep.) is re-elected to the Senate in Atlantic County by 225 majority. This gives the Republicans control of the Senate by 11 to 10. The House is 38 Democrats, 22 Republicans.

BOYER'S BIG PLURALITY.

Revised Pennsylvania Returns Place the Figures at 62,231.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Revised returns from all the counties do not materially alter the estimated figures already announced. Boyer's plurality for State Treasurer, according to the latest computation is 62,231.

Mahone's Gun was Not Loaded.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 7.—In his hearing before the Mayor Gen. Mahone stated that his shotgun was not loaded. He tried to load it when the crowd appeared but the cartridges were too big for the barrel. R. C. Campbell testified that he was by Gen. Mahone's side from the moment he faced the crowd until he reached the Mayor's office, and that the General did not fire a shot.

Gov. Hill's Congratulations to Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—The following has been received:

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 6.

Hon. Fitzhugh Lee.

The Democracy of New York tender their congratulations to the Democracy of Virginia over their magnificent triumph. Please extend my congratulations to McKinney, Tyler and Scott.

(Signed) DAVID B. HILL.

A Blow to Prohibition.

OMAHA, Neb. Nov. 7.—Douglass County, including the city of Omaha, went Democratic by 2,000. Returns from the State at large show a large Democratic gain, which means death to the Prohibition amendment, which is to be submitted to the voters next year.

Senator Fassett's Big Vote.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Senator J. Sloat Fassett's majority as shown by complete returns from Allegany, Chemung and Steuben counties is the largest ever given in this district. He carries every county and has 4,233 plurality.

Rejoicing in the South.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—The city was illuminated with fireworks last night in honor of the Democratic gains and victories. The shouting was chiefly for Campbell, as there was great interest taken in the Ohio election.

Thurman to Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Allen G. Thurman has sent the following:

Hon. Grover Cleveland, New York.

Governor Foraker has surrendered all the Republican flags in Ohio.

MAKING CONTRACTS.

The Baseball Players Arranging the Details of Their New Scheme.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—In the third day's session of the Players' Brotherhood held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel the adoption of a suitable contract caused the liveliest kind of a discussion, the moneyed men being especially careful about their interests.

A committee was appointed to draw up a contract which would be satisfactory to both the players and the newly-born baseball magnates. E. A. McAlpin and his attorney, Judge Bacon, John Ward, Henry M. Love, Arthur Irwin and M. Shire was the committee. They had a lively time of it, and to-day no contract had been agreed upon.

Some arrangement like this for the distribution of the funds will be agreed upon. The first thing to come out of the gate receipts will be the salaries of the players. After that the first $20,000 taken in at the gates will be set aside for prizes which will be distributed among the successful clubs. Then the next $80,000 will be divided among the stockholders. The next $80,000 will go to the players. In other words the new League will have to clear $100,000 before the players will get anything over their salareies.

An Insane Man's Terrible Death.

PORTVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 7.—George Wilson, aged 40, became insane suddenly yesterday. He was about to be taken home by his friends when he threw himself in front of an engine and was instantly killed. His insanity was caused by religious frenzy.

A Surprise in the Mahoning Valley.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 7.—Notices have been posted in all the furnaces in the Mahoning Valley granting all employes an increase in wages of 10 per cent. The new arrangement goes into effect Nov. 17. The increase was unsolicited.

RAILWAY RUMOR.

RAILROADERS have asked the Government to compel the use of automatic brakes and couplers.

A WRITER in the Railway Age confidently predicts that the time between New York and Chicago, now twenty-four hours, will some day be reduced to ten hours.

THE most successful electric brake is controlled by a dynamo on the locomotive. In case a train breaks in two sections a separate motor automatically stops the train. The system is made up of a series of magnets on each car.

THE loss of coupling-pins, says the Albany Journal, is a mystery to railroad men. Where they all go to no one appears to be able to conjecture. Even in yards where the same cars that come in go out again additional coupling-pins are called for constantly. At the West Albany railroad yard the Central Hudson railroad uses a carload of new coupling-pins a month. It is safe to say that 1,000,000 pins are supplied the West Albany yard in a year.

A FAN for cars and other moving vehicles is a most admirable invention. To one of the wheels of the vehicle a pulley is attached by a belt to a vertical shaft, having suitable bearings on one end of the car, adapted to be clutched and unclutched from another shaft extending the length of the car. The fan shafts are across the car, and are operated by belts or cords from the first, keeping fans along the top of the car in vigorous motion, causing a constant circulation of air.

A "PALACE CHICKEN CAR" is the latest development of luxury in railway transportation. Some Chicago men of railway experience have had one or two cars constructed so as to contain a large number of separate coops with wire partitions, giving room for the fowls to move about, and with arrangements for supplying the passengers with food and drink, and passage ways by which each coop can be reached. Thousands of chickens can be carried in one of these cars across the continent in good condition.

A DEVICE has been invented which enables the engineer, when in his cab, to turn a switch, which can be closed again from the rear of the train. It is operated in connection with the "central throw" switch, and consists of a "shoe," which is dropped from the forward and rear trucks. This strikes a crank, which is overthrown and the switch closed and opened as the case may be. A switch left open carelessly may thus be closed by the locomotive while at high speed, or a train side tracked quickly in case of danger.

AN improved headlight for locomotives has an adjustment which allows the engineer to conveniently direct the light as he may desire to various points off the line. The lantern is supported on a frame or platform, which has a movement to right or left about a vertical axis, and also up or down by the same means, the operating mechanism leading back to the cab, so as to be within ready reach of the engineer. He is enabled by this arrangement to examine dangerous or doubtful parts of the road, and in stormy weather to turn the light upon threatening trees or masses of earth or rock upon either side, and which are liable to fall.

NEWSPAPER NONSENSE.

IT is reported that there is a skipper who has been so often across the Atlantic that he knows every wave by sight.

AN "affair of honor" between a Louisiana sheriff and a Southern editor resulted fatally for both. Pistols are yet dangerous weapons in the hands of experts.

A SCARECROW in Norfolk not only scared every crow that saw it, but one crow was so frightened that he brought back the corn he had carried to his nest three days before.

IT is figured that it would take one hundred million dollars to give every poor person in the world an oyster stew, a roast of beef and a mince pie, and the philanthropist with a cash capital of seven dollars may well feel discouraged.

IN Madagascar you can keep house, live well and have three servants for about seventy cents per week. A hired girl would be paralyzed with astonishment if paid over six cents per week, and the washwoman thinks she has a soft snap at three cents per day.

A WELL-KNOWN Oil City man, who has for years acted as usher in one of the churches, recently went away for a vacation. He took a seat in the cars several minutes before the train started, and every time a person stepped in he would get up and show him or her to a seat.

A RAILROAD conductor wanting to teach a new brakeman his duties told him to go to the other end of the car and when he, the conductor, called out the names of the stations along the route that he should say the same at the end of the car. When they came to the first station the conductor called out "Ma-wash-in-e-ta," which is a small town between Indianapolis and Elkhart, Ind., and the brakeman yelled with all the might his lungs would permit him: "The same at this end!"

THE excitement caused among nervous passengers on a Hudson river train by the strange proceedings of a supposed lunatic turns out to be groundless. The man was after all merely a harmless eccentric, who sat still with his hat off, had his ticket ready as often as the conductor became anxious about it, never once banged the car door all the way from Peekskill to the Grand Central and gently closed his eyes when the apple and news fiend passed through.

AN Englishman visiting Lake Tahoe asked a native if there was good fishing in the lake. "Oh! yes, stranger." "What kind of fish do you catch here?" "Oh! all kinds, stranger." "What did the largest fish you ever caught here weigh?" "Wall, stranger, we don't take no weighing machines when we goes fishing, and I am an honest man and wouldn't like to say how much that last trout I caught would weigh. But I tell you, stranger, that when I pulled that fish out of the water the lake went down a foot."

MUSICAL MONARCHS.

THE Princess of Wales is a skillful pianist.

THE Prince of Wales plays the banjo fairly well.

THE Duke of Connaught amuses himself with the flute.

THE Duke of Edinburgh is a persistent but poor violinist.

THE Czar of all the Russias plays a handsome silver cornet.

QUEEN MARGUERITE, of Italy, makes herself happy at the piano.

THE beautiful Empress of Austria plays splendidly on the zither.

QUEEN VICTORIA and her daughter Louise play well upon the organ.

QUEEN ELIZABETH, of Roumania, plays with equal skill on the harp and piano.

PRINCE HENRY, of Prussia, is a composer and a performer on the violin and piano.

THE Empress of Japan is proficient on the "koto," the national instrument, which is a kind of big zither.

KING GEORGE, of Greece, can play all kinds of tunes on hand bells and wineglasses of different shapes. He can also play the "cymballum," an instrument played only by the Tsiganes of Hungary.

A Well Classified Library.

A man—who, although not attaining to be one of the wise, nevertheless knows so much that it makes him tired to remember half of it—is labeling his library in sections. On one shelf he has dictionaries, encyclopædias and such like cheery tomes; on the next above histories of wars and stories of battle; on the next ancient histories; on the next orations and speeches of eminent statesmen and ministers; next poetry, and above all, works on political economy, etc. So he labels these shelves consecutively, "Lore," "Gore," "Yore," "Roar," "Soar" and "Snore."

Rubber Tree Culture.

The Mexican Government has granted a concession for rubber tree culture in the State of Oaxaca, paying three cents per tree planted, and permitting the free entrance of all needed machinery and appliances. The concessionaires must plant one million trees the first year, and each succeeding year one million fifty thousand till fifteen million are planted. A company with a capital of one million dollars is to be organized to carry this concession into effect. Six years are required for the rubber tree to come to maturity, after which the yield of rubber is steady

Happy People.

Thanks to Inventer Edison, bits of Prince Bismarck's conversation have been now reproduced by phonograph for the benefit of his admirers in the Fatherland. All that the German patriot has to do now is to sit quietly before his table in the beer garden and set the machine going. If the waiters are attentive he will not die of thirst.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Ex-President Cleveland Visits the White House.

HE WAS CORDIALLY GREETED.

A Pleasant Chat With Mr. Harrison in the Green Room.

Mrs. Cleveland Leaves Her Card for Mrs. Harrison—The Ex-President is Interviewed on the Elections—He Thinks Tariff Reform Was the Cause of the Democratic Success.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison shook hands at the Executive Mansion and said any number of polite things to each other.

The ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland, after leaving the Clymer residence, where they had witnessed the marriage of ex-Secretary Bayard and Miss Clymer, were driven to the White House. Mrs. Cleveland did not leave the carriage, but left her card for Mrs. Harrison, who is visiting Mrs. Wannamaker in Philadelphia. She was driven away and sent the carriage back again for Mr. Cleveland.

As the President entered the green room his predecessor arose and grasped his hand. "How do you do?" said both simultaneously. Then they sat down and talked about general topics for half an hour.

He must have had a very pleasant time with his successor, for when he came out his face was wreathed with smiles, and he chuckled merrily when he said "good-by." President Harrison accompanied him only to the jeweled glass screen which shuts the public out of the main corridor, and then left him standing in the vestibule chatting for two minutes with Doorkeeper Loeffler. Others of the old employes were cordially greeted, and with the remark, "It's a fine day," to Capt. Dinsmore, the ex-President walked briskly out to the vehicle.

MR. CLEVELAND'S VIEWS.

He Thinks that Tariff Reform Carried the Recent Elections.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Ex-President Cleveland was interviewed on the election results. He said: "It is evident that the leaven of tariff reform has at last leavened the whole lump. The West, which has suffered the most from the unjust burden of tariff taxation, has awakened. The State platforms of both Iowa and Ohio were abreast of the St. Louis platform on the subject of tariff reform. The people have considered and passed judgment. It was for the people to decide. They are now deciding. It is enough for me to say that I am satisfied at the indications and results of Tuesday's elections. The verdict in Virginia indicates that the South is still faithful to the Democracy of Jefferson and Jackson.

BOTHERED BY WIFE NO. 1.

She Made Grimaces at Her Divorced Husband and He Had Her Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Dr. Erwin Agnew, one of the most eminent physicians of this city, exposed the skeleton in his family closet when he had his first wife, Mary Kelleher, taken before Magistrate Pole on a charge of assault and battery on the present Mrs. Agnew.

Miss Kelleher was married secretly to Dr. Agnew in 1868, when he was a medical student. The girl was of a poor but respectable Catholic family, and had just arrived in this country when she caught the eye of her wealthy suitor. He was a Protestant and she abjured her religion at his request and consented to keep the marriage a secret. The union did not prove a happy one. Dr. Agnew became enamored of another in 1882 and secured a divorce on the ground of incompatibility.

Dr. Agnew shortly afterwards married Mrs. Stewart, who had obtained a divorce from her husband, a butcher in comfortable circumstances. Dr. Agnew claims that he and his second wife have been subjected to continual annoyances from Miss Kelleher, who has lost no opportunity to intrude herself upon their company in public and has been in the habit of driving past the doctor's palatial residence, at No. 1831 Arch street, and casting grimaces at the windows. The trouble culminated on Sunday, when Miss Kelleher occupied the same pew in St. Mary's Church with Dr. and Mrs. Agnew and after the service, it is charged, rudely jostled Mrs. Agnew. On the following day Dr. Agnew swore swore out a warrant for her arrest.

The divorced wife is an attractive, well-preserved woman, who lives at present at 299 North Twelfth street. After the postponement of the case today, owing to the failure of Dr. Agnew to put in an appearance, the defendant said that she may have made faces at Mrs. Agnew and that was all. When her divorce papers were drawn up Dr. Agnew transferred a large amount of property to her. One of his children died and one, Willie, eleven years old, is now living with her.

Leased for 999 Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has leased the Schuylkill & Lehigh Valley Railroad for 999 years. This is a new road from Brown's Station to Trenton, west of Pottsville, into the heart of the Schuylkill coal region. By this acquisition the Lehigh Valley Company has a direct entrance into the richest anthracite coal fields.

An American Ship Lost.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 8.—The American ship Cheseborough, Captain Ericsson, from Hiago for New York, has been lost off the northern coast of Japan. Nineteen of her crew were drowned.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

The Pennsylvania to Spend Over Two Million Dollars.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will spend about $2,113,000 this year in improvements and in acquiring new ground and buildings along its line within this city. A large amount will be spent upon the erection of new freight houses, building new wharves and for improved facilities for speedily handling freight.

The freight station which is now at Fifteenth and Market streets, is to be moved west, and the present site made into an addition to the passenger station.

A new flour warehouse is about being erected at Eighteenth and Market streets, to be five stories high, and will be fireproof.

Many improvements are to be made at Engleside, on the New York division branch, where new yards have been laid out and new tracks are to be laid. A large amount will be spent in changing the grade, line of road-beds, building new stations, etc., on the New York line near Frankford, on account of elevating the tracks so as to allow the streets to go under grade.

Two large freight stations have been erected on the Delaware River front at Christian street wharf, one of which has been leased to a large New York fruit exporting and importing house. Pier No 43, which is under course of construction, is a very large one, and negotiations are now pending between the Pennsylvania officials and officers of the Mediterranean Steamship Company to lease the wharf. An officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company intimated that the new line would not carry freight alone but would make a bid for passenger travel. Large and finely equipped vessels will be put in the service.

THE RIOTERS APPEAL.

Their Case to be Taken to the United States Supreme Court.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8.—The question of jurisdiction set up by the counsel for the Navassa rioters in the United States Court has been settled, the court holding the opinion that there is an inherent power in the United States to acquire possession and jurisdiction of this island through its discovery by a citizen of the United States. This power has been legalized by Congress and the jurisdiction of the United States is therefore complete.

The hearing was continued and counsel for the prisoners will appeal to the United States Supreme Court. He claimed that the United States has no jurisdiction over criminal cases in Navassa.

JOHN DEVOY'S ADDRESS.

He Uses Vigorous Language in Denouncing Dr. Cronin's Enemies.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—An address by John Devoy will be distributed throughout the city by the committee arranging the Cronin Manchester martyr celebration.

The address is couched in vigorous language, denouncing the murder of Dr. Cronin and calling on all Irish citizens to show their loyalty to Ireland and justice by attending the demonstration at Battery D. The celebration arranged for by anti-Croninites at Central Music Hall is roundly denounced as unworthy of support and its promoters are declared to be violators of justice.

Killed and Injured by Runaway Cars.

DOVER, Me., Nov. 8.—A train of empty gravel cars without a locomotive, running on a down grade, on the Dexter & Piscataquis Railroad, was run into near Blackstram Bridge by a freight train, and several cars were wrecked and thrown down an embankment. A man named Shea, who had begun work in the morning was killed. An Italian named Jim was fatally injured. Malcolm Livingston, of Cape Breton, two Scotchmen and an Italian were also hurt, but not dangerously.

Iron is King.

PITTSBURG Nov. 8.—If the International excursionists had any doubt respecting the truth of the Pennsylvania axiom "iron is king," it was effectively set at rest yesterday. Delegate Andrew Carnegie joined the party for the first time yesterday and took pride in escorting them through his vast works. A pleasant feature of the entertainment was the brass bands which furnished music at the mills and which are composed entirely of mill operatives.

Burial of a Samoa Victim.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The body of Captain C. Marcus Schoonmaker, who lost his life in the hurricane at Samoa, was interred in the family plot at Wiltwyck Cemetery yesterday. Brief services, attended only by immediate relatives were held. Lieutenant Coffin, who was executive officer of the Vandalia, was present.

Cross is Insane.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 8.—The case of Amos Cross, who was brought from New York and confined in the Butler Hospital for the Insane, came before a Commission in Lunacy to determine Cross' insanity. Physicians of the hospital testified that Cross was insane, he believing that an "electric man" in New York controlled him.

College Presidents in Secret Session.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 8.—President Eliot, of Harvard University; Gilman, of Johns Hopkins; Carter, of Williams; Steele, of Amherst; Low, of Columbia; Andrews, of Brown; Smith, of Trinity; Bartlett, of Dartmouth; Capen, of Tufts; Warren, of Boston University; Raymond, of Wesleyan, and Hyde, of Bowdoin, were in secret conference with President Dwight, of Yale, in the latter's office in the Yale Treasury building. What the college Presidents are here for and what subject or subjects they are discussing they positively refuse to say. President Dwight, when asked for information, said that it would be a violation of confidence to give any.

ASHTON NOT IN IT

The Providence Boy Put to Sleep by Godfrey.

FOURTEEN ROUNDS FOUGHT.

The Colored Pugilist Surprises Everybody by His Scientific Rushes.

Jere Dunn Was Referee — Providence Sports Big Losers by Betting on Their Townsman—Ashton Fought Gamely but Was Overmatched—Godfrey Immediately Challenged by Joe Lannon.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—At the Parnell Athletic Club rooms last night Jack Ashton, of Providence, and George Godfrey, the colored heavy weight pugilist of Boston, faced each other for fourteen raunds, the contest resulting in a knock-out for Godfrey.

Ashton was seconded by Billy Madden and Steve McMaugh. Godfrey's seconds were Frank Steel and Frank Carroll, with Jere Dunn, of New York, referee.

Providence sporting men wagered their money freely on Ashton at odds of $100 to $60, and the result of the contest was a big surprise to them as well as to everybody else.

The men were in good condition. After the first round Godfrey stock rose rapidly, and it became painfully evident that Ashton was overmatched. Godfrey got in a terrible right-hand blow on Ashton's cheek-bone in the first round which seemed to daze the latter, and he did not appear to recover from its effect during the whole contest. In fact, after the first round, Ashton was practically out of the fight. In the second round Godfrey planted another blow over Ashton's left eye, while Ashton tried to return the compliment. In the third round Ashton rushed the fighting, but Godfrey parried his body blows and repeatedly landed on Ashton's face.

In the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds Ashton was kept busy defending himself from Godfrey's sledge-hammer blows, which sought Ashton's face and neck with telling effect. Jack's blows seemed to annoy Godfrey but little. They were directed mainly at the latter's stomach, although Godfrey received one stinger between the eyes in the sixth.

In the seventh Ashton was caught with a heavy left hander on the right jaw and went to the floor. From the eighth to the thirteenth round Godfrey led at all points, clearly showing his superiority over Ashton. His blows rained upon Ashton's face, and meanwhile Ashton kept continually raising his elbow and his knee to ward them off.

Ashton was unable to get in but three telling blows upon Godfrey during the entire contest. In the fourteenth round Ashton came up pluckily, but apparently dazed, and his blows went wide of their mark. At last Godfrey succeeded in landing a powerful blow under Ashton's left jaw that brought him to the floor a beaten man.

Ashton made a game fight throughout and showed considerable science, but he was clearly no match for Godfrey, who finished in excellent form and showed scarcely a scratch. By the terms of the match Godfrey receives a cup valued at $1,000 and Ashton $300.

At the conclusion of the contest Godfrey was challenged by Joe Lannon, the well known heavy weight of Boston.

THE CRONIN TRIAL.

Chief of Police Hubbard's Testimony Did Not Create a Sensation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Chief of Police Hubbard's appearance on the stand in the Cronin trial caused a ripple of excitement, it having been understood that he would have something sensational to reveal.

He was first asked about the custody of the trunk since it was given to the coroner. He said it had been in his sole care until delivered to the State's Attorney. This was also true regarding the lock and key. He identified Suspect Burke as the Burke he had first seen in the Winnipeg jail, and the direct examination ended, much to the disappointment of the spectators. Attorney Wing tried to bring out what the Chief knew about his client, Coughlin, but the judge refused to permit him, as Coughlin had not been mentioned in the direct examination.

Milkman Mortes testified how on the morning of May 4 he saw two men enter the Carlson cottage, after alighting from a buggy. He described the men and the horse. He identified Kunze as the man who drove the wagon and Coughlin as the man who came out of the cottage and got into the wagon just before it left the neighborhood.

ANARCHISTS AGAIN.

Thousands of Incendiary Circulars Have Been Distributed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Chief of Police Hubbard has issued orders to all police stations for the arrest and detention of every man and women found distributing Anarchist circulars, tens of thousands of which have been put into circulation in the past few days.

A Demonstration in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—The Anarchists of Baltimore are making preparations for a big demonstration next Sunday in memory of the "Martyrs of the Working People, Murdered in Chicago, Nov. 11, 1887." In a circular issued to-day setting forth the object of the meeting the following language occurs: "What did the workers do to save their counsellors, defenders, their best friend? Nothing; the courage of manhood was need. A daring deed would have frustrated the November crime; instead the workingmen passed resolutions. How different it might have been had they made a bold front, as the urgency of the situation demanded. We do not mince matters, nor sugar-coat a word that sounds menacing."

W. L. AND A. L. FORCE, - PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

J. A. DEMAREST. - - MANAGING EDITOR.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ads appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The Central Railroad announces important changes in the time table next Sunday.

—It costs 35 cents to send a bushel of potatotes from Wisconsin to New York, a distance of 1,250 miles.

—The work on the county roads is progressing favorably, and it is expected that most of the work will be completed before Winter sets in.

—The fair in the German Reformed church will be discontinued today, but on to-morrow evening the remaining articles will be auctioned off.

—Arrangements have been made to place the band in the balcony over the entrance, for the games of the Bicycle Club at The Crescent, next Thursday evening.

—Some gunners say their dogs have been shot while in the woods. When they chase the domestic animals of the farmer he is perfectly justifiable in shooting them.

—Gorman's minstrels performed to a fair audience at Music Hall, last evening. The company did not give as good satisfaction as it did when its members last visited Plainfield.

—The small attendance at Music Hall last evening should be another lesson to the management on the fallacy of high prices. At 35, 50 and 75 cents, the house would have been packed.

—A journalistic weather prophet says: "The weather will remain warm enough for months yet for the smart business man to plant advertisements on the sunny side of local newspapers."

—"Bantie," owned by A. D. Thomson, of Finderne, was the winner of the 2:45 race at Morristown in three straight heats. Time: 2:26½, 2:38, 2:40. Charles Brower, of this city was the driver.

—A false alarm of fire this morning called out the fire department. A fire was lighted in the laundry stove at the Tweedy residence on Crescent avenue, and the escaping smoke caused the alarm.

—Complaint is made against the school children who are in the habit of running through the dooryards near the Franklin School building, knocking down gates, fences, etc., and trampling down flower beds.

—On Putnam street near Vail's woods, yesterday, George Perrine found a ripe strawberry growing out of doors. He dug up the plant, fruit and vine, and it is all on exhibition in the window of THE PRESS office.

—The news has got another new editor. He lives in Dunellen where the other day a forger and swindler robbed his landlord right under the new editor's nose, so to speak, yet he never knew it until he read Wednesday's PRESS.

—At a regular meeting of the Bachelor's Club, held on Monday evening, three new members were elected. A committee of three was appointed to arrange for a series of sociables to be held during the coming Winter. The club has added a piano to its furniture.

—Billy Lee, the Crescent third baseman who won the pair of trousers offered the player stealing the most bases during the season, has not got them yet. He thinks the only sure way next year is to steal the trousers instead of the bases

—If you want to hear a West Front street tailor "sing," just ask him what he did with the Pheasant. While on a social call at the Bachelors' Club, last evening, he was given what he supposed was a Pheasant, and started for home with it under his arm. When almost there he met a friend who inquired where he got the Chicken Hawk.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

A Woman Knocked Down on Somerset Street Early This Morning and Her Assailant Makes His Escape.

The members of the Columbia Social Club gave a ball in Turn Hall, last evening, and among the guests were Miss Kate Murphy, of Metuchen, and three female companions. During the evening "Still" Randolph, who is employed about Seguine's livery stable and James Wierenga, coachman for Mr. A. C. Vail, of Eighth street, entered the ball room, and it is alleged tried to create a disturbance. Randolph, it is said, insisted upon dancing with Miss Murphy, and his actions became so obnoxious that an officer was called in to eject him.

The fellow and his pal hung around the streets until five o'clock this morning, when they saw Miss Murphy and her escort leave the ball room, followed by their female friends. At the corner of Somerset and Pearl streets, Randolph, it is alleged, sprang upon Miss Murphy and with a stunning blow knocked her unconscious on the sidewalk.

The woman remained motionless for a long time, and it was at first thought that her skull was fractured. Meanwhile her assailant made his escape, leaving his overcoat, which the authorities took charge of. Miss Murphy was subsequently removed to Dr. Carman's office on the opposite side of the street, where she was restored to consciousness with much difficulty.

The borough officials are looking for Randolph, and if apprehended, he will in all probability spend a term in State Prison.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

City Judge Stillman has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Mr. Will Littell, of Newark, spent Tuesday with friends in this city.

Rev. Father Smyth and Rev. Father Stafford have taken rooms at the City Hotel.

Rev. Mr. Fisk, a former pastor of the Holy Cross church, is visiting among friends in this city.

Rev. C. B. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church received twenty-two accessions into his church on Sunday last.

A reception was given last evening by Mrs. Wm. L. Patton at her home on East Ninth street. A large number of invited guests were present.

Mr. Edward Apgar, formerly clerk at the City Hotel, is now engaged as manager of the Crescent League bowling alleys on East Second street.

At the home of the bride's parents, on East Sixth street, last evening, took place the marriage of Miss Emma M. Petrie and Charles Hutchinson.

Messrs C. E. Boss and Walter Scott are the latest Plainfielders to receive patents, the former for an Educational board and the latter for printing press feeding mechanism.

Mr. Charles C. Davis, formerly employed at the Scott Press Works, and later of the firm of Tallman & Davis, left yesterday for his home in Bridgeton, N. J., where he will remain for the Winter.

The people will remember reading over a month ago in THE PRESS of the coming marriage of Charles Hyde, Jr., to a wealthy New York lady. The sleepy news just caught on to the engagement, Wednesday, and gravely announced that the couple "will be married about two years hence."

Mrs. Jacob Kirkner will sail from New York for Bremen, to-morrow morning at 7:30 o'clock, on the steamer "Werra." She will join her daughters at Dresden, where Miss Carrie Kirkner is so ill that the physician in attendance does not think she will be well enough to travel home in less than two months. The statement in the news that "Miss May Kirkner, who has been ill with typhoid fever, has had a relapse," is not true. She has not been sick a day since she left Plainfield.

Miss Dodge at Mr. Powell's.

Miss Grace H. Dodge, one of New York's Commissioners of Education, and granddaughter of the late Wm. E. Dodge, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron M. Powell, last evening. A reception was tendered her, and among the large number of representative people present were the Rev. Dr. Ketcham, Archdeacon Rodman, Editor W. J. Leonard, Mrs. Kimball, President of the Children's Home, and other prominent philanthropists and workers in fields of charity and sobriety.

Miss Dodge read a charming paper on "Girlhood and its needs," and told of the glorious work that is being done in New York by the formation of working women's clubs, of one of which she is the President. Mr. Powell also spoke. There were light refreshments subsequently served.

Woman's Aid Society.

The anniversary of the Woman's Aid Society, took place in Reform Hall last evening. The exercises included the report of the President, Mrs. P. M. French, vocal and instrumental music and an address by Rev. C. B. Mitchell. The attendance was large.

Card.

I wish to express my thanks to the members of the Fire Department, and to the many gentlemen who assisted so generously in saving property, and worked so heroically to save St. Mary's church from destruction at the recent fire.

P. E. SMYTH.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

Make it a Fountain at Crescent Avenue and Broadway.

(From the Central Times.)

On Saturday night last there was a meeting of the Soldiers' Monument Committee at the rooms of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R. The means and plans for raising a fund to build the monument were earnestly discussed and also the site, or location. It is expected that further light will be thrown on these points at the next meeting which is to be held at the same place next Saturday evening. It is probable that circulars will be issued presenting the cause to the citizens. It is hoped that a fund of $10,000 will be secured for this purpose. One gentleman has expressed a willingness to subscribe $500, and several pledges of $10 each have already been made. The soldier and the citizen elements are both well represented on the committee, and the two Grand Army Posts are cordially co-operating. The committee now consists of the following named gentlemen: General James S. Negley, Col. Mason W. Tyler, J. E. Stewart, L. V. F. Randolph, George W. Moore, Nelson Runyon, E. J. Olssen, Wm. H. Williams, Alex. Gilbert, E. B. Clark, J. Evarts Tracy, C. W. Mc Cutchen, A. C. Baldwin, S. A. Ginna, Rowland S. Cox and L. W. Serrell. Col. Tyler is Chairman, Judge Runyon is Secretary and John E. Stewart is Treasurer.

Young People's Sociable.

The first of the series of Winter sociables under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, was held in the lecture room of the church, last evening, and was an enjoyable affair. A double quartette choir composed of Miss Bessie Blair and Miss Phoebe Mills, sopranos, Miss Ella Dunn and Miss Florence Kline, altos, Messrs Harry Roberts and Bert Littell, bassos, and Messrs Charles Angleman and Arthur Serrell, tenors, rendered delightful vocal music for the occasion.

The Social Committee consisted of the Misses Emma Gillem, Ella Conckey, Ella Gardner, Grace Nevius and Mrs. W. Oliver. The Reception Committee was composed of the following members: Messrs H. J. Martin, F. TenEyck, J. C. VanDyke, J. R. Dunn and W. Williams.

The programme included singing by the chorus, a recitation, "Kentucky Philosophy" by Miss Marian Nevius, reading "A Night of Terror" by Mr. Chas. Wheeler, singing "Give thy heart's best treasure," and the "Pretty Village Maidens" by the chorus. Miss N. Mattison was the accompanist. The serving of refreshments added materially to the evening's enjoyment.

Death of Mrs. S. C. Conklin.

At her home on West Front street about five o'clock last evening, occurred the death of Mrs. Amy A., wife of Mr. S. C. Conklin, aged 67 years. The deceased was afflicted with a intestinal complaint, and Dr. Agnew, the well-known specialist of Philadelphia was called in. The doctor saw that the deceased's chance for recovery was but one in a thousand, and he refused to perform an operation without the consent of the entire family and the patient herself.

The doctor performed the operation successfully, assisted by Drs. Probasco and Carman of this city, and the patient recovered consciousness, but she had relapse and died about five o'clock, as above stated.

The funeral will take place from the house on Monday at 2:30 P. M.

Apt to the Time and Moderate in Tone.

The Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, on Sunday, Sept 22, delivered two notable sermons on the subject now agitating the Presbyterian World, ie, the Revision of the Confession of Faith. So apt to the time, so moderate in tone, so much to the point seemed these sermons that they have been issued in the form of neat pamphlets and placed on sale at Reynolds' pharmacy, price 25 cents.

The movement now going on in this great branch of the church universal, must interest every Christian thinker, and it is well outlined in the pamphlet here noticed.

The Colored Samaritans.

The Seventh Anniversary of Mount Olive Lodge, No. 36, of Plainfield, of the Order of Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria, was held in what was formerly St. Mary's Hall, on West Fourth street, last evening.

There were speeches by the Rev Mr. Lee, pastor of Bethel chapel, Grand Sire, Bro. John Williams, and Deputy G. S., TenBroeck of Newark. Refreshments and other means of entertainment, continued the festival until morning dawned.

Short-hand at the Y. M. C. A.

It is proposed to introduce in the Educational Department of the Young Men's Christian Association a class in short-hand, provided a sufficient number of young men signify at the Association rooms a desire to avail themselves of such instruction. Membership in the Association the fee of which is $2.00 includes this and all other priveleges of the Association.

—Leal's school team defeated the Columbia Grammar school eleven, of New York, in the football match held on election day afternoon, by a score of 6 to 0, on the grounds of the Crescent League.

—Chief Doane and the entire Fire Department desire to publicly thank the Sisters for furnishing coffee to the firemen at yesterday morning's fire.

FUR MUFFS AND CAPES.

WE have just received three cases of Muffs, Capes and Fur Trimmings from three of the best Fur Houses in New York, which are now being displayed. The large assortment comprises everything desirable in this line, and we can confidently say that no such exhibition of these goods have ever been made in this city before. THIS WEEK will be the best opportunity to get the choice selections, as later on they will be sold. "A word to the wise," etc., you know.

LACE CURTAINS!—Is another specialty with us this week. We have purchased several "closing out" lots from the Importers, and offer EXTRA BARGAINS in these goods.

WINDOW SHADES!—We have been very agreeably surprised at the increased demand made upon us in this department. Everybody is pleased with the excellent and prompt manner in which our work is done.

PARTIES having houses to Shade or Carpet, will do well to get our "estimate" before ordering elsewhere.

WHAT OF THE RESULT?

Col. Shepard's Speaking Text.

The battle is over, the smoke cleared away, and the result can be computed. The Republican loss of votes is as follows:

Iowa	38,700
Ohio	32,200
Virginia	28,400
Massachusetts	27,100
Pennsylvania	17,200
Nebraska	8,800
New Jersey	5,700
New York	5,300
Total	163,400

Did Colonel Shepard mean to applaud the above result, by his biblical text at the head of the editorial column of the Mail and Express, last evening? It was, "The Heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

POLITICAL DUTIES.

There are political duties which every citizen owes to the community at large and to himself individually.

Duties far nobler and of greater importance than the struggle for mere partisan ascendency and its attendant patronage and power.

They are born of patriotism, a virtue often lauded, but, unfortunately, oftener discarded.

Patriotism is the love of country, which, under our blessed system of government, means the real welfare of the people, not a favored portion, not of any organized party, but of the whole people, irrespective of class, condition or vocation.

Every American citizen, be he rich or poor, is by ordained right a sovereign, and should vigilantly and fearlessly exercise the authority so conferred.

How can he best discharge such duty?

Legislation must of course be the work of representative bodies chosen for the purpose of enacting laws. Legislators are supposed to voice the wishes of the people, and as each constituent is empowered and can exert, if he will, honest and an effective influence upon the official representatives of popular sentiment, is he not in duty bound to do it?

Most assuredly he is!

The duty of citizenship does not end with the formality of voting. The elector must watch and see that the elected faithfully performs his sworn obligation.

Coming down to matters of local State interest, the approaching Legislature of New Jersey will be expected to consider and mature a law which, in both letter and spirit, will guarantee to legally qualified voters perfect franchise protection, guarding it from every species of corrupt interference, and providing sure and adequate punishment for all offenders.

Such a law is a public necessity, and it becomes the duty of each and every popular sovereign to prevent, if possible, the passage of any half-way, milk and water measure, falsely entitled Ballot Reform.

Patriotism demands a genuine article.

A Plainfield Woman Seeking a Divorce.

Mrs. Laura Wilcox, for the past twenty years a well known modiste of Syracuse, is seeking a divorce from her husband, Joseph Wilcox, and her suit came to trial yesterday before Judge O'Brien, in Supreme Court Special Term of New York.

According to the statements of Mrs. Wilcox, who at one time resided here, she was married to her husband on Feb 27, 1869, in Syracuse. She carried on the business of dress-making in that city, and he having become a traveling salesman for a firm in that city, it was arranged that she should abandon her dressmaking business and live in New York. Upon this arrangement she came to New York with the understanding that her husband should meet her at the Grand Central depot. He failed, however to put in an appearance, but she succeeded in finding him at the St. Cloud Hotel, when he said that they could no longer live together. All he would do was to pay her board and washing, which he did for eleven weeks Three years ago she claimed he abandoned her.

The story of Mr. Wilcox is that his wife has a violent temper and that her aim has been to make his life as uncomfortable as possible. He says that notwithstanding this he offered her a home at Plainfield, N J., with his mother and sister, which she refused to accept. The case was on trial yesterday.

Horse Recovered.

Wednesday evening Wm. G. Randolph, of Piscatawaytown, near New Market, left his horse standing under a shed at the residence of Joseph Walters at that place, and when he returned for it found that some one had driven off with it. Parties were out all night searching for the missing animal, which was a very valuable one, but they were not successful, and had about lost hope when they found that the thief had driven back and tied the horse in the rear of the chapel near the place from which it had been stolen.

But "Stand Off" Iowa and Ohio, Please.

(From the Elizabeth Journal.)

There were elections in ten States yesterday. Iowa, Massachusetts, Ohio, Nebraska and Pennsylvania went Republican. New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Mississippi and Virginia went Democratic. It seems to be about a stand-off.

It was once supposed that scrofula could not be eradicated from the system; but the marvelous results produced by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla disprove this theory. The reason is, this medicine is the most powerful blood-purifier ever discovered.

STILL A BONE OF CONTENTION.

Officials Fighting Yet Over Mrs. Wilkey's Case.

President Ridgway of the New York Board of Commissioners of Emigration, Saturday answered the letter which Collector Erhardt sent to the Board relative to the returning of Mrs. Nellie Wilkey of this city, and her two children to Scotland.

In his communication Mr. Ridgway says that he can only believe that this unjust criticism of the Board is the result of misinformation regarding the facts. He then goes over the facts relative to the birth of one of Mrs. Wilkey's children in Plainfield, and says that the mother addressed a letter to the Commissioners asking to be returned to her own country. Concerning that portion of the Collector's letter wherein the latter says the woman, he believed, had been coerced into going back, Mr. Ridgway says it is not true.

Special Inspector Prior's statement, which the Collector quoted in his letter, wherein Prior says he questioned several of the boat hands and ascertained that Mrs. Wilkey cried when she found she was to be returned, is answered by saying that the Commissioners of Emigration employ no boat hands to row prisoners to Ward's Island, and if any are employed they are under the Charities Commissioners and had no access to the woman, as she was transferred back and forth by steamboat.

Accompanying the letter was a statement of the case signed by Secretary Jackson of the Board in which he says that on Sept. 24 a letter was received by the Commissioners from Judge William M. Stillman, of this city, asking the Board to return Nellie Wilkey and her children on their arrival, as she had been a public charge during the two years she had lived in Plainfield.

When she landed she said her husband had abandoned her in Scotland, and that her passage to this country had been paid by the Women's Protective Society of Edinburg, Scotland. She had one sovereign in money. The case was brought to the Commissioners, and they decided to send her back, and Judge Stillman's letter, together with the woman's statement, were sent to the Collector. On Oct. 10 Jackson called at Ward's Island and gave Mrs. Wilkey the letters from Plainfield to read. He then left her, and as he was about leaving the island Dr. Marple, the physician in charge, informed him that Mrs. Wilkey had decided to go back. He asked the doctor to have her make the request in writing, and a letter was received by him on Oct. 12 from her asking to be sent back, as she said she would be taken care of there. Mr. Jackson next reported to the Board that Mrs. Wilkey wanted to go back, and Mr. Stephenson moved to grant her request. The motion was carried. In concluding his statement Mr. Jackson said that no threats were made.

No Show for Two Weeks.

Roland Reed and Company were booked for Music Hall, next Friday evening. Yesterday their manager wired this message:

Mr. Reed is suffering from severe sore throat. Will be obliged to cancel all of next week's time so he can go under treatment.

Consequently, there will be no theatrical entertainment at Music Hall until Thursday evening the 21st, when "The Brigands" will capture the city. Carleton's English Opera Company will be the caste.

County Board of Assessors.

The members of the above board met at Elizabeth, today, and announced the following result of Tuesday's election:

FOR GOVERNOR.

Abbett, D.	6,321
Grubb, R.	5,620
LaMonte, P.	231

ASSEMBLY—3d District.

Ulrich, R.	2,141
Massett, P.	102

A Plainfield Democrat Also Gets There.

Mr. Lester Leggett, formerly of this city, who is a staunch Democrat, has been elected County Treasurer of Marion County, Kansas, defeating the present incumbent, a Republican who has held the office for 18 years.

A Short Meeting for Boys.

A social meeting will be held under the auspices of the Young Men's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., at the Association rooms, to-morrow, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Boys over 14 years of age who are interested, are invited.

Love thy neighbor as thyself, and when you see one with a bad cough advise him to buy a bottle Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents a bottle.

There is nothing in the world which will give prompter relief to all sufferers from neuralgia than Salvation Oil. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

The Elizabeth Journal says: "The Australian system worked well in Massachusetts." So it did. The Democratic gain was 27,000.

—There was a noticeable absence of the W. C. T. U. coffee cart at the fire in St. Mary's rectory, yesterday morning, much to the discomfort of the firemen, The Sisters, however, provided coffee for the firemen.

The consciousness of having a remedy at hand for croup, pneumonia, sore throat and sudden colds, is very consoling to a parent. With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, one feels, in such cases, a sense of security nothing else can give.

OPENING THE TOURNAMENT.

The Nameless of Westfield Beat the Elizabeths.

The first game of the Union County Bowling League Tournament, was bowled last evening on the Elm street alleys at Westfield, between the Nameless team of that place and the team of the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

It was one of the most closely contested games ever bowled. The Elizabeth team were on strange alleys and the Westfields opening with strikes by Young, Moore, Marsh and Foster, and spares by Alpers, Hurst, Howe and McQuoid, led their opponents 34 points on the first frame.

In spite of this lead, however, the Elizabeths went ahead on the fourth frame, and the Westfields only won the game eventually by the skin of their teeth—and four points. Mr. M. B. Heilner of the Elizabeth Athletic Club, was umpire, and Messrs M. E. Alpers and M. Mulford, scorers.

Following is the official score:

B. Sharp and L. C. Beekman, will do all in their power for the enjoyment of all who favor them with their presence. Grand march at 9 o'clock.

State Baptist Convention.

The Baptist State Convention met at Salem last week. It was stated that the total membership in the State is 36,318 in 220 churches. The report of the Temperance Committee, by Rev. D. J. Yerkes, of this city, took decided grounds in favor of Local Option, and strongly condemned the action of the last Legislature in repealing this law, and urged upon the people to support only those candidates for the Legislature who are pledged to reenact this law. The officers were reelected.

—The case of Job Coddington, vs. Wm Foulks, to recover $25 damages for a broken wheel, was tried at Dunellen, yesterday. Decision was reserved.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. E. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

A STARTLING STORY

Dead Mr. Moore's Wife Bought Poison by the Pound.

HE WAS HER THIRD HUSBAND.

Mrs. Moore and Her Brother Now Being Tried for Murder.

A Sensational Trial in the Springfield, Mass., Court—Medical Experts Testify to Finding Five Ounces of Poison in the Dead Man's Stomach—He Was Sick But Twenty-Four Hours.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 8.—The inquest in the Wilbraham poisoning case, which is now being held in this city before Judge Copeland, developed a startling story.

The victim, John D. Moore, was an eccentric man, who some years ago resided in the West. He was a prosperous merchant and removed to Palmer last spring with his second wife, who died a few months after taking up their residence there. Barely had the sod turned green upon his wife's grave before Moore married his third wife, who had also had two previous matrimonial experiences, and had buried both husbands under very suspicious circumstances.

The couple went to dwell in Wilbraham in a house owned by the woman's brother, Frederick Whitcombe, another eccentric man. On October 29 last Moore was taken violently ill with symptoms of poisoning and after lingering twenty-four hours he died in terrible agony. So suspicious were the circumstances pointing to complicity between Whitcombe and his sister that the neighbors laid the case before the authorities and the pair were arrested, charged with murder. They claim Moore had taken an overdose of morphine.

Medical experts who made an autopsy testified to-day to finding opium and morphine in considerable quantities, and in all five ounces of vegetable poisons in Moore's stomach. Dr. Bliss, who attended Moore, said Mrs. Moore told him she knew nothing of Moore taking morphine, and if the doctor thought so to say nothing, as it might occasion talk. O. P. Green, a druggist of Palmer, said Whitcombe had been buying morphine for the past five years, and Mrs. Moore sent to him for the drug on three occasions, at one time buying an ounce. Just previous to Moore's death Whitcombe bought four ounces of laudanum and several ounces of morphine, claiming that the last two purchases were for Moore at his wife request. Their last purchase of these drugs was on the day of Moore's death. Walter M. Green told him Whitcombe had failed to get a doctor while Moore was lying in his death agony. Another witness stated that Whitcombe, shortly after his sister's marriage, said she had no love for Moore, that she was after his money, and that it would not be long before they wheeled Moore out to the cemetery.

A Police Officer Burned to Death.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 8.—A fire in George A. Davis & Co.'s dry-goods house on Sycamore street yesterday burned down in a short time the whole iron-front block and adjouining properties. The flames then leaped across the street and destroyed Odd Fellows Hall and five or six other buildings. Lieutenant Crichton of the police force was in one of the burning buildings when the wall fell on him, and he was burned to death. The estimated loss is $750,000; insurance $350,000.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Pigott's Secret Diary Still Said to be in the Possession of the Parnellites.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Sir Charles Russell, counsel for Mr. Parnell, was an interested spectator before the Parnell Commission. It was his first appearance since he withdrew from the case.

Sir Henry James, in his argument, read extracts from speeches by Parnell, Davitt and others advocating the boycott. He contended that the men who made such speeches were morally responsible for the crimes which followed.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Mr. Molloy repeats the assertion which he had formerly made, that the Parnellites have secured possession of the secret diary of Richard Pigott, which is supposed to reveal the entire progress of the negotiations with the "Times" people, and to contain some facts which may prove quite as damaging to the Government as the disgraceful outcome of the inquiry.

Quick Discharge for a Correspondent.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—A correspodent at Athens has been made aware of the inviolability which should envelope the misfortunes of royalty. He was indiscreet enough to refer to the seasickness of the Emperor and Empress of Germany off the Piracus in a semi-jocular manner. On the day the account appeared his paper received a remonstrance for its laxity from a source which can be conjectured, and the flippant journalist was promptly relieved by telegraph, his employer grasping the situation that his usefulness had been seriously impaired as a chronicler of the festivities at Athens.

Archbishop Walsh on Home Rule.

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—Archbishop Walsh, in a speech here last night, referred at length to the pledges made by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach during his term of office as Chief Secretary of Ireland, which, he said, Beach had treated very lightly. He himself would not be misled by delusive hopes of the establishment of a Catholic University in Ireland, and did not believe that the government expected, by founding one, to detach the Irish Episcopacy from their support of Home Rule.

Americans Figuring on a Big Job.

ROME, Nov. 8.—Garibaldi's scheme to convert Rome into a seaport by means of a canal 80 metres wide and 10 metres deep from the Tiber to Castelfusano, a distance of 11 miles, is now being examined by a commission. M. De Lesseps approves the project, and an American company is willing to undertake the work which, it is estimated, will cost 58,000,000 fr.

Trying to Settle Without a Strike.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The lightermen have temporarily withdrawn their ultimatum to strike unless their demands are conceded, and have issued a manifesto expressing hope that an amicable settlement may be reached without a strike.

FIGURING ON OHIO.

An Official Count Necessary to Decide Who Carried Some of the Offices.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 8.—The returns from every precinct in Ohio, unofficial, show that Campbell defeats Foraker by 11,454, and that the Democrats have both branches of the Legislature with eight majority on joint ballot. On the rest of the State ticket it is very close, and probably some on each ticket are elected.

It looks as though the Republicans had the State Treasurer, Clerk of Supreme Court, Attorney-General and School Commissioner, and that the Democrats had secured the Lieutenant-Governor, Supreme Court Judge and member of the Board of Public Works. It will take the official count to determine all below the Governorship, and this will be completed this week.

The Democratic scramble for the United States Senatorship to succed Mr. Payne has already begun. Hon. John A. Thomas, the rich Springfield manufacturer, is now here on the ground setting up the pins for that place. He contributed largely to the Democratic campaign fund, and is working to succeed Mr. Payne. Hon. Calvin S. Brice, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, wants to be elected and has men here figuring in his interest. Hon. Lawrence T. Neal, of Chilicothe, Mr. Campbell's competitor for the nomination, is also in the field, as is ex-Congressman George L. Converse, of this city. Mr. Payne will not be a candidate for re-election. The other gentlemen mentioned are Hon. John R. McLean, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Hon. James E. Neal, chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' BOOK.

A Chapter on the Dangers that Threaten American Civilization.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—"Our Christian Heritage," the latest production of Cardinal Gibbons, is marketed to-day. It contains 508 pages, divided into thirty-five chapters. The first twenty chapters are distinctly religious; then follows an argument to show that there is no conflict between science and religion.

There is one chapter on labor, and the book closes on "The Dangers that Threaten Our American Civilization." These dangers, he says, are Mormonism and divorce; an imperfect and vicious system of education which undermines the religion of our youth; the desecration of the Christian Sabbath; the gross and systematic election frauds, and the unreasonable delay in carrying into effect the sentences of our criminal courts, and the numeous subterfuges by which criminals evade the execution of the law.

BALL PLAYERS ADJOURN.

They Have Adopted a Form of Contract and Will Finish Work Soon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—After a four-days' meeting the Players' Brotherhood and their moneyed friends have concluded to suspend matters for the present, and most of the players left for their homes last night.

The men say they are entirely satisfied with the outlook and are confident of success. The players adjourned to meet again on the first Tuesday in January.

The form of the contract was arranged to the satisfaction of everybody. Its provisions are similar to the old League contract, except that the players will sign for three years. The contract will be between the club and the player, and not between the player and organization.

Judge Bacon advised the players not to elect officers until a permanent organization had been effected and incorporated. If a club releases a player it will be outright. There will be no more buying and selling of players.

A ONE-ARMED RASCAL.

He Robs a Bank and Ruins Two Prominent Young Ladies.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Charles Noble, assistant cashier of the Smithfield, Ohio, National Bank, has disappeared with funds belonging to the bank. Two young ladies, whose families are among the most prominent and respectable in the county, are also heart-broken over his disappearance, both having been ruined by Noble.

Noble is 30 years of age, and has but one arm. He is married and has one child. The bank will not be affected by the shortage.

International Copyright League.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At the annual meeting of the American Copyright League the Executive Committee were re-elected. The committee will choose officers of the League next week. The proceedings of the meeting indicated that the international copyright project is gaining ground.

Donovan Signed by the Bostons.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The Boston Baseball Club has signed P. J. Donovan, late of the London, Ont., club, for the season of 1890. Donovan is a powerful batter, leading the International League for two seasons, a remarkably fine outfielder and a fast base runner, with but few equals in running to first base.

Failure of a Buffalo House.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Henry W. Gorton, formerly Gorton & Co., house furnishings, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The employes are made preferred creditors, as is also the Farmers and Mechanics Bank for $5,000, made by the firm of Gorton & Co.

A Mormon High Priest Arrested.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 8.—George Hancock, Mormon High Priest, has been arrested at Payson, charged with murdering Mrs. Hatch and her son George Jones. The victims were accused of incest when they were slain, but the Gentiles say it was a church murder.

Mountain Range on Fire.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—The mountain range near this place caught fire from a locomotive spark and is now fiercely burning. Farmers and others have already suffered great loss, and unless rain falls the destruction of property will be tremendous.

Shot Himself While Rabbit Hunting.

CATTARAUGUS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Chas. S. Smith, while rabbit hunting, accidentally slipped and fell. The hammer of his gun collided with a log, discharging both barrels. Both charges passed through his head. He can not recover.

ECONOMIZING ON COAL.

The Reading Company Using a New Process for Making Fuel.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The Reading Railroad officials headed by President Corbin, visited the company's coal plant at Mahanoy City to inspect a new process of making fuel from coal dust.

Heretofore about one-seventh of the product of the coal mines has been lost in dust. It is now intended to utilize the dust by making it into bricketts that will burn like hard coal except that there are no clinkers as the brickett burns to ashes.

The new process consists of the coal dust being evenly distributed with one-tenth per cent. of pitch. This, by an ingenious contrivance, is pressed by great machines into large cakes, steam being used to moisten the mass. So hard does it become that it possesses the same power of resistance as coal, or in other words, a hundred pounds of coal dust pressed will last as long as the same amount of hard coal.

A pressure of thirty-five tons is brought to bear on each brickett. There are two presses in operation now and when run to their full capacity will turn out about 800 tons of the bricketts in twenty-four hours.

The bricketts take up twenty-five per cent. less space than ordinary coal, and in consequence an engine can be loaded to go one-fourth further without replenishing the supply of fuel.

All the officials expressed themselves very much gratified by the new process, and expect the Company will be enabled to save from $35,000 to $40,000 per year by the use of the fuel.

Mr. C. M. Jacobs, an expert in fuel making, has been brought from England to superintend the works.

A company has been formed with Austin Corbin as president for manufacturing this fuel and it is intended to place it on the market at a lower price than is now paid for coal.

Recovering from His Wound.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 8.—Young Harrison, who was shot by Mahone, is doing well and will be out in a fortnight, the wound not being a serious one. The mystery as to who fired the shot has not been cleared up.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The President appointed W. T. Hopper Collector of Customs for the District of Perth Amboy, N. J.

Mrs. Harrison returned to Philadelphia from New York, and is the guest of Mrs. Wanamaker at Chelton Hills.

Rear-Admiral B. H. Blaine has been selected by Secretary Tracy to take charge of the New York Navy Yard. He will assume his new duties Nov. 14.

Martin Kelly, of Lafayette, N. J., the late independent Democratic candidate for Freeholder in the Second Assembly District, Hudson county, died at his home yesterday.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the Tilden will case has been reversed by the decision of the General Term of the Supreme Court of New York and a new trial ordered.

The fire which destroyed Mrs Vanderbilt's house, B. P. Butterwick's marble works, Amerman's harness factory and Frits & Smith's dry goods store at Asbury Park, N. J., entailed a loss of $40,000.

Thos. Lee, who it is alleged struck the blow that killed young McCalla, at Evans City, Butler, Pa., Halloween night, has been arrested in Pittsburg. Two other young men are under arrest for complicity in the affair.

It is alleged by the friends of Dr. Jno. Simons, the chemist, who died in the Ward's Island, N. Y., Lunatic Asylum, that his death was caused by brutal treatment. An investigation will be made.

Raymond Mills, the son of a colored preacher of Mount Holly, N. J., was arrested there, charged with having stabbed Patrick Faras while fighting with him on election night. The man will recover.

Mrs. Caleb Cope, the wife of Philadelphia's famous banker, claims that a consiracy is on foot by her son to declare her insane to obtain her big fortune. She has applied to the courts for protection.

While Mrs. John M. Brown lay dead in one room of her husband's dwelling in Pluckamin, N. J., yesterday, her daughter, Isabelle, was married in an adjoining room. Mrs. Brown died a few hours before the time set for the wedding, and as extensive preparations had been made for the latter event, it was decided not to postpone the wedding.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 8.—The Austrian bark Joseph II. has sailed from this port for Rotterdam with $100,000 worth of cotton seed oil. This is the first direct foreign cargo that has left this port for the last half century.

SCIENCE IN BRIEF.

A SOCIETY has been started in London to promote the development of the science of mesmerism and of the application of hypnotism to practical medicine.

TO GIVE an idea of the kind of telephone cable which would be required to work under the ocean it has been calculated that the copper core would have to be as large around as a flour barrel, and the insulation the diameter of a hogshead.

DURING a course of experiments made with a view to discovering the comparative solubility of different kinds of glass in water plumbiferous flint glass was found to be the least soluble. The relative resistance of glasses was different toward hot and cold water.

IT seems that as yet no one knows how the centipede divides work amongst its various members. Nature mentions this as a phenomenon more puzzling than that of the galloping horse. It is proposed to investigate the matter by means of instantaneous photographs.

LUMINOUS paint absorbs light during the day and gives it forth at night. The ceiling of an English car painted with the composition lights the vehicle at night. England had the only factory, and charged three dollars a pound for the paint, but a factory in Triesch, Austria, is selling it for fifty cents per pound. It is made of roasted oyster shells and sulphur.

A NEW mode of teaching music has been proposed in France, based on the periodicity of the octave. A radical reform is aimed at, the system being expounded in a series of fundamental propositions, such as, musical effect is quite different from acoustic effect; there can be no physical gamut, a major and a minor, but only one, that of the white notes of the piano called major, and so on.

A FRENCH scientist has discovered a new insulating substance. A bi-product resulting from the treatment of asphalt with sulphuric acid, which has hitherto been considered of no value, has been found to furnish what, according to La Lumiere Electrique, is an excellent insulating material. This substance, which resembles ordinary asphalt, becomes, after exposure to great heat, as hard as ebonite or vulcanite, and possesses high insulating properties.

IN France, when a patient is under chloroform, on the slightest symptoms appearing of failure of the heart they turn him nearly upside down—that is, with his head downward and his heels in the air. This, they say, always restores him; and such is their faith in the efficacy of this method that the operating tables in the Paris hospitals are made so that in an instant they can be elevated with one end in the air, so as to bring the patient into a position resembling that of standing on his head.

SIR EDWIN CHADWICK, in an address on sanitary science, says: "Physicians are beginning to declare that a large amount of the crime for which punishment is inflicted is due to insanity, and that insanity is due to low physical condition which sanitation by early physical training would remove. There are experiences to show that this is the fact. Dr. Ashe and others conversant with the lunatic asylum declare that, as a class, lunatics are of a low physical condition, and that low condition is reducible by sanitation and early physical training. Of 30,000 blind persons the late Dr. Rolph declared that two-thirds might have been saved by early sanitation."

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c; and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

☞We deliver goods everywhere free of charge.

SLASHED TO DEATH

Desperate Encounter Between Two Prominent Politicians.

COL. ORMSTEAD SWOPE KILLED

In Fatally Wounds His Murderer, Col. William Cassius Goodloe.

The Tragedy Occurred in a Government Building—Twelve Ugly Stab Wounds Found on the Dead Man's Body—Result of a Bitter Political Quarrel—How the President Received the News.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 9.—Colonel A. M. Swope, was killed by Colonel William Cassius Goodloe, and the latter was mortally wounded by Swope. The affair occurred in the lobby of the new Government building yesterday evening, and grew out of the trouble the two men had nearly two years ago.

Goodloe and Swope met when at their mail boxes. Suddenly one of them said, it could not be distinguished which, "You spoke to me; you insulted me."

After some angry words both men drew their weapons together. Swope's was a revolver and Goodloe's a hunting-knife. Both rushed at each other. Swope fired and Goodloe stabbed him in the breast. It was a fatal thrust, and the wounded man gasped, staggered backward toward the door uttering ejaculations of pain and rage. Goodloe followed him and planted blow after blow on his opponent's breast and back until twelve more had been added.

During the stabbing Swope fired another shot, which buried itself in Goodloe's right side. It is believed it will have a fatal effect.

Immediately after firing the second shot Swope fell forward dead. As soon as Swope had fallen Goodloe staggered to the door of the building and seeing an omnibus agent called to him: "Call a carriage. I'm shot clear through; get me a doctor."

Col. Goodloe was taken to the Phœnix Hotel and physicians summoned, who pronounced his wound to be probably fatal.

After the affray the news was immediately sent to Mrs. Goodloe by telephone, and she came in a carriage to the hotel where her wounded husband lay. One of Colonel Goodloe's daughters fainted when she heard the news, and the grief of the family was unbounded.

Colonel Swope was 45 years of age and unmarried. He said a few days ago that he knew if he and Goodloe met the issue would be death, and said that in such an event he preferred to be the slain rather than the slayer, for the reason that Colonel Goodloe had a large family dependent upon him for support.

Colonel Goodloe is Internal Revenue Collector for the district, and was a member of the National Republican Committee that elected Harrison. He belongs to one of the oldest and best families in the State. Colonel Swope was one of Kentucky's most prominent Republicans, and was formerly Collector of Internal Revenue for this district.

The President Shocked.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The President knew Colonel Goodloe well, and esteemed him highly. The news of his probably fatal shooting was communicated to him, and affected him to a most marked extent. The intelligence seemed to stun the President almost as though it had been a near relative. A book which he was holding in his hand at the time fell to the floor, and for a few minutes he paced nervously and abstractedly up and down. He asked that any particulars of the tragedy which might be received should be communicated to him.

THE RESULT IN IOWA.

Senator Allison Asserts that the Legislature is Republican.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Nov. 9.—Senator Allison returned last night from the headquarters of the Republican State Committee, where he has been for the past two days, and says the Legislature is safely Republican by eight on joint ballot, and possibly ten, as one district is still in doubt.

He has no fears of any combination between any of the Republican members and the Democrats to defeat him. The "Herald" (Dem.) proposes that the opposition combine on Governor-elect Boies, and believes he can be elected over Mr. Allison.

It thinks the recalcitrant Republican members of the Legislature will vote for him sooner than for any other man in the State.

The following despatch was received from ex-President Cleveland yesterday:

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.

Mr. M. M. Ham, Dubuque, Ia.

The people of Iowa are especially to be congratulated on their victory over prejudice and superstition. The Democracy of the State deserves the greatest honor.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Full returns from every county in the State gives Boies a total majority of 7,122.

Princely Gift to Johns Hopkins University.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9.—Mayor Latrobe has notified the Trustees of Johns Hopkins University that he had been instructed by Mrs. Caroline Donovan, of Baltimore, widow of a New York merchant, to present to the University a check for $100,000. Mrs. Donovan expressed a preference that it be used to found a chair of English literature. The Board accepted the gift for the purpose named.

Raging Snow Storm.

PUEBLO, Col Nov. 8.—Railroad traffic is nearly suspended on the Divide. The wind is blowing a hurricane, and the cuts are filled with snow. Another great snow storm is raging in the Raton Mountains.

KILLED TWO MEN.

Great Excitement Over a Shooting Affair at a Negro Ball.

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Nov. 9.—A serious shooting affray occurred here last night at a negro ball held at Perkins' Hall.

About 11 o'clock, while the entertainment was in progress, Frank Harris, a colored waiter on the steamer Emma A. Ford, of the Chester River Company, while in conversation with several other negro men, deliberately fired at and killed Al. Trusty and Edwin Brown. Harris fired three shots from a large pistol, and the two men fell dead. He immediately went to his quarters on the steamer, where he was arrested, and then placed in jail.

About thirty witnesses were summoned this morning and the inquest was commenced. There is intense excitement among the negroes. It is hinted that the cause for the shooting was a woman, but thus far nothing has developed substantiating it.

WILD SCENE IN COURT.

A Prisoner at Lowell, Mass., Driven to Frenzy by a Verdict of Guilty.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 9.—For almost a week John Booth, a prominent citizen, has been on trial charged with assaulting a twelve-year-old girl.

When the sealed verdict of the jury was read pronouncing him guilty Booth, who was in the dock alone, let forth a wild yell and began dashing his head violently against the iron railings of the dock.

A panic ensued; women were overcome and men rushed wildly about, until three officers, after a desperate struggle, succeeded in securing Booth with irons on his wrists and tying his ankles.

When the excitement had subsided Judge Sherman, who had preserved his equanimity throughout, sentenced the prisoner to fifteen years in the State prison. Booth's wife fainted and was carried out.

Convention of College Presidents.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—The second day of the convention of college presidents of New England was occupied by a discussion of several educational matters. Among these were the advisability of faculties advising students in their choice of elective studies, the significance of the degrees of "B.A." and "M. A." and the matter of condensing the four years' course of studies into a three years' course. President Eliot, of Harvard, thinks by elimination and better arrangement of studies that a course of three years would be just as beneficial as the four years' course as now arranged.

Seamen Organize a Union.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The International Amalgamated Sailors' and Firemens' Union was organized last night, and the Union has applied to the National Federation of Labor for a charter. One of the objects of the Union is to provide houses in the chief seaports of the country where members can obtain lodging, thereby escaping the evils of the sailors' boarding houses. A number of measures looking to reforms in the merchant service will be presented to Congress.

Failures of a Week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., the Mercantile Agency, by telegraph, number for the United States, 223, and for Canada, 39, or a total of 267, as compared to 261 last week, and 225 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 226, representing 194 failures in the United States, and 32 in the Dominion of Canada.

Denny Not a Brotherhood Man.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—It is likely that at least one star player will not go with the Brotherhood. Jere Denny, the famous third baseman of the Indianapolis club, has notified President Brush that he would sign a League contract whenever requested. Denny also wrote to Manager Glasscock informing him of his proposed step.

Big Blaze in Gloucester.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Nov. 9.—A large fire occurred last night in Beach, Court and Commercial streets. Among the buildings destroyed were the extensive livery stable of W. H. H. Davis and four adjacent buildings. The other structures consumed were of little value. The loss amounts to about $50,000; insurance $18,200.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Hon. Thomas F. Bayard and his bride are at the New York Hotel. They propose to spend their honeymoon here. They are not receiving visitors. Many friends of the distinguished gentleman called and left their cards.

A Life Convict Escaped From Auburn.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Paddy Dunn, a life convict, escaped from the night guard of the State prison here last evening about 6 o'clock and has not yet been captured. Dunn is about 65 years of age and was sent to the prison from Lockport sixteen years ago for murder.

Pennsylvania's Total Vote.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The total vote cast in Pennsylvania for State Treasurer is as follows:

Boyer (Rep.)	347,807
Bigler (Dem.)	271,914
Johnston (Pro.)	21,534
Boyer's plurality,	60,893.

Socialist Mass Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A mass meeting of socialists and anarchists was held last night in honor of Tchernyschewsky, the noted Nihilist, who died recently after a long imprisonment in Siberia. Sergius Shevitch, Hugh O. Pentecost and others spoke.

DR. CRONIN'S VALISE.

Found With His Instruments in a Chicago Drain.

THE PROPERTY IS IDENTIFIED.

Hidden Not Far from Where the Body Was Discovered.

The Sensational Find Taken to the Police Station—The Excitement Caused a Young Gurgoo to Send a Bullet Through His Own Head—Alexander Sullivan Asks to be Released from Bail.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Less than one mile south of the catch basin into which Cronin's butchered remains were jammed, the murdered physician's clothes and medical instruments were found late yesterday afternoon. The disposition of these things had been an impenetrable mystery to the police, and is likely to produce clews that may result in such evidence of the guilt of some of the suspects as to preclude all possibility of their escape from justice.

Upon a complaint that the sewer was clogged, Michael Gilbert, of the Lake View Water Department, started out to locate the difficulty, accompanied by Michael Rees, an assistant. Everything was found clear until a basin near the corner of Buena and Evenston avenues was reached. The water having been dipped out, Gilbert noticed something at the bottom, and ordered Rees to investigate. Lowering himself into the manhole Rees pulled up a big valise, covered with slime and rotting away at the edges. Within was a spring overcoat, a vest, shirt, hat, trousers and undershirt. The clothes were very bloody and badly torn. A leather-covered case of instruments was also in the valise, the seams rotted and the sharp points protruding therefrom at both ends

Dr. Cronin's Property.

In the inside coat pocket was a small medical book, a sort of encyclopedia, and a prescription book. Between its pages were a half-dozen cards inscribed "Dr. P. H. Cronin," with his house and office addresses and hours for business. A large box of splints, fourteen inches long, that he carried with him on the fatal night was also found, as was a hypodermic syringe.

The clothes were cut in such a manner as to show they had been hastily slashed from the corpse. Even the collar was cut to pieces.

The clothes and other things were taken to the Central Station, where Mrs. Conklin pronounced everything found as being property of Dr. Cronin. The clothes were then taken to the Chicago avenue station, where they are being dried, while the medicine case and prescription book were taken possession of by Judge Longenecker.

The find will not only connect many broken links in the chain of evidence against the prisoners on trial, but will tend to inculpate Burke, at least, so strongly in connection with the actual murder that the defense have almost given up all hope of saving the prisoners.

Sent a Bullet Into His Brain.

Before being taken to the Chicago avenue station the clothes were taken to the Criminal Court Building. A patrol wagon and twenty officers rushing through the streets at furious speed caused a great crowd to gather about the place. The news of the find spread rapidly, and while all eyes were upon the wagon and its covered contents a young German named Edward Rohm, broke through, and, climbing upon the wheels of the wagon, attempted to lift the covering. He was shoved away by an officer, and, stepping back into the throng, pulled out a revolver and sent a bullet into his head. The poor fellow, it was learned, was a harmless imbecile, a baker by occupation, but the excitement had made him a madman.

Testimony Before the Court.

Captain Schuetter took the witness chair and told the conversation between Captain Schaak and O'Sullivan, in which the latter admitted the contract between him and Dr. Cronin, and also that he (O'Sullivan) had telephoned Coughlin to inform him about a man named Kunze and a horse.

Malcom McKinnon, the railroad police officer, and Mills, the discharged jail prisoner, whom the attorneys for the State believed would come to Chicago, are still in Winnipeg, and neither has signified his intention to come here. Telegrams urging them to come have been sent by Judge Longenecker every day this week, but for some reason they have been treated with silence.

Woodruff, the horse thief, is to be disappointed again. The State's Attorneys have concluded after a great deal of argument that he is not the sort of a witness calculated to keep in so important a case as the Cronin trial, so he will not be placed on the stand to rehearse the many fairy tales with which he regaled the public. The chances are he will never be tried for anything more desperate than stealing Dinan's horse and wagon.

A motion to release Alexander Sullivan from the bail bond of $25,000, was resisted by the State and the hearing was set for this afternoon.

Not Dead But in a Trance.

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Sophia Drain was pronounced dead on the morning of the 6th. The corpse laid on a cooling board for two days and was then placed in a coffin. Just before the funeral took place signs of life were discovered. The undertaker was dismissed and the woman placed in bed. There is every indication that the woman is in a trance and will recover.

Gen. Wm. S. Lincoln Dead.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 9.—Gen. Wm. S. Lincoln, son of the late Governor Levi Lincoln, and president of the 24th Massachusetts Regiment Association, died last night, aged 78 years.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The salary of the Governor of this State is $5,000 a year.

—The election of City officers will take place on Tuesday, December 3.

—Boy's interested are reminded of the social meeting at the Y. M. C. A., to-night.

—November furnishes the last opportunity for black bass fishing till next Decoration Day.

—Every purchaser of a stove at J. P. Laire & Co's store today will be presented with a handsome pair of polishing irons.

—The bazaar and fair which has been in progress in the German Reformed church for the past week, will close with an auction sale to-night.

—Three of New Jersey's Governors have been re-elected—Haines, Parker and Abbett. Ex-Governor Newell ran a second time, but was defeated.

—In his advertisement today Mr. L. W. Randolph calls attention to his glycerole of arnica. He has also on hand a full line of the leading toilet requisites.

—The sixtieth annual meeting of the Union County Teachers' Association will be held Saturday afternoon, November 16, at the Morrell street public school, Elizabeth.

—The contract has been given for the printing of the new postage stamps and they will soon be issued. They will be smaller than the old ones and a bright carmine in color.

—A worthy colored man has been so unfortunate as to lose a roll of $70 in bills advertised elsewhere. THE PRESS hopes this will reach the eyes of some honest person who has found the money.

—In the year 1693 there was a school law made in New Jersey which required every inhabitant to contribute to the support of the common schools. It was said that the people must maintain them "even to the distress of their goods and chattels."

—Stop and think! While you are grumbling about a little rain, there is a great blizzard raging in the Southwest. It has been snowing and blowing there for eight days, cowboys have been frozen to death, and 20,000 sheep and hundreds of cattle have perished.

—The following election officers trom this city were present at the meeting of the County Board of Assessor, held at Elizabeth, yesterday: Messers Geo. W. Moore, John Johnson, J. O. Nodyne and Robert Mitchell. Mr. Nodyne was elected Chairman of the Board.

—"Is it bargains you want?" If so, Edsall says in his advertisement today that he can supply them in genuine good goods, not auction lots or "seconds," and imperfect stock, as he only deals in regular goods. He says he has built up his large trade by this method of doing business, and means to continue it. You can rely on this house every time.

—The "New York Star Company," of colored singers, including the Philadelphia Star Quartette," will repeat the concert given here on Tuesday, October 29. The programme proved highly entertaining and pleasing, to its many hearers, and there has been a request for its repetition to take place on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, at Reform Hall. Go and you will be highly entertained.

The Work of a Genius.

Mr. C. Frank French, the flour and feed man of Somerset street, is a genius. With the assistance of his employees, Mr. French has placed a forty-horse power tubular boiler in his office, which not only heats the office, but the entire three-story building wherein it is placed, besides propelling an engine in the upper story, which runs a bucket-belt for raising and lowering grain. Mr. French's chanical ingenuity is displayed in the work.

Starting the Night School.

A meeting for classification preliminary to the re-opening of the night school for men, was held in the High School building last evening, and attended by over thirty former scholars who were re-enrolled for the term beginning next Tuesday evening. This promises at least fifty scholars for the school to commence with. The hour for school to begin during the coming term, will be 7:30 P. M. The classes for women will commence Monday evening, December 2.

Young People's Sociable.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church held a sociable on Thursday evening. About one hundred persons were present, and enjoyed an evening of rare pleasure. The programme included vocal and instrumental music, recitations and refreshments.

EXPLAINING ANOTHER MALICIOU ATTACK.

Thursday a Baptist Minister Was Constrained to Brand the "news'" Statements as "Lies," and Now the City Clerk Adds His Endorsement to the Same Effect.

The news having made an abusive attack again upon the City Clerk because that officer has refused, as auditor, to approve a false claim which that paper is trying to get force Council to pay, a PRESS reporter called upon the Clerk and asked him if he wished to take any notice of the statements of the news.

The Clerk said that he had not read the article as he seldom sees the paper, but he had heard that he had been the object of its abuse. "It isn't worth while," he remarked, "to pay any attention to it."

The reporter continued, "but the news loves the laboring man and says you keep the poor men who work on the streets out of their money two or three weeks, by neglecting to give them their warrants.'

"Is it possible?" said the Clerk, astonished at the ridiculous statement. "The warrants can be obtained by the claimant in three or four days after they are ordered drawn. I am at the office part of every morning and often in the evening, and have an attendant there in my absence."

"The news says your office 'on Saturday was full of these poor men' who were 'justly angry at the wrongs done them.'"

"That is a perfectly absurd, not to say, a boldly malicious statement," said the Clerk. "Those men were there because, as a personal favor, I agreed with the Street Commissioner to meet them and prepare their bills, in anticipation of the Council meeting on Monday evening—a service I have freely rendered them many times, though it is no part of my official duty, and, moreover, I save them some five dollars a month by taking their affidavits without charge."

"The news says you are expected to administer the oath as City Clerk to these men, but you decline to do so."

"Such a statement isn't worth noticing,' he said. "As just suggested, it is no part of my business as Clerk to administer such oaths, though, as a Notary Public, I am able to do so and have freely given my services to poor people times without number. Strictly speaking, every bill against the city should be placed in my hands, as auditor, made out in due form with the proper affidavit attached, and that too five days before the Council meeting where it is to be presented, in order that there may be time to examine it carefully."

"The news seems to have a queer idea of your power as auditor. It says the expenses of the city have increased at a 'frightful rate' since the Council appointed you to that office, and for that reason."

This very silly remark caused the City Clerk to laugh outright when he heard it for the first time from the PRESS reporter, and he said, "It will be news to the members of the Council that they have been paying money at a 'frightful rate' for bills that they had no hand in contracting."

"Really," said the Clerk, as the reporter was about to proceed, "you must excuse me from wasting my time in noticing further such malicious assertions. The author of them must know that they are false, and is simply publishing them to retaliate upon a city officer who has done his duty in refusing to audit his bill of $80 or more for advertising that the city did not order."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

At one o'clock this afternoon the water in Green Brook flowed hub deep over Farragut avenue.

Miss Angie E. Feytel of North Plainfield, is the guest of Miss Ida M. Hayward, of Jaques avenue, Rahway.

The name of the latest "editor" of the news is Graves. Everybody knew it was only a question of time when the paper would fall into that very thing.

Mr. L. A. Hummer, wife and son, returned last evening from a week's Autumnal visit among friends in Hunterdon and Middlesex counties, New Jersey.

The announcement is made of the marriage in January of Miss Palmer of Wilkesbarre, and Mr. George E. Vincent. They are now the guests of Mrs. H. Clay Munger at her home on Washington avenue.

At the home of Mrs. George F. Opdyke, 16 West Eighth street, the "King's Daughters" will hold a parlor sale on the afternoon and evening of next Tuesday, and the afternoon of next Wednesday. Admission ten cents.

After being the first to announce the marriage in advance, when it did take place a careless type setter made THE PRESS state that the happy bride was Miss "Emma" Petrie, who doesn't exist, instead of Miss Anna Petrie who is now Mrs. Charles Hutchinson.

At the lecture in Music Hall, Tuesday evening, November 19, by Mr. George Kennan, the noted Siberian traveler, he will wear an "Exile's dress" and their leg fetters. This entertainment has been arranged by some philanthropic women of this city, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Class of '79, Plainfield High School, will have a reunion on the evening of Wednesday the 13th inst. Those who will take part in the programme are, Mrs. W. F. Downs, Mrs C. F. French, Mrs. J. J. Seppa, Mrs. C. A. Smith, Mr. George B. Titsworth, Class President, and Messrs F. G. Fezandie, F. B. Wiley and F. S. Smith.

Whatever tends to increase usefulness, by banishing pain and suffering, will certainly secure notice and approval. We allude to Salvation Oil.

WHO IS SHE?

Can Anyone Send THE PRESS This Brave Woman's Name, That These Columns Might be Honored With its Publication?

The following story has traveled from New York to Califorina and back to Massachusetts from whence it is sent THE PRESS. It is the story of a brave woman who is not without honor save in her own city, until now that her heroism is told of below.

She is surely known to many readers of THE PRESS. Will not some of them send her name for publication, as all Plainfield will now be curious to know and honor so worthy a representative of the city. This is the story:

"A lady well-known in Plainfield society, who has a great aversion to a public use of her name, is gifted with an amount of heroism, plucky and calculating courage quite beyond that of most men. At two different times last Summer she had occasion to exercise this trait of her character. She was visiting in Wheeling, W. Va., when the first occurred.

"A little child, not more than three years old, was playing in a narrow alleyway, and was seated upon the stone pavement. Turning suddenly from the street came a large, heavy truck, to which were attached large Norman horses. The driver did not see the child until too late, when, suddenly pulling up the horses, he struck the great iron gate that stood open at the alley entrance. The gate, torn from its hinges, tottering, fell toward the helpless child, now threatened with danger.

"This little Plainfield woman was passing at the time. In horror she saw the child's danger from the now plunging horses and falling gate. Quicker than it takes to read it she sprang from the sidewalk to where the child, affrighted, sat, and, grasping it, dragged it away just as the sharp iron pickets caught her own skirt, tearing it, but not injuring her. And she did not faint nor tremble, either, but simply pinned up her skirt and hastened home, more concerned at her disheveled appearance than at anything else.

"A little later in the season, while on a short visit to a New Jersey seaside resort, a cry of fire was raised in the hotel where she was staying. It was in the afternoon, and this little Plainfield lady was taking a nap. The fire alarm awakened her, and going to the hall she found it filled with smoke. She heard the wailing cry of a child's voice coming from a room near by. With not a thought of danger she groped her way along the floor where the smoke was least suffocating, and made her way into the room whence came the child's voice. It was here that the fire was, and the little one had fallen upon the floor in its efforts to grope out of reach of harm. Half smothered she rescued the child. The fire was soon put out, but the little lady took chances just the same as though the danger had been more pressing and greater." Who is she?

AT IT AGAIN.

Working an Old Gag on John Smalley.

It is reported that the venerable John Smalley was called upon at his home a mile and a half this way from New Market a few days ago by two men who said they wanted to buy his farm. On some plausible pretext he was also called upon to show $1,000 and went in a buggy with one of the men to draw it from a Plainfield bank.

On the way back with the money a couple of confederates sprang from a clump of bushes, flourished revolvers, captured the cold cash and left Mr. Smalley that much smaller in fortune, but with increased knowledge of the ways of this wicked world.

The above fake is copied from the Bound Brook Chronicle. Somebody has probably been working the paper but not John.

Plainfield Society People Will Attend.

It is probable that the chrysanthemum show and musicale at Mr. John C. Shaw's residence, Finderne Park, next week, will be a very enjoyable event. Mr. Shaw's collection of these choice Fall flowers is extensive and valuable, and well worth an inspection.

The additional attractions of good music, refreshments and moonlight nights will probably draw a large number to the entertainment, including many society people of this city. The latest particulars of arrangements are published in the advertising columns.

Only One of the Attractive Features.

Those who attended the games of the Bicycle Club last Spring, will doubtless remember the amusement created by the contestants in the sack race. Nothing daunted by their rough tumbles at that time, the Club members have filled the entry list for the contest on the 14th, and the race for the glory of wearing the gold medal promises to be as interesting as ever.

Insure your life for 25 cents against all the danger of a Consumptive's death by keeping a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup convenient. It is the best.

Best Nourishment For Consumptives.

Consumptive persons are said to be greatly benefited by the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine, both Fermented and Unfermented. It seems to give nourishment when everything else fails. The rich properties of the wine derived from the iron in the soil on which the grapes grow makes new blood and if it does not cure, we believe it prolongs life in many cases of consumption. In fact, cases have been reported of perfect cures being effected by the use of Speer's Port Wine.

"IS IT BARGAINS YOU WANT?"

WE can give them to you in genuine good goods, not "Seconds" or Auction lots. This is the way we get them: A large importer of LACE CURTAINS offered us several lots of these goods at 33⅓ per cent. less than the usual price to close out what they called ends of certain numbers of which they would not have any more. We purchased them and offer the same to our patrons, at the same reduction from our regular prices. Note the LOW PRICES and then come in and examine the goods, and you will be convinced that they are the best bargains to be found anywhere.

NOTTINGHAM at 95c, $1 00, $1 25, $1 35, $1 50, $1 75, $2 00, $2 15, $2 25, $2 50, $3 00, $3 25, $3 50 and up. Also a good line of Real Lace—Point, Antique, Swiss, etc.—at equally low prices.

ANOTHER FLOOD.

The Heavy Rain Has Swelled Green Brook Into Quite a Torrent—The Bridge at Water Street Carried Away—Cedar Brook Also Overflows Its Banks.

This city is today the scene of another flood, and while the water has not at this writing raised to such a height as it did during the floods of August and September, considerable apprehension is felt particularly by those living along or near Green and Cedar brooks.

The heavy rains of last night caused the water in Green Brook to raise fully five feet, thus overflowing its banks and carrying away the foot bridge at Water street. Crowds of excited people have been standing along the banks of the creek all day, watching the angry waters rush by. Thus far Tier's dam has remained intact and it is pronounced safe Fence rails and debris of every description, floating down stream, indicate that great damage has been done North of the city.

Cedar Brook has also overflowed its banks, and many of the cellars in the Second Ward are again inundated. Stony Brook which courses down through the Notch is likewise very high.

Union Teachers' Meeting.

In response to the wish expressed by many Sunday school workers, the Superintendents of the various schools have united in a call for a Union Meeting of the Sunday school teachers of Plainfield, to be held on Tuesday evening the 12th inst., at 7:45 o'clock, in Vincent chapel.

The lesson of the International Series for the following Sunday will be taught by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., and the question of arranging for a course of such meetings will be discussed. The following Superintendents are the signers of the call: J. W. Jackson, M. E. Sunday school; H. B. Newhall, Crescent Avenue Sunday school; J. M. Whiton, Congregational Sunday school; E. E. Anthony, Trinity Reformed Sunday school; H. B. Opdyke, First Presbyterian Sunday school; C. W. McCutchen, First Baptist Sunday school; D. E. Titsworth, Seventh Day Baptist Sunday school; Theo. Runyon, Park Avenue Baptist Sunday school; H. C. Squires, Hope Chapel Sunday school; S. A. Ginna, Bethel Mission; S. B. Joseph, Mt. Olive Mission; M. M. Dunham, Warren Mission; E. L. Bonney, Washingtonville Mission.

Forging Its Endorsements, Now.

An estimable woman of this city, who deplores newspaper notoriety of any sort, wrote a note to the editor of the news stating she had found at home a pocketbook she thought was lost and which she had so advertised in THE PRESS and news. The note was not for publication—merely accompanying the price of the advertisement—and humorously stated "I am willing to give the press the credit of finding the property." This note was altered to read that the credit was given the news, and so published in that paper.

Just the day before this, the editor of the news wrote a communication to himself saying that a certain advertisement in his paper had netted the advertisers $100 the first day through its announcement in the columns of the news. This communication was taken to the advertisers, their firm name secured through misrepresentation, and the false endorsement was thus published. The firm state it is THE PRESS that is entitled to the credit for a large share of the success of the advertisement.

The Woman Beater Still at Large.

The North Plainfield authorities have not yet succeeded in capturing "Still" Randolph, the fellow who so brutally assaulted Katie Murphy on Somerset street, early yesterday morning. A person who is so utterly devoid of shame as to strike a woman, is a fit candidate for State Prison, and Randolph will get his just deserts when he is placed there.

So Lovely.

The scintillant November moon,
The silent nights caress,
The spangled canopy of blue
All breathe of loveliness,
And lovely too the cottage lights
That o'er the hillside fall—
But Collier's stock, the ladies say,
Is lovelier than all.

ITS TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The Union County Sunday School Association Chooses Six of its Officers from Plainfield.

At the Third Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon and evening, was held the Tenth Annual Convention of the Union County Sunday School Association. Among those present from this city were the Rev. J. Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., President W. Murray and Mr. A. C LaBoyteaux of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. Marvin M. Dunham of Warren Mission. The programme was as follows:

Time Table Changes.

The new schedule of trains on the Central Railroad, that goes into effect to-morrow, is so full of changes in all its branches that only those effecting Plainfield passengers can be given today.

In the morning to New York, the 3:28 is changed to 3:37, the 8:17 to 8:15, 11:09 to 11:24, a 3:12 P. M., is added and the 3:29 is taken off. There are Sunday morning trains added at 11:02 and 12:03, and the 11:30 is taken off. There is also a Sunday evening train added at 7:01.

The changes from New York to Plainfield are as follows: the 9:30 A. M., is taken off, and the midnight train is changed to leave at 12:15. A train at six is added on Sunday evenings.

The Lawyers' Fees Reduced.
(Elizabeth Journal.)

Yesterday morning the Latimer will case was again before Judge McCormick. There has been an adjustment of all the objections to the probate, and yesterday morning the Court issued a decree fixing the allowance to the lawyers. There had been an agreement among the heirs and counsel about the fees, subject to the approval of the Court. Judge McCormick reduced the fees the usual standard as allowed in like cases.

The Ladies Will Be Present.

The members of the Plainfield Crescent Bowling League, met for practice last evening. On Monday night the Club will roll the first of its series of games in the County League, with the "Pastimes" of Westfield, to which the ladies of the members' families, and friends accompanying members will be admitted.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

IT HAPPENS EVERY DAY.

Some of Much Published Exclusively in THE PRESS.

Here are a few of the items in yesterday's PRESS that appeared in no other paper:

The election of a former Plainfielder to a County Treasurership in Kansas.

The official returns of the Union county board of canvassers.

The continuance of the fight over Mrs. Wilkey.

Dr. Yerkes' stand on the local-option question before the State Baptist convention.

The seventh anniversary festival of the Good Samaritans and colored Daughters of Samaria.

Young People's sociable and its participants and programme, at Trinity Reformed church.

Victory of Leal's school football team over the New York Columbia Grammar school eleven.

Marriage of Miss Anna Petrie and Mr. Charles Hutchinson.

Mrs Jacob Kirkner's sudden departure for Europe.

The reception to Miss Dodge of New York, at the home of Aaron Powell, Esq.

The finding of ripe strawberries growing out of doors.

Read the DAILY PRESS—Plainfield's only newspaper.

ANOTHER FLOOD.

The Heavy Rain Has Swelled Green Brook Into Quite a Torrent—The Bridge at Water Street Carried Away—Cedar Brook Also Overflows Its Banks.

This city is today the scene of another flood, and while the water has not at this writing raised to such a height as it did during the floods of August and September, considerable apprehension is felt particularly by those living along or near Green and Cedar brooks.

The heavy rains of last night caused the water in Green Brook to raise fully five feet, thus overflowing its banks and carrying away the foot bridge at Water street. Crowds of excited people have been standing along the banks of the creek all day, watching the angry waters rush by. Thus far Tier's dam has remained intact and it is pronounced safe. Fence rails and debris of every description, floating down stream, indicate that great damage has been done North of the city.

Cedar Brook has also overflowed its banks, and many of the cellars in the Second Ward are again inundated. Stony Brook which courses down through the Notch is likewise very high.

Union Teachers' Meeting.

In response to the wish expressed by many Sunday school workers, the Superintendents of the various schools have united in a call for a Union Meeting of the Sunday school teachers of Plainfield, to be held on Tuesday evening the 12th inst., at 7:45 o'clock, in Vincent chapel.

The lesson of the International Series for the following Sunday will be taught by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., and the question of arranging for a course of such meetings will be discussed. The following Superintendents are the signers of the call: J. W. Jackson, M. E. Sunday school; H. B. Newhall, Crescent Avenue Sunday school; J. M. Whiton, Congregational Sunday school; E. E. Anthony, Trinity Reformed Sunday school; H. B. Opdyke, First Presbyterian Sunday school; C. W. McCutchen, First Baptist Sunday school; D. E. Titsworth, Seventh Day Baptist Sunday school; Theo. Runyon, Park Avenue Baptist Sunday school; H. C. Squires, Hope Chapel Sunday school; S. A. Ginna, Bethel Mission; S. B. Joseph, Mt. Olive Mission; M. M. Dunham, Warren Mission; E. L. Bonney, Washingtonville Mission.

Forging Its Endorsements, Now.

An estimable woman of this city, who deplores newspaper notoriety of any sort, wrote a note to the editor of the news stating she had found at home a pocket-book she thought was lost and which she had so advertised in THE PRESS and news. The note was not for publication—merely accompanying the price of the advertisement—and humorously stated "I am willing to give the press the credit of finding the property." This note was altered to read that the credit was given the news, and so published in that paper.

Just the day before this, the editor of the news wrote a communication to himself saying that a certain advertisement in his paper had netted the advertisers $100 the first day through its announcement in the columns of the news. This communication was taken to the advertisers, their firm name secured through misrepresentation, and the false endorsement was thus published. The firm state it is THE PRESS that is entitled to the credit for a large share of the success of the advertisement.

The Woman Beater Still at Large.

The North Plainfield authorities have not yet succeeded in capturing "Still" Randolph, the fellow who so brutally assaulted Katie Murphy on Somerset street, early yesterday morning. A person who is so utterly devoid of shame as to strike a woman, is a fit candidate for State Prison, and Randolph will get his just deserts when he is placed there.

So Lovely.

The scintillant November moon,
The silent nights caress,
The spangled canopy of blue
All breathe of loveliness,
And lovely too the cottage lights
That o'er the hillside fall—
But Collier's stock, the ladies say,
Is lovelier than all.

ITS TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The Union County Sunday School Association Chooses Six of Its Officers from Plainfield.

At the Third Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon and evening, was held the Tenth Annual Convention of the Union County Sunday School Association. Among those present from this city were the Rev. J. Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., President W. Murray and Mr. A. C LaBoyteaux of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. Marvin M. Dunham of Warren Mission. The programme was as follows:

Time Table Changes.

The new schedule of trains on the Central Railroad, that goes into effect to-morrow, is so full of changes in all its branches that only those effecting Plainfield passengers can be given today.

In the morning to New York, the 3:28 is changed to 3:37, the 8:17 to 8:15, 11:09 to 11:24, a 3:12 P. M., is added and the 3:29 is taken off. There are Sunday morning trains added at 11:02 and 12:03, and the 11:30 is taken off. There is also a Sunday evening train added at 7:01.

The changes from New York to Plainfield are as follows: the 9:30 A. M., is taken off, and the midnight train is changed to leave at 12:15. A train at six is added on Sunday evenings.

The Lawyers' Fees Reduced.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Yesterday morning the Latimer will case was again before Judge McCormick. There has been an adjustment of all the objections to the probate, and yesterday morning the Court issued a decree fixing the allowance to the lawyers. There had been an agreement among the heirs and counsel about the fees, subject to the approval of the Court. Judge McCormick reduced the fees the usual standard as allowed in like cases.

The Ladies Will Be Present.

The members of the Plainfield Crescent Bowling League, met for practice last evening. On Monday night the Club will roll the first of its series of games in the County League, with the "Pastimes" of Westfield, to which the ladies of the members' families, and friends accompanying members will be admitted.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER
THE PUREST AND BEST
Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.
It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.
Sold only in cans, full weight.

TRAGIC COURT SCENE

A Virginia Doctor Kills His Wife's Traducer.

THE DEFENDED WOMAN SHOT.

A Bloody Conflict Started and Several Persons Killed.

The Participants in the Affair Respectable People—A Large Following on Both Sides and the Feeling Very Bitter—All Are Heavily Armed and Seeking Revenge—Politics Caused the Trouble.

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 9.—A fatal affray took place yesterday at Brownsburg, a small village in Rockridge county. Judge W. P. Houston, of the County Court, last night received information from Raphine, the nearest telegraph station to Brownsburg, that the town was wild with excitement, and that Dr. Z. J. Walker, Henry Miller and other prominent citizens had been killed. Further trouble was expected. The judge ordered the sheriff, his deputies and a posse to start for the scene.

The following is an account of the affair: Dr. Z. J. Walker, one of the foremost physicians and surgeons in the State and a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners, charged that Henry Miller, an old and highly respected farmer, had insulted his (Walker's) wife. It was said that Dr. Walker openly threatened to kill Miller on sight. Miller heard of the threat and swore out a warrant for Walker's arrest. The case was called in a magistrate's court at Brownsburg between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday. The case excited widespread interest. There were present Walker and his wife and Miller and his two sons. The court was packed with friends of both parties. Testimony was taken at a great length. Dr. Walker was put under a peace bond for $500. He refused to give bond, and the Justice told him he would have to go to jail, which he declined to do.

At this juncture, when the excitment was at fever heat, some one threw up a window and dropped four large pistols in the room. Then the trouble began, by whom it is not known. The lookers-on scattered, and those personally interested tood part in the affair. Miller was instantly killed, by Dr. Walker who used a large knife.

Mrs. Walker, a most charming lady, was shot and instantly killed. Dr. Walker was mortally wounded, being shot through the body in two places. Dan Miller, son of the old man, was killed by a shot in the face, and Will, another son, received a ball through the body. Samuel Deaver was shot and badly cut in the neck.

The friends of two leading figures in the tragedy are a determined set of men and have taken up the cause of the champions.

The opinion is expressed that the killing of Mrs. Walker in court is the result of a stray shot. All the persons concerned in the affair are highly respectable people of that section. The feeling over the affair is bitter. Both of the principals have a large following and it is probable that a bloody conflict has just begun. Both sides, it is said, are heavily armed, and further news from the district is awaited with anxiety. It is said the conflict was precipitated by a political element, but this can not be substantiated.

THE CATHOLIC CONGRESS.

Great Crowds Now in Baltimore for the Centennial.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 9.—Every train arriving in this city brings in a large crowd of distinguished Catholics from all parts of the United States to participate in the Catholic hierarchy centennial celebration, for which preparations have been making for several months under the general direction of Cardinal Gibbons.

Among the prominent arrivals to-day were Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, Williams of Boston, and Feehan of Chicago, Messrs. W. J. Onahan of Chicago, Henry J. Spannhorst of St. Louis, Cardinal Taschereau of Canada, Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia and Corrigan of New York, Mayor Grant of New York and Maj. H. F. Brownson of Detroit. Active preparations are making to provide space in the Cathedral for as many persons as possible to-morrow. A letter has been received from Cardinal Manning, in which he tenders in the name of the hierarchy of England, the congratulations of the Catholics of his country to the Catholics of America upon the auspicious event they are about to celebrate.

The event will be one of the most brilliant and interesting celebrations that has taken place in the United States, in view of the number of prelates and others of rank and dignity in the church who will participate.

The exercises will open with pontifical mass at 11 a. m. to-morrow in the Baltimore Cathedral. Archbishop Williams, of Boston, will be the celebrant. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, will preach the sermon. At pontifical vespers, 7:30 p. m., Archbishop Heiss, of Milwaukee, will be the celebrant, and the Archbishop of St. Paul the preacher. Further services will be held Monday, and the congress of Catholic laymen will then begin. The business sessions will be held at the Concordia Hall. There will be a grand illumination Monday night of the dwellings and other buildings of Catholics in all parts of the city.

It is decided to endeavor to make the congress which begins on Monday, the forerunner of frequent conventions of the same kind, and to lead up to a great international congress of Catholics to be held during the progress of and at the place designated for the World's Fair in 1892.

Big Contract for Postage Stamps.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A bond for $200,000 has been given to the Government for the American Bank Note Company for the fulfillment of the postage stamp contract. The sureties were Gov. P. C. Lounsbury, of Connecticut; Joseph S. Stout, of the Shoe and Leather National Bank; Elliott F. Shepard, of the "Mail and Express," and W. J. Arkell, of the "Judge." Each qualified on $100,000. The American Bank Note Company is to print 20,000,000,000 postage stamps per year.

State Treasurer Hart Dead.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 9. — State Treasurer Hart died at his residence at 5 o'clock this morning.

A TERRIBLE BLIZZARD.

Loss of Human Life and Destruction of Cattle in New Mexico.

CLAYTON, N. M., Nov. 9.—The depth of snow about here is not less than twenty-six inches on the level, and in many places it has drifted seven feet high. Unless the snow storm which has been raging for eight days comes to an end soon, next summer will show a country covered with the dead bodies of animals as thickly as was the old Santa Fe trail in the sixties.

When the storm struck this section seven large herds of cattle, each numbering from four hundred to two thousand, were being held near this place awaiting shipment to eastern markets.

It is estimated that 20,000 sheep have perished in this part of the territory. At present it is impossible to closely estimate the number of cattle lost, but it will probably be up in the thousands.

All places of shelter in town are being used as barns for snow bound horses. The hay supply is exhausted, and yesterday $100 per ton was offered by a stock man and refused.

At Textline, nine miles below Clayton, two passenger trains have been snow bound for a week. Provisions are rnnning out, and passengers are compelled to venture out in the storm to kill cattle, the quarters of which are taken into the cars and roasted.

The storm is by far the worst ever known in New Mexico and the exact loss of life and property cannot at present be estimated.

LYNCHED A NEGRO.

He Confessed to Assaulting a School Girl and Was Hanged by a Mob.

LEESBURG, Va., Nov. 9.—Miss Leith, a school girl, about 17 years of age, while returning from the Hamilton Academy, was feloniously assaulted by a colored boy named Owen Anderson. On her complaint he was arrested, but as she could not identify him he was released. Afterward Anderson was rearrested on circumstantial evidence and he confessed.

About 1 o'clock a hundred armed men came to town, gained admission to the jail, took Anderson out and hanged him on a derrick in the freight depot. After hanging him they fired a number of bullets in his body and rode away.

THE OHIO STYLE.

A Kentucky Postmaster Dislikes the Buckeye Way of Celebrating.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker has just received the following:

LOUISA, Ky., Nov. 7.—1889.

Hon. JOHN WANAMAKER, Postmaster-General, Washington, D. C.

I claim protection and redress at the hands of the Government. I am the Postmaster at this place, and had the handsomest office in Northeastern Kentucky, surpassing many Presidential offices. My office is this morning completely demolished, being the work of a few persons wanting to let the Postmaster here know how Ohio had gone politically. They used high explosives, dynamite and other combustibles, caved in front door, and broke every window in front building, threw open shutters, and this morning I find my office little protection to U. S. mails, pouches, or money order deposits. This being a distributing office, the finding of guilty parties will be an easy task for detective force.

(Signed) R. C. MCCLURE, Postmaster.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker will have the alleged outrage investigated with a view to bringing the guilty parties before the courts.

SUPPRESSING RIVALS.

The Standard Oil Company Makes Another Purchase of Opposing Refineries.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 9.—The Standard Oil Company has purchased the Globe Refinery of this city, the Freedom, Pa., refinery and the Craig Pipe Line to the Washington, Pa., oil fields. The Globe Refinery is one of the largest in the country, and being independent, has always been a big thorn in the side of the Standard.

The necessity for paying 25 cents a barrel premium on Washington county oil over the market for old line certificates is dispensed with, which alone means fortunes in a year. The terms of the sale are not yet made public.

Trying to Beat the Widow.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 9.—In the matter of the breach of promise suit for $25,000 damages, brought Wednesday by Louise Dolphin, against Henry A. Sanborn, the latter has made an assignment to a lawyer and has thus discharged the attachment which has been levied upon his estate. The plaintiff is a widow and resides in Taunton. Her maiden name was Vaile and she and her sister were formerly in the Theater Comique Company, this city. She then lived with her parents in Cranston.

Sullivan Released.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Justice Merwin, of the Supreme Court, has granted the motion of Timothy J. Sullivan, subcontractor on the Albany ceiling, that he be discharged from custody under the order of arrest procured by Attorney-General Tabor. The motions of John Snaith and Charles B. Andrews made at the same time and asking the same relief, were denied.

The Doors Will be Shut to Strikers.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 9.—There is no change at the Plymouth Woolen Company's mill, the weaver's remaining out. The mill managers now announce that all strikers who have not returned by next Monday, will be shut out. If it is impossible to secure enough new hands to take the place of strikers the mill will be shut down for an indefinite period.

A Recount of Votes in Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Petitions will be presented to the City Clerk to-day for an entire recount of the vote of the city of Boston for Governor and other State officers. Petitions have already been received for recounts for Representatives in wards 4, 5, 7, 12, 19 and 23, and for Senators in Charlestown district and in wards 17, 18 and 20

Altered a Dollar Bill to a Fifty.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 9.—At Dunham's Corners, near here, George O'Dell altered a dollar bill to a fifty by pasting a stamp on it, sold it to an ignorant Hungarian for $30, and decamped. Detectives traced O'Dell by means of a baggage check, arrested him in Philadelphia, and will take him to Trenton Tuesday. O'Dell's home is in Princeton, Ill.

Thirty Dollars a Week for Mrs. Flack.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Justice Andrews has granted Mrs. Flack $30 per week alimony from Sheriff Flack pending the result of the proceeding for divorce. He also granted her $500 for counsel fees.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Sir Henry James Indulges in a Flight of Fancy.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—At the request of Sir Henry James the Parnell Commission adjourned until next Tuesday. On that day the counsel for the "Times" will resume his speech in apology for the Government.

Some diversion was caused in the court room by Sir Henry James describing Matthew Harris as a man of singular ability. He indulged in this little flight of fancy in order to give some prominence to Harris' memorable assertion that landlords deserved to be shot down like partridges.

In dealing with the same subject at an earlier stage of the case, Sir Charles Russell had described this same Harris as not an intellectual man at all, but one of the ruder-mouthed fellows whose noise and invective have been a cause of great annoyance to the Parnelites. This is, however, a fair sample of the sort of perversion of truth and all the circumstances to which Sir Henry James is continually résorting in his futile efforts to demonstrate that the Government has any cause for its brutal persecution of the Irish.

At the conclusion of Sir Henry's speech, it is expected that the court will call witnesses, under the power which is conferred upon it by the special act which created the Commission of Inquiry. In fact, the court has power to do almost anything, even to the suppressing of essential testimony for the defense, its refusal to admit which led to the withdrawal of Sir Charles Russell and his colleagues.

A SLIPPERY AGENT.

He Robs His Employers and Deserts His Young Wife.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—J. A. Shepherd, of Chicago, a dealer in crayon portraits, is in Ballston looking for H. J. Chamberlain who has been acting as his agent in this district. He claims that Chamberlain retained several hundred dollars collected for work done by the firm.

In September Chamberlain was married after an acquaintance to Miss Bertha Freeman, an employe of the St. Charles Hotel, in Ballston, and after living with her for three weeks dissappeared. Papers for his arrest are in the hands of the officers.

Murdered by Four Companions.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 9.—The following has been received from Cheyenne, Wyo: The murder of a man by four companions on the Sweet Water river was reported to Sheriff Sparhawk, of Freemont county, on Tuesday. He arrested the suspected men at Granger, near the Utah line, the following day. The story is that the dead man was accused of the theft of $10, and was shot down in cold blood for the offense. His body was found near the road, where it had been carelessly thrown. The men composed a hunting party and, beyond the fact that their victim's name was B. Foreman and that he came from Scranton, Pennsylvania, nothing could be learned.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The President has issued a proclamation admitting Montana to Statehood.

The cranberry crop in New Jersey has fallen off this year 90,000 bushels, owing to scald, blight and insects.

Fire in the mule room of the Hopewell Mills at Taunton, Mass., caused damage to the extent of $5,000; fully insured.

The Johnstown, Pa., street railway and its franchises were sold yesterday to Thomas Johnson, of Cleveland. Electricity will be used as the motive power.

Katie Donovan, the seven-year-old daughter of John Donovan, of Lawrence, Mass., who was pushed into a bonfire by her playmates, died of her injuries.

The report of the Board of Health of Kingston, N. Y., shows that during the month of October there were fifty-two cases of diphtheria in that city with seven deaths.

William Roy, a negro who for a long time frightened girls and women in and about Elizabeth, N. J., by springing upon them from behind trees at night, was convicted in the Union County Court yesterday on three indictments for attempted assault.

Sixteen-year-old William Button fastened a rope to a bar across the stairway in Janeway & Co.'s wall paper factory at New Brunswick yesterday, tied the rope around his neck, and then walked down stairs until he was strangled.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—For New England: Rain; no decided change in temperature; easterly winds.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Rain; warmer; easterly winds, becoming variable.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Heavy rain; cooler; southeasterly winds, becoming variable.

Down Grade at a Rapid Rate.

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 9.—A wreck occurred on the mountain yesterday, caused by a coal train parting and coming down the mountain and running into the rear end of a gravel train. It was running at the rate of a mile a minute when it struck. William Stevens, of Gallitzin, flagman of the gravel train, was instantly killed. The firemen of the freight engine, Harry McKelvey, of the same place is probably fatally injured. He jumped while the train was running at a high rate of speed. There were forty men on the gravel train.

The Walton-Kennard Fight.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The fight between Harry Walton of Philadelphia and Jim Kennard, the St. Paul kid, was a rattling mill, in which Walton had the best of it until he lost his head. In the eighth round he slipped down, and Kennard struck him while down. Walton claimed a foul, but the referee refused to continue the fight and Kennard was given the purse. Kennard was so badly used up that another round would have finished him.

Don M. Dickinson Ill.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Ex-Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson, of [illegible], is confined to his bed in the h[illegible] brother at Bay Ridge, L. I. His physician says that his symptoms are decidedly pneumonic.

Conley Draws the Color Line.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50; $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

KUNZE TO CONFESS.

He Will Help to Convict Coughlin.

TO TAKE THE WITNESS STAND.

[t is Thought the Big Detective Will Weaken.

A New Sensation in the Cronin Trial—The Little German Will Take a Desperate Chance to Escape the Gallows—Another Nail in the Coffins of Burke, Coughlin and O'Sullivan.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—John Kunze, the little German defendant in the Cronin murder case, will confess all. Several prominent Germans here, being solicitous for the fair fame of their race, and seeing that the evidence showed Kunze to have fallen among thieves and murderers, visited him in jail. They asked him to tell all he knew of the conspirators. The young man told the committee to call again and he would make a clean breast. Yesterday afternoon the Germans and the prisoner had a long conference, and while they admitted nothing, neither did they deny that Kunze had confessed. However, the prisoner talked very earnestly to his countrymen, and what he told will come into the State's Attorney's possession before it is publicly known.

It is not thought that Kunze knew of the murder plot. He was certainly a conspirator, though perhaps unconsciously, and knew not in what direction his blind obedience to Dan Coughlin's orders were tending. However, Kunze knew enough of Coughlin's actions prior to May 4 to put the halter about the big detective's neck, irrespective of the strong case the State has already made out against him. He saw Coughlin, Burke, O'Sullivan and Cooney together many times, and his information will doubtless be known to Longenecker to-morrow. Coughlin is a coward, and it is reasoned that he will, when confronted with these new and conclusive evidences of his guilt, break down and make a full and complete confession implicating Alexander Sullivan.

The State is willing to sacrifice anything in the present case for the sake of securing conclusive proof of the arch-conspirators, and is willing to sacrifice not one iota of its present strong case unless this can be accomplished. Kunze will squeal on Coughlin and thus escape a term of imprisonment. Coughlin will then squeal on Alexander Sullivan for the sake of exchanging the gallows for a long term of imprisonment. It is now considered not improbable that Alexander Sullivan will take the stand for the defense, not to aid the prisoners, but to assert the honesty of his own position.

Sullivan will certainly testify if he can have the assurance that certain questions concerning the misappropriation of funds will not be asked. That assurance given he would pose as a much injured man, willing to openly assist the accused. If he escaped the examination unscathed he could assert that he had dared his accusers and they had done nothing.

ANOTHER CRONIN FIND.

A Tell-Tale Piece of Carpet Fished Out of the Sewer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—The police fished out of a Lake View sewer a piece of carpet about eighteen inches square, and believed to be a part of that which covered the floor of the Carlson cottage the night Dr. Cronin was murdered.

It was found one block south of the manhole into which Dr. Cronin's clothes and surgical instruments were thrown, and two blocks south of where the trunk was found. There were no signs of blood on it as far as could be determined. State's Attorney Longenecker and his assistants consider the discovery an important one.

Dr. Cronin's shoes and watch are still missing. The watch was, it is thought, kept by the murderers, and disposed of for money, but the shoes were undoubtedly placed in some manhole. The search will be taken up to-day.

THE SULLIVAN-KILRAIN FIGHT.

Another Grand Jury to Continue the Judicial Investigation.

PURVIS, Miss., Nov. 11.—The transcript in the appeal case of John L. Sullivan and Budd Renaud will be completed in a few days.

Decisions will not be handed down until the February term of the Supreme Court, which convenes on the third Monday of the month.

The Board of Supervisors, at its recent meeting, drew twenty names for the Grand Jury for the December term. This Grand Jury will continue the investigation of the Richburg prize fight.

Jake Kilrain will arrive here about the 26th inst. It is thought by this move Kilrain intends to pursue different tactics from Sullivan. He means to circulate among the people and win their sympathies before his case comes up for trial. There is a rumor of petitioning Judge Terrell to impose only a fine if he will agree to plead guilty and save the county the expense of trying him.

Seamen Organize a Union.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The International Amalgamated Sailors' and Firemens' Union was organized last night, and the Union has applied to the National Federation of Labor for a charter. One of the objects of the Union is to provide houses in the chief seaports of the country where members can obtain lodging, thereby escaping the evils of the sailors' boarding houses. A number of measures looking to reforms in the merchant service will be presented to Congress.

PITTSBURG IMPROVEMENTS.

Andrew Carnegie's Road Buying Property to Increase Its Facilities.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 11.—Andrew Carngie is responsible for a great deal of activity in the various properties in which he is interested. His ultimate intentions point to the building of an independent link of roads to Chicago, worthy of the large amount of traffic he will be able to influence. All the projects in the neighborhood of Chicago are dormant for the time being, and the only reason assigned for this inactivity is the desire to await the developments momentarily expected from the combination of Eastern capitalists that are seeking a consolidation of interests. In the meantime Mr. Carneige's energies are devoted to the establishment of improved facilities for the growing business of the Pittsburg & Western.

In that connection the company has purchased a lot of property in Millvale, by which the yard room of that line will be increased to such an extent that it will materially lessen the blockades which the road has recently experienced. All of the property along River avenue, from Willow Grove to the property formerly owned by Graff, Bennett & Co., has been purchased. The frontage along the street is about half a mile, and the width such that will allow of the construction of about a half dozen tracks. The property is at the end of the Pittsburg Junction bridge, and direct connection will be made with the tracks which now run from it.

The purchases of property will amount to about $15,000, one track alone having cost $38,000. Already three tracks, built on pile trestles, are under construction, and when the buildings on the property are razed next April the new yards will be built. The railway company is anxious to have River avenue vacated, and it is probable that for a monetary consideration the borough authorities will do so. President H. W. Oliver of the Pittsburg & Western was present at a recent meeting of Millvale Councils and showed a plan which provides for an extensive yard.

TRAIN IS FREE.

The Court Declares That His Mind is Not Sound.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The examination into the sanity of George Francis Train, who since Sept. 24 has been in jail here on a judgment for debt secured against him by Dr. Spiller of New York, was held in the Probate Court here.

Lawyer E. A. Snow appeared in behalf of Mr. Train and H. J. Edwards was counsel for Dr. Spiller.

Elisha Boland, M. D., a doctor chosen by the Court to examine Mr. Train in jail, testified that he believed him insane the symptoms being primary manomania and an over-weaning sense of his own importance. Mr. Train believed that he stood upon an intellectual eminence far above other people, and that they looked upon him with awe as he walked the streets. He might be capable of attending to ordinary business, but would not be able to cope with a shrewd business man who desired to overreach him."

After arguments of counsel Judge McKim said that he did not deem Mr. Train sufficiently insane to be ordered to an asylum nor sufficiently sane to be held for debts and he should therefore order his discharge.

STREET RAILWAY SOLD.

A Syndicate of Capitalists Secures Rochester's Surface Roads.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The Rochester City & Brighton Street Railroad Company has been sold to a syndicate of Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York and Rochester capitalists for $3,175,000.

Half a million dollars of the purchase price has been paid and the remainder will be paid November 22.

The purchasers take 4,700 of the entire 5,000 shares of stock at $260 per share, or at the rate of $1,300,000 for the whole. They also assume bonded indebtedness of $875,000.

At the sale the purchasers were represented by M. A. Verner, of Pittsbargh, and Theodore Frothingham and Dewitt Caylor, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Verner rspresents Sellers, McKee and others of Pittsburg. Of New York capitalists it is believed that Mr. Drexel, of Drexel, Morgan & Co., is interested, and of Philadelphia capitalists, E. W. Clark & Co., bankers.

Local capitalists take one fifth of the stock. The purchasers have also bought the franchises of the new cross-town railway company for $76,000 and will have a monopoly of street railroads in Rochester.

Mild Chicago Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The feature of the Anarchist demonstration yesterday was its utter lack of the enthusiasm which generally characterizes the gatherings of the Anarchists. Less than two thousand people visited Waldheim Cemetery to decorate the graves of the executed Anarchists, and scarcely half of those listened to the speeches. The speeches were mildness itself compared with those delivered last year. The only incident which occurred throughout the day was the removal by the police of a red flag displayed from a window by Mrs. Lucy Parsons.

Glass Works Burned.

FOSTORIA, O., Nov. 11.—The Butler Art Glass Works, the largest establishment of the kind in the country, was burned to the ground last night. The plant was owned by Pittsburg and Fostoria capitalists, and was working to its fullest capacity night and day. The building and contents are a total loss, estimated at $50,000. Cause of fire unknown. The concern will be rebuilt at once.

Jack Dempsey to Fight

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—A telegram received by Captain Cook says that Jack Dempsey and Young Mitchell, of California, have been matched to fight in two months at the California Athletic Club rooms for $3,000 and a bet of $2,500 on the outside.

THURMAN TALKS.

The Old Roman Thinks There Will be a Senatorial Scrub Race.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11.—Allen G. Thurman, in an interview on Ohio politics attributes the result of the election to tariff reform. On the Ohio Senatorship Judge Thurman said:

"When I said the other day that we would now see a beautiful scrub race for the Senatorship, I ment no disrespect to any of the gentlemen who will contest for the honor. Everybody knows what a scrub race is. As many horses are entered as the owners please. I have heard of a dozen candidates, and all of them are good men, any one of them would fill the office of United States Senator with credit to himself and honor to the Democratic party. I have no choice, and shall be pleased with any man who is a good, honest, able Democrat."

The old Roman then asked about the prospects of the Hon. John H. Thomas of Springfield, but ventured no option for or against Thomas, who announced himself a candidate about two months ago. M. D. Harter of Mansfield is out in a card for Thomas. Harter is a millionaire manufacturer of Mansfield, and is a near neighbor of John Sherman.

The candidates who are now mentioned for the place are: Calvin S. Brice, John R. McLean, S. E. Holden, John H. Thomas, George L. Converse, John A. McMahon, Virgil P. Kline, James E. Campbell, Lawrence T. Neal, A. S. Booth, and James E. Neal. It is believed that the next senator will be found in one of the first four names mentioned. Brice or McLean would be formidable candidates if they came out and made an active fight for the nomination, but so far they have denied being candidates. McLean could start in the race with the eleven Democratic legislators from his own city of Cincinnati, and that number is considerable to begin with. In a few days the smoke of the election battle will have cleared away, and then it will be definitely known who are in the race and their prospects.

THEY FIGHT FOR A GIRL.

The Vanquished Man Gives Up All Claims to the Fair Maiden's Favor.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 11.—A desperate fist fight took place at a secluded spot near No. 4 colliery of the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company at Plymouth Saturday afternoon. The principals were Elmer Gross and Frank Anderson. For some time they have been rivals for the hand of the same girl, and as she did not show any marked preference, they decided to settle the matter themselves.

They selected William O'Brien, of Plymouth, as referee. J. R. Power acted as second for Gross and Ed. Heffernan for Anderson. A twenty-four-foot ring was staked out and the battle began at 4 p. m. in the presence of about fifty spectators.

Both are powerful and vigorous men. Gross stands near six feet high, and weighs 185 pounds. His opponent was but little less. For the first four rounds Anderson seemed to have the best of it. He showed more skill and activity, and pressed Gross hard. In the third round he landed a terrific blow of Gross' eye that knocked him clean off his feet, and closed the eye. In the fifth round Anderson began to play out, while Gross, though badly punished, seemed as strong and fresh as at first.

In the sixth and seventh rounds their positions were reversed. Gross forced the fighting and drove Anderson all around the ring, pouring in a torrent of sledge-hammer blows. Finally he got in a smashing blow on the jaw, laying open Anderson's cheek and knocking out several of his teeth. Anderson went down as if he had been shot, and could not stand up when time was called. The referee gave the fight to Gross, and Anderson, in the presence of witnesses, renounced all claim to the hand of the maiden for whose favor he fought.

Supposed Suicide.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 11.—The steamer Puritan found on the vessel's arrival here from New York that the occupant of stateroom 148 was missing, and it is thought that he jumped overboard during the night. His clothes, overcoat, hat, a gold watch and other articles were found in the stateroom. From a letter found in a pocket of the coat, it is believed the missing passenger is the Rev. C. H. Smith, of Dorchester.

Paralysis Caused His Death.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 11.—The Rev. James A. Sanderson died last evening from paralysis, aged 55 years. He was a graduate of Dartmouth and the Berkeley Divinity School, and at different times had charge of parishes in Eastport, Me., Wickford, R. I., and Pierpont Manor, N. Y. He retired from active service several years ago.

Close Election Contest.

WOBURN, Mass., Nov. 11.—A recount of the votes cast for State Senator in Woburn gives James Skinner, Democrat, an increase of 22 votes over the first returns, which allowed a plurality of 27 votes for Moses P. Palmer, Republican. Mr. Skinner has but five votes to overcome in the recount of the vote in the other towns in the district.

The Boulangist Demonstration.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The "Journal des Debats" says that two regiments of cavalry have been summoned to Paris to suppress the proposed Boulangist demonstration to-morrow. There are rumors that no attempt will be made to hold the demonstration.

Colonel Goodloe Dead.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 11.—Col. William Cassius Goodloe died yesterday from the effects of the wound he received Friday afternoon in his encounter with Col. Swope.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The coming city election promises to be very exciting.

—The trial of criminal cases was resumed at Elizabeth today.

—People should be very careful this changeable weather, and dress accordingly.

—The scholars in the public schools are at present undergoing their quarterly examinations.

—The night school for men will begin in the High school building, to-morrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

—The late storm raised the water in the Raritan River several feet, but no serious damage resulted from the high water.

—A regular meeting of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, will be held at its rooms, 12 East Front street, this evening.

—There will be a regular encampment and muster of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., at its headquarters to-morrow evening.

—The Department Commander and Staff of the G. A. R., of the State of New Jersey, will inspect the old Soldiers' Home, to-morrow.

—It is said that some would-be sportsmen are infesting the woods and violating the game laws by shooting whatever comes before them.

—On account of the temperance evangelical services in Music Hall, last evening, the regular weekly meeting of the Reform Club was omitted.

—It is understood that the voter in the Second ward who is wanted for illegal voting on election day, has quietly left the city for parts unknown.

—People are beginning to think of the holidays and consider what they will buy for presents. Consult our advertising columns; trade with those who advertise and you will be happy.

—The finest line of ties for gentlemen, are offered by A. C. Horton, the Front Street hatter and furnisher. Laundry work for gentlemen also, is a specialty with the establishment.

—Messrs VanSciver & Moore, the North avenue paper hangers, have just completed the work of decorating the interior of Mr. Charles Hyde's handsome residence on East Front street.

—Thomas Wilson, the colored man who assaulted and attempted to rob ex-State Senator Charles Moore, of Kingston, has pleaded guilty at Somerville, and was sentenced to ten years in State Prison.

—The news will be compelled today to retract its contemptible statement of Saturday that a certain yonng lady and young gentleman of this city who are merely acquaintances, were engaged to be married.

—More new letter boxes have arrived and will be placed in position as soon as possible. One will be at the Evona station, and another at Monroe avenue and Fourth street as soon as a pole for it shall be erected.

—The work of remodeling the First Baptist church is being pushed forward very rapidly and it is expected to be re-opened about January first. There is talk of having a complimentary concert when completed.

—While the water in Green Brook was at its highest on Saturday, Photographer Thorn took a photograph of Tier's dam and the surroundings. The spectacle was very pretty as the water rushed over the dam, fully two feet deep.

—The Park avenue butchers who left a pair of cotton tails hanging in front of their store the other night, and found a full-grown chicken hawk substituted in their place the next morning, are anxious to know who the perpetrator of the joke was.

—The next Legislature of this State will have a petition presented to them, asking that a law may be passed compelling instruction in the public schools in the nature of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, and their effects upon the human system.

—Mr. J. Potter Johnson, an expert on carpenter work, has made an inventory of the loss sustained by the burning of St Mary's rectory on Thursday morning last. Mr. Johnson told a PRESS reporter that it will cost in the neighborhood of $4,000 to repair the building and get it in shape for occupancy again.

—The statement in the news that an organ manufacturer had "visited the Crescent Avenue church respecting its proposed new organ," is merely another of the fool items THE PRESS is called upon to correct every day. The church has no idea of having a new organ, and such a proposition has never even been mentioned.

What I know about that standard remedy—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup:—I know that a 25 cent bottle cured me of a bad cough in 12 hours. It is a fact.

IN MEMORIUM.

WHERE AND WHAT WILL THE MONUMENT BE.

Crescent Square, Franklin Square, and the City Park, in View as Locations for the Soldiers' Memorial Shaft.

There is to be a fifteen-thousand-dollar monument erected in this city to the memory of the dead soldiers of the late war. That much is certain, as the project is in charge of Plainfield's leading citizens and veterans. Nothing falls in the hands of such men as General James S. Negley, Col. Mason W. Tyler, J. E. Stewart, L. V. F. Randolph, George W. Moore, Nelson Runyon, E. J. Olssen, Wm. H. Williams, Alex. Gilbert, E. B. Clark, J. Evarts Tracy, C. W. McCutchen, A. C. Baldwin, S. A. Ginna, Rowland S. Cox and L. W. Serrell. Col. Tyler is Chairman, Judge Runyon is Secretary and John E. Stewart is Treasurer of this committee upon which is represented equally the citizen and soldier element.

Saturday evening at the headquarters of Winfield Scott Post, another meeting was held at which almost the entire committee was present. It was then considered just to offer North Plainfield additional representation on the committee, and Gen'l Eli Long, Mayor Cooley, School Trustee James McGee and Commodore George P. Dupee, will be tendered invitations to join in the work.

One thing is settled—the monument will not be erected on the handsome plot in Hillside cemetery, offered by its Trustees. Even Col. Tyler, who represents the latter on the committee, recognizes the fact that the heart of the city is the proper place for the monument proposed; and ex-Councilman E. B. Clark struck the key note of the question when he said it was to teach the lessons of self-sacrifice, patriotism, courage and resignation to the Children of the country, that memorial shafts were pointed heavenward in honor of the soldier dead.

A month ago, THE PRESS said:

> The members of the G. A. R., of this city, who are to erect a Soldier's Monument in Plainfield in commemoration of the Nation's dead heroes, will make a mistake by placing such monument in Hillside Cemetery, so far from daily sight.
> Let it be erected in some such prominent spot as the junction of Broadway and Crescent avenue; and let it not be in the form of a gloomy tombstone. What's the matter with putting up a magnificent fountain?

The public will be glad to know that the Committee is acting on this very suggestion so far as the site is concerned, and will consider the question of form of monument, later. There will be no trouble now about raising the money by popular subscription as soon as it is definitely settled just where "in town" the monument will be. A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. S. A. Ginna, Rowland Cox and E. B. Clark, have the question of site now in charge, and are to report at the next meeting of the committee, Saturday evening.

The sites in view are THE PRESS' choice, the "triangle" at the junction of Crescent avenue and Broadway; the "circle" on which a street lamp now stands at the "Five Points," where LaGrande, Putnam and Franklin avenues cross one another; and the City Park at Eighth street and Arlington avenue. The first named is first choice, but it is rumored that although the consent of the Trustees of the Crescent Avenue church to the use of the site could be obtained, yet Mr. John B. Dumont, President of the Council, and Mr. Joseph W. Yates, object. As they with others contributed to the purchase of the spot as a perpetual park, they have a voice in any transfer of its purposes.

The use of the other sites could be granted by an ordinance of the Council. It is understood that the Corporation Counsel has given his opinion informally to such effect.

Pawn Tickets Found.

A blue lined satchel was picked up in the street at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, late on Saturday evening. The satchel contained two pawn tickets for watches pawned in New York and Newark—one at J. Norton's loan office, No. 44 Bane, corner of Halsey streets, Newark, and the other at H. Schurtzer's, No. 103 West 31st street, New York city. At the latter place $9 was obtained on the watch.

The satchel can be had by applying at John Clark's fruit store at Front and Somerset streets.

Continuing the Fourth Track.

A force of workmen were engaged yesterday connecting up the fourth track on the North siding of the Central Railroad at Grant avenue, in this city. Four tracks are now in use all the way from Elizabeth to Bound Brook, and as soon as the work is completed at what is known as the "Point of Rocks," just East of Greenville, the company will have four continuous tracks between Bound Brook and Jersey City.

Right You Are!

The Union County Standard, published at Mount Ararat, N. J., says truly: "There will be no finer type of American manhood assembled in Trenton next Winter, than Union county sends in James L. Miller, its Senator, and Foster M. Voorhees, John Ulrich and Fred C. Marsh, its Assemblymen."

—President Saltzman of Amoskeag Council, No. 25, Order of American Firemen of this city, has received a check from each of the Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor, their individual contribution to the recent firemen's fair.

WELL THEN, WHO WAS AND WHO DID?

The Girls Swear That "Still" Randolph Didn't Assault Them.

An article in THE PRESS of last Friday morning told of an assault committed upon "Kate Murphy" as she was returning from a ball on Somerset street, about five o'clock of that morning. The girl was either so brutally beaten or violently thrown to the sidewalk, that at first it was thought her skull was fractured. She was carried into the house of a physician near by, and restored to consciousness.

Below we give the affidavit of Nora Walsh and Minnie Garland, one of whom it is claimed is the "Kate Murphy" who was assaulted. In her affidavit she exonerates "Still" Randolph, and his friends go so far as to say that she was not assaulted at all. The affidavit is as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY } ss.
COUNTY OF UNION. }

Personally appeared before me the subscriber a Notary Public for New Jersey, Rosa Walsh and Minnie Garland, who being duly sworn on their oaths, saith, that Stillman F. Randolph who has been accused of committing an assault on either of them at an early hour on Friday morning, Nov. 8, last, on their way home from a ball of the Columbia Social Club, held in Turn Hall, on Somerset street, North Plainfield, N. J., is innocent of the crime of which he is accused, and they further say that the statement made by the evening news was without foundation, and that they further exonerate him from blame.

MISS NORA WALSH,
MISS MINNIE GARLAND,

Sworn and subscribed to before me this eleventh day of November, A. D., 1889.

J. C. POPE,
Notary Public.

If one of the above signers is "Kate Murphy," and she was not assaulted at all, who was and who did it? Some young woman was brutally beaten at the time, place and in the manner, THE PRESS related. The authority for the article was the very best. There is no doubt of the truth of the story except so far as Randolph is concerned. The above affidavit entirely exonerates him.

MR. BURDICK AT MUSIC HALL.

Opening the Series of Temperance Evangelistic Meetings Yesterday.

The first in the series of temperance evangelistic services, under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was held in Music Hall, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large and much enthusiasm was manifested throughout the service. A volunteer choir of male and female voices, under the leadership of Mr. C. W. McCutchen, furnished the music, and an orchestra consisting of violin, cornet and piano, the latter presided over by Miss Alice Smith, furnished the instrumental music for the occasion. Among the city's clergymen who occupied seats on the platform were the Rev. Messrs Richards, Honeyman, Schenck, Mitchell and Dilts.

Rev. Mr. Richards read the Scripture from Romans seventh chapter, beginning with the seventh verse, and offered prayer. Mrs. H. M. Eaton then on behalf of the W. C. T. U., introduced Mr. P. A. Burdick, the well-known temperance evangelist, who gave a practical and logical talk on the subject of intemperance.

The speaker prefaced his remarks by stating that the success of the meetings would depend largely upon the individual interest taken in them. Mr. Burdick spoke eloquently and to the point. At the close of his remarks a collection was taken up, and the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Walters, of Brooklyn, has recently been the guest of Miss Nettie Allison, of North Plainfield.

Mrs. S. A. Wallace, of West Fifth street, has been spending a fortnight with her husband at Baltimore.

Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the East Baptist church, Elizabeth, has received a call from the church at Phœnixville, Pa.

Mr. P. A. Burdick, the temperance evangelist, is a guest at the home of T. H. Tomlinson, M. D., on LaGrande avenue.

The wife of Rev. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield, has been summoned to Dover, N. J., by the sudden and dangerous illness of her sister.

Nigh watchman Benjamin Wright has been confined to the house by illness, and special officer Joseph Cooney, has been detailed to do duty in his place.

Mrs. Hiram DeCamp, of Chester, N. J., wife of the former boniface at Laing's Hotel in this city, is on the sick list; so much so that medical aid is necessary.

A children's tableaux entertainment for the benefit of the Netherwood chapel, was held at the home of Mrs. George Taylor, Saturday evening last. It was a success in every particular.

At the home of Mrs. George F. Opdyke, 16 West Eighth street, the "King's Daughters" will hold a parlor sale to-morrow afternoon and evening, and also on Wednesday afternoon. Admission ten cents.

Dr. Talmage Again an Editor.

Beginning with January 1, next, the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., will become one of the editors of The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia. The famous preacher will have a regular department each month, written by himself, with the title "Under My Study Lamp." His first contribution will appear in the January number of the Journal. Dr. Talmage's salary is said to be one of the largest ever paid for editorial work.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

HIS WORK BEGUN.

Crowds Gather at Mr. Burdick's First Evening Meeting.

Music Hall was well filled, last evening, with an audience that listened attentively to the earnest words of Mr. Burdick, the Gospel Temperance Evangelist. Excellent music was rendered by a choir that was led by C. M. McCutchen, who is the popular leader on all such occasions. The Rev. W. E. Honeyman presided and conducted the devotional exercises, after which Mr. Burdick began his address.

He said that the people needed education in regard to the evils of intemperance, for he found that many good people really knew very little of the terrible ravages of King Alcohol. Even Christian persons sometimes had wine on their tables and used it in their homes, without thinking that their children might some day become drunkards by its use. A father asked him to try and save his boy and he attempted to do so, although he was far gone in intemperance. The young man said to him: "My father made me a drunkard. He had wine regularly on his table, and not only used it himself but gave it to me. If he will sign the pledge, I will." The father hesitated to sign, but at length did so, and the son followed his example and became a sober man, but his constitution was so shattered by dissipation that he only lived two years afterward.

Another friend was influenced to take a drink by a companion and became a miserable wreck, and so it kept going on and on everywhere as he could testify from a sad experience. There was no safety but to abstain utterly. Many men were so organized that they could not indulge with safety even in small quantities of liquor. Men and women should sign the pledge, but that of itself would not save anyone. There was one, however, that could save, even to the uttermost, and that one was the Lord Jesus Christ, and to Him he commended them all.

After collection and announcements for meetings every night this week in Music Hall at 7.45, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Goodrich. Among the prominent temperance workers present on the stage and in the audience, were Councilman M. M. Dunham, Mr. John H. French, ex-President of the Reform Club, Street Commissioner Geo. M. Angleman, Freeholder Andrew Vanderbeek, Township Collector H. Newton Spencer, ex-Councilman E. L. Morris, and Mr. Geo. F. Opdyke.

BLIND OR SELFISHLY SENTIMENTAL.

Why Mr. Marsh and Other Councilmen Will not be Re-elected.

Mr. Francis E. Marsh, as THE PRESS often has occasion to say, is one of the most experienced Councilmen the city has ever been blessed with, one of the best of presiding officers also, and a municipal legislator of more than the average clear sightedness in all matters in general effecting the welfare of the community, excepting one in particular. When viewing the question of how best to restrict the selling of liquor—the greatest of all public evils—he is either as blind as a bat at noonday, or else considers his personal sentiments superior to the good of the people.

He is responsible with other retiring members of the Council, for a city of 63 saloons and free rum selling, instead of one-fifth that number under the control of the authorities and paying a fee of $10,000 that compels their good behavior and restricted hours, as THE PRESS and the people of common sense in the community prefer. Consequently, after consecutive years of continuous service, Mr. Marsh will not be re-elected this Fall, and although with the retirement of him and others as foolish and unreasonable in the policy referred to above, the city will lose good Councilmen in most ways it will gain better Councilmen in the matter that most vitally concerns its welfare.

The Greatest Treat in Its Way.

Those who fail to attend the games of the Bicycle Club, Thursday night, will miss the greatest treat in the way of athletic sports ever given in this city. The entries are all full and contain the names of some of the best runners and bicycle racers from the New York Athletic Club, New Jersey Athletic Club, Pastime Athletic Club, Kings County Wheelmen, and such men as Walz, Beebe and Serrell, of the Plainfield Bicycle Club, who will doubtless set the visitors a fast pace in the 70 yards dash. Those who have not already secured their seats should do so at once. Mr. Randolph has some choice ones yet unsold.

Ordination and Installation of Church Officers.

Previous to the sermon yesterday morning, the following persons were ordained and installed as Elders and Deacons of Trinity Reformed church, the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, officiating:

Elders—R. R. Field, G. Q. Dolliver, O. W. Dunham.

Deacons—J. H. Van Winkle, T. E. Hazell, E. E. Anthony, A. L. Force.

Myriads of cases of rheumatism and neuralgia have already succumbed to that wonderful remedy, Salvation Oil. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

Positively Delicious.

So delightful to the taste are HAMBURG FIGS that they could be placed upon the table for dessert, and no one would suspect that they were more than very superior crystalized fruit. This property is what makes them so popular with ladies and children for the cure of indigestion and sick headache. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

WRECK AT ROSELLE.

A Displaced Switch Causes a Coal Train to Run Into Five Passenger Cars on a Siding.

A bad wreck occurred on the New Jersey Central Railroad at Roselle late on Saturday night. The night was dark and foggy, and owing to a displaced switch, a West-bound coal train ran into five passenger coaches on a siding. The locomotive of the coal train was badly wrecked and fifteen coal cars were smashed and piled in a heap.

Four of the passenger cars were derailed and fell down an embankment fifteen feet high. The engine telescoped the remaining coach. The road bed in the Company's yard was torn up and the tracks twisted out of shape.

The engineer and fireman of the locomotive stuck to their posts, but the brakemen escaped by jumping. In the foremost passenger coach, which the locomotive passed nearly through, was Jesse Eaton, an employee of the Company, who was sweeping out the car. He escaped death by jumping through a window.

Travel was blocked the greater part of the night and it was dark last evening before the wreckage was removed, and the damage to the road bed repaired. The loss amounts to several thousand dollars.

An Important Legal Decision.

Judge Devens, of the Supreme Court, in Boston, recently made a decree in a case which involves taking of property valued at about $600,000 out of the Commonwealth and into the State of New Jersey. The case was a petition by Nelson Runyon against Horace W. Lattimer, for an order authorizing the petitioner to receive stocks and bonds now in charge of the defendant in this State. The petitioner is administrator pendente lite, under appointment by the New Jersey court of the estate of Susan W. Lattimer, and the objection was made that the statute authorizing foreign administrators to receive property in this State did not apply to administrators pendente lite. Objection was also made by a person in the State to the taking of the property away. The Probate Court granted the petition, and Judge Devens, after a hearing, has affirmed the decree, holding that the State includes administrators pendente lite, whose duties include the collection and preservation of funds of the estate. The will has subsequently been probated, as told in THE PRESS.

Look to Your Furnace and Flues.

This is the season to look after furnaces and flues to make sure that they are safe. There may be in a few days a sudden cold snap that will lead to a general firing up of furnaces, and then, if there should be anything defective about them, destructive fires are liable to result. Such results are so common that one might tell the date of a cold snap in the Fall of the year by reading over the fire records and noting when there was a sudden increase in the number of fires reported. Now is the time to get heating appparatus in good order, unless the work has been done already. It may not be out of place to say that chimneys built of brick and putty are said to be proof against the combined action of rain, frost and coal gas. Of course putty costs more than common mortar, but it is an expense that pays the owner in durability.

They Must All Carry Correct Time.

An order was issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company last Friday requiring all engineers and conductors to hereafter have their watches examined regularly by an inspector. At each division terminus an inspector will be appointed, and the trainmen must receive a certificate of accuracy from him at stated periods. The responsibility devolving upon the inspectors will be an important one, and only skillful watchmakers will be appointed by the company. The directions to employees are explicit, and embodied in a new rule-book which was issued by General Manager Pugh on Thursday last.

Complaint Against Farmers.

Grocers are complaining of the exorbitant prices charged by farmers for poultry, although all kinds of fowls are plentiful. The prices are so high that only a small margin for profit is left the grocer. The farmers, it is claimed, are also making contracts to supply private families with poultry, thus furnishing another cause of complaint to the aggrieved grocers.

The Ladies Will Be Present.

The members of the Plainfield Crescent Bowling League, met for practice last evening. This evening the Club will roll the first of its series of games in the County League, with the "Pastimes" of Westfield, to which the ladies of the members' families, and friends accompanying members will be admitted.

Still Unsettled.

The prolonged controversy with reference to the washout occasioned by the rains of last month at South Plainfield had another airing before Col. Boice at New Brunswick Saturday morning. The case was not concluded.

Sudden Death.

Heart disease is developed by modern civilization, and is increasing to an alarming extent. Let him who suspects the existence of this cause of sudden death take DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, and let all persons read his treatise on "Heart Disease," which will be sent on application by Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

TO SPEND $5,000,000 ON STATEN ISLAND.

The Baltimore and Ohio Pushing the Work on Their Staten Island Terminus.

When the terminal facilities of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on Staten Island are finished according to their plans they will have one of the finest freight stations near New York. Full connection with the Central Railroad of New Jersey over the Arthur Kill bridge will be made about Jan 1, and the company will start in with a capacity for handling 500 cars a day. There is to be a double track by that time to St. George, and all of the necessary sidings.

Several piers are already under way. One is a covered pier 350x100 feet, and another, an open one, 400x60 feet, for the lighterage business. There will also be a bridge for loading cars on to floats. This is but the first chapter. The company intends to establish a great tidewater and passenger terminal at St. George, with nine big freight piers and a yard to hold 3,000 cars. At Tompkinsville they have secured a large tract of water front for a transatlantic terminal, to be used for freight piers, slips, ocean warehouses, and elevators. They are now negotiating with a transatlantic steamship company to get it to run its ships from Tompkinsville. Another project is a basin at Clifton, with dry docks. The company expects to spend $5,000,000 on Staten Island at no distant day.

New Market Notes.

(New Brunswick Fredonian)

In the line of public improvements the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has fully maintained its good reputation this season in our village. The station and grounds have been put in fine order, better local accommodations have been afforded, and a new and much appreciated gate has been placed at the main crossing for the safety of the people.

Near to this crossing is our old-new postmaster, A. S. Coriell, who, early in his reappointment resolved not to be a whit behind the age in improvements, and provided the neatest and best accommodations for a post office we have ever had.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vance have taken possession of their neat new home on the corner of Main and Centre streets.

H. V. Dunham has been on the sick list for nearly a week, but at last report seemed to be improving.

The Baptist church "annex" is a great convenience to the congregation as a lecture room and general session room for many purposes.

The Seventh Day Baptists have put a new Imperial Heater in their basement, and hope now to drive "old boreas" to Winter quarters in some other locality.

A. A. Burdick, an enterprising mechanic from New York, captured one of New Market's fair maidens about two years ago and has recently bought land for several fine building sites on the corner of Prospect avenue and Centre street, where he will probably make some fine improvements.

The Day Brothers are doing quite a lively business at job printing. They do excellent work and at very reasonable rates.

Sentence Day in Court.

A special session of court was held at Elizabeth on Saturday for the purpose of imposing sentences on a number of prisoners who had been convicted and had entered pleas of guilty. Among them was Harry Forester of North Plainfield, who pleaded guilty to the robbery of Mr. E. J. Olssen's residence on East Second street. The breaking was by day. The prisoner said he had been convicted of crime before. He was sentenced to State Prison for five years.

—The extensive manner in which modern houses are furnished with permanent wardrobes, bureaus and sideboards, is particularly noticeable to the furniture men.

AN IMMENSE THRONG PRESENT

Many Cardinals and Bishops in the Procession.

Sermons by Archbishops Ryan and Ireland—The Latter Hopes to Make American Catholic—The Nation and the Church Each Has Need of the Other—The Congress Opens To-Day.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—"A century closes, a century opens." A hundred years have come and gone since first a Bishop of the Catholic Church was given to America. A century of time has been added to the past since the creation of the See of Baltimore, and the centenary of the event was celebrated yesterday in a manner befitting the occasion.

The old Cathedral that crowns the Charles street hill had within its walls an assemblage most notable, and around its iron picket fence on Charles, Mulberry, Cathedral and Franklin streets people thronged in thousands, watching, many with pride and all with interest, the procession of priests and bishops, and lingered long after the chant of the seminarians announced that the service had begun.

Admission to the church could be gained only by the tender of a card of invitation. Every available bit of space within was utilized, yet thousands of people, visitors, as well as Baltimoreans, had to be shut out.

The gathering of prelates embraced two cardinals, seventeen archbishops and seventy-five bishops. The Pope was represented in the person of Archbishop Satolli, of Le Panto; Canada by Cardinal Taschereau, Mexico by Bishop Montes d'Oca and E. Antequara Gillow; England by Bishop John Virtue, of

1. Archbishop Williams. 2. Archbishop Corrigan. 3. Cardinal Gibbons. 4. Archbishop Ryan. 5. Archbishop Ireland. 6. Archbishop Carroll (first American Bishop.) 7. Bishop Gilmore. 8. Bishop Elder. 9. Bishop Spalding. 10. Bishop Loughlin. 11. Bishop Doane.

Portsmouth, and Monsignor Gad, of London. All of the Archbishops in the United States were in attendance except Kendrick, of St. Louis, who is too feeble to travel, and nearly all the Bishops.

After a continous rain for three days the morning broke clear and bright. About 7 o'clock knots of people put in an appearance on the streets bounding the Cathedral: an hour later crowds began to gather, and by 10 o'clock the vicinity was literally packed with people.

The students of St. Mary's Seminary and the priests, local and visiting, collected at St. Joseph's Academy on Saratoga street, and the Bishops assembled at the Archiepiscopal residence on Charles street where they donned their purple vestments.

The procession of 150 seminarians and 400 priests, in the order named, two abreast, started from the rendezvous at 10:30, marching down Saratoga to Charles, to the Archiepiscopal residence, where the prelates fell in line, the cross-bearer leading, and the Abbots, Monsignori, Bishops, Archbishops, the Papal Legate and Cardinals Gibbons and Taschereau following in the order named. The procession then continued up Charles to Franklin, to Cathedral street and into the Cathedral. The seminarians and priests after the rear of the procession had passed in, occupied camp chairs in the aisles. The Archbishops and Bishops were seated within the chancel. Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Taschereau and Archbishop Satolli, occupied thrones. That of the latter was draped with the Papal colors of yellow and white.

Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia preached the sermon. After dwelling upon the history of the Catholic Church in America he took up the charges that the Church fears science and is the enemy of education. He said the last to fear intellectual progress was the Catholic. He knew that truth is one, that God cannot contradict in the revelation of the Scripture what He exhibits in the revelation of science.

Last night at vespers Archbishop Ireland, of Minnesota, preached the sermon, which dealt entirely with the future. He said the great work the Catholics of the United States are called to do within the coming century was to make America Catholic. "The importance of the Possession of America to the cause of religion cannot well be over-estimated. America's influence is widespread among nations, and, the Church triumphant in America, Catholic truth would travel on the wings of American influence and encircle the universe."

The formal opening of the Congress took place at the Cathedral to-day by the celebration of Pontifical Mass by the Most Rev. M. A. Corrigan, of New York. The first session of the Congress took place at Concordia Hall between the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. There will be a reception to the visiting prelates at the hall this evening.

Missionary Savage Not Murdered.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 11.—The report of the murder of Missionary Savage in New Guinea is declared untrue.

CAUGHT IN A BLIZZARD.

The Terrible Experience of a Party of Cowboys.

TRINIDAD, Col., Nov. 11.—The bodies of John Martin and Henry Miller, the cowboys who were frozen to death near Sierra Grande in last week's horrible blizzard, were brought to Folsom for burial. Four other men belonging to the same party are missing and it is believed that they are dead.

It is reported that 20 men are missing from this range and it is feared many of them will never be found.

Jolly and Wise, the men who escaped badly frozen, tell a heartrending story of their sufferings. When the blizzard struck them at night they were holding a herd of 2,500 cattle. The wind became a hurricane before morning, and when Martin and Jolly went on the last guard, about 1 a. m., the storm was so blinding that they could not hold the herd. Jolly started to the camp for help. In the meantime Miller and Wise had left the camp to assist in holding the cattle. Jolly could not find the camp and Miller and Wise could not find the herd. All three were drawn together by shouting, and wandered around until daylight, when they found Martin. The cold was so bitter that the men entered a ravine, and, after fastening the horses, took the saddle blankets and buried themselves in the snowdrift.

Jolly and Wise were slightly apart from Martin when they emerged from the drift. Martin only was in sight and he was dead. Miller was found shortly afterwards, his horse standing in front of him as if to protect him from the cold. Miller was dying from exposure and Jolly started to get assistance. Wise remained with Miller and was fast becoming insensible himself, when a Mexican sheep herder found him and took him to Rhodes' ranch, a few miles distant. The men returned to where Miller had been left and found him lifeless.

SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

He Says the Irish Question Will Probably Soon Be Settled.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—At a meeting in Guildhall Lord Salisbury delivered an address in which he congratulated the country upon the splendid expansion of its trades. The disputes between labor and capital, he said, were regretful, and he warned the labor agitators that they endertook a grave responsibility. He was glad to be able to affirm that Ireland was progresing. Prosperity was increasing in that country, disorder was vanishing, and there was every prospect of a permanent settlement of the burning questions between the two countries. No member of the Government indulged in wild theories of home rule, but were ready with a practical policy which would satisfy the country.

Referring to Egypt, Lord Salisbury said that the policy of the Government remained unchanged, and it would enable that country to protect herself against all attack, which at present she was unable to do without British assistance.

The difficulties in Europe, he declared, appeared to be tending toward a peaceful solution. All the great powers are desirous of avoiding a conflict.

Speaking of labor matters, Lord Salisbury said that employers and everybody having to do with trade disputes should remember that caution was necessary, as any imprudence might jeopardize great interests.

Lord Salisbury declared it was the wildest legend that the Government had the faintest intention to alter its Irish policy.

Regarding Africa he said that the affairs of that country were more interesting now than European matters. England was not behind other nations in their generous rivalry to promote the civilization of Africa.

The anti-slavery congress at Brussels would form an epoch marking the great progress of European opinion on that subject. He expressed obligations to the Sultan of Zanzibar for the latter's decree relating to the freedom of his subjects.

Mr. Balfour also spoke. After eulogizing Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader in Parliament, he confined his remarks to the development of the House of Commons.

Repeating Rifles for Chinese Troops.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 11.—The "Svet" says that China is arming her troops on the Russian frontier with repeating rifles, and that the soldiers are being drilled by German officers. The Khan of Kivia intends to make a tour of Europe, beginning with Russia.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

An earthquake occurred at Tunis, Saturday. The shock was too slight to to cause any damage.

The Chrysanthemum Show of the New Jersey Floriculture Society opens at Brick Church, N. J., to-day.

Fire destroyed the Ross block and two other buildings at Montesuma, N. Y. Loss $15,000, with a light insurance.

Canon Keller, in an address last night at Dublin, said 200 houses would be built to shelter evicted families.

The girls employed in Edison's lamp works at Harrison, N. J., will go on strike to-day because of a general reduction in wages.

At yesterday's meeting of the Hudson County, N. J., Central Labor Union $18.28 were collected for the widows and orphans of the Chicago Anarchists.

The Boston Base-ball Club has signed for next season James McGarr, formerly of the Haverhill Athletics, St. Louis Browns, Kansas City and St. Joseph clubs.

The resignation of Dr. Sanders, as pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, Newark, N. J., was formally accepted yesterday. He has taken the pastorate of a San Francisco church at a salary of $6,000.

James M. Donald is now lying at the point of death at his home in St. Johnsland L. I., as the result of a heated political discussion with Joseph Malloy held in a saloon near the Kings County poor Farm in St. Johnsland.

Dave Wambold, one of the best known negro minstrels in the country, died at 7 o'clock last night at the Continental Hotel on Broadway, New York where he had been living for six years.

BURNS AT THE FRONT

London's Labor Agitator Leads Another Strike.

BAKERS MEET IN HYDE PARK.

The Millers and Other Relative Workers to be Called Out.

Jackson Whips Jem Smith—The Colored Fighter Knocks the Briton All Over the Ring—Smith Tries Foul Means, and the Fight is Given to Jackson in the Second Round.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A mass meeting of bakers was held yesterday in Hyde Park, at which great enthusiasm was manifested over the proposal to organize a general strike in that trade. The crowd numbered many thousands, yet so numerous are the bakers of London that it is doubtful if a majority of the craft were present. The absent ones, however, may be counted on to join in the strike, for the indefatigable John Burns has been at work among them for weeks, and he has performed his work well, as he usually does.

Burns is an incarnation of the labor spirit of London to-day, and the student of social conditions may learn more of the real situation by observing Burns' methods than by delving in the pages of the learned political economists who from their closets evolve theories to fit conditions which ought to exist, but do not. Burns has the Napoleonic quality of making his followers believe thoroughly in his power to command success, and the bakers are confident that they will win, as if victory were already within their grasp.

Such enthusiasm and confidence is worth everything to a leader. Whether or not Burns, like the Little Corporal, believes he is under a lucky star, he has no trifling idea of his own ability, and he now expresses his intention, if necessary, to withdraw the millers and the workmen in a number of other trades more or less closely connected with the bakers if the masters show too much hesitation in granting the bakers' demand.

The failure of any one of Burns' schemes would doubtless prove to be the Waterloo of the present labor movement in England, but as yet the stocky and plucky young Scotchman is working in the full blaze of the sun of his Austerlitz.

JACKSON WINS.

Jem Smith Badly Worsted by the Colored Australian.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—In the boxing match at the Pelican Club last night between Peter Jackson, the Australian champion, and Jem Smith, champion of England, Jackson badly worsted Smith during two rounds, whereupon Smith deliberately cross-buttocked his opponent. A claim of foul was at once made and allowed, and the referee gave the fight to the Australian. The match, which was for $5,000, was witnessed by a large audience, and much excitement was displayed over the result.

Among the spectators were noticed a number of Members of Parliament, both Lords and Commoners, and the elite of London was well represented. Smith won the toss for position. In the first round there was a lively exchange of blows, some of them very heavy ones, and at the close Smith was visibly blown, while the colored pugilist was still apparently fresh. In the second round Jackson followed up his advantage by forcing the fighting, and did both heavy and skillful work. He knocked Smith all over the ring. The Englishman finally grasped the rope with his right and guarded against Jackson's blows with his left. Seeing that his position was a hopeless one, he suddenly made a rush and grappled Jackson in regular wrestler fashion, easily throwing the Australian before the latter could realize what was happening. When the foul was allowed Smith pretended to be surprised, and boldly denied that he had gone outside of fighting tactics.

Being unable to secure a decision in his favor he became enraged, and attempted to force Jackson into a bare knuckle fight. He was so violent that the police interfered and forcibly removed him from the ring. He was afterward persuaded to shake hands with the victor, but his display of malice and bad temper had set the spectators against him and he lost many friends.

All sporting experts present agree that Smith was beaten on all points, and his claim to the championship of the world is completely exploded.

Bishop O'Dwyer's Order.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—Bishop O'Dwyer, in a pastoral letter, forbids the clergy of Limerick to absolve Catholics guilty of boycotting or of offences under the plan of campaign. He reserves to himself the sole right to pass upon such cases.

THREE MEN KILLED.

Blown Up and Burned by the Explosion of a Nest Boilers.

WILKESBARRE, Penn., Nov. 11.—A boiler explosion took place at Mt. Pleasant, a small mining town in the southern part of this county, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and killed three men.

A. Pardee & Co., coal operators, have large works at Mt. Pleasant. The steam power for one of their collieries is supplied by a nest of five large boilers.

At 7 o'clock the night firemen left the place and the day firemen took charge. The latter had not been at work five minutes before one of the boilers exploded, wrecking two of the other boilers.

The report was heard ten miles away and the general impression was that an earthquake had shaken the valley.

John Burke was thrown 150 feet in the air. He landed in a small pool of water in a field. He was horribly mangled and burned and died an hour later.

Frank Munck and Joseph Reno, two Hungarian laborers, who were in the engine-house, were also killed. Their bodies were badly mangled. Reno had his arm and one leg torn off.

The cause of the accident is said to have been the introduction of cold water into one of the boilers.

The Profitable Eiffel Tower.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Eiffel Tower Company has made a final payment of 100 francs per share and reimbursed the shareholders. Henceforth shareholders will take half the net receipts during the twenty years the concession runs.

THE DOINGS OF WOMEN FOLK

Who Hunt the Anise Seed Bag or Wear Reformed Clothes.

Merrily goes the chase of the anise seed bag. Far and wide through the suburbs sounds the "horn of the huntsman, hoof of steed and laugh of rider"; for so English are we that no October resort can now lay claim to fashion without its pack of hounds. We have not many hunting women yet, though the craze spreads hourly, madam preferring a carriage to the finish to cross country riding; but she who puts on the pink takes a cold bath and dresses herself in as tight a garment as she can wear and breathe. At the doorstep her big chestnut is awaiting her, as is her groom on an equally fine animal. Madam wears a short, scant habit fitted as closely to her as the garment of a ballet dancer, but lacking even the modesty of the latter much maligned dress, since the ballerina is frank in her renunciation of skirts while the lack of them is painfully apparent under the draperies of the present riding gown. Some women have to button their plain tight bodices with a buttonhook after they mount, otherwise a dreadful calamity would happen. Altogether the riding habit is better calculated to reveal and express the human form divine than the decollete evening dress or a wet Narragansett Pier bathing gown, thus furnishing another illustration of the fact that the society woman, while she is often prudish, is sometimes less modest than she might be. Not that she means to be immodest, but her standards are queer, that is all. An honest, divided skirt which would enable her to ride in the only safe and healthful way in which a horse is ever mounted, that is astride, would shock her sensiblities, which are left quite untouched by the folds of broadcloth which outline her figure in a manner far more suggestive and entangle her feet in a fall. A young English woman, a grand niece, I believe, of Lady Ashburton, has been exploring the Yellowstone this summer, and a day or two since she showed me the habit in which she rode. It was of fine dark blue broadcloth, with the stamp of a first class tailor. The Directory jacket was not without its queer little coat tails behind. In front it opened over a blouse vest of dark blue surrah and turned back in revers. The skirt was plaited to a band, and was really two kilted skirts, clothing each leg separately. When the wearer stood still the fact that her draperies were divided was not apparent, and when she walked it was not disagreeable. The habit was not graceful enough to commend itself for any but special purposes, but for horseback riding or bicyeling it had obvious advantages. Its owner was so wedded to it that she said she would never mount a horse again in a place where it could not be worn.

Boston has been seeing Mrs. Jenness Miller's new winter gows. Some few of us saw them in New York before she packed her trunks for a lecturing tour. One has a plain full skirt of dark "London fog-colored" plush with two bands of narrow cut steel passementerie about the bottom. The bodice is laid quaintly in surplice folds, the sleeves have little puffs at the top and the crowning feature of the whole is a magnificent steel girdle. A dinner dress of old rose satin brocade is trimmed with pearl passdmenterie. A green velvettes gown has a front of soft ivory white silk. A magnificent evening dress with a velvet brocaded bodice and a court train is entirely covered in front with point and duchesse laces. Some of Mrs. Miller's newer street costumes are tailor gowns made on the "gown form," which is the base of all the Jenness Miller costumes. Mrs. Miller is able to make women admire her novel underwear, because it is all so exquisitely fashioned. Not a belle nor a bride of the 400 spends more money or more pains on the latest filmy daintiness in silk lingerie (pardon the bull) than does this shrewd and canny dress reformer. When she drops her gown on the lecture platform to stand revealed with her lovely arms bare, a murmur of admiration for the soft ecru or pink and white or see green pongee. Turkish leglets goes up from every woman in the crowd. Mrs. Miller travels this winter with her husband and publisher. Conrad Miller, who sometimes acts as lady's maid and is usually presented from the platform.

Mrs. Cleveland has gained considerable flesh since leaving the White House and is a much healthier looking woman, as a result of her summer outing than the thin and rather sallow person who took up her abode in New York last spring. She has regained also something of her old brilliant color and is more nearly like what she was as a girl bride. Washington never really agreed with her nor did late hours. People who have seen them express much admiration for the old and quaint pieces of furniture which are going into her new establishment.

There were many bright things said at the lunch of Sorosis in honor of Mrs. A. M. Palmer. Last spring at the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Palmer offered many courtesies, including seats at the theatre for all the delegates. She was unanimously elected to membership in recognition of her hospitality and the lunch to her opens merrily the season's ball. E. P. H.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

REED HAS THE CALL

The Maine Congressman Leads for the Speakership.

MAJ. McKINLEY MAY WITHDRAW

It is Believed that the Result of the Ohio Election Has Injured His Chances.

Talk of a Combination Against Reed—Members Arriving at the Capital and Cannon, Henderson and Burrows at Work for Votes—The President Appoints a Deputy Pension Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Several members of Congress arrived in the city today, and before the end of the week it is expected that a majority of the House will be here. Three of the Speakership candidates—Messrs. Cannon, Henderson and Burrows—are actively at work buttonholing for votes.

There is no question but that to-day Reed has the pole in the race. It is now with him simply a question whether there will be more members who will give him a complimentary vote on the first ballot than will come to him as a second choice after the first ballot. Opinions on this point are about equally divided. Many contend that he cannot be elected unless he has over sixty-five votes from the start and shows a good gain on the second ballot.

The result of the election in Ohio last week has undoubtedly done Major McKinley's Speakership canvass violence, and there are those who predict that it may lead him to withdraw from the race. Some of his friends, however, say that it will do him good; that it emphasizes Ohio as a doubtful State, and that since his district is to be gerrymandered he ought to be made Speaker so as to help him to a re-election. It will be remembered that Mr. Reed was given a complimentary vote for the Speakership in the fifty-eight Congress upon his own request, for the purpose of assisting him before his constituency.

There is talk of all the other candidates having a conference with a view, since it is the field against Reed, of consolidation.

PENSION APPOINTMENT.

Charles P. Lincoln, of Michigan, Secures the Deputy Commissionership.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The President has appointed Charles P. Lincoln, of Michigan, to be Second Deputy Commissioner of Pensions.

Mr. Lincoln was for several years employed in the internal revenue service. In 1875 was commissioned by President Grant as Consul to Canton, China, which office he filled until 1881, when he returned to his home in Michigan. In 1883 he opened a law office in Washington.

He is well and favorably known in G. A. R. circles, having served for two years as Commander of the famous Kit Carson Post and last year as Commander of the Department of the Potomac.

Washington Territory a State.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The President has signed a proclamation admitting Washington Territory to statehood.

LIVELY LAWYERS.

The Attorneys in the Cronin Trial Get Excited and Call Names.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The Cronin trial was enlivened with an encounter between Lawyer Forest, of the defense, and Attorney Hynes, of the prosecution, that was prevented from resulting seriously by the intervention of some friends.

It was the continuation of a wrangle commenced in court. Forest intimated that Hynes' sense of honor was derived from the unsavory Welch bribery case. The Irish lawyer retorted that Forest never learned honor from anywhere. The talk became hotter and louder, until Forest intimated that the penitentiary was Hynes' proper abode, when the latter yelled, "You're a big liar and jury fixer." Then Forest made a dash for his opponent, but the men were quickly separated.

Great progress was made in the trial, Burke, Kunze and Begg being the targets for the State's guns. Incidentally the chief triangler was connected with the testimony, but he was quickly dropped, like a bomb with a lighted fuse. Considerable time was devoted to showing that Kunze, from April 14 until arrested, went under the name of John Kaiser. For this purpose Henry Buckholz, Charles Herkimer and Joseph Petowski were called. Petowski also told of Kunz's stories about a vacant cottage in Lake View.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Men Knocked Down and Killed as Though With One Shot.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Three men were killed by a terrific explosion in Wylie & Wallace's Chemical Works, 134 North Seventh street, yesterday evening.

The noise of the explosion startled the passers-by and then every pane of glass in the building blew out in splinters. A gush of flame followed almost at the instant and the factory seemed to be enveloped in flames.

When the explosion occurred the three men were knocked down as though with one shot. Fourteen girls, who were employed in the upper floors, were rescued. One of them was badly cut by flying glass and Joseph Brown, a clerk in the office, was cut about the head and face.

As each body was found the firemen loaded them on stretchers and had them sent to the morgue in patrol wagons. The names of the dead are Joseph Wyle, one of the members of the firm and two employes named Rudolph and Kennard.

THE TERRIBLE BLIZZARD.

The Snow Blockade in Colorado Raised and the Suffering People Relieved.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 12.—For the first time in eight days, a through train arrived from the South, the snow blockade on the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth Railway, running due south from this point, having been raised. The situation along the line was rapidly becoming desperate, as entire towns had run short of supplies, while ranches within a radius of fifteen or twenty miles were completely cleaned out of stores.

Stockmen say they have never experienced such a blizzard on the Southern ranges, and especially at this season.

In the vicinity of Folsom, N. M., it is said on good authority that 50,000 sheep were on the drive to the railway for shipment to Nebraska and Kansas feeders.

The fall of snow has averaged over three feet on the level, while the force of the wind has piled the snow in huge drifts as high as fifteen and twenty feet. Hardy range cattle were unable to face the terrible blasts or rustle to uncover the grass or find water. The loss of beef is simply enormous.

Advices from nearest points continue to tell of great loss of life among shepherds and cowboys who remained faithful to their flocks and died at their posts of duty.

A special from Raton, N. M., states that losses on cattle alone will aggregate 10,000 head and result in the ruin of several companies.

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL.

They Overcome a Vermont Sheriff and Make Their Escape.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Nov. 12.—At the jail here three prisoners named Brooks, Bertrand and Record, all charged with theft, while returning a borrowed book to Sheriff Marvin, pressed through the open cell door, throttled the sheriff and escaped.

Brooks and Bertrand were overtaken at Swanton and the former was recaptured, but the latter escaped and is now supposed to be in Canada. He is a desperate character and is also wanted in Canada for burglary. He had a revolver, a chisel and a bit supposed to have been smuggled in by recent callers.

Record is supposed to have gone to his home in Franklin, and his recapture is only a matter of a short time.

A STEAMER BURNED.

The Passengers Compelled to Take to Rafts and Barely Escaped Death.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12.—Yesterday the passenger steamer J. H. Libby, from Whatcom, Puget Sound, was totally destroyed by fire in the straits between Dangeness and Smith's Island. Fifteen passengers were on board the boat at the time.

The Libby was laden with 500 barrels of lime which got wet and ignited. While crossing the straits a strong wind came up, and several heavy seas were shipped. An accident to the rudder left the ship helpless. The passengers were compelled to take to two rafts, the rapid progress of the flames rendering the life boats useless. One of the rafts nearly foundered before those clinging to it were rescued. The steamboat Jean finally took all from the rafts. The hull of the Libby was brought here and sunk.

The steamer with cargo was valued at $20,000. She was owned by Herbert F. Beecher, late Government agent at Port Townsend. Several bags of United States mail were burned with the steamer.

BOOTH AND MODJESKA.

Both Indignantly Deny the Reports About a Disagreement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Mme. Modjeska, when seen by a reporter, regarding an article published in a morning paper, in which it was stated that the tragedienne was about to apply to the courts for an annullment of her contract with Edwin Booth on account of his "ungentlemanly and unchivalrous conduct," was highly indignant that such "a lie and a libel," as she called it, should have been published.

Continuing, Mme. Modjeska said: "There is not a word of truth in the whole article. I have always been on the best of terms with Mr. Booth since our engagement began, and I am sure we will continue so till the season ends."

The following letter is received from Mr. Edwin Booth:

"I desire to state that the interview with me as reported in a morning paper is false, and there is not one one word of truth in the statement that there is or has been any disagreement or any unpleasantness of any kind whatever between Mme. Modjeska and myself.

Respectfully yours,

EDWIN BOOTH."

Canadian Orangemen Aroused.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—The manner in which Lord Stanley has been received whenever he has appeared in public since the delivery of his speech characterizing Canadian Orangemen as agitators and disturbers of the peace, demonstrates that his words have aroused the greatest indignation throughout the country; and that the Orangemen have taken the matter in hand, and a roundly-signed petition is to be presented to Queen Victoria demanding his recall.

A Clue to Missing Rev. C. H. Smith.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—The articles found on board of the Fall River boat have been positively identified as the property of the Rev. C. Hudson Smith, the missing Dorchester pastor. The only chance that he is alive seems to be the vague one that after stripping himself of his clothing and valuables he assumed a disguise and went ashore with the passengers.

Will Sullivan Meet McCaffrey?

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—It is rumored that John L. Sullivan and Dominick McCaffrey will be matched shortly to fight before the California Athletic Club for a purse of $10,000, the fight to take place in January.

LAYMEN AT WORK

Proceedings of the Catholic Congress at Baltimore.

PAPERS READ BY DELEGATES.

President Harrison Invited to Attend the Convention.

Speech by Daniel Dougherty on the Glory and Progress of the Church—John Lee Carroll Permanent Chairman. Cardinal Gibbons Gives a Reception to a Large Crowd.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—After attending a solemn pontifical mass at the Cathedral at which Archbishop Corrigan officiated, the delegates to the Catholic Convention marched in a body of twelve hundred or more to the Concordia Opera House. William J. Onahan called the gathering to order and welcomed the foreign visitors. A message of blessing from the Holy Father was read.

Ex-Governor John Lee Carroll was made temporary chairman, the choice being made permanent later. In taking the chair Governor Carroll said that it was fitting that laymen should show allegiance upon the hallowed ground where the church was founded. He thought they had but two great purposes at heart—the glory and progress of the Catholic Church and the continued prosperity of the American people.

While the Committee on Organization was out the delegates were addressed by Hon. Honore Mercier, Premier of Quebec, and Rev. Dr. Nugent of Liverpool, England. Cardinals Gibbons and Taschereau and Archbishop Satolli were received with great applause.

Daniel Dougherty, of New York, was received with warm applause. He said: "I am profoundly touched by this, the honor of my life. This Congress is an event in the history of the republic, an era in American progress, an advance in humanity, a move of earth toward Heaven."

When the Congress reassembled a committee, with John Lee Carroll as chairman, was appointed to wait upon President Harrison and invite him to the Congress.

The first regular paper was read by John Gilmary Shea of Elizabeth, N. J., on "Catholic Congress." He said after giving a running history of such gatherings in other countries:

Though conventions of societies have been held in the United States, there has been no representative body, without regard to nationality, to define our position toward the Government and the Holy See. The Government is precluded by the constitution from establishing a church, but it has invaded the rights of Catholics. They are not treated properly in the army and navy, and the Indian question needs looking into. In many States educational questions are discussed. To meet that, a legal organization should be formed. After two centuries of struggle we have had our church organized, and to-day it is the only body that speaks in the United States with no uncertain voice on questions of faith. It is for us laymen to know our faith and help on its growth.

The next paper was by Henry F. Brownson, of Detroit, on "Lay Action in the Church."

If we follow the advice of our Holy Father, it is well for us to adopt all that is good in modern civilization and not try to return to the old conditions. The only men whose utterances can be checked are loyal and obedient sons of the church, who are not likely to fall into error. Free minds and tongues are necessary for the glory of God.

It is better that we should fall into involuntary error than to stagnate. All nations need to be reconverted. Our losses are enormous, and if we don't convert those among whom we live they will draw many from us. To not advance is to recede with the great mass.

If Catholics separate religion and politics how can they expect purity in elections? If Catholics would unite in the cause of temperance they could abolish all the bar-rooms in the country and thus do much to purify politics."

Charles J. Bonaparte, of Baltimore, then spoke of "The Independence of the Holy see."

A reception was tendered last night at the Concordia Opera House by the clergy and laity of Maryland to their visiting brethren.

The hall was crowded to the doors with prelates, priests and people. The bishops, priests and delegates to the congress were welcomed by Mr. Charles B. Roberts, of Westminster, ex-Attorney-General of this State.

Americans in a New Oil Field.

QUEBEC, Nov. 12.—Col. James Foley, of Boston, representing a strong company of American capitalists, which has acquired 100,000 acres of land, covering the oil deposits at Gaspe, on the south shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, has arrived at Gaspe with very extensive machinery and a strong force of engineers, derrick builders, etc., and is hastening forward preparations for the sinking of two wells to a depth of 2,500 feet each.

Lannon Prevents a Murder.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—Joe Lannon, the heavy weight pugilist, prevented a murder at the Parker House barroom last night by his timely arrival just as an infuriated Spaniard whipped out a stiletto and made a lunge at Billy Young, the head bartender. There was a lively tussle for a few minutes and then the police took charge of the hot-blooded guest. He gave the name of Thomas R. Brown.

A Connecticut Girl Marries a Chinaman.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 12.—John Landsing, a native of China, residing in Cleveland, was married to Miss Nellie H Sparks, daughter of Mrs. G. W. Sparks, of Vernon, Conn. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride by Rev. Joseph H. Twitchell, of Hartford. The Hon. Yung Wing was among the guests. The groom came to this country in 1876 to the Chinese Government school in this city.

—Notwithstanding the fact that the "open" season for rabbits is nearly two weeks advanced, dog-catcher James Babbitt manages to bring home a few cotton tails each day, when the weather will permit of his hunting.

—Under the head of "The County Drunks" the New Brunswick Fredonian said yesterday: "Charles Johnson, colored, of Plainfield, spent his wages in the wrong way on Saturday night. The result was as usual—3 days."

—The New York Star Concert Company and the Philadelphia Star Quartette combined will give a concert in Reform Hall, this evening. A feature of the entertainment will be the appearance of Mr. C. C. Miller, the World's greatest time-driller.

—The Supreme Court has changed the time of holding Court in the different circuits. The Union County Circuit Court, however, will be held as heretofore, on the first Tuesday in January, first Tuesday in May, and on the first Tuesday in October.

—A full grown screech-owl lighted in a tree in front of Drake's laundry on East Front street, just before dusk last evening, and created some merriment among those who stood watching the odd bird. An effort was made to capture the owl, but without success.

Dr. Allis Will Save His Fingers.

About ten o'clock this morning at the railroad siding near Scott's Press Works, John E. Yose was helping George Conover unload some heavy beams for the Somerset street bridge. One of the timbers slipped and mashed the second and third fingers of Yose's right hand. Dr. Jere Allis attended the unfortunate man, and says he will save his fingers for him.

Dr. Hurlbut Will Teach the Teachers.

There will be held a Union meeting of the Superintendents and the Sunday school teachers of Plainfield, this evening, at 7:45 o'clock, in Vincent chapel. The lesson of the International Series for the following Sunday will be taught by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., and the question of arranging for a course of these meetings will be discussed.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE E. HOADLEY.

The announcement is made today of the death of Mr. George E. Hoadley, which occurred at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. William Palmer Smith, on Belvidere avenue, at a quarter before eleven o'clock last evening. Mr. Hoadley who was upwards of 70 years of age, has been an invalid for a long time past and has only left the house in company with a valet. About three years ago he was stricken down with paralysis, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. His complaint subsequently developed into brain trouble and resulted in his death.

Mr. Hoadley was a man both well-known and universally esteemed by the community at large. In early life he served in the capacity of Treasurer of the Panama Railway Company, but his declining days were passed in retirement. His wife died about two years ago, and since then he has resided with his only child, Mrs. W. P. Smith, on Netherwood Heights. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue church, and was a regular attendant until forced to remain at home on account of ill health.

The funeral will in all probability take place from the house on Friday at 3 P. M., and interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis is again confined to the house by illness.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Bliss, formerly pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, but now of New York, was in town last evening.

Father Smyth has leased a house on Sixth street opposite St. Mary's church, where he and Father Stafford can be found after Thursday of this week.

Mr. Clark Mundy of Emily street is the happy father of a bouncing boy baby. Mother and child doing well, and Mr. Mundy can be recognized by his broad smile.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, President of the local W. C. T. U., is in Chicago as a delegate to the National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mr. James Davis, the genial and expert Captain of the Crescent League bowling team, was unable, because of continued sickness in his family, to take part in last evening's match.

THE PRESS is in receipt of a neat pamphlet, containing the inaugural address of J. H. Harris, President of Bucknell University, delivered June 27, together with the salutatory address by Chauncey B. Ripley, LL.D., of Westfield.

The funeral of the late Mrs. S. C. Conklin took place from the late home of the deceased on West Front street, yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiating. Interment was made in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. E. M. Butler, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Martin, of Broadway, for the past three months, left this morning on the Limited Express, Pennsylvania Railroad, for her home, "Breeze Lawn," Florence, Kansas.

Mrs. John J. Shotwell, of Duluth, Minn., with her son, Master Vanderbeek Shotwell, and her daughters, Miss Marion and Miss Stella, is on a visit at the home of her father, Mr. Andrew Vanderbeek of Second place. She will remain here about three months.

Plainfield Red Men to Visit a Newark Tribe.

The members of Miantonomo Tribe No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men will leave Plainfield on the 6:54 P. M. train to pay a fraternal visit to Wachung Tribe, No. 110, Improved Order of Red Men, of Newark, N. J., on Wednesday evening, November 13.

JOHN SYLVESTER,
Chief of Records.

Adjusting the Loss.

The German American Insurance Company through Messrs J. C. Pope & Co., the agents in this city, today adjusted the loss on St. Mary's rectory, which was damaged by fire on Thursday morning last. The company allowed the church $3,000 on the building and $750 on the furniture. The church was also given all of the furniture, and the work of repairing the rectory will begin at once.

The adjustment of the claim was perfectly satisfactory to both Father Smyth and his parishioners.

Mr. Burdick at Music Hall.

The second evening service in the series of gospel temperance meetings which are being held in Music Hall, under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, took place last evening. The rain storm interfered somewhat with the attendance, but the enthusiasm was nevertheless as great as on the opening night.

Rev. W. E. Honeyman presided, and conducted the devotional exercises. Mr. M. M. Dunham led the volunteer choir. Mr. Burdick, when announced, spoke of the power of influences, adding that it was necessary for parents to become total abstainers if they would have their children do likewise. Mr. Burdick also gave notice of a special meeting in the parlors of Music Hall, this evening at 7 o'clock, to which he invited the ministers and officers of the W. C. T. U., members of the Y. M. C. A., and the officers of all other temperance organizations in the city to be present and consider the mode of procedure in the work already begun, and to appoint committees.

A general invitation was extended to all to attend the meeting this evening, and Rev. Mr. Honeyman dismissed the audience with the benediction.

FALSEHOOD AGAIN REFUTED.

Street Commissioner Angleman Considers the "news" "Too Small" to Notice, But He and His Men Unite in Praise of City Clerk Leonard's Treatment.

To the Public:

Since the very erroneous statement published in the news of November 6, making certain damaging charges against our worthy City Clerk, I have waited with a great deal of anxiety to hear what course he would take to refute the statements contained therein. Now I see in a published interview with a PRESS reporter that our gentlemanly Clerk considers the paper too small for his attention.

I agree with him, but as a city official, intimately connected with the payment of these poor men, the news so ardently loves, I am prepared to state that the news editor is, to use a mild term, very much mistaken. As regards the first charge, the men have never waited longer than five days for their checks, and that only occurred once, owing to the absence from the city of another official whose signature was necessary on the warrants.

Ordinarily the warrants are ready in three days. In the case of the last meeting on Monday, November 4, they were placed in my hands on the following Wednesday. Some of the men obtained their money on that day, and all received it on Thursday—with one single exception—just three days after the meeting of the Council. As regards the affidavits, I have taken pains to inquire of the men employed by me on city work, and they state that the City Clerk has never charged them one cent for so doing, although legally entitled to do so.

It also affords me great pleasure to add that in all my dealings with Mr. Leonard, I have ever found him an upright Christian gentleman, and a friend to the poor man.

GEO. M. ANGLEMAN,
Street Commissioner.

[We would add that the statement in the news that this paper "called attention to vexatious delays" of any sort on the part of the City Clerk, is entirely false. We never "called attention to the fact that the city offices were often filled with laboring men clamoring for their pay warrants," simply because it is not a "fact" but a lie. The Council, the people, and THE PRESS can and do speak in praise only, of City Clerk Leonard.—ED.]

A Mission in Grace Church.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, the General Missioner of the Parochial Missions Society proposes to conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning on Nov. 17 and continuing until the 26th inclusive.

Seats will be free, and a cordial welcome is extended to Christians of every name. The services will be: Sundays—An early celebration of the Holy Communion, at 7:30 A. M. Morning prayer, etc., at 10:30 A. M. Children's service, at 4:30 P. M. Evening prayer, at 8 o'clock, for men only.

Other days—Morning prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life. 10:30 A. M. Evening prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service—Sermon and "after meeting," at P. M. Thursday morning—Holy Communion. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 18 and 19, Question box, at 4 P. M.

The Bi. Club Games.

The games of the Bicycle Club which takes place Thursday night, have attracted such widespread interest that entries are still being received for the open events, and are necessarily declined, as the lists closed on the 5th and the programmes are now printed. It will probably be necessary to run the half-mile open race in two heats if all the contestants who have entered present themselves at the scratch on that night.

It is hoped that the holders of reserved seats will be on hand early, that the Club parade may commence promptly at eight o'clock, as advertised.

New Mail Boxes.

Additional letter boxes were yesterday placed at Front street and Clinton avenue, and at Seventh street and Grant avenue. One will also be placed near the Pond Tool Works, as soon as a post is in position to receive it.

The boxes sent for the new route are of an improved pattern. The drop is on the top of the box. A small knob is pressed down and a tray is exposed, upon which you lay your mail and let go the knob which closes the tray and drops the mail to the bottom of the box.

One of these boxes is also placed on Front street, opposite Madison avenue.

Ex-Councilman Slater's Ribs Broken.

Mr. Fred Slater of North Plainfield, one of the Civil Engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was so severely injured recently that he will be confined to his home for some time to come.

He slipped on the gang-plank of a ferry boat and fell so heavily against a railing that two of his ribs were broken close to the spine.

Adjusts the Claim.

Mr. John R. Naylor, agent for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, yesterday, paid to Mrs. Estella M. Jackson, $108, the amount of life insurance held by her on her husband, now deceased.

Quick safe and sure. This is said of Salvation Oil, the great rheumatic remedy and greatest cure on earth for pain. Price 25 cents a bottle.

"IS IT BARGAINS YOU WANT?"

WE can give them to you in genuine good goods, not "Seconds" or Auction lots. This is the way we get them: A large importer of LACE CURTAINS offered us several lots of these goods at 33⅓ per cent. less than the usual price to close out what they called ends of certain numbers of which they would not have any more. We purchased them and offer the same to our patrons, at the same reduction from our regular prices. Note the LOW PRICES and then come in and examine the goods, and you will be convinced that they are the best bargains to be found anywhere.

PLAINFIELD'S GOOD HEALTH.

Extracts from Secretary Leonard's Report to the State Board—How the Purity of 2,000 Homes is Watched—A Plan of Sewerage Suggested—Marriages, Births and Deaths.

The Secretary of the Board of Health has permitted us to extract a part of his annual statement to the State Board which is published in their Yearly Report:

"The work of the Board the past twelve months has been directed mostly in the line of precautionary action endeavoring to prevent the existence of accustomed nuisances and thereby promote healthfulness by averting the causes of preventable disease. The constant inspection of yards and the removal of deleterious nuisances have resulted in continued cleanliness and a fair degree of exemption from sickness. No epidemics have existed nor any prevalent disease—there having been reported on an average less than one case a week of sickness of a communicable character.

"The corporate limits cover and area of 3,500 acres and include 1,960 dwellings. More than half the population (about 6,000 people) occupy less than one fourth of this territory, being the older and more thickly settled part of the city. The garbage collections have been performed with only a degree of partial satisfaction, which the Board expect the coming year to greatly improve. An effort has been made to have occupants of houses provide suitable water tight receptacles for holding kitchen refuse so as to keep it separate from ashes and rubbish. Housekeepers generally have not yet accustomed themselves to a systematic method of caring for their kitchen waste which the Health Ordinance requires. But progress is being made in this direction.

"Perhaps no more imperative duty manifests itself to the Board in its regard for the health of the citizens, than the absolute necessity of strictly watching the condition of the numerous cesspools and vaults within our jurisdiction. The contents of these underground receptacles are cleaned out and removed by licensed scavengers only. The difficulty of a proper disposal of the emptyings is a source of annoyance and dissatisfaction. During the year 796 cesspools and vaults have been emptied and cleaned.

"In addition to a constant examination of these underground dangers, a close inspection has been kept of the surface nuisances such as ashheaps, cowyards, accumulation of refuse materials, etc. A free use of disinfectants has been made in all cases, and whether private refuse heaps, or public dumping grounds, they have been under consideration and treatment. The subject of public sewers for general purposes, has received considerable discussion and examination. A plan has been proposed which seems the only feasible one for a level area like Plainfield where there is no tide outlet. It is a dual system of purification of the sewage and its intermittent filtration through properly graded and under drained land, allowing the effluent to pass off into Green Brook within the city limits.

"There has been a prompt and thorough return of vital statistics, the registration of which by the Secretary shows for the twelve months ending Oct. 1, 1889, the following recapitulation:

"Marriages solemnized, 97; births attended, 214; still births, 5; deaths occuring, 185, (being 59 of 5 years and under, 69 from 5 to 60 years and 57 of 60 years and over.)"

O. B. LEONARD,
Secretary Board of Health.

Death of Mrs. Philopena Zimmer.

At the home of her son, Mr. Chas. Zimmer, on West Front street, last evening, occurred the death of Mrs. Philopena Zimmer, in the 74th year of her age. The deceased has been ailing for a long time, her latest illness dating back for a period of about three months. Her death resulted from kidney trouble. Mrs. Zimmer has resided in this city for the past 36 years.

The funeral will take place from the house to-morrow at 2 P. M., and from the German Reformed church at 2:30 o'clock.

Ministers' Meeting.

The clergymen of this city held their regular monthly meeting at the residence of Mr. P. M. Demarest on Craig place, North Plainfield, last evening, but owing to the absence of several of the clergymen from the city the attendance was small. Rev. T. L. Murphy, who was to have read the paper, was unavoidably absent, and that part of the business was omitted.

The clergymen spent an hour or so in general conversation and then adjourned. The next regular meeting will be held at Rev. C. B. Mitchell's residence.

Call on Your "Uncle."

Mr. Samuel Drier of this city was this morning granted a license by the Circuit Court at Elizabeth to carry on a pawn broker's business at the corner of Front street and Madison avenue.

Persons who now become financially embarrassed can secure temporary assistance by depositing their Summer clothes with their "Uncle."

THE CRESCENTS LOSE THEIR FIRST ROLL.

After Being Led at the Start, the Pastime Bowlers of Westfield Win a Poor Game.

The second of the series of match games for the championship of the Union County Bowling League, was rolled last evening on the alleys of the Crescent League, this city. The match was between the Crescent team and the Pastimes of Westfield Mr. MacQuoid, of the Nameless team of Westfield, was umpire.

On the start off, Messrs VanEmburgh, Rogers, C. Teel and Kline scored strikes, amid loud admiration from the many friends of the home team present, including a number of ladies. The Westfielders all broke badly on their first frame, and the Crescents led them 31 pins.

This advantage the Plainfielders were not able to hold. Some of the best bowlers had some of the worst luck. In vain Captain Kline wound up each frame in fine style, his example was no use—his men did not seize the many opportunities offered to win the game. At the opening of the tenth frame the Westfielders were beaten if their opponents could have made even a few little spares. But VanEmburgh, H. Teel, Baker and Reed broke badly, bowling on their spares, and Rogers and C. Teel did likewise on their strikes.

Therefore the score finished as below:

A NATIONAL TRAP SHOOTING CONTEST.

Mr. T. H. Keller of this City the Advance Guard of World's Champions.

Arrangements are being made by the United States Cartridge Company of Lowell, Mass., to send two teams of the representative trap shots of the United States on a tour through the country. The idea was conceived by Mr. Charles Dimick of that concern, who will select two teams of five men each from among the expert marksmen of the East and West, and shoot a series of forty matches at blue rock targets, the winning team of the series to hold the championship of the United States.

Mr. T. H. Keller (Tee Kay), will be the advance representative of the combination. The first contest will take place at Cincinnati, thence the teams will move South to New Orleans and through Texas to the Pacific coast, a match to be shot in each large city en route, and the series to end in Boston. For a long time there has been a good-natured rivalry between the Eastern and Western expert handlers of the breechloaders, and these contests will decide it.

The Eastern team will comprise the following cracks: Harry McMurchy, Syracuse, N. Y., W. H. Wolstencroft, Philadelphia, Pa., H. B. Whitney, Phelps, N. Y., and O. R. Dickey and W. E Perry, of Boston, or E. D. Miller, of Springfield, N. J.

The Western team will be selected from the following: C. W. Budd, DesMoines, Iowa, Al. Bonelle, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jas. R. Stice, Jacksonville, Ill., and Frank Parmalee, of Omaha, Neb., or R. E. Sheldon of Cleveland, Ohio.

Washingtonville Notes.

Mr. Joseph Sellery has about completed his contract of building the large stone wall along Stony Brook, above Demler's Hotel, where the washout was the most dangerous. The wall is built of the heaviest Second-mountain stone and is intended to withstand the strong current that will sometimes beat against it.

Mr. M. H. French has repaired the damage done by the late freshet to his lawn and garden and has erected a new fence around the same.

Mr. Wm. Anderson and family have removed to New York for the Winter. The little band of Episcopalians who were in the habit of worshiping at his house during the Summer will continue to hold service at Mr. Thos. Taylor's residence during the Winter.

Some parties from New York city, have recently purchased of J. B. Johnson his property situated on the Valley road, which they will improve for a family Summer resort.

Mr. Andrew Wilson is repairing his large ice houses preparatory to laying in his usual supply of fine ice.

Postal Regulations.

The Executive Division of the Post-office Department has issued a circular, calling the attention of those using envelopes containing a printed or written name and address as a return card, to the following extract from the postal laws and regulations:

When the writer of any letter on which postage is prepaid shall endorse upon the outside thereof his name and address, such a letter shall not be advertised but after remaining uncalled for at the office to which it is directed thirty days, or the time that the writer directs, shall be returned to him without additional charge for postage and if not then delivered shall be treated as a dead letter.

Struck on the Bay Bridge.

An unknown man was struck by a train on the Central Railroad bridge over Newark Bay, near Elizabethport, last night, knocked into the water and drowned. The body was not recovered. The man is supposed to have been a tramp.

A Home for the Blind.

An industrial institution has been established at Elizabeth for the indigent blind of the State. The home was incorporated February 27, 1889, under the act entitled an act to incorporate charitable and benevolent institutions, approved March 9, 1853. The object of this institution is to care for the adult blind of the State, who, when poor and friendless, are allowed to drift into the alms houses when their capacity for usefulness is never encouraged and when no happiness brightened the monotony of their lives. The home at present is supported entirely by subscription and by the work carried on by the inmates. It is hoped that the Legislature at its next session will make some provision for this most worthy charity. All contributions toward this object will be thankfully received at the home, Washington and Pearl streets, Elizabeth, N. J.

That Troublesome Washout.

Testimony was taken before Col. Boice, at New Brunswick, on Saturday, as told in yesterday's PRESS, as to the liability of the township of South Plainfield or the county of Middlesex, to repair damages done to a bridge in the said township by the recent washout. Messrs A. V. Schenck, of New Brunswick, with Mr. Jackson, of Jackson & Codington, of this city, appeared for the township, and Mr. H. B Willis for the county. The hearing lasted eight hours. Mr. Colthar of this city, and Samuel Stewart of South Plainfield, testified for the township. The hearing was adjourned until Thursday at 10 o'clock A. M

NEW YORK ANARCHISTS.

They Display the Red Flag and Mourn for the Chicago "Martyrs."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Cooper Union Hall was crowded last night, the meeting being in honor of the Chicago Anarchists hanged two years ago. The platform contained a number of red flags draped in black, and portraits of the dead Anarchists adorned the walls, with mottoes comprising their dying words. Over Ling's portrait was the legend: "Murdered by the hirelings of monopoly." The playing of the dead march in Saul opened the proceedings, and was followed by the singing, of the anthem which the condemned men sang on their way to the gallows. Aaron Henry presided and Sergius Shevitch was the principal orator. His address displayed great bitterness against the capitalistic class.

He declared that the martyrs must be avenged. Wage slavery must be abolished. No great reform had ever been wrought by the ballot. All had been wrought by force.

Herr Most spoke in a similar vein. The large audience applauded noisily, but was otherwise quiet and peaceable. Only half a dozen policemen were visible. If more were present they were in citizens' garb.

Drowned and Both Feet Cut Off.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Joseph Guion aged 50, was found drowned in Buffalo Creek yesterday. Both feet were cut off and his neck and left arm were broken. He came here from Milwaukee and was employed as a grain-scooper. It is supposed he was struck by a propellor wheel after falling into the water

Drexel Millions for Smith.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—The announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Lancaster Drexel, the daughter of the late Francis A. Drexel, to Walter George Smith, a prominent young lawyer, son of General Smith, who distinguished himself during the late war.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

SCANDALOUS PEERS

Abominable Charges Affecting A London Club.

THE OFFENDERS TO BE EXILED.

Several Arrests Made of Persons Implicated in the Case.

A Big Crowd Attends Barnum's Show on the Opening Night—Boulanger Issues Another Manifesto—Cannon Wins the Final Wrestling Bout Amid Great Excitement—A Letter from Stanley.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A private magisterial inquiry has been made into the abominable charges affecting the West End Club, whose members are accused of violating the laws of decency to an extent that would have scandalized Sodom and Gomorrah in their worst days, and the inquest has resulted in the arrest of several boys employed as postal messengers.

A member of peers and other prominent persons are implicated in the bestial practices to which the whole club seems to have been addicted.

The Government intimated to the most prominent of the offenders its desire to avoid spreading the scandal if they would exile themselves for a while, and, acting upon the hint, several of the most ornate of society's leaders are conspicuously absent, and others are preparing for departure. One of the conditions of the aforesaid absence of these titled and honorable (?) gentlemen, is the promise of the Government to abandon all proceedings against them.

ARABS IN ARMS.

The British East African Company Recruiting Men to Protect Its Interests.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The British East African Company must anticipate having to do some heavy work in order to hold its territory against the incursions of the Arabs. The latest news from that region indicates that all the native elements are up in arms and are for the moment brethren in a common cause—to drive out the now detested foreigners. This serious uprising on the part of the natives is attributed to Captain Wissman's attempt to increase the sphere of German influence by exterminating the people.

The East African Company has been picking up all the best available men to send out to protect its territories from raids by the rebellious natives. Captain Lugard, whose name is well known in connection with the Lake Nyassa troubles, and Mr. George S. Mackenzie, with 150 men, left for Mombassa this week.

Cannon Wins the Final Contest.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The final contest of the wrestling match between Cannon and Bernard, of Bordeaux, took place last night and was won by Cannon. When the result was declared the excitement, which had been intense throughout the struggle, could no longer be restrained. Chairs and tables were overturned, clothing was torn to shreds and the yells and cheers of the crowd could be heard some distance away. Several of the more disorderly persons were arrested and the disorder subsided.

Barnum's Opening Night in London.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Barnum's great show opened here last night in the presence of an immense crowd, the returns of the ticket takers showing that 20,000 persons were in attendance. No great degree of enthusiasm was manifested, but the performance, on the whole, was very acceptable. The representation of "Nero" was the best received of any part of the show.

Boulanger's Latest Manifesto.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—General Boulanger, from his refuge on the Island of Jersey, has issued a manifesto to his followers assuring them that constitutional revision is not defeated, but merely postponed, and is certain of ultimate victory if the National party will work for it unremittingly.

Russian Comments on Salisbury's Speech.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12. — The Novoe Vremya, says that Lord Salisbury's speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet Saturday night, displayed an optimism that was artificial and insincere. His prediction of unbroken peace as a result of present tendencies was incredible.

A Letter from Stanley.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 12.—Mr. Portal, British agent here, has received a letter from Stanley, wherein the explorer states that he hopes to reach Zanzibar about the middle of January.

Shot By a Lunatic.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 12.—General Ramon Corina, Governor of Jalisco, was shot four times by a lunatic yesterday in Guadalujara, and died of his wounds shortly after. His wife is an American.

A Sharp Swindler Captured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A sleek scoundrel who, disguised in the garb of a Catholic clergyman, has been for nearly ten years past preying on jewelers in all the big cities of the United States and Canada, has at last fallen into the clutches of Inspector Byrnes. His name is Samuel Lobley, and Inspector Byrnes pays him the high compliment of calling him the smartest check passer and general swindler with whom he is acquainted.

Knights of Labor in Convention.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—The annual convention of the Knights of Labor opened to-day. The Committee on Credentials reported no contests. Among the matters to be discussed are: Federation with the Farmers' Alliance; equal wages for women doing men's work; children's labor; national banks, and Government control of railroads and telegraph.

Stabbed His Father.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 12.—Captain Osgood Clarke, of the schooner Chillon, was seriously stabbed by his son, Winslow Clarke, aged 22, on board the boat last night. The son quarreled with his father over money matters, and first attacked him with an axe, then he drew a knife and inflicted two painful wounds, one in his shoulder and the other in his back. Young Clarke escaped.

GIGANTIC POOL.

All the Window Glass Companies to Consolidate for Self Protection.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 12.—A gigantic pool, in which all the leading window glass manufacturers of the United States, will co-operate as to price of product and other matters of importance to the trade, is now in process of organization.

When completed the combination will include the members of the Pittsburg-Consolidated Window Glass Company, the United Glass Company of Chicago and the Chambers & McKee Tank Glass Company at Jeanette. There is a strong probability that all the window glass manufacturers of Baltimore and the large concerns in Ohio and Indiana, which are controlled by the United Company, will also enter the combination.

The object in view is the consolidation of all the window glass companies for self protection. When the consolidation is completed all the property belonging to each firm will be turned into the co-operative company, the value being fixed by the Board of Appraisers. Each firm will then receive shares of stock in proportion to their plants.

The new pooling arrangement will go into effect about January 1, 1890.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT CAUGHT.

He is Arrested for Horse Stealing and is Wanted for Another Crime.

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 12.—Richard M. Mansfield, alias Robert Hamilton, who was arrested here for stealing a horse and buggy in Buffalo, N. Y., has been brought back to that city for trial. With his arrest an interesting story is brought to light.

For some time Mansfield had been employed in the New York Central freight office here under the name of Hamilton. When the horse and rig was stolen suspicion fell upon him and detectives were detailed on the case. Inquiry into the man's antecedents reveals the fact that he is the convict Mansfield, who with a man named H. A. Smith, escaped from jail at Cleveland, Ohio, on July 20 last, where Mansfield was confined for stealing.

On that occasion the Sheriff and his deputies started in pursuit and before daylight overtook the fugitives in a carriage and attempted to arrest them. A terrible fight took place in which several volleys were fired and one of the deputy sheriffs was fatally shot. The sheriff's posse retired with their wounded man, but soon after set out again in pursuit of the fugitives. Smith was caught a few weeks later in Michigan, but Mansfield was not heard of until arrested here.

WILL RESUME BUSINESS.

The Stock of the Conshohocken Bank to be Reduced.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Tradesmen's National Bank of Conshohocken, it was decided almost unanimously to reduce the capital stock from $100,000 to $50,000, and to resume business at the earliest possible moment after that plan has been approved by the Comptroller of the Currency.

The $50,000 will be raised by the stockholders putting up $30,000, and Cashier Cresson's bondsmen paying the $20,000 for which they are liable. Before opening the doors for business a new set of officers will be elected.

Three Years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Albert W. Sutherland, who, after being arrested for defrauding a number of persons by means of bogus checks, was supposed by the police to be the missing Tascott, was arraigned in the new court house on five bills of indictment charging him with forgery. He pleaded guilty and Judge Finletter sentenced him to three years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

The Verdict of Murder Sustained.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—Chief Justice Paxton in the Supreme Court rendered an opinion affirming the judgment of the lower court in the appeal of Joseph and David Nicely, recently convicted in Somerset County, of the murder of Herman Umberger, an aged farmer, who was killed on the 27th of last February while they were trying to rob him of $16,000.

Evils of Child Labor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Florence Kelley-Wischnewsky, daughter of Congressman Kelley, of Pennsylvania, addressed the Nationalist Club last night on the evils attendant upon the working of children in factories, etc. Prof. DeLeon, of Columbia College, and Thadeus B. Wakeman also spoke. The audience was not a large one.

Cable System Instead of Horses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Broadway Railroad Company, from which the city now receives about $70,000 per annum in rentals, has offered to guarantee that the payments on this account shall not be less than $150,000 per annum if the city allows it to use the cable system instead of horses as motive power.

Found Dead Near the Railroad Track.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—The body of a man was found near the railroad track at Cranford late last night. It is supposed that the man was killed by a freight train. A card was found on the body inscribed "Bart. Devlin, 350 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Favoring the Tonnage Bill.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Charles S. Hill, secretary of the American Shipping and Industrial League, addressed the Chamber of Commerce here last night on "Our Merchant Marine." Resolutions were passed favoring the passage of the so-called "Tonnage Bill."

Ex-President Cleveland Will Assist.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 12. — Ex-President Cleveland will assist in laying the corner stone of the Thomas Jefferson Club's new building in Boerum Place to-morrow afternoon. The Club-house is to be the local headquarters of the Democracy.

A Soldier Strikes a Fortune.

MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 12.—By the death of a brother in Providence, R. I., Austin Steere, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Chelsea, has fallen heir to $338,000 in cash and real estate.

Montana Legislature to Meet.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 12.—A session of the Legislature of Montana has been called for November 23 by Gov. Toole.

THE BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Meeting of the Board of Arbitration in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Board of Arbitration of the Baseball League are in session at the Fifth Avenue Hotel today to take action with regard to the qualification necessary for players who wish to join the National League and American Association.

The board consists of Messrs. Young, Day and Rogers, of the League, and Kranthoff, Stern and Byrne, of the Association. Mr. Day stated at noon today that there would be no business of importance transacted until this afternoon. There are a large number of baseball representatives in town who expect to take part in the proceedings of the next few days.

The delegates made slight changes in the National agreement. The word "black list" has been eliminated. It was also decided to give the minor leagues power when a player refuses to sign a contract to reserve him from year to year. The player cannot be indefinitely suspended, however.

A rule was passed preventing any agreement club from playing with a team employing ineligible players or having ever played with a team employing such a player.

FROM FIELDS AFAR.

ENGLISH noblemen are beginning to invest largely in real estate in Australia.

THIRTY-FIVE thousand Spaniards last year emigrated to South America, and ten thousand to Algeria.

GREAT BRITAIN saves four million tons of coal a year by utilizing the gases which once escaped from furnaces.

EGYPT is anxious for trade with us, and is especially desirous of receiving our canned goods, agricultural tools, etc.

A FRENCH sergeant has been sentenced to imprisonment for life for offering to sell a Lebel cartridge to General Moltke.

FEMALE telegraph clerks in Russia are not allowed to marry any but telegraph officials, and there is, consequently, bitter dissatisfaction.

THE Turkish Government proposes to establish a monopoly of lucifer matches, and to erect State factories at Constantinople, Salonica and Smyrna.

HYPNOTISM is to be elevated into a science. Already a society is being formed in London to investigate its merits, and has promise of influential support.

THE head of the London Waiters' Union says that the tip system has developed to such an extent that in some restaurants the waiters pay five shillings a day for the privilege of waiting.

SEVERAL thousand Jews who have been expelled from Russia and have taken temporary quarters in England intend to go out as colonists to the Argentine Republic in South America.

THE leading wine merchants of Constantinople are organizing a society with a view to improving the culture of vineyards and the antiquated processes by which wine is still made in Turkey.

IN the Italian army the system of siesta prevails, under which all troops in the field lie down to sleep for a couple of hours during the heat of the day. The practice is so universally accepted that the hour is fixed in general orders.

IN one of the English cricket clubs for ladies, gentlemen are admitted as active members, but they must bat and field with one hand, and throw with the left hand; when the club plays matches they can not be in the eleven.

THE natives of the Feejee Islands have taken up cricket through the efforts of an enthusiast, Mr. Wallington. They like the game much, although they do not like to confine themselves to the orthodox eleven on each side. They play their matches with forty or fifty a side, or tribe against tribe.

LARGE forces of Chinamen have recently been emigrating to South American countries, but everywhere they find that they are unwelcome. The Government of Ecuador has just prohibited Chinese immigration to that republic. British Columbia seems inclined to let them in, and it is about the only country which manifests any such inclination.

HONG KONG is growing with marvelous rapidity, and the rumor that it is to be made the oriental terminus of the line from British Columbia, completing the British circle around the world, is tempting thither capital from all sections of British dominions. It now has 7,000,000 tons of shipping per year, over $35,000,000 of locally registered capital, and it is practically the financial center for the whole East.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he meets people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c; and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

SAVING HIS MESSAGE

The President Will Make a New Departure.

HE WILL NOT TAKE CHANCES

Typewriters Will Copy His Message to Prevent it Being Stolen.

He is Afraid of the Enterprising Correspondents—Candidates for the Speakership to Open Headquarters—No Change to be Made in Senate Officers—Presidential Pardons for Counterfeiters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The intention of President Harrison to have his message only copied by his typewriters and not printed at the Government Printing Office, as done heretofore by his predecessors, has caused some comment here, and recalls a number of stories in regard to attempts to steal Presidential messages in past years. The custom has been to give the copy of the message to the compositors sworn to secrecy. The work has been done in the Government Printing Office by small takes, each galley taken and locked up in a safe until it was all done, and then proofs taken of it. Last year a newspaper correspondent came very near stealing the proofs a day or two before the message went to Congress.

The correspondent, who was employed in the printing office, went down to the building and managed to get the foreman in a good humor, in a way not exactly according to the prohibition idea. After accomplishing this, the correspondent sent the foreman out, and hid behind a large press. The watchman came in and found, as he thought, the office empty, and locked the door. The correspondent then came forth from his hiding place and went to the spot where he had learned that the proofs of the message were. He secured all he wanted and put them under his vest and went toward a window. Just as he thought all was right the door opened and the watchman entered. The newspaper man attempted to get out the window, but the watchman was too quick for him. He collared the correspondent, noticed the size of his vest, pulled out the message and hustled the newspaper man out of the building.

ALL HARD AT WORK.

The Candidates for the Speakership to Open Headquarters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Mr. McKinley declines to talk on his chances or the Ohio election. He says that he will not begin his fight for the speakership just yet, but intends to go to New York in a day or two, and it will be ten days at least before he opens his headquarters personally. Meanwhile Mr. Reed, of Maine, is working hard, even though he has not yet arrived. His headquarters will be at the Shoreham.

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, opens his headquarters at Willard's on Friday. He has engaged parlor No. 15, and will start forth his boom in earnest on the 15th. His opponents shake their heads and say they pity him, because to begin a contest on Friday forebodes bad luck. Mr. Cannon did not think of that when he engaged his room, but merely ordered it for the 15th.

A complete canvass of the Pennsylvania delegation to Congress shows the representatives about evenly divided on the Speakership between Reed and McKinley.

Counterfeiters Pardoned.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Harrison has pardoned Orlando Arbuckle and Orin Caley, two Indiana school teachers, convicted of counterfeiting. Neither of the men have served their sentences, both of them having been permitted to be at large while the petition for their pardon was being urged. Arbuckle is dying of consumption, and his pardon was recommended by the Assistant District Attorney.

The Senate Officers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—It seems to be settled that there will be no changes in the chief officials of the Senate. There has been no opposition to Col. Canaday, the present sergeant-at-arms, and Secretary McCook. The majority of the old Senators do not see any necessity for a change, for they say they are satisfied with the present officials.

HE STOLE CHURCH FUNDS.

Cashier Cresson Accused of Robbing a Conshohocken Church.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 13.—Wm. Henry Cresson, the defaulting Tradesmen's Bank cashier, is also short in his church accounts. He held the position of accounting warden of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church and had the handling of money for pew-rents and other purposes.

Through him it went to the church. One contribution of $500 that was handed to him by a prominent member of the church to pay into the church fund was recorded as only $350, the balance, it is supposed, being appropriated to Cresson's own use. A number of members who paid their pew rents to him have not been given credit in the books.

It has been discovered that a number of depositors in the bank have received notice that their accounts are overdrawn, although they believed they should have several hundred dollars there still.

Sullivan Will Fight for $20,000.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—John L. Sullivan says he is ready to meet McCaffrey under the auspices of the California Athletic Club for $10,000 and an outside bet of $5,000 besides, but for not a cent less. The offer for a $7,500 purse he would not entertain for a moment.

ASSAULTED AND SHOT.

Edward Tyler Arrested in Massachusetts on a Serious Charge.

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 13.—The police have been notified of a revolting crime committed on the highway. Mrs. F. Bosworth of East Bridgewater, tells a story to the effect that while walking from Whitman to this city about nine o'clock at night, she was overtaken by a man, whose name she says is Tyler, who offered her a lift in his buggy. Tyler, she says, drove her into a lonely spot and assaulted her and then fired at her head with a revolver. The bullet passed through the woman's neck, making a severe flesh wound. Tyler then fled and Mrs. Bosworth made her way to the house of her mother, Mrs. George Wetherell, on Lawronce street this city, where she is attended by Dr. Brown.

Edward Tyler was arrested in the woods near Whitman, Mass., last night.

MINERS' TROUBLES.

Another General Strike Expected Along the Monongahela River.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—A conference of committees, representing river miners and operators, was held in this city. The miners claim that 8½ cents is now the selling price of coal in the lower markets, and demanded that they be paid 5 cents per bushel for mining. The operators claim that 5½ and 6 cents is the selling prices, and refused to pay the price demanded for digging.

The conference adjourned, and a delegate meeting of river miners was called to convene in Monongahela City to-morrow to consider the refusal of the operators. It is believed that another general strike will be ordered in all mines along the Monongahela River.

HILLMAN HANGED.

The Murderer of Peddler Seideman Executed in New Jersey.

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 13.—The execution of young Joseph Hillman took place in the jail yard this forenoon. James Van Hise, of Newark, was the executioner.

Hillman appeared cool and collected. He said he was prepared to die, and when he was dead the whole story of the murder would come out. He said he had no ill-feeling against anyone connected with his case, but that those who were present at the murder and those who had sworn against him would feel badly at some future time.

Reducing Hours of Labor.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 13.—An order has been issued by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad to reduce the hours of work in the machine shops from ten to eight hours a day. The new regulation affects the company's establishment in this city, where about 100 men are employed, as well as all the shops in New Haven. No change will be made for the employes engaged in running the road.

Shevitch's Anarchistic Speech.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Superintendent Murray says that from what he had already learned of the speech delivered by Mr. Shevitch at Cooper Union it was more incendiary and revolutionary than the famous speech of John Most, which sent him to the penitentiary. When the notes that the Superintendent had taken are transcribed they will be sent to the District Attorney, who will present them to the Grand Jury for action.

A Receiver for the Mowatt Estate.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Judge Barnard appointed Col. W. D. Dickey, of Newburgh, receiver of the Mowatt estate, pending the settlement of the law suits in which over half a million dollars are involved. He also gave a permanent injunction against the defendants during pendency of action. It is conceded that Miss Mowatt is enroute to Mexico by advice of her counsel.

Jersey Central's Eastern Outlet.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Nov. 13.—The Central Railroad has begun to run freight and coal trains from Phillipsburg to Belvidere over the Pennsylvania Railroad, and thence to Poughkeepsie Bridge. This opens up direct communication with Boston and other Eastern cities direct. The Pennsylvania will lay a double track from Phillipsburg to Belvidere to accomodate the Central trains.

A Prominent Clergyman Dead.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 13.—Rev. Jonathan F. Stearns, LL. D., a prominent Presbyterian clergyman, is dead, aged 82 years. He retired from a Newark pastorate ten years ago. He was the son of Rev. Samuel Stearns of Belford, Mass. In 1868 he was moderator of the General Assembly.

Arrested for Working Young Children.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 13.—Jeremiah Casey, an overseer in the Slade mill, was arraigned on four charges of employing children under 13 years old. For the want of evidence three cases were dismissed. On the fourth he was fined $20 and costs.

The Counties Still Alive.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—At the meeting of the County Committee of the County Democracy last night the resignation of Chairman Voorhis was presented and accepted. Resolutions favoring the Australian ballot system were adopted.

Club Scandal in Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 13.—Alonzo R. Hopkins, superintendent of the Pavonia Club House, was arrested by order of Chief of Police Murphy charged with robbing the club house of $100 on September 2.

Several Buildings Burned.

JAMESBURG, N. J., Nov. 13.—The Annex Shirt Company's building, Arsten's grocery, Kulmer's butcher shop and W. H. Jacobs' drug store were among the buildings destroyed by fire yesterday.

20,000 MEN IN LINE

Torchlight Parade of Catholics in Baltimore.

THE LAY CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

To Meet Again in 1892 Where the World's Fair is Held.

The New Catholic University Dedicated To-Day—President Harrison Present—A Large Number of Clergymen in Attendance—A Rumor About Raising the Ban Against Secret Societies.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—Several papers were read by prominent laymen at the Catholic Congress before adjourning. A motion was adopted that an International Congress be held in 1892 where the World's Fair is held.

Before adjourning sine die at 6 p. m., Archbishop Ireland, in response to loud calls, made a short address. He told the delegates to tell at home what they had seen and heard in Baltimore. "Go home filled with enthusiasm from this first Congress," he said, "and spread it among your people. Heretofore they have done but little, now great things have and can be done. Each year should show a marked improvement in the propagation of your faith."

The New York delegation, including Mayor Grant, ex-Mayor Grace, Daniel Dougherty and Judge O'Brien, accompanied by the Protectory Band, serenaded Cardinal Gibbons at his residence after the Congress adjourned.

The "Sun" this morning says that the most radical results of the Catholic Congress is that the ban of the church is to be lifted absolutely from every sort of secret organization except the Masonic order, and that the objections to the Masons will also be removed in twelve months or so.

LAST NIGHT'S PARADE.

Twenty Thousand Men and Boys Carry Torches.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—One of the most interesting events of the Catholic celebration was the torchlight parade last night. There were 20,000 men and boys in line, including contingents from Philadelphia, Washington, York, Hanover, Pa., and several Maryland towns. Whilst the American flag predominated in the line the flag of the Papacy was to be seen on every hand.

Among a distinguished gathering viewing the procession from platforms at the Archiepiscopal residence were Cardinal Gibbons and Taschereau, Archbishops Satolli, Ryan, Williams, Corrigan and Cleary, and O'Brien, of Canada; Bishops d'Oca, of Mexico, and Virtue, of England, Mayor Grant, ex-Mayor Grace, Daniel Dougherty and Judge Morgan O'Brien, of New York; Honore Mercier, Premier of Quebec, Henry F. Brownson, of Detroit, and W. J. Onahan, of Chicago.

The New University Dedicated.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The new Catholic University in this city was dedicated to-day. President Harrison was present. All the prelates and priests who were at Baltimore participated. There was an immense crowd present.

BASEBALL BUSINESS.

The Committee Make a Few Changes in the Rules.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The ostensible business of the baseball men assembled at the Fifth Avenue Hotel was the annual tinkering by the joint committee of the two major leagues with the playing rules, and the meeting of the Association directors, but the main business was the wire pulling and mending of fences which usually precedes the annual meetings of the two bodies.

Not that the rules were not looked after. The committee met and made a few changes. It will be a source of satisfaction to both public and players that none of these changes were radical ones.

Comiskey and Latham, according to Chris Von der Ahe, have not yet signed with the St. Louis club. He states, however, that Comiskey will probably play with the team next season, because he had expressed himself as better satisfied to take $5,000 paid him last year than to accept an uncertainty with the Brotherhood. Latham had not signed yet because the directors of the club had not resolved upon salaries as yet. The players who have signed with the club are Chamberlain, McCarthy, Stivitts, Gettinger and a new man.

Degrees Conferred by Yale University.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the Yale University corporation the following degrees were conferred: Ph. D., Frank Dodge Leffingwell, D. N. B. Sturgis, Rev. Dr. Wm. W. McLane and Alfred Mundy Wilson; M. A., Evans Woolen; D. D. (honorary), Rev. Charley Ray Palmer, of Bridgeport. The question of establishing a Chair of Music was discussed and the subject referred to a committee consisting of Rev. Dr. Walker, of Hartford; Rev. Dr. Munger, of this city, and Thomas Sloane, of New York.

California Grit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—Senator Hearst says he will pay half a million dollars cash to keep Sunol in California. He has also telegraphed Senator Stanford to put a price on Palo Alto. He says no figure can be too high for him if he can keep the animals in California.

National Academy of Science.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The National Academy of Science is holding a three days' session in the University of Pennsylvania. Prof. Marsh, of New Haven, Conn., is presiding. A number of papers will be read during the session.

OUR BOOKS ARE OPEN.

Every day adds new subscribers to the roll of THE PRESS, and its advertising columns are filled by the announcements of all the successful merchants in the city and borough.

We claim a larger paid circulation than any other two papers in Plainfield, and invite an inspection of our subscription and route books for proof of the assertion.

We also claim a larger legitimate advertising patronage than any other two papers in Plainfield, and can prove it by the testimony of those whose ad's appear in these and other columns.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The regular meeting of the Reform Club will be held in Reform Hall, to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock.

—The night school for men opened in the High School building last evening, with a membership of 56.

—Mr. Potter Johnson has received the contract for repairing the burned portion of St. Mary's church rectory.

—The New Jersey Sanitary Association will hold its annual meeting at the State House, Trenton, on Nov. 22 and 23.

—Miss C. D. Squier of No. 6 West Second street, calls attention her handsome line of toques which she is making a specialty of at $3.50 each.

—Messrs N. Apgar, D. Terry, August Trust and Charles Hunter, are spending the balance of this week in the vicinity of Stroudsburg, Pa., hunting for partridge.

—A woman named Ryno was fined three dollars by the City Judge, last evening for creating a disturbance in the neighborhood of Reform Hall, during the afternoon.

—One of the Park avenue jewelry stores was found to be unlocked after closing hours last evening and special officer Cooney sent a messenger for the proprietor.

—A lamp exploded in Mr. A. M. Griffin's hardware store on East Front street, Sunday night, and but for the timely arrival of Officers Flannagan and McCue, a disastrous fire was averted.

—A covered phæton owned by Councilman Dunham was backed into a road wagon belonging to Mr. Mahlon Vail on Front street, this morning, but fortunately the damage resulting from the collision was trifling.

—Mr. Isaac Colthar has just completed the bridge over Stony brook, known as the Stine bridge. The structure is of wood, and it is thought will stand the pressure brought to bear upon it by the high water in years to come.

—Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the distinguished Egyptologist, will give an illustrated lecture on "Queen Hatasu and the Women of Ancient Egypt," at Music Hall, on Friday, December 6, at 8 P. M., for the benefit of the Children's Home.

—It is to be regretted that THE PRESS cannot continue to publish the list of new books added monthly to the public library. If these columns were not daily filled with news, the space could be spared. The Trustees should have catalogues printed for the convenience of the Library's patrons.

—Train-riding by tramps on the Central Railroad has been so far broken up that the company has discharged some special police that were employed to break up the practice. Tramps are no more numerous this Fall than they generally are at this season, but we will doubtless soon hear of them in blocks of five.

The Star Concert.

The New York Star Concert Company, composed of colored vocalists, gave a concert in Reform Hall, last evening, for the benefit of the Bethel A. M. E. church of Newark, Rev. J. T. Diggs, pastor. The attendance was small, but the entertainment was good, and the singers were all applauded. The company was brought here by Manager William Harris, who lost about $55 by the enterprise.

Exempt Firemen's Meeting.

A meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association of this city was held on Monday evening, with President Alex. Titsworth in the chair. Included in the routine of business was the election of three new members as follows: Messrs T. A. Rogers, Thos. McDonald and C. P. Sebring.

WEDDED THEMSELVES.

No Minister Performed a Service but Miss Taylor and Mr. Webster are Now One.

At the North Meeting House, corner of Sixth and Noble streets, Philadelphia, yesterday morning at ten o'clock, took place the marriage of Miss Bertha Taylor, the older daughter of the late ex-Councilman William Taylor, of this city, to Mr. Clement Biddie Webster.

The marriage was by the Friends' ceremony, the contracting parties wedding one another. The meeting house was crowded with friends and relatives, and during the ceremony a number of ministers present rose and offered prayer as the spirit moved them. The bride wore white faille trimmed with duchesse lace, and a bonnet of white crepe. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ella Taylor, and her cousin, Miss Laura Taylor. The former wore a white China silk and a white felt hat. The bride's mother wore a black lace gown, and bonnet.

A reception from one to three o'clock was afterwards held at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Henry Taylor, 130 North Eighteenth street. Mrs. Webster was assisted in this by a number of young women among whom was the beautiful Miss Howard, of East Ninth street, this city. The collation was served by Stevens, Philadelphia's most famous caterer.

Among those present from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. VanSlyck, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Newhall, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. J. M. MacNaughton, Miss Grace Howard, Miss Elliott, Miss Rushmore, Miss Kate Kimball, Miss Guion, Miss Gertrude Rushmore, Miss Katherine Yates, Miss Julia Ketcham, Capt. Wm. B. Ostrom and Mr. Harry Squiers, Mr. David Atwood and the Messrs VanSlyck.

Upon their return from the wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Webster will reside at Frankford, one of Philadelphia's charming suburbs.

Obituary.

Mr. Alois Herold, of Rahway, N. J., who was stricken with paralysis some four weeks ago, died from the effects of the paralytic stroke, on Friday, Nov. 8, at his residence. His funeral took place on the 11th, and was attended by relatives from this city and the Borough, Elizabeth, and other places, and by a delegation from different cigar manufacturing associations of which Mr. Herold was a member.

Mr. Herold has been a member of the church from the date of his marriage up to his death, and was highly respected by all who knew him, for his uprightness, honesty and fair dealing with all mankind. In the death of Mr. Herold, Rahway loses an estimable and worthy citizen.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Abram King, of Chatham street, North Plainfield, is confined to the house by illness.

Mr. Lawrence Myers of East Front street, and family, are at 220 North Cascade avenue, Colorado Springs, Col.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Philopena Zimmer took place from the German Reformed church this afternoon, Rev. Mr. Koechli, officiating.

Mrs. D. DeWitt Brokaw, is seriously ill at her home on Grove street, North Plainfield. Her condition is the cause of much anxiety to relatives and friends.

The tri-ennial convention of the State Sunday school association is in session at Trenton this afternoon. Councilman M. M. Dunham is a delegate from this city.

After eleven years continuous service as Superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, Mr. George W. Rockfellow insisted upon a rest from his labors. Mr. John M. Whiton has been selected in his place.

The funeral of the late George E. Hoadley, who died on Monday evening, will take place from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. P. Smith, at No. 154 Belvidere avenue, Netherwood Heights, on Friday at 2:30 P. M.

A Grand Work to be Rendered.

The Plainfield Choral Society will take up that grand work of Gaul's, "The Holy City." It is one of the most beautiful pieces of music ever written. The sheet copies alone for the singers to rehearse will cost $75.

It will probably be rendered at the first of the three subscription concerts of the Society. There will also be an orchestra at that concert and the last one, if not at all three.

The Bi. Club Tournament.

The committee in charge of the games of the Bicycle Club to take place to-morrow night, are considering the advisability of reserving a third row of chairs around the rink. The demand for seats has been far beyond their expectations and those persons who have been waiting to secure seats on the night of the entertainment are advised to select them before the diagrams are taken from the drug stores and thus avoid delay and bustle at the door.

Well Started.

The night school for men began last evening in the High School building, at 7:30 o'clock. There were fifty-six scholars present. The school will be continued on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week.

The classes for women will begin December 2, and be held on Monday and Friday evenings.

The Music Hall Meetings.

A fair representation of the clergy and other temperance workers gathered in the parlors of Music Hall, last evening, and considered the mode of procedure to be adopted in connection with the series of temperance meetings now being conducted by Mr. Burdick in Music Hall. It was decided to place the work under the control of the W. C. T. U., and the Board of Managers of the Union, which consists of two members of each church, will district the city and appoint sub-committees to visit every house and invite attendance at the meetings.

The evening meeting in Music Hall was fairly well attended. Rev. Dr. Ketcham conducted the devotional exercises, and Mr. H. J. Martin led the singing. Mr. Burdick's remarks on the evils of intemperance were attentively listened to, and at the close Dr. Ketcham pronounced the benediction.

A Mission in Grace Church.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, the General Missioner of the Parochial Missions Society proposes to conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning on Nov. 17 and continuing until the 26th inclusive.

Seats will be free, and a cordial welcome is extended to Christians of every name. The services will be: Sundays—An early celebration of the Holy Communion, at 7:30 A. M. Morning prayer, etc., at 10:30 A. M. Children's service, at 4:30 P. M. Evening prayer, at 8 o'clock, for men only.

Other days—Morning prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life, 10:30 A. M. Evening prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service—Sermon and "after meeting," at 7:45 P. M. Thursday morning—Holy Communion. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 18 and 19, Question box, at 4 P. M.

A Promise of Novelty in Minstrels.

George Thatcher, of this city, formerly of Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels and now with the Howard Athenæum Company, has a plan for a minstrel combination for next season which he fancies will prove novel in some respects. He thinks that it will meet the demands of the times better than the sort of performance that has been so long familiar, but just what the innovations will be is not yet announced. One thing is confessed—that the first part will be written by Wm. Gillette and arranged by David Belasco, and will be something whereof the like has never been seen before. It will open in Plainfield, August of next year.

Thanksgiving Day Entertainment.

The members of the "Hibernia Rifles," of Elizabeth, will visit Plainfield on Thanksgiving Day, as the guests of the A. O. H., of this city. During the afternoon a short street parade will take place, and in the evening a sociable will be tendered the visitors in St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall. Other societies from Elizabeth, Jersey City and Camden have been invited to participate.

The local society will meet to-morrow evening, to perfect arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors.

To Study the Sunday School Lessons.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut conducted a Union meeting of the Superintendents and teachers of the various Sunday schools in Vincent chapel, last evening, about 150 persons being in attendance. It was decided to continue the meetings on each Tuesday evening and a committee consisting of the superintendents of all the schools, was appointed to secure a permanent place of meeting. Dr. Hurlbut has consented to teach whenever he is at home.

Y. M. C. A.

An effort is being made by the Y. M. C. A., to pay the remainder of its debt, which amounts to $8,000. Of this about $2,100 is for work in the erection of the new building, and this is due now.—New Brunswick Times.

Plainfield is endeavoring to secure funds enough by voluntary subscription to erect its Y. M. C. A. building, and thus have a home of its own free from debt.

Weber—Lange.

At the residence of the groom's father, corner of Second street and Plainfield avenue, last evening, occurred the marriage of Mr. Frederick A. Weber of South River and Miss Mary A. Lange of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. A reception followed the ceremony.

"We are coming father Abraham, 300,000 more" to indorse the good and effective qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, in every case of coughs, colds, etc.

As a cure for chapped and chafed hands nothing equals the celebrated Salvation Oil. For sale by all druggists. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST, SOLDBY Druggists.

ALL YOUNG MEN MADE STENOGRAPHERS.

A Free Course Offered by the Y. M. C. A., That Will Secure Lucrative Situations.

The Young Men's Christian Association has under consideration the opening of a class in stenography or short-hand, for young men. There are hundreds of young men to whom the acquisition of short-hand would be a great benefit. The demand for qualified short-hand writers in New York city is great, the supply is hardly sufficient to meet it, and they are better remunerated than ordinary clerks and office assistants.

Of course it is true that large numbers of young ladies are constantly qualifying themselves for, and do fill situations with lawyers and business men, still there are a great many situations that can be filled only by young men, and there are many business men who prefer to employ such. The cause for the great demand for stenographers by business men is the great increase in correspondence for the rapid and satisfactory conduct of which they must have competent assistance. Time is very valuable to the average business man, and with a short-hand writer to assist him, he saves a great deal.

A large number of young men go into New York every day and work for a mere pittance, whereas if they could write short-hand they would at once double or treble their wages, and besides be in a far better position for advancement. It has been the starting point with many young men who are now filling lucrative situations. Any one with a good common school education can, with due application and perseverance acquire the art of writing short-hand in a comparatively short time. The principles can be learned in three or four months, and after that it is simply a question of practice.

The Association can get a competent teacher, and if a sufficient number of those who would like to join such a class will immediately apply to the General Secretary at the rooms, no time will be lost in getting to work. It is hoped that this opportunity will not be neglected.

THE RAILROADS ASSESSED $1,329,608.56.

Increasing Railroad Taxes in New Jersey.

The State Board of Assessors have completed the work of assessing the various railroad systems of the State. There are about 2,000 miles of railroad within the State, owned by 89 companies, and 173 miles of canal. The total amount of the tax to be paid by the railroads for the year is $1,329,608.56, against $1,316,282 93 last year, an increase in the State's income from that source of $13,325.62.

This increase is derived from an appreciation in the figures representing the aggregate assessed valuation with respect to all the systems, except the New York Susquehanna and Western and the Lehigh Valley. The increase in the assessed valuation in the Pennsylvania system, is $867,350; Central system, $1,361,412; Philadelphia and Reading, $393,088; New York, Lake Erie and Western, $1,244,420; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, $253,264; and on railroads not classified, $881,303. These systems will pay into the State Treasury taxes as follows:

Central	288,156 68
P. & R.	30,924 97
N. Y., L. E. & W.	117,008 77
D., L. & W.	264,150 38
N. Y., S. & W.	27,793 25
Lehigh Valley	108,705 42
Railroads not classified	101,004 01

A DOMINIE'S JUMP.

The Rev. Mr. Cadwell Almost Detained to Death by Editor Pearsall's Silver Tongue.

The Rev. N. W. Cadwell of Westfield, is very sick at home of injuries received in jumping from a moving train. Thursday evening of last week he was on his way to preach at Roselle, on the train reaching there at 7:24 o'clock.

He was so interested in conversation with Editor Pearsall of the Mt. Ararat Standard, that he did not notice his arrival at his destination until the train started again. He rushed to the platform of the car and in spite of the brakeman's warning jumped out into the darkness. He landed near the flag house some hundred feet distant from the station. The fall resulted in injuries and bruises that have confined him to his home ever since.

Fire at Scotch Plains.

A fire in the residence of Mr. August Frentz at Scotch Plains on Friday morning last did damage to the extent of about $150. A daughter of Mr. Frentz, upon entering a bedroom in the upper story of the house, discovered a bright fire burning in one of the closets. She immediately gave an alarm, and a lady who was passing at the time assisted her in extinguishing the flames, but not until the contents of the closet, consisting of clothing, etc., were destroyed.

Mr. W. A. Woodruff, in whose agency the building was insured, promptly adjusted the loss.

Thanksgiving Union Service.

The Thanksgiving Union service, in which some of the churches on this side of the brook unite, will this year be held in Dr. Ketcham's church, and the Rev. C. B. Mitchell will preach the sermon.

NATURALIZED BY HER CHILD.

Mrs. Wilkie Can Now Come Back to the United States.

A cablegram from Glasgow, Scotland, says that Mrs. Nellie Wilkie, whose Plainfield-born American child was debarred from landing in the country of its birth by the decree of the Emigration Commissioners at New York, is now a happy woman. Her truant husband has returned to the bosom of his family, and both he and his young wife are again reconciled. Mrs. Wilkie's husband did not go to America as she supposed, but remained abroad. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie announced their intention to go to America just as soon as circumstances will permit them to do so.

The Wilkie family first came to America a little over four years ago. They settled in this city where one of their children was born. After being in Plainfield several years their home and all their belongings were destroyed by fire. The family then became a charge upon the city. At their own request they were returned to Scotland. About three months ago Wilkie abandoned his wife and family. It was thought that he had fled to the United States, and therefore a charitable organization, which became aware of Mrs. Wilkie's plight, paid her passage to search for her husband.

Mrs. Wilkie and her children arrived during the latter part of September on one of the State Line steamships. Acting on the advice of Judge Stillman, and believing that Mrs. Wilkie was liable to become a pauper if permitted to land, the Emigration Commissioners took the family in custody just as soon as they arrived at Castle Garden, and a few days subsequently reported them to Collector Erhardt as people "liable to become a public charge." When Mrs. Wilkie's affidavit stating that one of her children was born here was received by Collector Erhardt he refused to take any action in the case and referred it to the Treasury Department at Washington.

After some delay the Solicitor-General of the Treasury Department rendered a decision that, even though Mrs. Wilkie was "liable to become a public charge," having a child, an American citizen, she could not be debarred from landing. When the decision was received the family was already on the Atlantic returning to Glasgow.

CENTRAL RAILROAD NOTES.

Trains Running to the Highlands Again, and Squankum Station Discontinued.

Trains resumed running Monday with the new time table between Seabright and Highland Beach on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. They had been off since the cyclone, which tore up the tracks for a long distance.

The management has changed the names of some of its stations, and also established some new ones. Port Monmouth will hereafter be known as Port Monmouth Shore. There will be a new station called Hendrickson's, two and three-quarters miles South of Farmingdale on the N. J. Southern. Squankum will be discontinued.

The Company is building a new freight station at Constable Hook, with rail connection. The Elizabethport ferry used to stop there to take on the local freight, much of which consists of farm products, but the Standard Oil Company, which owns the ferry landing, needs it for its own use, and so the ferry no longer stops there.

The Tribune's Polished Account.

The New York Tribune polishes (?) up the alleged "Katie Mack" assault in North Plainfield, on Friday morning last, by stating that "Randolph and Wierenga then lay in wait at a dark street corner, and when Miss Murphy, accompanied by Gilbert Murray, passed by on her way home, Randolph sprang forward and felled her to the earth with his fists and ground his heal in her face, horribly disfiguring her. Wierenga knocked Murray down with a club. Both ruffians then fled. Miss Murphy, seriously injured, and Murray, severely cut and bruised, were taken to Dr. Carman's where three young women who had fainted at witnessing the scene were also cared for. Miss Murphy's condition is critical. Murray will recover. Marshal Pangborn is searching for the fugitives' in the mountains."

Those "Reduced" Fees.

A few days ago THE PRESS told of the reduction ordered by Judge McCormick at Elizabeth, in the counsel fees of the lawyers engaged in the Lattimer will case.

As there was no contest, and the lawyers were only required to appear and take note of the days of adjournment up to the admitting to probate of the will, their fees were "reduced." Chancellor Runyon was only allowed $5,000, Clark & Reed, of this city, $4,000, and James English $4,500.

The Chief Will Settle Them.

This city suffers from the continual maliciousness of the worst lot of boys any place ever knew. They destroy and deface private property, and commit some new act of wilful wickedness almost every day or night. Chief Carey was notified last evening that a gang of the boys were again annoying an old lady on First place, and he started out to make it hot for them.

Sedative Influence.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY, by its sedative influence oxer the nervous system, is one of the best remedies that can be used. Descriptive treatise with each bottle; or address Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

New Jersey's Legislative Officers.

Speculation as to who will be the presiding officers of the State Senate and Assembly this Winter, is already getting lively. For President of the Senate the following gentlemen are being spoken of: Cranmer, of Ocean; Martin, of Essex; Nevius, of Monmouth, and Roe, of Gloucester. Marsh of Union, could be speaker of the House, although Heppenheimer, of Hudson, the Democratic leader of the last House, is being favorably mentioned.

The Death Watch Again.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Charles Giblin, the young wife worker who shot Madeline Goetz to death in the little bakery of Valentine Goetz in February 1888, stands once more within the shadow of death. Sheriff Flack to-day set the death watch, which will keep its eye upon the young man till the time comes at the gallows, November 23.

Reading's Relief Association.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—A meeting of the Philadelphia and Reading Relief Association will be held to-morrow for the election of the members of the Advisory Committee for the ensuing year. The following tellers have been selected: Frank E. Bausher, Main Line division; Frank P. Shaeffer, Philadelphi and New York division; Charles P. Wilson, Reading and Columbia division. Separate ballots are to be used for the several electoral divisions.

Boulangists Arrested.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—M. Floquet has been elected Provisional President of the Chamber of Deputies and M.M. Perier and Develle Vice-Presidents. As M. Paul Dereolede was leaving the chamber he was arrested for connection with the attempt to hold a Boulangist demonstrative in the Place de la Concorde. Sixty other Boulangists were arrested for the same offence.

Wages Advanced in Blast Furnaces.

READING, Pa., Nov. 13.—In keeping with the rise in the iron market the wages of the employes of the blast furnaces of the Brooke Iron Company at Birdsboro have been advanced 10 per cent. commencing to-day. The Warwick Iron Company of Pottstown will increase its furnace employes' wages 10 per cent. on Monday next.

Called on the Nun of Kenmare.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—Father Murphy, of the Holy Ghost College, is to be disciplined for calling on Miss Cusack, the Nun of Kenmare, at her hotel. He knew her in Ireland.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

CRONIN'S DEATH CRY

"Oh, God!" He Cried Out While Being Murdered.

A WOMAN HEARD THE BLOWS.

The Doctor Seen to Enter the House Where He Met His Death.

The Prisoners Wince When Listening to the Testimony—Specimens of the Hair Taken from the Doctor's Head Offered in Evidence—Detective McKinnon, of Winnipeg, Testifies.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The chain of criminating evidence welded about Burke, Coughlin and O'Sullivan has been supplied with its final links. The State had proved that Cronin left home in the direction of the Carlson cottage on the evening of May 4; that the three prisoners were in that vicinity and that the physician's butchered remains were buried not far away the same night. To convict them the State must prove that Cronin was in the cottage.

Mrs. Hoertel's story was remarkable and pathetic. An ignorant woman, not aware of the fearful import of words, fastened the noose about the necks of several men. She struggled desperately with the English language, but her sincerity and her truthfulness impressed her hearers.

Mrs. Hoertel lives close to the Carlson cottage. She said that on the night of May 4 she went to Ertel's saloon at Addison street and Ashland avenue to look for her husband. She noticed that by the saloon clock it was 8 o'clock; her husband not being at the saloon she retraced her steps, going south on the east side of Ashland avenue.

Cronin Goes to His Doom.

As she neared the Carlson cottage she saw a white horse and buggy approach and stop at the cottage gates. A tall man got out, then turned and reached for something in the buggy. He took out a box or small bag and went up the steps of the cottage, the man in the buggy turning around and driving back to the city.

"The man went up the steps not very fast," the witness continued; "when he got to the top the door was opened and he went inside, and the door closed. I was just passing the house then, and heard some one inside cry, 'Oh God! Oh, Jesus!' Then there was the sound of blows; then some one fell. I thought there was a fight going on. The voice of the one I heard seemed to be muffled, and then it died out. Then I went home."

The appearance of Coughlin, O'Sullivan, Burke and Kunze, all save Beggs, while the witness told her story, was that of terrible and intense interest. It was a complete surprise to them. Kunze was very pale and stared blankly. Burke's ponderous jaw for once stopped chewing gum, his face turned red and glared savagely at the woman. The scowl on O'Sullivan's face deepened, and the blood rushing to his dark-skinned cheeks made him look like a negro. Coughlin sank lower in his chair, and his face was contracted like that of a shrivelled old man, while his hands twitched nervously.

More Important Evidence.

Another important witness was Thomas McKinnon, police officer of Winnipeg, who arrested Burke, who called himself Cooper. On him was found $58, tickets to Montreal and Liverpool, and a valise, in which was a felt hat. A name had been on the band, but was erased. Questions on this point being objected to, a long wrangle ensued, the Court finally postponing cross-examination until to-morrow.

Chief Hubbard detailed a talk with Coughlin, in which he upbraided the detective for laxity in his work, and the latter retorted that Cronin's disappearance was a hoax.

State's Attorney Longenecker offered in evidence the specimens of hair taken from the trunk and from Dr. Cronin's head, which had been compared by chemical and microscopic experts and found to be identical. The chips of wood and cotton from which the blood-stains were taken for testing were also submitted. They were admitted in evidence over the objection of Mr. Forrest. There was then a wrangle as to who should be the custodian of the specimens. Mr. Forrest demanded that they be left with the clerk of the Court and the State's Attorney persisted that they be left in the possession of Captain Schuetter. Finally the Court ordered the specimens to be sealed up and placed in the care of the clerk.

Mrs. Pauline Hoertel, who lives on Racine avenue, near the Carlson Cottage, swore that she saw a man resembling Dr. Cronin enter the Carlson Cottage on the evening of May 4.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Counsel for the London "Times" Relating Old Charges.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In his address for the "Times" before the Parnell Commission, Sir Henry James referred to the evidence adduced before the Commission which showed the common aims and methods of the I. R. B., and Clan-na-Gael. He declared that the skirmishing fund was nothing but a murder fund pure and simple.

He accused the Parnellite members of Parliament of concealing their alliance with secret societies behind a pretence of constitutional methods and asserted that many members of these secret societies were ready at any time to resort to the most infamous outrages.

Refuring to the disclaimer of the Parnellites that they were in no way connected with revolutionary movements or the abettors and advocates thereof and the rupture of the American Irish with Rossa, Sir Henry James said that the rupture with Rossa did not mean the abandonment of dynamiting. Rossa was rejected only because he was garrulous and indiscreet. The policy which Patrick Ford maintained implied that revolutionary partisans could murder and incite any crime if it were directed against England.

Senator Evarts Sailed To-Day.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Senator Evarts and family sailed for New York today. The Senator's health has greatly improved, and his eyesight is much stronger than when he left New York. He has received many civilities in London, culminating in a farewell dinner given in his honor by Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, Justice Hannen, Prof. Jewett and a number of other legal and literary celebrities.

ANOTHER BLIZZARD.

Terrible Suffering of Cattlemen and Several Lives Lost.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 13.—Another blizzard is raging from the divide country in this State south of the Pan-Handle of Texas. The Fort Worth officials sent out orders to start all trains Monday morning, but by night the road was completely blocked again. The Rock Island morning passenger arrived one hour late from the South and only got through with the assistance of heavy plows preceding it. Since then no trains have arrived on the Santa Fe, Midland, Fort Worth or Rio Grande. The Fort Worth passengers who were on the snowbound train at Texline and Clayton got as far as Trinidad, where they were again detained.

The loss to cattlemen and sheepmen in Colfax County cannot be even estimated yet, but it is known that at least seven thousand head of fatted beef cattle ready for market have perished or scattered so that they are as good as lost to their owners, and not less than 30,000 head of sheep have died of exposure.

Ten bodies have been recovered to date and there are twelve or fifteen cowboys, herders and stockmen missing.

Seventy-five men shoveling snow at Mount Dora were cut off from food for two days and nights. They got some sheep out of snow drifts and roasted and ate them.

A delayed passenger train was cut off from eating stations three days. They drew on an express car for food. The laborers who shoveled snow, when hungry, tapped freight cars containing canned goods with an iron chisel or other tool.

Two live goats were being shipped in a caboose, but the hungry men cut their throats and ate them raw.

HAMPTON TO WANAMAKER.

He Says the Postmaster-General Promised Not to Remove a Postmaster.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 13.—The following letter, published to-day, has created quite a flurry among politicians:

GLEN ALLEN, Miss., Nov. 8, 1889.

To Hon. JOHN WANAMAKER.

SIR: The inclosed extract from a South Carolina paper has caused me great surprise. Perhaps you may remember, if your memory is not treacherous, your assurance to me a few days ago that Mr. Gibbes should not be removed until the expiration of his term in February next. Not only did you do this, but you voluntarily assured me that inasmuch as Columbia was my Postoffice you would, when a successor to Mr. Gibbes was to be appointed, consult me.

It is a matter of small importance to me who takes the place of Mr. Gibbes, but as I informed him in passing through Columbia of the promise you had made, you may perhaps understand how your action has placed me in a false position. But it is fortunate for me that Mr. Gibbes will know that I at least told him the truth, though I was grievously deceived in believing what was said to me. I shall know better in future what reliance to place on statements emanating from the same source.

The newspapers state that besides managing the great department over which you preside you are running a Sunday School in Philadelphia, and it occurs to me that you might with profit to yourself select the most appropriate subject of a lecture to your pupils the instructive story of Ananias and Sapphira. This would give you a fine field for your eloquence in explaining to your young charges the importance of confining themselves to the truth—except when some fancied advantage might be obtained over a political opponent. I am your obedient servant. WADE HAMPTON.

The Raymond Arson Trial.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 13.—In the Raymond arson trial Fred Evans, of the Utah Hotel, Eighth avenue, New York, testified that Raymond was playing pool in that notel on the night of the fire, December 13 last. Charley Hogan, a real estate broker, testified that it was with him that Raymond played pool on that occasion. Samuel Riffbury, a furniture dealer of Forty-ninth street, New York, testified that Raymond's house was well furnished, and contained pianos. The insurance company has claimed that the house was poorly fitted up and contained no pianos.

Italian Rioters Suppressed.

AVON, Mass., Nov. 13.—What at one time looked like a serious riot was caused by sixty Italian laborers employed in digging trenches for the new water system here. They went on strike and arming themselves with pick handles, shovels and crowbars they threatened the lives of all who remained at work. The timely arrival of the police served to quiet the strikers who had succeeded in making all but four men quit work.

The Late Treasurer Hart's Funeral.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 13.—The funeral of State Treasurer Hart was attended by United States Senator Quay, all the State officers and many members of the Legislature. The remains lay in state in the Capitol building for two hours. They were escorted to the grave by a detatchment of the National Guard.

Killed by a Playmate.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 13.—Willie Johnson, aged 15, was shot and killed last night by Fred Parker, aged 15, with whom he was playing. Parker was handling a shotgun, when it was discharged, and the load tore Johnson's breast open. It is suspected that the shooting may not have been accidental. Parker is under arrest.

Standing of Iowa's Legislature.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 13.—The official count just in from Monona County shows that a Democrat is elected to the Legislature by one majority, thus making the House a tie—fifty each—and the Senate will stand: Republicans 28; Democrats 22; a Republican majority of 6 on joint ballot.

New Officers Elected.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 13.—At the annual meeting of the Richard Borden Manufacturing Company Thomas Borden was elected president and Richard K. Borden clerk and treasurer. The gross earnings for the past year were $121,000.

A Minister Kills His Wife and Child.

STOCKTON, Cal., Nov. 13.—A report comes from Lockford that about 4 o'clock in the morning a Congregational minister named Ross killed his wife and 12-year-old son and then committed suicide.

The Knights at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13—Very little business was transacted by the Knights of Labor General Assembly to-day. T. T. O'Mally, of D. A. 38, was expelled from the Assembly on charges of treachery.

RUNAWAY READING GIRLS.

One of Them Captured in a Disreputable House in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In June last two young girls, Susie Snyder and Mamie Breslin, daughters of respectable parents in Reading, Pa., left their home in that town for the excitement of New York. One of them, Susie Snyder, 17 years old, was found last night in an alleged disreputable house, at No. 70 Eldridge street, and arrested. She said her companion, Mamie Breslin, having read of their escapade in the papers, had left for home.

Margaret Thompson, who keeps the house, was also put under arrest, as was Elizabeth Hartel, who keeps a house on Delancey street, well known to the police. Susie stated that she had spent some time in the Delancey street house

END OF A LIBEL SUIT.

The Jury in the Graham-Caldwell Case Brings in a Verdict.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 13.—In the Supreme Court the trial of the $10,000 libel suit of John F. Graham, Chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, against Richard Caldwell, of Washingtonville, was brought to a finish by the jury bringing in a verdict for the plaintiff for $150 and costs.

Caldwell published numerous circulars attacking the integrity and honesty in official position of the plaintiff, who is a political power in the town, where he was Postmaster under Cleveland's administration.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The football game at Amherst, Mass., resulted as follows: Yale, 32; Amherst, 0.

The report that John Jacob Astor was to marry Mrs. Bowler is pronounced untrue.

Mrs. President Harrison left Philadelphia for Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Clarkson.

W. S. Barrett, widely known as Bill Barrett, the mountaineer, died at Camden, Me., of paralysis.

Mrs. Arrah Hurd was found dead in her house at Wareham, Mass., under very suspicious circumstances.

Thursday night will be red-letter night in the history of Plainfield, N.J., athletics. The Bicycle Club gives its big games then.

The President has appointed Philip Pearsall, postmaster at Huntington, N. Y., and John Gourley, postmaster at Gloucester City, N. J.

Daniel Carmichael, one of the best known business men of Amsterdam, N. Y., was arrested last night by Detective Sweeney of Albany on charges of forgery.

Michael Regan, aged 61, and his grandson, aged 3 years, were killed by a train on the Reading Railroad in Manyunk, Pa., last night while walking on the track.

The application of the Buffalo, N. Y., Street Railroad Company for permission to change their motive power to electricity was denied by the State Railroad Commissioners.

Hon. Sullivan C. Andrews, of North Cambridge, Mass., died yesterday, aged 64 years. He was a native of Maine, and was for many years on the Democratic Committee of that State.

The firm of B. Lodge & Co., knit goods jobbers of Albany, N. Y., has been forced into an assignment by depression in business with $70,000 liabilities. William N. Strong was a member of the company, representing $20,000.

One of the big forty-two foot boilers of the West Jersey Steel and Iron Company exploded yesterday seriously injuring James Donlin, a workman, and doing from $10,000 to $15,000 damage to the machinery and building.

A fire at Medina, Orleans Co., N. Y., destroyed the large furniture house of Harry Hoag, on Main street, and damaged many other buildings. The losses are estimated at about $50,000. The insurance is for about one-half the amount.

Daniel Moyer, residing on the Lehigh Mountain at Emaus, Pa., has become a raving maniac through religious excitement and overwork. He informed his family that God had communicated to him that he would be required to make some sacrifices. Becoming alarmed, the family summoned aid and it required the combined strength of four men to get him under control. He is now secured by chains.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—For New England: Fair; slightly colder; northeasterly winds becoming variable.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Fair; followed by light rain; cooler; southeasterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Rain; stationary temperature; southeasterly winds.

MIRTHFUL MORSELS.

A WELL-KNOWN Cardinal says a gentleman is one who never inflicts pain. On which a wit remarks: "This is hard on the dentists."

A CLERGYMAN one hot Sunday observing a deacon asleep in church called out: "Brother Austin, please open the window a little. Physicians say it is unhealthy to sleep in a hot room."

A ROBUST countryman, meeting a physician, ran to hide behind a wall. Being asked the cause he replied: "It is so long since I have been sick that I am afraid to look a physician in the face."

"AFTER all," remarked the student of Scripture, "Samson was the greatest dramatic actor who ever lived." "How do you make that out?" queried the listener. "Why, no man," exclaimed the speaker, "ever brought down the house as he did."

A MAN wrote to a friend in Greece asking him to purchase books. From negligence or avarice he neglected to execute the commission; but fearing that the correspondent might be offended he exclaimed when next they met: "My dear friend, I never got the letter you wrote me about the books."

GOVERNMENT CLERK (to bosom friend) —"Just got myself into a horrible mess! I went yesterday to see two doctors, and obtained from each a medical certificate —one a certificate of health for the life insurance company and the other a certificate of illness to inclose in my petition for leave of absence. And there, if I didn't go and put them into the wrong envelopes!"

MISS CYNTHIA MUSHROOM—"Now, papa, do be careful at dinner and don't mortify us before Mr. Stuyvesant Sturtevant." Mrs. M.—"Yes, Phineas, do mind your manners, and remember all them little points in that book about etiquette that I have been reading to you." Mr. M.—"Well, that's all right. You kin go ahead and arrange things to suit yourself, but I'm darned if I eat pie with a fork for nobody."

"ISN'T it glorious weather?" he said to the man on his left on the street-car platform. "I will look into the matter and see," was the quiet reply. "Say, your liver is out of order," continued the other. "Take some blue mass at once." "That was a rather queer conversation," observed a passenger who had overheard it, after the liver-ailing man had got off. "Oh, I had to hedge," replied the other. "After I had spoken of the weather I recognized him as a lawyer. He was going to write an opinion and send me a bill. I'm a doctor and so I gave him medical advice as an offset."

SATIRICAL SQUIBS.

THE model husbands are the men who never marry.

IT is an unfeeling married man who declares that his wife is always pensive when she is not expensive.

WHEN you are parting with an acquaintance and he says: "Oh, by the way"—get out your pocket-book.

NOTHING ever causes a young man greater surprise than to find out that some one has fallen in love with his sister.

A WRONG diagnosis.—Physician—"I think your liver is out of order." Billings—"Hardly. Liver is always in order. I board."

THAT slippers are now made of paper and shingles of stone is, in the mind of the small boy, ample confirmation of the law of compensation.

"Boss, kin I git de job ob cleanin' out dis heah bank?" "No, no, my good man. You are too late. The cashier has already attended to that."

IT was very ungallant in the old bachelor, who was told that a certain lady had "one foot in the grave," to ask "if there wasn't room for both feet."

WHEN a young lady begins to manifest an interest in the arrangement of a young man's cravat he wants to be as careful as he can possibly be or he is gone.

LITTLE DICK—"Do you go to circuses? Circuses is wicked." Little Jack—"Yes; the big shows is wicked, but the ten-cent shows ain't. Pop always takes us to them."

THERE are two great needs of our present civilization — a flannel shirt that will not shrink and a white vest that can be washed without losing its respectability.

ROBBER—"I have you in my power! I am the king of the outlaws! Hand out the cash!" Cashier—"I have never seen you before. You will have to be identified before we can do business."

A GREENSBURG (Pa.) man who made application for a marriage license stated on oath that "hunting for money" was his occupation, and that of his prospective wife was "home adornment."

ESTABLISHED May 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1889. PRICE, TWO CENTS

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c; and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

THE DEFENSE READY

The State Finishes Its Case in the Cronin Trial.

ADJOURNED UNTIL SATURDAY.

The Defense Score a Point by a Ruling of the Court.

Officer Brown Not Allowed to Testify Which Ruling Prevented Devoy and McCahey from Giving Evidence—The Prosecution Satisfied With Its Case—A Belief that Beggs Will be Acquitted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Judge McConnell ruled out the testimony of Daniel Brown, ex-policeman, who testified that Coughlin was one of a committee that tried Dr. Cronin. This decision prevents John Devoy and McCahey from testifying.

Judge Longenecker announced that the State had but one more witness—a man named Clancy, and that he would be in the city to-day.

The defence asked and were granted time to prepare their case. It is understood that they will try to prove alibis. The court adjourned until Saturday.

The prosecutors are well satisfied with the case they have made out against the suspects, and have no fear of the outcome. The same opinion is held by the persons who have listened to the testimony.

Beggs will probably be acquitted. He was arrested on information which seemed to associate him with a secret circle that had sealed the doctor's doom. Thus far Beggs has not been directly involved in the conspiracy.

Little Kunze's conplicity in the conspiracy is not so well established as that of Burke, Coughlin and O'Sullivan, yet it appears from the testimony of the State's witnesses that the painter was the associate of Coughlin and O'Sullivan on the night of the murder; that he was seen to drive a bay horse in front of the cottage that day, and that he visited Simonds' flat on Clark street.

A prisoner was brought to the East Chicago Avenue Station all muffled up, but whether for purposes of disguise could not be definitely learned. Captain Schuettler was questioned, but declined to say a word that would throw any light on the mysterious man's identity. Chief Hubbard said that the police did not know the name of the prisoner. He was arrested on suspicion of being J. B. Simmonds. He had been watched for some days, and his actions were such that the police concluded to arrest him, and they suspect that if he is not Simmonds he can furnish information about that individual.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

They Are Clear of Debt and Own $200,000 Worth of Property.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—At the convention of the Knights of Labor the words "of America" were dropped, making the title of the order simply the Knights of Labor.

In his address Mr. Powderly reviewed the history of their order for the past twenty years. He urged the amalgamation of district assemblies whenever practicable, and said the order was advancing instead of retrograding; recommended the reduction of salary of grand master workman to $2,500, and suggested a plan by which he could be relieved of some of his labor, and so be permitted to engage in other business.

Secretary-Treasurer Hayes' reports showed a reduction in the expenses from $437 a month to $318; total receipts past year, $127,026.62; total expenditures for the same time, $117,969.01. The order is now clear of debt, and owns property worth $50,000.

This forenoon Homer McGaw, of Pittsburg, was expelled, the charge being villification of officers and members and working against the order.

Colonel Lyman's Death.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Col. Luke Lyman, who died in Montreal Wednesday, was born in Northampton, Mass., Nov. 1, 1824. During the war he served as Lieut-Colonel of the Twenty-seventh Massachusetts regiment and was commissioned Brevet Brigadier-General for meritorious service. For the past six years he had been General Superintendent and Treasurer of the Dominion Bridge Company. He leaves a widow and a daughter. He was the father of Mrs. Susie Howes, who was shot by poachers in New Brunswick a year ago last summer.

Academy of Dental Science.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—At the Academy of Dental Science annual meeting in this city Dr. John F. Codman delivered the annual address. Dr. F. N. Seabury was elected president, Dr. C. A. Brackett, vice-president; Dr. V. C. Pond and Dr. E. N. Harris, secretaries, and Dr. E. C. Briggs, treasurer.

The Calamity at Alton.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 14.—The total loss incurred by the terrible calamity near Alton by the breaking of the mill dam at McClellan's flouring mill has not yet been estimated. Two lives were lost, six mill dams and many houses and buildings wrecked, four bridges carried away and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed.

One of Scott's Mines Shut Down.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 14.—William L. Scott's Hickory Ridge coal mine has shut down indefinitely, and it is expected that the Hickory Swamp mine will also close. Dullness in the coal trade is given as the cause. Five hundred men are thrown out of work.

Subscribing for The World's Fair.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Lager Beer Brewers' Association subscribed $446,600 to the World's Fair Guarantee Fund, which now amounts to $8,554,116.

POISON IN HIS CIDER.

A Farm Laborer Given a Fatal Dose by His Employer.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Ernest J. Jump, a farm laborer, aged thirty, died suddenly in Jonesville, this county, last night. Jump had drunk some of a glass of cider handed to him by his employer, Isaac Counter, when he remarked that it tasted somewhat bitter.

He then started for Dr. Ensign's office, and died with all the symptoms of poisoning half an hour after reaching there. Dr. Ensign sent to Counter's house and secured the glass from which Jump had drunk.

In the bottom of the glass was found particles of strychnine. Counter is suspected of having prepared the dose for Jump. He has had trouble with his wife, whom he charged with unfaithfulness, and is alleged to have said that Jump was the cause of the trouble. The coroner is investigating the case.

LOVE TROUBLES THE CAUSE.

She Took Laudanum and Willed Her Body to Her Lover.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 14.—Laura W. Bailey, a handsome young woman of 24, committed suicide yesterday by taking laudanum.

She was found unconscious in her room, No. 112 Mt. Clair avenue and died in St. Barnaba's Hospital last night. Love troubles were the cause of her suicide.

She was engaged to a young man who went to Barbadoes. She followed him there last September and returned recently. She appeared very dejected, and told a few friends that she had been jilted. She wrote a letter before taking the poison requesting that her body be sent to her lover at Barbadoes.

Accept Under Protest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The letter of the Postmaster-General which contained the official order fixing rates for the government telegraph service for the fiscal year has been considered by the Executive Committee of the Western Union Telegraph Company and notice has been served on the Government that the company, while it will transmit messages as heretofore, will not accept the rates fixed "until its rights in that regard have received such further consideration as it may be able to secure."

Whirled Around a Shaft

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 14.—Frank Welah, aged 67, a sweeper in the Luke Fielder colliery, was caught by his cloth, ing in a shaft and whirled around at the rate of 150 revolutions a minute, for five minutes, before the machinery could be stopped. His body was terribly mangled by striking against the timbers, and he died soon after being extricated.

Trying to Release Jimmy Hope.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Counsel for Jimmy Hope, the bank burglar, obtained a writ of habeas corpus, returnable this afternoon, when they will ask for Hope's release, on the ground that the writ of extradition on which he was brought from California was based on his conviction of a crime for which he has served his time in prison.

Four More Deaths at West Point.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Four more deaths have occurred in the family of Sergeant Emerick, of the Engineer Corps at West Point, from diphtheria. The family have been living in tents at the rear of the hospital since the first child died, having been ordered there by the military authorities to prevent further spread of the disease.

Colonel Ingersoll's Daughter Married.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Miss Eva Ingersoll, aged 26, eldest daughter of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, was married by Judge Barrett to Mr. Walston Hill Brown, head of the banking firm of W. H. Brown & Brothers. The wedding occurred at Colonel Ingersoll's residence, and was a quiet affair, only intimate friends being invited.

Woollen and Worsted Overseers.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—At the annual meeting of the National Association of Woollen and Worsted Overseers reports of officers were received, and W. E. Davison, of Uxbridge, Mass., was elected president for the ensuing year; E. W. Jones, of Webster, Mass., treasurer, and E. F. Whitmore, of Putnam, secretary.

Carnegie Refuses.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.—Andrew Carnegie, when asked if he would accept the suggestion of the Pittsburg authorities and devote his $750,000 to the improvement of the parks of this city instead of to creating a public library, he answered decidedly that he would not.

The National Grange.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 14.—The National Grange Patrons of Husbandry is now in session here, delegates being present from nearly all the States in the Union. Worthy Master Brigham delivered the annual address.

Knocked Over the Lantern.

SWANTON, Vt., Nov. 14.—Four large barns belonging to H. W. Carman were burned, together with a large quantity of hay. The fire was caused by the knocking over of a lantern.

State Treasurer of Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—Governor Beaver appointed William Livsey to be State Treasurer for the unexpired term of the late Wm. B. Hart.

THEIR TRIP ENDED

Pan-American Delegates Return to Washington.

A WONDERFUL RAILROAD RIDE.

Their Special Train Drawn by One Locomotive Six Thousand Miles.

The Delegates Arrive at the Capital on Schedule Time—Cheering and Thanking the Engineer—Mr. Wanamaker says He Will Not Lose His Temper With Wade Hampton.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The great tour of the Three Americas delegates through a part of the United States was concluded last night when its special train drew into the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad station at 6:40, and the promise of its managers that the same engineer who opened the throttle on the same spot forty-one days ago should shut off the steam of engine 1053 at the conclusion of the tour, was fulfilled.

From the inception of the idea it had been agreed that the same cars should be used throughout the entire tour. They were the finest examples of the Pullman Company's production, and were fitted up as living quarters for the party. Steam heat and electric light were used, and in order that the supply of heat and light should never fail, a locomotive fitted up for furnishing these useful commodities was necessary. Many roads were traversed where the motive power was not equal to this demand, and the only certain precaution against failure was the employment of one locomotive for the entire service. Such a thing has never been heard of before in the railway experience of the country.

The locomotive and the entire train have traversed every foot of the 5825 miles, and came to a full stop in the station last night on the minute of the schedule apparently as fresh and as powerful as when it started out on the morning of October 3. The achievement is a signal event in railroad affairs.

The members of the party soon found their way to the front entrance of the depot, where carriages were waiting, and they were at once driven to their rooms. The party, as it passed the big locomotive on its way out of the station, paused long enough to call Engineer Hart from his engine, and to give him three hearty cheers. Afterwards the members shook hands with Hart and bade him good bye.

WANAMAKER'S REPLY.

He Says He Will Not Lose His Temper With Senator Hampton.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—In discussing the open letter addressed to him by Senator Wade Hampton in reference to the removal of the postmaster at Columbia, S. C., Mr. Wanamaker says:

I do not propose to go to the newspapers with the question of veracity raised between the distinguished Southern Senator and myself, or to discuss the subject, which, in point of fact, concerns no one except the two parties to the conversation. I understand that the Senator's place of residence is not at Columbia, and that he is not entitled to the Senatorial courtesy that would be accorded him if he lived at that city. As he desires to be heard in connection with these cases and as no commissions have been issued, I have telegraphed him that they will be held to allow him the opportunity of saying anything on the subject that he desires. I shall not lose my temper, even though we have very bad weather, but shall endeavor to conduct the Postoffice business at the old stand as usual, serving Democrats and Republicans alike with exact fairness. The Postoffice Department belongs to the people of all parties, colors and tempers, and I shall strive to keep the balance level among them all.

Southern Republicans Shy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Southern Republican members of Congress are shy about naming their candidate for Speaker. Those who are here, and those who have visited Washington in the last month or so, seem to be mysterious in their actions. It is said that a plan is being canvassed among the nineteen representatives from the Southern States to form a pool to hold off and finally cast their vote for a candidate to be selected. The plan is not yet matured, but no doubt, if it is accomplished, the man who can move this "solid South" will carry off the prize. Nineteen votes at the end of a campaign such as is ahead of the Speakership candidates are not to be slighted, for they will elect the man who is fortunate enough to secure them.

Work of the W. C. T. U.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The W. C. T. U. Convention adopted strong resolutions condemning Vice-President Morton for having "openly allied himself with the liquor dealers of the nation; discountenancing all union of State and Church; complimenting Mr. Harrison for forbidding military reviews and parades on Sunday, the Postmaster-General for reducing the amount of Sunday postal work, and declaring in favor of full franchise for women.

National Building Associations.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Representatives of eighteen National Building Associations are in session at the Sherman house to perfect the organization of the League of General Building and Loan Associations. They elected the following officers: President, M. D. Miller, St. Paul; vice-president, George J. Peck, New York; secretary, Owen Scott, Bloomington; treasurer, W. J. Richardson, Chicago.

The Flack Case Sent Over.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The case of the People against James A. Flack and his associates has been adjourned until the second Monday in December owing to the serious illness of Judge Ambrose Monell, one of the defendants.

—The Board of Education of New Brunswick, have followed out the suggestions of THE PRESS, and have decided to have the national flag displayed on all the public school buildings of the city. The head scholars in the schools will probably be made a guard of honor to raise and lower the flag.

—The Central Railroad commenced to run freight and coal trains Tuesday from Phillipsburg to Belvidere, over the Pennsylvania and thence over the Lehigh and Hudson River Road to the Poughkeepsie Bridge. The Pennsylvania will lay double tracts from Phillipsburg to accommodate the Central's trains.

—The Central Railroad Company, it is said, is considering the advisability of enlarging the ladies waiting room in the station here. During the morning, and oftentimes in the afternoon the seats in the ladies apartment at the station are inadequate to accommodate the passengers, and many of them are obliged to stand until train time.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for the people. Give them a trial.

THE '79 CLASS RE-UNION.

An Interesting Programme Rendered by the Members at the Residence of their Class President, Last Evening.

The Class of '79, held a re-union last night, at the home of Mr. Geo. B. Titsworth, it being the tenth year since graduation in June 1879.

The members of the class present were: Chas. Bullman, Felix G. Fezandie, Mrs. Wm. F. Downs, formerly Miss Mary Gardner, Mrs. Chas. A. Smith, formerly Miss Carrie Ketcham, Mrs. C. Frank French, formerly Miss Aline Randolph, Mrs. J. J. Leppa, formerly Miss Cora Smalley, Geo. B. Titsworth, Franklin B. Wiley and Franklin S. Smith.

The programme of the evening opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Downs, who showed by her brilliant execution that her fingers had lost none of their schoolday cunning.

Mr. Titsworth's "Address of Welcome" was made in a very pleasing manner, and was followed by a well rendered violin solo by Mr. Felix Fezandie.

The "Class Reminiscences" by Mrs. French brought back to the members many things both mischievous and amusing happening during school hours.

Mrs. Leppa's "Echoes of Commencement" was a most excellent and praiseworthy effort. She wove in the incidents and occurrences of that eventful night in a very clever way, saying of the speakers, that, "we stepped upon the stage expecting to electrify the audience, but at the same time were trembling in our shoes at the sound of our own voices."

A vocal solo by Mrs. C. A. Smith, showed, that her voice had lost none of the sweetness of her school days.

We publish the poem then read by Mr. F. B. Wiley.

On the wind of the Autumn night
From far comes faint and low
The echoed strain of a farewell song
That was sung ten years ago;
Thrillingly soft and sweet
It steals from the far off years
To fill our hearts with a strange delight
And our eyes with unshed tears.

For it carries us back to the time
When we were girls and boys,
And life was a round of study and romps
And juvenile sorrows and joys.
It carries us back to the time
When we were classmates together
Through the Autumn chill, and the Winter cold,
And the golden Springtide weather.

On the wind of the Autumn night
'Tis borne from the days afar
When our hopes and aims were as bright and high
As evening's silvery star;
When each heart beat quick and the color flamed
In each youthful earnest face,
As we thought how we should surprise the World
And step in the foremost place.

We sang it first in June,
When the roses were all red,
And we hear it now in the Autumn night
When the roses are all dead;
And we think of those that died
Like the flowers of a bygone June,
And the wailing strain of a minor chord
Is heard through the olden tune.

Then proud and clear and high,
Rings out the mellow chime
Of encouragement for every one
Whose broad estate is time;
And on the wind of the Autumn night
There passes faint and low,
The dying strain of the farewell song
We sang ten years ago.

The Class History by Mr. F. Smith gave the principal events in the lives of the members leaving school. Of the eighteen graduates, eight of the ten girls have married, and two have died, Julia Runyon seven months after commencement, and Mrs. Edward Ryder, formerly Anna Gillies, in 1886. But two of the eight boys have married. The class has eight children.

The various members reside in New York city; Manchester, N. H.; Westfield, N. J.; Jersey City, N. J.; San Antonio, Texas; Plainfield; Newark, N. J.; Oakland, Cal.; and St. Paul, Minn.

Letters from Miss Bulkley, and Mrs. Wm. Sayres, formerly Miss Anna Stevens, of the Third Class High School, were then read, and also letters from the absent members of the class.

After the supper, furnished by a caterer, the class, with Mrs. Downs at the piano as in days of yore, sang a number of the pieces in the books used each day at morning exercises by the school, since 1878.

All voted the re-union a great success, separating at Midnight, having spent a most enjoyable evening in spite of the disagreeable weather, which deterred but two from attending.

Concerning the Late George E. Hoadley.

By the death of the late George E. Hoadley, Plainfield loses one of her most honored and respectable citizens.

Mr. Hoadley was born in New Haven, Conn., in 1829, and when still quite young he went to New York and entered the drug business, in which he accumulated a large fortune. Shortly after his retiring from mercantile life, about ten years ago, he became connected with the Panama Railway Co., of which his brother, David Hoadley, was President. He became assignee of the banking house of Page, Bacon & Co., conducting their intricate affairs to a satisfactory settlement. Mr. Hoadley has lived many years in this city, but since the death of his wife, two years ago, he has resided with his son-in-law, Mr. W. P. Smith, at Netherwood.

Preparing for Thanksgiving.

That Thanksgiving is near at hand is evinced by the large number of pumpkins and turkeys, and the barrels of mince meat being put in stock by the grocers. From indications it would seem that the good old Puritan holiday will be enthusiastically celebrated in an epicurean way if no other.

THE BURDICK MEETINGS.

Last Evening's Attendance Reduced by the Weather.

On account of the bad weather of yesterday and last evening, there was but a small attendance in Music Hall at the fifth of Mr. Burdick's temperance revival meetings. The chorus was also small, but the song service that lasted until after eight o'clock, was an enthusiastic one.

The Rev. E. M. Rodman, D. D., opened the meeting with scripture reading and prayer. The audience was requested to come forward in the orchestra, and Mr. Burdick delivered another of his stirring addresses.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Carolyn Knowland of East Seventh street, is at Logan's Ferry, Alleghany county, Pa.

Mr. James Mullen of West Fifth street is confined to the house with an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lutkins have returned from their visit among friends at Oradel and Paterson.

Mr. John D. Furnas and bride (nee Miss Ella Clifton) left for Wainsville, Ohio, on Saturday last, where they will permanently reside.

The Elizabeth Journal says that Mr. Isaac W. Laing who operates a farm in the Short Hills is 74 years of age. He was born on the farm and has lived on it ever since.

The marriage of Miss May Adams, granddaughter of Mr. Daniel Cory, and sister of Mr. Daniel C. Adams, to Mr. Charles A. Lee, of New York, will take place at the house of the bride's guardian, Mr. Carmon Parse, cashier of the First National Bank, on Grove street, Wednesday evening of next week.

That Slugging Affair.

In referring to the brutal assault upon "Katie Murphy" on Somerset street, one morning last week, the Home News of New Brunswick said yesterday:

"Nora Walsh is the young women whose house in little Dublin, near Metuchen, was visited by Mr. R. W. Hughes in his search for his lost daughter Mamie, and Minnie Garland is the girl she had with her when she called on Mrs. Hughes some days ago. The two have been for some days past stopping at the City Hotel, Plainfield, and attending balls in that place.

"Last Friday morning while they were on their way home, Miss Garland was assaulted and brutally beaten, it is alleged, by one Stillman F. Randolph. On Monday two girls went before Justice Pope, of Plainfield, and made an affidavit exonerating Randolph, to which they signed the names of Nora Walsh and Minnie Garland."

"Sun and Shade."

Again THE PRESS is called upon to say a word in praise of Sun and Shade, that magazine without words. The current number contains some veritable gems again, including Ridgway Knight's, "Calling the Ferryman," Samuel Colman's Moonrise at Venice, and the Yacht Belle Powell—the latter by a new process that shows the sunlight reflected in color on the prominent points of the boat.

The Sun and Shade Company—with which, by the way, Mr. Will Stanbury, of Scotch Plains, is connected—has been granted the privilege for the coming two years to reproduce the pictures in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Colman's "Moonrise," is one of them. Each number of the magazine contains at least a half-dozen works of art suitable for framing, and every one worth a whole year's subscription.

"A Word to the Wise," etc.

Gunners who are now foraging through the forest and over the stubble fields and marshes with blood in their eye and powder in their horn, had better pause in their wild career long enough to read the farmers' warning to trespassers, peradventure they may be jerked by the lasso of the law and made to pay a fine for their heedlessness. The law is clear on the subject of trespass, and hunters who are not posted should read up before they jump any fences.

Concerning Local Ranges.

The subject of local rifle ranges is being discussed all over the State, and if the guardsmen themselves would take up the matter and have it brought before the next Legislature, the ranges no doubt would be forthcoming. It is said upon pretty good authority that a bill pertaining to these local ranges is already being put in shape by an Essex county member, and will be presented at the coming session.

Sheriff Codington Sworn In.

Sheriff Lewis M. Codington of Somerset county took the oath of office at 10 a. m., on Tuesday, before Judges Bartine, Jameson and Ten Eyck. The oath was administered by County Clerk Schomp. The Sheriff, at the same time, filed his bond in the sum of $20,000, Messrs. A. I. Codington, J. P. Major, Peter Struve, W. A. Schomp, W. W. Tunison and Thomas Codington being the sureties.

—Mr. Elias Mosher has had the interior of his store on North avenue, re-papered throughout, the work being done by Mr. Samuel Terry, Jr., for Messrs Woolston & Buckle.

There is no more fruitful source of disease than vitiated blood. It involves every organ and function of the body, and if not immediately corrected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, sooner or later leads to fatal results. Be warned in time.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

HE'S THEIR APPOINTED AUDITOR.

And the Council Should Back Him in His Efforts to Guard the People's Money.

(Central Times.)

One of the very wisest acts that any Common Council of the city has done was the passage of an ordinance at the last meeting of the Council of 1888, providing that the City Clerk be made an auditor to examine the bills presented against the city.

Heretofore, it has been simply impracticable for the Council committees to determine whether the claims referred to them were really correct. But the auditor having five days, under theordinance, to examine such claims before they are brought before the Council, can discover errors and save the city from paying unauthorized charges. Such charges any one is liable to make inadvertently.

The present auditor has been trying to do his duty, as we happen to know, for he has pointed out unintentional errors in our own claims which had to be corrected before he could audit the bill. But the city has had the singular spectacle presented to it of a Common Council refusing to stand by its auditor and allowing, without rebuke, an alleged claimant to abuse in the public prints its own officer for doing his duty; and not only so, but are entertaining the purpose of paying a bill that the auditor says is not correct. It is, indeed, a singular spectacle.

ADJOURNED FOR MUSIC HALL MEETING.

Mr. Burdick Will Preach in Dr. Lewis' Pulpit, Sabbath Morning.

The regular Friday evening prayer meeting at the Seventh-day Baptist church, will be adjourned to-morrow evening, in the interest of Mr. Burdick's meeting at Music Hall. Mr. Burdick will occupy Dr. Lewis' pulpit on Sabbath (Saturday) morning. His theme will be appropriate to "Y. M. C. A. Day."

If his health will permit, Dr. Lewis will be absent attending the Yearly Meeting of the Seventh-day Baptist churches of New Jersey and New York city, at Shiloh. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the service on Saturday morning.

Carleton Opera Company.

Mr. Wm. T. Carleton and his famous Opera Company will appear at Music Hall on Thursday next for one night only. This is the sixth annual tour of Mr. Carleton's great organization, and artistically his organization is the strongest he has ever had, while numerically it is the largest opera comique troupe traveling. The opera selected for this engagement is Offenbach's greatest success, "The Brigands," which has just achieved a remarkable success in New York. The entire press, in speaking of Mr. Carleton's presentation of this opera, regard it as the most tasteful and gorgeous production of light opera yet seen in America. No expense has been spared to make it an ideal performance. The company is composed of some sixty people, among whom is the favorite contralto, Miss Alice Carle, Miss Clara Lane, J. K. Murray and other favorites, including a superb chorus of fifty voices and augmented orchestra.

To Assist the Needy.

The parlor sale at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Opdyke, on Tuesday and Wednesday last, was very successful, realizing a very neat sum, which will be used for the sick and needy during the coming Winter. At the fancy tables, where the articles were noticeably choice, were noticed the following ladies: Miss Crane, Miss Wilkisson, Miss Green and Miss Spicer. The candy and fruit table was presided over by Miss Bowers and Miss Crane, Miss Eva Benton and others assisting.

Hit With a Brick.

Martin Carter, a workman on the Miller building at Park avenue and Fourth street was working a pump in the cellar just before noon today, when a brick fell from the second story scaffold and struck on the top of his head. For a few minutes Martin did not know what hit him.

Mr. John J. Kenney helped the unfortunate man into Stelle's pharmacy and called Dr. Randolph Titsworth who dressed the scalp cut which was the only damage.

Union Soldiers to be Retained in Office.

Hereafter no honorably discharged Union soldier or sailor who served in the war of the Rebellion who holds an office or position under the Government of any city or county of this State whose term of office is not fixed by law, shall be removed from office except for good cause shown after hearing, but shall hold his office during good behavior. See Chapter CXLIX of the laws.

Another Day's Record.

Yesterday's news stole from THE PRESS of the day before, the accounts of how John Yose smashed his fingers, ex-Councilman Slater's rib-breaking accident, and Mrs. Dr. Tomlinson's attendance at the Chicago Convention. The announcements in yesterday's news of Dr. and Mrs. Lowrie's silver wedding, and the Class of '79's reunion, were stolen from THE PRESS of days ago.

—The heavy rains yesterday again raised the streams in this vicinity to a considerable extent.

—THE PRESS inadvertently stated on Tuesday that James Muldowney would be tried on the following day for disorderly conduct. It should have read Patrick, or "Harry" Muldoon.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Rev. J. L. Hurlbut Talks on Sunday School Successes.

There were but about 150 persons present last evening at the State Street church, Trenton, to listen to the addresses delivered before the New Jersey State Sunday School Association.

Rev. J. L Hurlbut, D.D., of this city, spoke on the subject "Wherein the Average Sunday School Succeeds." He said, in the first place the Sunday school sets Christians to work. If it never brought a soul to God it would be a blessing for the good it does to those who work in it It was very easy to get workers in the Sunday school; much easier than in any other department of the church. Without reward or compensation they lay on the altar of the church their meed of Christian work. But they did have reward, in the knowledge of the Bible that their teaching in the Sunday school brought with it, and they had a reward in the knowledge that they were working for their Master. The teacher who labors for the good of a scholar is sure to win that scholar's love, and there is a reward in that.

The plain, average country Sunday school succeeds in that it gives the gospel directly to the individual. A minister must preach to the mass, but the teacher talks to the individual. Thus the Sunday school is strong just where the church is weak. The faithful teacher will find something in each lesson for every one in the class. The theory of the Sunday school is to give truth to the individual, and that is just where it is strong. The best book next to the Bible for a Sunday school teacher to read is a child's face. She should get into strong, loving sympathy with her pupils.

The average Sunday school succeeds in teaching the word of God. There is not a Sunday school in the world, be it ever so poor, that does not bring its pupils for a few minutes each week face to face with the word of God. The Sunday school is today the means of keeping the word of God before the people, since nine millions of people are every Sunday in the Sunday schools—one-seventh of the population. No nation would ever be lost where one-seventh of its people were every Sunday engaged in studying the word of God.

Some people were afraid that with the higher criticisms and the lower criticisms that had been made against the Bible that it was going to be lost; but their fears were groundless. It had been cast in the crucible, and had come out strong. This is the book that the Sunday schools are teaching. Another success of the average Sunday school is, that it is a mission. The foreigners will not come to our churches, but we can get their children to our mission schools. The first religious enterprise of the new towns as they spring up in the great West, is not a church—it is a Sunday school, and so our Sunday Schools are a part of the great missionary work.

PLAINFIELD'S Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Adoption of Plans Delayed by the C. L. S. C.'s Removal.

The Building Committee of the Y. M. C. A., are now hard at work trying to solve some use for the rooms in the new building that were included in the plans, for the occupancy of the Chautauqua offices. The removal of these offices to Buffalo, leaves the Y. M. C. A., without the tenant expected.

A number of plans have been considered by the committee, showing most attractive fronts and handsome architectural proportions. These plans have no stores on the first floor, but by the rental to the C. L. S. C., of offices on an upper floor, the Association would have been able to carry out its intention to have no tenants below.

Such a state of affairs it is hoped can yet be arranged. But that will depend upon the Committee's success in devising some use, or securing desirable tenants, for the space laid out for the C. L. S. C.

Farmers Organize For Self Protection.

The farmers who reside along the banks of the Passaic River in Washington Valley, have organized what is known as the "Farmers' Game Protective Association," in self defence against the hungry hunters, who tear down stone walls to get hidden rabbits, drive quails into the farmers' barn-yards to shoot and burn big forest trees to get a coon or possum.

Smith Chittenden organized the society that will be regularly incorporated under the laws of the State. Sunday hunting has been indulged in by visiting gunners to an unusual extent this year, and the farmers complain bitterly of this. No strangers will be permitted to hunt on the lands of the members of the association, without a written permit signed by a member and good for only one day. A State marshal will be in the employ of the farmers, and every offender caught will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Changes in the Newark M. E. Conference.

Among the Methodist clergymen in the Newark M. E. Conference, who are finishing their third year in their present location are Rev. J. A. Owen, of Westfield, Rev. J. W. Seran, of Cranford, and Rev. J. A. Cole, of Raritan. The next Conference will be held in the Centenary M. E. church of Newark, in April next, and the above named clergymen will then be transferred to new fields of labor, unless the presiding elders and the bishop decide to prolong their stay to five years.

No one now thinks of a domestic or foreign trip, without a supply of Dr. Bull's Cough Sprup. 25 cts.

ODD OCCUPATIONS.

IN Paris goats are milked in the street for customers.

MARCELLUS, Mich., has shipped five tons of mud turtles to New York City this season.

TWO YOUNG ladies in New York are earning an excellent income by teaching scientific whist.

A WASHINGTON man buys cat skins. Shipped to Europe they sell as rugs, dressing-gown linings, etc.

A VETERAN trapper of Belfast, Me., is engaged in the novel business of catching wild hares to ship to sportsmen who wish to stock game preserves.

ADVERTISEMENTS in London journals indicate that the purchase of cast-off court suits, artificial teeth, etc., "for export," is quite a considerable business.

A WOMAN who, like Charles Dickens' Jenny Wren, made her living by dressing and repairing dolls, died in St. Paul lately. Hundreds of little friends are mourning her loss.

THE English woman who opened a professional spanking establishment in New York has quit the business. The mothers of that city seem to think they can manage their own offspring.

"THE skeleton market at present," said a dealer in those gruesome commodities, "is very dragging. You can get a first-class article now for thirty-five dollars, whereas the price three years ago was sixty-five and seventy dollars."

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIAL

Speeches by President Harrison and Secretary of State Blaine.

Vice President Morton and Members of the Cabinet Present—Cardinals Gibbons and Taschereau Deliver Short Addresses—Mr. Blaine Receives a Great Ovation—Enthusiastic Cheering for the President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Bishop Gilmour of Cleveland preached an eloquent sermon at the University dedication to a congregation of distinguished church dignitaries from home and abroad.

The arrival of President Harrison was about given up, when, at about 4:30, the sun having come out to brighten up the day and the rain having ceased, President Harrison drove up to the door, while the Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief." His entrance in the hallway and to the banquet hall, where he was at once shown, was accompanied by a series of enthusiastic cheering. A like reception was given Vice-President Morton, Secretaries Noble and Rusk and other officials.

When the President and Mr. Morton, in leaving the building, stepped to the lecture room, where the gathering to witness the inaugural ceremonies had assembled, they were cheered time and again, as they smilingly recognized the compliment; but the exhibition of popularity of the officials reached its height when Secretary Blaine appeared. The applause then became deafening.

Secretary Blaine's Speech.

In the banquet hall, responding to the toast "Our Country and Her President," Secretary Blaine said: "I come to represent the United States, not in any political sense, much less in any partisan sense, nor in connection with any church, or sect, but to speak for all and the great freedom we enjoy. I have made the statement in Protestant assemblies, and I am glad to make it in a Catholic one."

He then referred to the administration of President Harrison as one which had produced good results, and continuing, said: "I am glad of every college that is endowed, no matter who endows it. Every institution of learning increases the country's culture, and this, I believe, will build up the Government of this great country, under which all are free and equal."

Mr. Blaine was cheered repeatedly during his remarks, and the applause at its close lasted some minutes.

The toast, "Our Sister Universities," was responded to by Cardinal Taschereau. He spoke of the future of Catholic universities and said that imagination had no bounds to picture its future, judging by what he had seen.

Just at this point the band was heard playing "Hail to the Chief," and President Harrison, escorted by Father Garrigan, entered the room. The entire assemblage rose to their feet and applauded him until he took his seat on the left of Cardinal Gibbons.

The President's Remarks.

Bishop Keane proposed the health of the United States. It was drunk standing, and in response to urgent calls for a speech, the President said: "I am thankful for the reception you have given me. I have avoided speech-making heretofore on occasions of this kind. It has been my fortune often to have that covenant broken, being compelled to make a speech. I am sure you will permit me to exact a compliance with that covenant, and again to simply thank you for your kindly greeting."

Just as the President concluded Vice-President Morton and his wife entered the hall. They were greeted with cheers and escorted to seats at the Cardinal's table, Mrs. Morton taking Bishop Kean's seat and her husband was seated on her left.

Cardinal Gibbons on the Hierarchy.

Cardinal Gibbons responded to the toast, "The Hierarchy of the United States." He thanked the President and the other officials of the Government for their presence, and referred to the distinguished gathering as being of more than ordinary local significance. "In this university," he said, "your children will be educated to strengthen the country by their wisdom and if necessary defend it with their valor."

Archbishop Ryan made a humorous speech in reference to the same toast, and after John Boyle O'Reilly had responded to "The Press" the exercises were closed with grace by the Cardinal.

SLUGGER MITCHELL.

He is Fined $25 for Assaulting a London Bookmaker.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Charley Mitchell, the prince of prize fighters on paper and in bar-rooms, has again distinguished himself by slugging a bookmaker named Hart in a brawl which grew out of the miserable failure of Jem Smith to prove to the Australian negro, Jackson, that the "champion of England" could fight.

For his latest exhibition of cowardly brutality for which he is famous Mitchell was arrested and fined $25.

The Turk Must be Let Alone.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The "News" says that although the very existence of Turkey in Europe is a blot on modern civilization, that blot cannot be obliterated without a deadly conflict involving all the great Powers, so it is in the interest of peace not to disturb the Sultan at present. The party in power not only said through the Marquis of Salisbury that the Turk must be let alone, but has even endeavored to excuse the atrocities committed in Albania and Crete.

Italy Desires Satisfaction.

ROME, Nov. 14.—Italy has despatched three war vessels to Tangier, and will bombard the town unless satisfaction is received from the Moorish Government for the burglary at the office of the Italian Charge d' Affaires.

Shot by an Unknown Person.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—Miss Amelia Stegner, the 19-year-old daughter of ex-Assistant City Treasurer Stegner, was fatally shot by some one unknown while standing in the doorway of her sister's house watching the festivities of a wedding party across the way. A young man who has been known to carry a revolver and fire it recklessly has been arrested.

BUILDINGS WRECKED.

Though Not Undermined a Portion of Ashland, Pa., Goes Down.

ASHLAND, Pa., Nov. 14.—The handsome building of the Washington Fire Company, of this place, and a score of other buildings in the neighborhood have been wrecked by the sinking of the surface. Ashland is not undermined, and though many theories have been advanced, the real cause of the trouble has not been learned.

One theory is that the town has a sandy bottom, which has been seriously affected by the continual rains of this year. Whether or not this be so, the fact stares the Borough Council in the face that one of the finest buildings of the town has been ruined beyond redemption. The property is shattered from top to bottom. Large openings are in the walls, which appear ready to fall apart, and the whole presents a badly dilapidated condition.

Nor does the trouble end here. It extends to all the houses for a number of squares, from Twelfth street to Seventeenth. The first indication of the settling of the surface was noted about ten days ago at Seventeenth and Middle streets, 150 feet south of Center street, and from there it extended to Twelfth street, about fifty feet north of Center. In some buildings the rafters are pulling apart; the cellar walls contain long and wide openings, and it is impossible to close the doors and shutters, the house having been twisted out of shape by the sinking.

The Borough Council has taken the matter in hand and will take immediate steps to learn the true cause of the trouble and to make repairs to the Washington Fire Company building. In the meantime the people are greatly exercised about the matter, and the fear that the trouble will not end here is prevalent.

TROUBLE IN MONTANA.

Rivals for the Office of Judge Brings Matters to a Crisis.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 14.—There was considerable excitement in the District Court when McHatton, Democrat, and Hamilton, Republican, rivals for the office of Judge claimed a seat on the bench.

The Republican and Democratic Sheriffs in anticipation of trouble were on hand with a large number of deputies. The City Marshal acting on orders from the Mayor swore in twenty special policemen and these armed with Winchesters were stationed around the room.

Judge De Wolfe was on the bench, and after hearing the arguments of the Counsel for both claimants declined to decide the question and adjourned the Court.

McHatton immediately stepped up and took the seat. He directed the Democratic Sheriff elect to convene the Court. His orders were obeyed and Hamilton, the Republican claimant, with his followers, at once left the Court.

Hamilton will appeal to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus compelling McHatton to show by what authority he assumed the office of Judge.

There are a number of prisoners in jail awaiting sentence, and McHatton will undoubtedly order them brought before him. The Republican Sheriff has the keys of the jail and trouble is likely to result.

A BUNGLING EXECUTION.

Hangman Van Hise Made a Poor Job of Murderer Hillman.

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 14.—Hangman Van Hise will not be in demand in future with sheriffs who have criminals to execute, as the hanging of Hillman was a bungling affair. The knot failed to slip and the body hung in midair. His struggling was terrible and he could almost be heard to speak as he groaned. Although pinioned, he managed to get his hands almost to his mouth. Hangman Van Hise released the body to almost within six inches of the scaffold floor and adjusted the knot.

The family refused to allow the physicians to hold a post mortem examination, and the body was immediately taken to Turnersville, and buried on the farm of Ephraim Hillman, the boy's father. Ephraim Hillman, Jr., brother of the murderer, was the only member of the family who witnessed the execution.

Sought Relief in Death.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Suffering for several years from an incurable malady, and the belief that further living would be further suffering, was undoubtedly what caused James H. Blake of this city to seek relief in death. Mr. Blake was well known and much esteemed in the business community. He was long the secretary of the late Nathaniel Thayer, since whose death he had been one of the trustees of the estate. He leaves a widow and one son.

They Want Another Fight.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 14.—Jim Dolan, the well-known sport, says Jack Ashton's friends here are desirous of having him again meet George Godfrey, and that a forfeit would be placed at any time for a contest in this city. A new club is to be formed here and the men who will join it say a $1,500 purse can be raised and that Godfrey can have a chance to place from $2,500 to $4,000 outside.

Alarms by Fishermen.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Nov. 14.—The Maritime Conference has asked Collector Presson to send a representative to Washington to illustrate the method fishermen have of sounding an alarm while at anchor on the banks. Captain George A. Johnson of the Master Mariners' Association has been selected and left for Washington.

Instantly Killed.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 14—Fred. Freeman, of Tupper's Lake, was killed by falling from a pier at the Racquette Lake reservoir (Adirondacks) yesterday. In falling he dislodged a rock which fell upon his back, causing instant death. Thomas Mahan was drowned at the same place. His body has not yet been recovered.

Big Failure in Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—W. F. Johnson & Co., hide and leather, No. 22 Purchase street, have filed a petition in the Insolvency Court at Dedham. They also filed the schedules of their liabilities and assets. The liabilities aggregate $448,836.

Twenty Miners Buried.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—By the caving in of a pit in a coal mine at Ratibor, Prussian Silesia, twenty miners were buried. There is no hope of saving any of them.

KNIGHTS OF THE DIAMOND.

Meetings of the Baseball Organizations and Brotherhood Talk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—To-day the most important of the meetings of the two big baseball organizations, the League and the Association, are on at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

The magnates have announced hitherto that the players would be ignored at this convention. But recently interesting rumors and complications have arisen. One complication is the reported anxiety of Brooklyn and Cincinnati to enter the League. In such an event, it is said, the remaining Association clubs will combine with the Brotherhood.

John Ward said last night that the Brotherhood had purchased the grounds for the Brooklyn Club. They are situated on the corner of Fulton street and Manhattan Beach crossing in that city, and it is stated that the purchase price is $100,000. The grounds are 450x860 feet, and are believed to be owned by Austin Carbin, who, it is said, is the backer of the Brooklyn club.

A Wedding Party Accident.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Nov. 14.—A party of twenty-three persons started from this city yesterday in a large omnibus on their way to a wedding near Waymart, six miles from here. The vehicle was over loaded and about half a mile from Waymart the rear axle snapped, overturning the omnibus and throwing the passengers out with great violence. The injured are: Mrs. Frank E. Burr, arm severly wrenched; Mrs. Washington Burr, face and head cut; Miss Annie McMillan, face bruised and scalp cut; Miss Jean McMillan, face cut and bruised; Mrs. Robert Maxwell, skull fractured, may die; Mrs. J. R. Shepherd, face cut.

Suicide of an Old Man.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—Wm. Griffith, aged 73, sexton of the Strawbridge M. E. Church, committed suicide yesterday in the church by inhaling gas.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Spreckel's first cargo of sugar is being unloaded at Philadelphia.

The Baltimore has left Philadelphia for her second trip.

Wm. Dohohue, aged 30, died in Newark, N. J., from an accidental gunshot wound.

John Carmichael, malster, of Amsterdam, N. Y., made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to James T. Stewart.

Samuel Revill, a laborer in the Sanderson steel works in Syracuse, N. Y., was killed by the bursting of the flywheel of a stationary engine.

The leading manufacturers of loft-dried writing paper in Holyoke, Mass., have concluded to shut down their mills to relieve the market of the surplus now on hand.

James Wardell, a painter, who lived apart from his wife and family at Ocean Grove, N. J., for the past year, and had been drinking heavily, suicided by shooting.

The earnings of the B. & O. R. R for October were $2,224,249; an increase of $370,708 over 1888. The net earnings were $957,513, $293,500 increase over October, 1888.

Mrs. Nathan Lounsbury, of Ridgefield Conn., mother of ex-Governor Lounsberry, has just suffered a stroke of apoplexy. As she is 80 years of age it is feared that she cannot recover.

Thomas W. Barlow, of Philadelphia, has been appointed a member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Public Charities, in place of Colonel Francis Jordan, of Harrisburg, resigned.

Walter C. Potter, of Providence, R.I., who was shot by Peter C. Ferdon on Tuesday, is still alive, but there is no hope of his recovery. Ferdon was arraigned, and in default of $3,000 bail was committed to jail.

The cornerstone of the "Thomas Jefferson" club house in Brooklyn, the headquarters of the democracy of Kings county, was laid with appropriate ceremonies yesterday afternoon. Ex-President Grover Cleveland was present.

The official vote in Iowa for Governor is: Hutchison, Rep., 174,122; Boies, Dem., 179,926; Boies plurality 5,804. For Lieutenant-Governor, Poyneers, 177,400; Bestow, 175,184; Poyneer's plurality 2,216. This shows that the whole Republican ticket save Governor is elected, and the other pluralities will reach nearly 10,000.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—For New England: Rain: stationary temperature; winds becoming westerly, high on the coast.

For Eastern New York, and New Jersey: rain: clearing in New Jersey: slightly cooler; westerly winds, high on the coast.

For Western New York: Fair; clearing on the lakes; no change in temperature; westerly winds.

VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxe

AN ORDINANCE.

for the repairing and permanent improvement of Elm Place.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the road bed of Elm Place for its entire length be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of from six to eight feet each side of the center line thereof and for a depth varying from two to six inches, as circumstances may require, at the general expense of the city to be paid for out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets, as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the road bed of the streets at the general expense." Approved, May 18, 1886.

Adopted by the Common Council, Nov. 4, 1889.
Approved by the Mayor, Nov. 6, 1889.
JOB MALE, Mayor.
Attest:—O. B. LEONARD, City Clerk.

Corporation Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed, preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

OLIVER B. LEONARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., November 4, 1889.

AN ORDINANCE

For changing the name of Putnam street.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1.—That the name of the street now known as Putnam Street be changed so as to be known and designated hereafter by the name of Putnam Avenue.

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S. Ship Kearsarge, writes that he meets people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once. I gained 35 pounds."

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say,

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

We deliver goods everywhere free of charge.

JOINED THE LEAGUE

Cincinnati and Brooklyn Clubs Leave the Association.

BASEBALL CIRCLES EXCITED.

New Haven and Detroit May Take the Deserters' Places.

Classification Abolished by the League and Sales Systems Modified—Six Umpires in Future—President Young Re-Elected—Many Concessions Made to the Players—Ten Clubs Now in the League.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The National Baseball League admitted the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs to membership and will do business during the season of 1890 with ten clubs.

The League did other business of almost as great importance. They adopted a new basis of dividing the gate receipts, which gives the visiting club 40 per cent. They wiped out of existance the obnoxious classification scheme, and they modified the equally obnoxious sale system, so as to take from it many of its objectional features.

Thus it will be seen that the League has done very nearly all that it would have been asked to do by the Brotherhood had that organization made the demands that it originally intended to make.

The admission of Brooklyn and Cincinnati has been expected for a long time by those on the inside, but only within the past twenty-four hours has it been thought possible that there would be a ten-club League, and this was only decided upon when it became evident that Washington and Indianapolis would not withdraw except under coercion.

The Association Surprised.

The action of the League completely upset the American Association people. The Brotherhood men claimed that it was an expression of weakness on the part of the League, but this view was not very extensive. The majority of the baseball men considered it a great stroke of policy that was calculated to injure the Brotherhood, even though done at the risk of disrupting the American Association by taking from it two of its most valuable members.

The probable outcome is that the Association will elect Detroit and New Haven to the vacancies, and go on just as if nothing had happened. Secretary Leadly, of Detroit, was informed officially of the vacancies, and telegraphed to Detroit for instructions.

Changes in League Rules.

Section 35 was amended so that now "no player without the consent of the club with which he is in contract or reservation can negotiate with any other club for his services, but if said consent is given said player may negotiate with any club for his services and receive money consideration therefor which may be accepted by the releasing club." In section 44, which states that four umpires must be selected, the number was increased to five.

The subject of contention was a proposition to increase the visiting club's receipts from 25 to 50 per cent. The Cleveland, Indianapolis, Pittsburg and Washington clubs favored this increase while the wealthy clubs, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia were opposed to it. For two hours there was a dead-lock on the question. Finally the opposition compromised on 40 per cent. This change is made in section 64 of the constitution.

Section 59 was so amended that postponed games can be played at any time afterward, but it was provided that two games should be played in one day without the prior consent of two-thirds of all the League clubs.

After these alterations the convention received the applications of the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs for membership. They were wade out in the form required by the League constitution an were referred to the Board of Directors who reported favorably upon them. The clubs were then elected to membership by acclamation. President Young was authorized to designate and fix a distinctive color for each club uniform.

Then the convention proceeded to the election of officers. Mr. Young was re-elected president. F. de H. Robinson, of Cleveland; W. A. Nimick, of Pittsburg; W. F. Hewett, of Washington, and Charles Byrne of Brooklyn, were elected directors.

The following were the new committees elected:

Schedule Committee—A. H. Soden, of Boston; A. G. Spalding, of Chicago, and W. A. Nimick, of Pittsburg.

Board of Arbitration—Nick Young, John I. Rogers, of Philadelphia, and John B. Day, of New York.

Playing Rules Committee—A. G. Spalding, John B. Day and John I. Rogers.

The contract of printing was awarded to John B. Sage, of Buffalo.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting in New York, and the spring schedule meeting in Cleveland early in March.

A committee of three—Spalding Rogers and Day—were appointed to prepare an address to the public on the admission of Brooklyn and Cincinnati to League membership.

Oarsman Hanlan on the Stage.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 15.—Ned Hanlan made his first appearance on the stage last night, taking the part of the winning oarsman, in the play "The Dark Secret," at the Academy of Music. He will remain with the company all winter, and says that next spring he will try to recover the world's championship.

Fined for Manslaughter.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 15.—Benjamin F. Lawson, a well-known citizen of Prince George's county, was convicted of manslaughter last night for causing the death of Samuel Hodge, an old colored man, on June 21. The Judge fined Lawson $250 as a punishment.

TRIED TO KILL HIS UNCLE.

A Skeleton in the Paterson Closet Leads to an Attempt at Murder.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 15.—Immense excitement was caused here last night over the attempt made by John Paterson, son of millionaire Zekiel Paterson, to shoot William Paterson, his father's brother. William Paterson is also a millionaire.

At 9 o'clock last night he met his nephew in front of Zekiel's residence on George street. The two men were suddenly seen to clinch and then fall and roll about in the mud. Young Paterson drew a revolver and levelled it at his uncle's head. Just as he was about to fire a policeman appeared on the scene and caught young Paterson's arm and took the pistol from him.

A large crowd gathered about the Paterson mansion, eager to learn the cause of the trouble. Young Paterson was taken to jail and locked up. He refused to make any statement regarding the trouble between him and his uncle. The latter also declined to talk about the affair, and said that it was a little family matter with which the public had nothing to do.

It is not believed that the uncle will press the charge against young Paterson.

The Paterson family are well known in this part of New Jersey, and the Paterson brothers are known all over the State on account of their extensive speculations in coal and iron.

FROZE TO DEATH.

A Prominent Farmer Escapes from a Reservoir to Die on the Road.

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 15.—The body of Andrew Eck, a prominent farmer of Brinfield, Portage county, was found lying in the road three miles south of Kent. Eck had frozen to death. His clothing was saturated with water and the cushions of his buggy were found floating in the city's reservoir near Kent.

Investigation proved that he had been drinking and drove into the reservoir losing his horse, after which he started to walk to the home of a relative in the country, but his clothing froze, and after walking about two miles and nearly reaching his destination he fell and froze solid with the mud and water of the road. On his body was found over $1,000 and valuable papers.

REFUSED CATHOLIC BURIAL.

A Supporter of Dr. McGlynn Cannot Repose in Consecrated Ground.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Notwithstanding that Dr. Burtsell, pastor of the Church of the Epiphany, issued a certificate that the late Miss Theresa Kelly, the friend and disciple of Dr. McGlynn, who died suddenly at her home on Oct. 25th, was a Catholic in good standing, the Church has decreed that her remains cannot repose in consecrated ground.

The Catholic Church authorities have decided that her remains cannot be buried in Calvary Cemetery. Her body was temporarily deposited in a receiving vault in that cemetery by direction of Monsignor Preston until her standing in the Church was inquired into.

REFORM AT THE POLLS.

The Democratic Leaders of Virginia Favor the Australian System.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 15.—Notwithstanding the large Democratic majority of last week, the Democratic leaders intend to have the Legislature change the election law. Senator John W. Daniels said that he favored the Australian system, with certain modifications, but he declined to say what the modifications were.

Gov. Lee says a change in the present law is doubtless needed, but he is not prepared to say whether he will recommend the Australian system or not. He is rather inclined to think that the Australian plan, with a few changes might answer.

VAGARIES OF A CRANK.

He Would Like to Kill Cleveland and Says Gov. Hill is His Father.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A man about 30 years of age, respectably dressed, entered the Stanwix Hotel, registered as "F. B. Jacobson, Brooklyn," and engaged a room. Then he went into the street and smashed his umbrella against a lamp post. After that he went to the office of the "Morning Express" and handed in written "charges" against Gov. Hill, whom he declared to be his father. He was arrested soon after. At the station house he gave his occupation as a "statesman." He also declared his intention of killing Grover Cleveland.

The Raymond Arson Case.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 15.—In the Raymond arson case the defendant, Raymond, testified that he had no interest in the burned property, and that the morning after the fire Leeper, the chief witness for the prosecution, met him and proposed to blackmail Mrs. Bouton, the owner of the burned house. Leeper told him they could get $3,000 out of her. Raymond rejected the proposal, but Leeper went to the insurance companies and carried out the plan he had suggested to Raymond.

Believe He is a Murderer.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 15.—Charles Gibson is in custody here on suspicion of having committed a murder at Johnstown, and the authorities at that place have been notified. Gibson was released from jail yesterday after serving a short term for trespass and was rearrested later on receipt of a telegram from Johnstown.

Sitting in a Chair Dead.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15—Mrs. Bertha Millman, wife of W. H. Millman, of the "Tribune," was asphyxiated by gas last evening. Mr. Millman went home to lunch and found his wife sitting in her chair dead. She was a sufferer from catarrh, and could not smell the escaping gas.

THEY WANT JOHN L.

The California Club Asks the Big Fellow's Terms.

HE IS READY TO FIGHT JACKSON

But It Must Be for a Big Purse and He Second-Handed Affair.

He Thinks McCaffery is Only a Second-Rate Fighter—Jack McAuliffe and Mike Daly to Meet in Boston—A Lively Featherweight Contest in Connecticut Resulted in a Draw.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The California Athletic Club has telegraphed John L. Sullivan asking what money he wants to meet Jackson at the club rooms. Sullivan said in regard to Jackson: "You can say that if he fights Kilrain first then the California Club will not get me to meet him. I want the first chance, and a big purse."

The champion has further made up his mind not to pay any attention whatever to the challenges and letters issued by Dominick McCaffrey.

"He is only looking for notoriety," said John, "and trying to give people the impression that he is one of the greatest pugilists in the world, when he is only a second-rate fighter. Let him put up some 'stuff' and then I'll talk business with him, and not before."

John L. intends to go on to New York within ten days to see how his case in Mississippi stands.

Featherweight Fight in Connecticut.

NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 15.—John Slattery and John White, local featherweights, fought ten rounds in a barn near Winnepauk, for glory and a purse of $25. The men fought gamely, and were so evenly matched that a draw resulted. They will fight to a finish for a larger stake some time before December 15.

Another Prize Fight Arranged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A fight has been arranged between Jack McAuliffe, of Brooklyn, and Mike Daly, of Bangor, Me., to take place on December 5 at or near Boston. The articles call for fifteen rounds with two-ounce gloves for $1,000, offered by the Parnell Athletic Club of Boston.

WILL FOUND A NEW ORDER.

Miss Kate Drexel Will Leave the Sisters of Mercy.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 15.—It has been authoritatively announced here that Miss Kate Drexel, known in religion as Sister Catharine, will not remain in the Order of Mercy.

She is merely making her novitiate in that order so that she may become a nun and found a new order.

The sisterhood she will establish, it is said, will be distinctly American, and it will have for its object missionary work and charitable work among the Indians.

Miss Drexel, it is said, will build a house for the proposed order somewhere in the See of Omaha, Bishop O'Connor's diocese, and will endow it handsomely out of her private fortune.

She will obtain recruits from the various orders to assist her in her work, and will establish a novitiate for new members.

She has already adopted a habit for the new order. It resembles the Mercy habit slightly. The veil is shorter, and the dress is made without the regulation trail. The material is coarser than that now used in the habits of the different orders.

The members of the new order will be expected to do all kinds of domestic work, in addition to educating Indians. The name of the order has not yet been decided upon.

GONE DUCK HUNTING.

The President Expected Home To-Day After a Trip to Maryland.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The President stole silently away for a short hunting trip in Maryland, but is expected at the White House sometime to-morrow.

The excursion was arranged by ex-Senator Sewell, of New Jersey, who accompanied the President, but the proposed destination of the party was kept secret, and even Private Secretary Halford was ignorant of the President's whereabouts.

From the fact that E. R. Knight, of Triumph, Maryland, accompanied the President and General Sewell, it is believed that they are quartered at his residence near the above-named place. Mr. Knight is a noted duck hunter, and has sent presents of canvasbacks and redheads to the White House.

Pennsylvanians to Buy Ohio Oil Land.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—A big deal in the Ohio oil fields was consumated today by which J. C. McKinney, of Titusville, Pa., and New York and Pennsylvania capitalists secured 20,000 acres of territory. The company will erect refineries and operate as an independent concern. The land is situated in Finlay and vicinity.

New Jersey Political Gossip.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 15.—The gossips say that Governor Abbett will remove Chief Justice Beasley and Judges Scudder and VanSyckel. Justice Knapp will take the place of Beasley, Law Judge Garretson, of Jersey City, will take the place of Knapp. Law Judge Kirkbridge will get Scudder's place, and Governor Green will relieve VanSyckel.

Another Colliery Shuts Down.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 15.—William L. Scott's Hickory Swamp colliery, employing about 400 men, has suspended operations because of the dullness of the coal trade.

—Mr. Chas S. Guion, who for many years past has conducted an extensive coal and lumber business adjoining the railroad track on Peace street, has retired from active labors, having disposed of his business to Messrs Loomis & Rice, which firm will succeed him at the old stand.

The Last Sad Rites.

The funeral of the late George E. Hoadley, who died on Monday night, took place from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. William Palmer Smith on Belvidere avenue, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, with which the deceased was identified, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Bliss of New York, a former pastor of the church, and the Rev. Mr. Simpson of the Church of Our Saviour at Netherwood.

The house was filled with the relatives and friends of the deceased, including many from New York, Brooklyn and other distant places. The remains were interred in the family plot in Evergreen Cemetery.

Meeting of the A. O. H.

A regular meeting of St. Mary's A. O. H. Society was held last evening, to make arrangements for the forthcoming entertainment on Thanksgiving Day and evening. Messrs. P. Casey, J. Sillery and P. J. Flanagan were appointed a committee of arrangements, and the committee will probably visit Elizabeth in a few days and personally invite the societies of that city to participate.

The Canon of Scripture.

At the young people's meeting at Bethel chapel to night, as announced in yesterday's PRESS, Mr. Richards will talk on "The Canon of Scripture," or how and why the present books found a place in the Bible. Visitors will be welcome.

EXCITING CONTESTS AND A BIG CROWD.

The Bicycle Club's Second Annual Fall Games a Financial Success—Fast Time Made in All the Races.

The Crescent was filled last evening with over a thousand people gathered to witness the Second Annual Tournament of the Plainfield Bicycle Club. Over a hundred stood up during the entire programme, so interested in the exciting events that they were entirely satisfied with standing room only. The door receipts exceeded three hundred dollars.

The entertainment opened with a parade of the Club members on their wheels, led by Captain Martin. Then followed a quarter-mile run for the "Scholars Championship," open only to members of Leal's and the High School. In this race Master E. Frank Vail, of the High School, was the favorite, but he did not get a place. L. E. Waring of Leal's School, and C. H. Angleman of the High School, took first and second medals, respectively. Time, 1:07.

The trial heats in the 70 yards dash, were won by C. G. Halsey, Atlanta Wheelmen; P. O'Hara and T. S. Monahan, West End Athletic Club; W. H. Morgan, Pastime Athletic Club. The first heat was a farce, as all the entries except E. L. Walz, Jr., of this city, started before the signal. Thos. Fay of the West End Club, however, gave the technical rules why the heat should not be run over, and the judges decided accordingly. But Walz had his revenge later. Fay ran first in the third trial heat, but Walz called the referee's attention to the fact that Fay had spikes in his shoes, and the heat was given to the second man. The final was won by Morgan, with Halsey second. Time, 6 4-5 seconds.

The sack race was contested by F. L. C. Martin, Geo. C. Martin, Jr., and A. L. C. Marsh. All took a tumble or two, but Marsh got one foot through the bottom of his bag and won; George Martin second.

The illness of Howard Beebe caused a shortage in the Bicycle Club's tug of war team. This was filled by Daniel C. Adams, and well filled too, but such team had never pulled together before, and although gaining the advantage in the start of both pulls, lost eventually and the Elizabeth Wheelmen team won the flag. The Plainfield men were Robert Rushmore, anchor; and Marion Ackerman, D. C. Adams, and F. W. Walz.

The one mile bicycle race on "Safetys," was won by D. Oakes of the Riverside Athletic Club, although had not Horace Snyder, the fancy rider of Brooklyn, struck a chair in his course and broke his wheel, the result might have been different. Mr. A. L. C. Marsh of the Plainfield Club, also had much bad luck, and was eventually compelled to draw out after he had got tangled up in a falling machine ahead of him. Oakes' time was 4:34½.

The quarter-mile handicap run for the Bicycle Club members only, was won by G. E. Raymond with 40 yards start, in fine style. Geo. Martin, Jr., 45 yards, was second. Time, 60½ seconds.

The hurdle race of 200 yards open to Plainfielders only, was given to H. Morrison, although L. W. Serrell, Jr., protested that Morrison pulled him back. E. L. Walz, Jr., was second. Time, 32 seconds. The three-legged race was won by Messrs F. L. C. Martin and Geo. Martin, Jr., again, who won this race at the last tournament. Messrs A. L. C. Marsh and W. Lee Simmonds, were second.

The running high jump for the Plainfield Club members only, was won by E. L. Walz, Jr., who cleared the bar at 4 feet, 4½ inches; Roger Murray second with one inch less. L. W. Serrell, Jr., was also entered, but was too tired to repeat his record of 5 feet.

The New Jersey Athletic Club entries captured the half-mile run open to everybody and including members of the New York, West End, Rahway, Harlem, Elizabeth, Newark and Pastime Athletic clubs. Wm. S. French, of the N. J. A. C., finished first in 2:22½, with Sid. Bowman of the same club, second.

A consolation race for the Plainfield Club's members only, was won by Roger Erickson, with J. Frank Martin second. The race was two laps on bicycle, one lap walk, and one lap run. The prizes in all the events, except the tug of war, were gold and silver medals.

The following were the efficient Games Officials:

Manager—Townsend Rushmore.
Referee—Geo. C. Pennell, E. W.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Some Interesting Statistics of Their Growth—Mr. Marvin M. Dunham, of this City, Elected a Member of the State Executive Committee.

The second day's session of the New Jersey Sunday School Association, in State Street M. E. church, Trenton, yesterday, was an interesting one. There was an increased attendance, and the business transacted was important to all Sunday school workers.

The Corresponding Secretary, Rev. Samuel W. Clark, of Paterson, read a lengthy report, in which the following figures show the condition of the schools: Number of schools, 1,990: number reporting, 1,864; Union schools, 238; open all the year, 1,649; officers, 11,780; teachers, 24,672; officers and teachers, 33,618; scholars, 247,433; total membership, 381,122; over 18 years of age, 48,536; under 5 years, 19,301; of school age, 179,596; average attendance, 173,649; primary scholars, 73,146; joined the church, 9,777; scholars who are church members, 44,420; given for benevolence, $95,786; for State and county work, $3,187; schools contributing, 1,088.

The gain during the three years in the several items has been as follows: Officers and teachers, 1,682, or 3 per cent.; scholars, 13,270, or 6 per cent.; adult scholars, 5,028, or 10 per cent.; average attendance, 6,426, or 6 per cent.; primary scholars, 9,257, or 14½ per cent.; scholars joining church, 1,317, or 15½ per cent.; benevolent contributions, $25,048, or 35 per cent.; for State and county work, $42, or 1½ per cent.

The Secretary said that the gain in the last three years has been much in excess of the report given to the last convention. The larger gains in adult and primary scholars, while exhibiting growth in the right direction, is not accompanied by a corresponding growth in the number of scholars between these years, which is but three per cent. The spiritual work of the schools shows an increase. The Secretary said he was impressed that there is a falling off in the attention paid to the ingathering of children not within the direct influence of the church, and less growth in the mission department in the Sabbath school than in former years.

The activity of the county work has been upon the increase each year. He called especial attention to the efficient work of retiring Secretaries in several counties. Union Teachers' meetings for the study of the lesson have been established in many counties. In the prosecution of his duties the Secretary has traveled 11,000 miles each year with a yearly average of thirty-five sermons, one hundred addresses, and fifty personal visits in all parts ot the State.

The Secretary said that the future success of the Sunday school depends upon its hearty adoption by the church as a part of itself. He concluded by urging upon the Triennial Convention the suggestions made by the last Executive Committee.

At the election of officers of the State Association, held during the afternoon, Mr. Marvin M. Dunham, of this city, was selected as the member of the Executive Committee from Union county.

Death of Mr. James Mullen.

It is with sincere regret that we, today, record the death of Mr. James Mullen, which occurred at his home on West Fifth street, during last night, after a short illness from pneumonia. The deceased was sixty-two years of age, and has been a resident of this city for many years past. He leaves a widow, one son and three daughters.

Mr. Mullen was a man both well and favorably known here. For a long time past he had been a trusted and valued employee of Mr. Geo. H, Babcock of Eighth street. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, from St. Mary's church.

Last Night's Meeting.

There was an increased attendance at the temperance revival meeting in Music Hall, last evening, and much enthusiasm was manifested throughout the proceedings.

Rev. Dr. D J. Yerkes conducted the devotional exercises, and Mr. Burdick, when announced, gave one of his stirring addresses, dwelling at length on the importance of individual work, and the necessity of giving up moderate drinking in the homes.

The meeting to-night will be for men only.

An Important Factor in Railroad Travel.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is making experiments with a fire proof railway car. The distinctive feature of the car is that it is all iron and steel. The roof, sides and ends of the car are made of boiler plate riveted together. The car is somewhat in the shape of a horseshoe, the round part being the top.

It is claimed that it will not burn, and will not telescope or break up in a collision. If, on testing it, the company finds that it will run smoothly and be comfortable for the occupants, it will be adopted.

A certain philanthropist buys a large quantity of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup every Winter and gives it to the poor suffering from coughs and colds.

—Take your boy to hear Burdick, at Music Hall, to-night.

THE CARLETON OPERA COMPANY.

An Interesting Interview With Mr. Edgar Strakosch, the Manager.

Edgar Strakosch, whose name is well-known in the operatic world, was in the city yesterday arrranging for the appearance of the Carleton Opera Company at Music Hall, next Thursday evening.

Mr. Strakosch has piloted many of the famous operatic singers through the country, including Gerster, Kellogg, Emma Thursby and Hauck. He has abandoned grand opera and entered the light opera. His experience teaches him that the latter pays the best, if properly managed and put before the public as it ought to be. Mr. Strakosch is enthusiastic in his praises of the performances of the Carleton Opera Company, which he pronounces superior to the presentations of any other light opera company in the country.

"Vocally, dramatically and mechanically Mr. Carleton's productions are par excellence," said Mr. Strakosch to a PRESS reporter. "I am confident," added he, "that the opera lovers of Plainfield will enjoy our performances next week. As a director of comic opera Mr. Carleton has no rival in America. His company this season is pronounced by the ablest critics one of the best on the road. It is headed by Mr. Carleton, himself, who needs no introduction to the Plainfield public. Miss Clara Lane is a singer who made a prominent hit last season. She is what is rare on the stage—a good singer who can act. She is a ladies' favorite. She assumes the part of 'Fragoletto,' a farmer's boy, in 'The Brigands.' A great favorite, Miss Alice Carle, who is well-known here, sings the part of 'Fiorella,' the brigand chief's daughter. Miss Alice Carle's beauty is of the type which fits the character admirably. She has a handsome form and an excellent contralto voice. Our baritone, J. K. Murray, has a strong voice and is a capable actor. Charles Bigelow is the chief comedian of the company. The chorus consists of good-looking girls, with fresh voices, and they are well drilled. All of our costumes are entirely new and handsome, and some of them are worth hundreds of dollars. The value of costumes for 'The Brigands' is $8,000. It is impossible to describe the costumes—they must be seen to be admired."

"Tell us something about the opera, 'The Brigands.'"

"The opera had a run of 125 nights in New York. We played two weeks to nearly $20,000 in Philadelphia, and in Toronto people were turned from the doors. We will play a return engagement in the latter city. The music of the opera is tuneful and catchy, and is, like all popular music, whistled on the streets. The plot is not complicated, and after the style of 'Erminie.' The libretto is one of the best lately written."

"HELPING" A FALLEN BROTHER.

The "Fireman's Herald" Can Tell Hypocrisy Twenty-four Miles Away.

"A woman in Plainfield, N. J.," says the Fireman's Herald, of New York, "some years ago made an affidavit in which she charged a certain man with setting fire to the City Hotel stables. The affidavit in several instances speaks of a second man, and a paper of that city now says:"

It seems that the second man referred to was a prominent member of the old fire department abolished by the city. Through frequenting saloons he had gone lower and lower, until by the affidavits of the woman referred to and others, he became implicated with the firebugs, though perhaps innocent of all active participation in their hellish schemes further than having guilty knowledge of them. Well, he suddenly in a reflective mood realized the depth to which he had fallen through his bibulous habits and associates. Exposure would ruin his business and drive him out of Plainfield, even if he escaped the State Prison. Upon realizing this he went before a justice of the peace privately, and made a most solemn oath, not to taste, touch or handle the accursed stuff again. One trusty friend witnessed the vow and so determined was the fireman to reform himself that he took this oath so that when he might be tempted he would be restrained by it. That was nearly two years ago, and the ex-fireman has so far lived an exemplary life. People have noticed this marked change for the better, little dreaming of the incidents which led up to it.

"The circumstances which have conspired to bring this matter up at this time reflect no credit upon the woman, and completely destroy any value that might have attached to her affidavit. And the Plainfield paper has displayed very little journalistic tact and less charity in following up its victim years after he had turned over a new leaf and determined to lead another life. Is this that paper's idea of helping a fallen brother?"

—The Street Commissoner has been directing his attention to West Fourth street for a day or two. The gutters have been plowed up and the road bed put in good condition for the Winter.

LILLIAN RUSSELL ELOPES.

This Time She Captures a Young New York Club Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Lillian Russell, who is the heroine of so many matrimonial escapades, has added one more to the list by eloping with Mr. Sanford, the young New York club man, who for some time back is alleged to nave paid the fair Lillian great attention.

Mr. Sanford has been hanging around the fair Lillian ever since she came here to play the part of Fiorella in Rudolph Aronson's "Brigands" Company at McVicker's theatre.

Everything was arranged for the Eastern flight last evening after Lillian had returned to her hotel from the theatre, and the devoted pair took the limited express for the Empire City.

Sanford is said to be quite a swell with a wealthy father.

BURIED UNDER COAL.

Four Men Fatally Injured While Extinguishing a Colliery Fire.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 15.—A force of fifteen men was put at work last night in the Middle Creek colliery, near Tremont, to extinguish a fire in a coal breast. While they were at work at an early hour this morning a mass of coal fell burying four of their number at the face of the burning breast.

When rescued the men were all alive, but so badly burned and injured that they cannot recover. The names of the victims are: Frank Klein, John Jones Henry Koehler and Thos. Jones.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A rich vein of silver is reported to have been found at Randolph, N. Y.

Gov. Ames, of Massachusetts, has issued his proclamation appointing Thursday, November 28, as Thanksgiving Day.

The Waterbury, Conn., Board of Trade, has passed resolutions favoring New York as the place to hold the World's Fair.

Daniel J. Kelly's barn in Auburn, Mass., was burned with thirty head of stock, six horses and vehicles and tools. Insured for $3,300.

Joseph Plummer, aged 84, is dead, near Sanford, Ky. It is said he went without food for forty days, his weight declining from 225 to 125.

David Brown, aged 75, of Atkinson, Me., was thrown from a carriage and killed by a runaway horse. His two daughters were badly injured.

An old soldier named John Henry, on his way to the Soldiers' Home at Erie, fell or jumped from a train at Williamsport, Pa., and was instantly killed.

Reports received show that there has been a general fall of snow throughout the entire northwest, with every prospect of a continuance. It is growing colder.

A beer pool, similar to that at St. Louis, has been organized at Pittsburg to defeat the Journeymen's Union and regulate the price of beer. The men will strike.

Hon. Demas Strong, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been a Congressman and has held many important public and financial positions, is dying of paralysis.

Carrie Delano, aged 22, daughter of A. E. Delano, committed suicide by hanging in her parents' woodshed, at Weymouth, Mass. No cause can be given for the act.

R. Busch, aged 19, son of Rev. Busch, pastor of the Dutch Church at Passaic, N. J., was drowned in the Passaic River while watering his horse. The horse was also drowned.

Charles S. Blake, who, on February 2, 1885, was sentenced at Worcester, Mass., to five years in State's prison for forgery, has been pardoned. He is dying of consumption.

"Dr." Bradbury, the bogus medical diploma dealer, in jail at Portsmouth, N. H., has filed before U. S. Commissioner Foster at Concord a petition to be discharged from imprisonment by reason of inability to pay fine and costs.

William H. Furmans, a real estate and money banker and long a prominent resident of Pontiac, Ill., has taken to flight, fearing arrest on account of forgeries which it is believed will aggregate $100,000.

The first vessel to pass through the Muscle Shoals Canal system arrived at Chattanooga, yesterday. The canals were begun by the Government in 1873, and nearly $4,000,000 has been expended on them. They give Chattanooga a water outlet to the Mississippi.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. THE SUSPECTS' DAY

Lawyers for the Defense in the Cronin Trial Very Busy.

CHANGE IN THEIR PROGRAMME

The Closing Evidence for the State Upset Their Plans.

Mrs. Hoertel's Testimony Spoiled the Scheme for Claiming it was Not Cronin's Body—The Prisoners Will Stick to Their Original Stories—Editor Clancy Testifies Against O'Sullivan.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—This was a busy day for lawyers on both sides. Those who are defending the five accused men have had their hands full in getting ready for the presentation of their side. They were surprised by the strength of the State's case against Burke, O'Sullivan and Coughlin.

The finding of Dr. Cronin's clothes and professional effects in the Evanston avenue sewer has upset all their plans to contest the identification of the body. Mrs. Hoertel's story locating the murdered man at the Carlson cottage about the time he would have arrived there from his home is a strong link in the chain of evidence, and the effect of which on the jury it will be hard for the defense to overcome.

J. J. Clancy, a newspaper man from New York, testified briefly to an interview he had with O'Sullivan shortly after Dr. Cronin's body was found in which O'Sullivan denied all connection with the Clan-na-Gael, acquaintance with Dan Coughlin and Alexander Sullivan, and a great many other material facts that have since came out in evidence.

What the Defence Will Try to Prove.

It is settled that the suspects will all stick to the stories they have told from the beginning. Detective Dan Coughlin will attempt to prove that it was not Dinan's white horse that drove Dr. Cronin to his death. It is said that Mr. Forrest has two witnesses who will swear that they saw Dr. Cronin near Lincoln Park, on the evening of May 4, and that the horse was a dark bay. Those two witnesses will testify it is said, that they bowed to Cronin and that he returned the salutation.

The ice man, O'Sullivan, will show by seven witnesses that he was not away from his house on the night of May 4th after 7 o'clock. It is alleged that five of his men came home at 9 o'clock, and that Sullivan got up and let them in.

Martin Burke, the chief conspirator, will try to prove that when arrested at Winnipeg he was on his way to England to do "active work" for the Clan-na-Gael. That was the reason he assumed the name of W. J. Cooper. His flight from Chicago will also be accounted for in a very plausible manner. He hired the Carlson Cottage for Patrick Cooney, not knowing what it was to be used for. He will prove by several witnesses that he was in the town of Lake on the night of the murder.

Kunze will deny everything and offer in evidence the time book of the man he worked for on Cottage Grove avenue. It is said that the book shows that Kunze worked until 5 o'clock, May 4.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Biggar Objects to Examining the Bank Account of the League.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—It is stated that Sir James Hannen will decline to accept the peerage which it is understood that Lord Salisbury will offer him for his services to the Conservative party in his conduct of the "Times" case against Mr. Parnell.

His reason for this is that his elevation to the peerage would injure the prospects of his oldest son, James Chitty Hannen, who is a registrar in the Probate Court, of which Sir James himself is president.

Sir Henry James is suffering from a cold and is quite hoarse, but it is not likely that he will ask the Court to adjourn on his account.

A proposition to introduce the testimony of the cashier of the National Bank with regard to the accounts of the National League, was objected to by Mr. Biggar on the ground that any statement about the personal accounts of members of the League was irrelevant. Judge Hannen suggested that Mr. Biggar be present when the "Times" examined the accounts in order to prevent any trespassing on private business. Sir Henry James then resumed his address.

VISITING THE VATICAN.

Home Rulers Suspicious of England's Representative.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—General Simmons, who goes to Rome ostensively to confer with the Vatican authorities, with regard to the status of the Catholics of Malta, is expected to arrive at the Italian capital to-morrow.

The character of his mission is mistrusted by the Nationalists here, who are naturally suspicious of the sudden anxiety evinced by the Pope to please England, and his movement will be watched as closely as the peculiar surroundings of the Vatican will permit.

If it shall turn out that the visit is really made with the object stated, and not for the purpose of endeavoring to persuade His Holiness to still further turn his face against the aspirations of the Home Rule element in Ireland, the discovery will occasion as much surprise as gratification among the Nationalist leaders.

Fall River Weavers on Strike.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 15.—All the weavers in the Hargraves mill have struck because no answer had been received from Superintendent Boyle to their complaints that they are not paid as much per cent. as weavers in other mills, and that they were obliged to wait for wages. The Weavers' Protective Association was notified, and Secretary Connelly will advise the strikers what to do.

Mrs. Harrison at the Opera.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Harrison will attend the performance of the Juch Opera Company to-night to hear "Der Freischutz." Secretary Noble and his family occupied a box at the performance of "Maritana" last night.

Will Meet Next in Atlanta.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Executive Committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union selected Atlanta, Ga., as the place of the next annual meeting.

LAST DAY AT BALTIMORE.

Cardinal Gibbons Holds a Reception in the City Hall.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 15.—"Baltimore Day" in the Catholic celebration was wholly occupied in pleasure seeking. About 300 priests and laymen met at Concordia Opera House, where carriages where in waiting to take them sight-seeing. Druid Hill Park was visited and other places of interest and attraction. Dinner was served at St. Mary's Industrial School. A reception was tendered to the Archbishop and other clergy and laity in the afternoon at the city Hall. Cardinal Gibbons was assisted by Mayor Latrobe and Mayor-elect Davidson and Bishop Virtue of England.

About 3,500 people shook hands with the Cardinal in the two hours, many of whom were among Baltimore's most prominent citizens, including President Mayer, of the Baltimore and Ohio; C. K. Lord, vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio; Enoch Pratt and Thos. Jenkins.

Cardinal Taschereau left for home, and Bishop Montes d'Oca, of Mexico, went to New York. Most of the clergy and visiting laity have gone to their various homes.

The Catholics of Baltimore have arranged for a big mass meeting to be held on Sunday at the Academy of Music, in advocacy of the high-license movement. Cardinal Gibbons will preside.

WORK OF THE KNIGHTS.

Powderly Congratulated by a Committee of Ladies for Being a Prohibitionist.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 15.—The Knights of Labor Convention received a delegation from the city and State W. C. T. U. societies. A speech was made by Miss Stokes during which she congratulated Master Workman Powderly on having excluded rum sellers from the order, and on being himself a Prohibitionist.

Mr. Powderly replied by answering that they would always find their firmest allies among the Knights of Labor.

When the ladies had withdrawn the report of the Law Committee was taken up the reading of which was postponed.

Some very important changes in the by-laws and constitution were suggested. The most important change made was to allow the transfer of a local assembly to any District Assembly or to the General Assembly without the consent of either the District, National Trade or State Assembly, as heretofore required. It was proposed to amend the fourth plank of the platform, and a long discussion followed. The matter will be taken up and settled on Monday.

MRS. COPE'S HALLUCINATIONS

She Put a Cross Over a Door as a Protection Against Catholics.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The consideration of the application of C. Oscar Beasley on behalf of Porter F. Cope and Mrs. Emma D. Coolidge for a commission in lunacy for Mrs. Josephine P. Cope was to have been heard yesterday, but owing to another case, was postponed by Judge Hore until to-day.

Four affidavits were filed in support of the lunacy of Mrs. Cope. They set forth that Mrs. Cope has gradually been growing worse for the past three or four months; that she complained that she did not have property enough; that she was afraid of Catholics and Jesuits, because they had a conspiracy to do something to her; that she was afraid of being poisoned, accusing her best friends of this; that she intended to have a large cross put over her door to protect her from the Catholics; that she was careless with money, a $5,000 United States bond having been found among some rubbish in her room, and that she was unable to take care of herself.

SICKNESS AT WEST POINT.

Over 150 Cadets Taken to the Hospital From a Peculiar Attack.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A report reaches here that half the corps of cadets at West Point (upwards of 150), had reported at the hospital ill from poisoning.

It turns out that the illness occurred a few days ago; that it was not poisoning but a trouble of the bowels, and the attack was general with all connected with the mess hall—drivers, gardeners, waiters, &c., faring as bad as the cadets. Even those who had not tasted food at the mess were as badly affected as the others.

The surgeon had his hands full of business for a time, but all recovered and General Wilson, the superintendent, appointed a commission consisting of Commandant Hawkins, the post surgeon, and Major W. F. Spurgin, who is in charge of the men, to investigate the case.

SIX MEN KILLED.

Two Others Had Their Eyes Blown Out by a Premature Blast.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 15.—Six men were instantly killed on the construction branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad, fifteen miles east of here, by the premature explosion of a blast. The men were employed in a cut blasting rock. Two others had their eyes blown out.

The killed were: Con Sullivan, the foreman; John Dell, A. W. Larson, T. O. O'Leary, Ham Ross, A. Finn.

Will Pay Forty Cents on the Dollar.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—John E. Hamilton, corn packer, Garland, Me., owes about $40,000, with nominal assets of about $23,500, encumbered to some extent by mortgages. It is thought that the creditors will not get over 40 cents on the dollar. A committee of investigation has been chosen.

Thanked by a Highwayman.

ROSEBURG, Oregon, Nov. 15.—A lone highwayman held up the Coos Bay stage, cut open and rifled the letters and registered pouches, handed them back to the driver, thanked him politely, and bade him God-speed as the stage moved on.

Republicans Gain an Assemblyman.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 15.—The Republicans have gained an Assemblyman in the 12th District of Kings county. The Board of Canvassers decided that Charles J. Kurth, Republican, has defeated Mortimer C. Earl, Democrat.

After Jimmy Hope.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 15.—Detective Vandegrift left for New York today to arrest Jimmy Hope, the well-known bank burglar, who is held there awaiting the requisition of the Delaware authorities.

LITERARY BREVITIES.

GENERAL LEW WALLACE has received $45,000 for his famous story, "Ben Hur."

LORD TENNYSON asserts that his forthcoming volume of poems will be his last contribution to literature.

GEORGE ELIOT'S novel, "Romola," was a bad bargain for her publisher. He paid her $35,000 for it, and of the first expensive edition only fifteen hundred copies were sold.

MISS MARY AGNES TINCKER, the author of "Signor Monaldini's Niece" and of "Two Convicts," is said to be the daughter of a warden of the Maine State prison, who met a tragic death at the hands of a convict.

THE attempt to popularize George Eliot's works in France has failed, her novels remaining on the publisher's hands. M. Zola explains this failure by saying that George Eliot's philosophy is too sad and dull for the Latin races.

THE highest price which Wilkie Collins ever received for a novel was five thousand guineas, which was paid to him for "Armadale" by George Smith before a line of the story, which originally appeared in the Cornhill Magazine, had been written.

A WRITER in the Fortnightly Review says that there are no English novelists of sufficient genius and hold upon the public to enable them to drive out the rabble of trash-mongers, and that all the greatest writers of fiction at the present time are foreigners.

THE literary world is again surprised by finding another feminine writer behind a masculine name. Graham R. Thomson, whose exquisite verses have been a feature of Scribners' Magazine, is a young and beautiful Englishwoman with the commonplace name of Mrs. Sharp.

THE popularity among the English people of good books in cheap editions has received another illustration. A sixpenny edition of Charles Kingsley's "Westward, Ho!" was lately issued, and in a few days after it appeared on the bookstalls there were one hundred thousand copies in circulation.

HELEN HUNT JACKSON, Josephine Hunt, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Sidney Bradford, Albert Hardy and several others have at different times been accredited with the authorship of that somewhat ardent poem, "You Kissed Me." The real author appears to have been Miss Frona Corey, of Almond, N. Y.

WILKIE COLLINS left his "Blind Love" about three-fourths completed, although he had drawn up an elaborate synopsis of the concluding portion, which Walter Besant has undertaken to use in completing the work. In England, as well as here, the demand for Collins' stories has greatly increased since his death.

THE most noted woman novelist in Germany, Fanny Lewald, recently died in Dresden at the age of seventy-eight. Her father was a Hebrew merchant. She traveled with him a great deal, and spent much time on the Baltic coast. At first she wrote fairy tales, but finally devoted herself to novels on political and social motives. She was a fascinating woman and lived a very romantic life.

MANUSCRIPTS OF AUTHORS.

GEORGE SAND wrote neatly upon nicely ruled note paper.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S manuscript verses are easily deciphered.

CHARLOTTE BRONTE wrote in the minutest of characters in a diminutive note book.

MISS ALCOTT did some of her best work on the back of her father's old manuscript.

SOME of Mark Twain's jokes are said to have originally occupied entire sheets of cardboard.

CHARLES DICKENS covered every inch of his manuscript, as though paper were scarce and dear.

DOUGLAS JERROLD jotted down his witty inspirations on narrow, ribbon-like strips of blue paper.

THE novelists, Charles Reade and Victor Hugo, preferred immense sheets of paper, with a blunt lead pencil.

BOTH William Black and R. D. Blackmore cover dainty sheets of note paper with their almost microscopic chirography.

LEW WALLACE writes his first draft upon a slate and finishes upon large sheets of white unruled paper, in a most faultless chirography.

OUIDA covers large sheets of blue paper with an almost undecipherable chirography, written in an exceedingly bold and masculine hand.

MISS BRADDEN is stated to have penned some of her most thrilling passages on torn envelopes or any other bit of paper that came to hand.

WILKIE COLLINS wrote on very large sheets of paper, and his copy is said to abound in alterations, excisions and scraps of pasted manuscript.

MRS. LUCY STONE BLACKWELL was accustomed to write her editorials for the Woman's Journal on the backs of circulars and similar scraps of waste paper.

MR. SHORTHOUSE, the author of "John Ingelesant," is reported to have violated all the canons of the printing office by sending in copy for that once popular novel written on both sides of paper of various sizes.

HUMORS OF THE IRISH.

"ARRAH! Where will you find a modern building that has lasted as long as the ould wan?"

"He's so thin I'd hardly know him. You're thin and I'm thin, but he's thinner than both of us put together."

A PARTY at cards. One player remarked—"Here is a shilling short." "Who put it in?" asked an Irishman present.

AN Irishwoman, uninvited to a wake—"Well, well, I'll have a corpse of my own in my house some day, an' thin you'll see who'll be invited."

A PAUPER woman, who was being commiserated for having lost all her teeth—"Shure, an' isn't it time to lose thim whin I've nothing for thim to do?"

"PAT," said a field officer, "go to your captain and tell him you're the laziest rascal in the regiment." "Plase, yer honor, wud ye have me go to the captain wid a lie in me mouth?"

GOSSIP OF THE GREAT.

MENELIK III., King of Abyssinia, is the son of a beggar woman who took the fancy of his royal father.

PRINCESS LOUISE, Duchess of Fife, is fond of drawing, and is said to be a really meritorious artist.

THE King of Bavaria receives an income of $1,000,000 a year from the profits of the Hofbrauhaus brewery.

THE Grand Duchess Sergius, of Russia, is a distinguished authoress, now writing the lives of the Empresses of Russia.

THE Shah of Persia begot a peculiar passion in England. He became infatuated with cape-coats and had a large number made of all colors and from various kinds of materials.

QUEEN VICTORIA doesn't wear a great deal of fur. She has an odd cloak, however, in which she comfortably incases herself when traveling in the cold weather. It is made entirely of ermine, and the ermine is outside. The cloak gives her a very regal appearance.

THE Empress and members of the aristocracy of Japan have given up the idea of adopting the Western styles of dress for women. The Parisian models did not please the people in general, and the historic costumes will again be worn exclusively. The great "lady tailoring establishment" in Tokio, which has been under the charge of a Parisian, has closed its doors for lack of work to do.

ACCORDING to the Vossiche Zeitung, of Berlin, ex-Empress Frederick took with her to England six large trunks filled with precious articles left by Emperor Frederick. The Prince of Wales will receive the Emperor's chronometer, and Queen Victoria the desk used by him from the beginning of his illness. Each member of the English royal family will also receive a memorial of the deceased monarch.

THE rumor that the Prince of Wales is suffering from Bright's disease seems to be confirmed. There is no doubt that the English royal family is plunged in gloom, and that Victoria is worried about the succession. According to the latest reports the Prince's physicians have informed him that he has not more than two years' lease of life. His trip to Egypt will be undertaken to relieve, if possible, his mind of its present despairing tone. He has always had a presentiment that he would never be King of England, and he is now convinced that his forebodings were correct.

THE young German Emperor has shown himself a most astonishing traveler during his short reign. He came to the throne in June, 1888. Since that time he has spent less time at home than in traveling, having visited the following places: St. Petersburg, Denmark, Sweden, Frankfort, Sonnenburg, Dresden, Detmold, Stuttgart, Munich, Vienna, Rome, Naples, Hamburg, Leipzig, Breslau, Wilhelmshaven, Stettin, Buckeburg, Posen, Oldenburg, Schwedt, Weimar, Eisenach, Kiel, Brunswick, Sigmaringen, Norway, England, Bayreuth, Karlsruhe, Strasburg, Metz, Munster, Dresden, Minden and Hanover.

ABOUT PEOPLE OF NOTE.

MRS. SHAW, the American whistler, has lately had a photograph of herself taken in London for exhibition. It is over nine feet high and is probably the largest ever printed.

THOMAS A. EDISON made a strong impression in England through his conservatism. He is not fond of what is called "society," and his refusal to be lionized added to his dignity in the eyes of exclusive Britishers.

EX-GOVERNOR WILLIAM PITT KELLOGG thinks he has broken the record as a transatlantic traveler. He turned up at his New York hotel the other day after an absence of twenty-eight days, during which he had spent two days in London, a week at the Paris exposition and half a day at Berlin.

THE pension agent at Chicago is Mrs. Marion A. Mulligan, widow of Colonel Mulligan, who was killed at Winchester, Va., in 1864. For three years she has administered the affairs of her responsible office with remarkable success, and in that time nearly $25,000,000 has passed through her hands.

MR. LEWIS MORRIS was chosen to write an ode to Queen Victoria on her recent visit to Wales. This makes of him a sort of brevet laureate, and it is thought not improbable that on the death of Lord Tennyson he will be promoted to that post. As he is a personal friend of the Prince of Wales the rumor is not without probability.

THE only gift, so far as known, that Jay Gould ever made to a church hangs in the belfry of the little wooden church at Roxbury, N. Y. It is a large, deep-toned bell, which cost Mr. Gould $3,000. The villagers are very proud of the gift, and they still point out to visitors a weather-beaten farm-house, about four miles from the town, where Mr. Gould was born.

A SCHOOL-GIRL frolic was given in honor of Mrs. Cleveland by her college mates during her recent trip to Buffalo. The refreshments were crackers passed around in paper bags, and the pickles were out in force, while sardines were eaten with fingers instead of forks, and relished as in the old days of dormitories and early rising. The occasion was enlivened by reminiscences of school-day escapades, when oysters were fried over a gas-jet and cheese toasted on hairpins.

AN English reporter, interviewing Mme. Bernhardt, asked: "Where are the young lions, madame?" "Ah, the dear things," she said; "I had to leave them in Paris. The poor little tiger, you know, is dead. I grieved for him much—more than my friends did, I am afraid." "And the famous coffin with the satin linings. Have you that still?" "Oh, yes; that is in Paris, too." "Is it true, madame, that you used to sleep in it." "Well, yes, I did sleep in it, but not always. It was this way: My sister was very ill. I wanted to be with her at night, and, not being able to share her bed, I had the coffin carried into her room and slept there. I keep the coffin still, but I have come to the conclusion that I will not be buried in it. I will be cremated."

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, lor a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

BASEBALL FIGHTERS

Kansas City Drops Out of the Association.

THE LEAGUE'S GUNS LEVELED.

A Resolution Adopted to Check the Stampede for Players.

Kansas City Left the Camp for the Western Association—A General Breaking Up is Feared—The Last Measures of the League—Syracuse Applies for Admission in the Association.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The National League delegates completed their labors at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night and most of them left town.

Open war has at last been declared on the Brotherhood and the guarantee fund of the League is to be used in the legal battle against the players.

President Brush says that the Indianapolis Club will certainly remain in the League. Washington does not seem so firm.

Mr. Rogers reported that a number of players reserved by League clubs had declared their intentions to violate the reserve, and he moved a resolution, which was adopted, providing that the League give its aid to the club members in the enforcement of the contractural rights of the clubs to the service of its reserve players for the season of 1890. The resolution further provided for the appointment of a committee of three to enforce the contractural rights of the clubs, and authorizing the committee to draw upon the guarantee fund of the League for money. Messrs. Day, Rogers and Byrne were appointed on the committee.

Mr. Spalding offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing that no League club shall enter into negotiations or contract with the players not under League reservation, or enter into negotiations with any club for the transfer of any of its players until February 3, 1890.

A Negotiation Committee, including Messrs. Byrne, Young and Reach, was appointed to consider all applications from players desiring positions on League teams as well as applications from club members of the National Agreement wishing to dispose of the releases of their players.

Another resolution was adopted providing that all league clubs, in order to secure the services of such players, will indicate to the chairman the position to be filled and the names of the players wanted, and upon the unanimous consent of said committee a contract may be executed between a club and any player so approved and promulgated in the usual manner. After this work the League adjourned.

The Association meeting was a lively one. But little actual work was accomplished. Zach Phelps was elected president-secretary-treasurer, and C. Borne was elected vice-president

Messrs. Whitaker, Lazarus and Von der Ahe were appointed a committee on applications. Syracuse, Detroit and Rochester will probably be admitted today.

Messrs. Barnie, Phelps and Whitaker have the duty of revising the Association's constitution.

The Kansas City team formally resigned and then announced that it would enter its team in the Western Association.

A Brotherhood player offered to sign a New York club contract yesterday, but the price was so high that his offer was refused.

Indianapolis in a Tight Place.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—The sentiment here, as expressed by the treasurer of the club and other officers in the city, is that Indianapolis will go out of the League and sell her players to Cincinnati. There is hardly sufficient support for a League club, and Cincinnati is near enough to interfere with business.

The Brotherhood Secure Kilroy.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The Brotherhood Club of this city have secured Kilroy, late of Baltimore, one of the best pitchers in this country. He is a left-hander, and in fielding last season he stood fourth in the American Association.

FLOOD SUFFERERS.

Malarial and Typhoid Fevers Prevalent in Several Pennsylvania Towns.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. Nov. 16.—The evil effects of the June flood on the health of the people of this city and adjacent river towns are beginning to appear. The flood left a heavy deposit of foul mud everywhere, from which the germs of disease have emanated all summer, vitiating the blood and undermining the health of the people.

In this city alone 150 cases of malarial and typhoid fever have developed during the last two or three weeks, while at Farrandsville, Wayne, Pine, North Point, Mill Hall and other places a large proportion of the residents are sick. Several deaths have occurred.

In Favor of Jimmy Hope.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The indictment against Jimmy Hope for complicity in the Manhattan Bank robbery of 1879 was dismissed by Recorder Smyth. The District Attorney did not oppose the dismissal, as the witnesses for the people are all dead and Hope could not be convicted.

A Canal Partly Abandoned.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov. 16.—That portion of the Pennsylvania Canal between Bald Eagle Dam, Clinton county, and Loyalsock Creek, Lycoming county, a distance of 55 miles, has been abandoned for public use. Notices informing the public of the abandonment have been posted along the canal.

WORTHLESS DEBTS.

A Supreme Court Decision in Favor of Dissatisfied Property Owners.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 16.—Several cities by the sea are in a dilemma because of a recent decision of the supreme court. They were organized as boroughs and the court has decided that the act under which they were incorporated is unconstitutional. This is a victory for dissatisfied property owners at Somer's Point, who objected to its borough government.

The other cities affected by the decision are Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Avalon, Anglesea, Holly Beach, Wildwood, Cape May Point, South Atlantic City, Beach Haven, Barnegat City, Laralette, Point Pleasant and Atlantic Highlands. The total bonded indebtedness of these boroughs is $250,000, and the decision makes the bonds worthless. The boroughs will also be unable to collect taxes or make improvements until the court of errors and appeals reverses the decision or the legislature comes to their aid.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS,

A Traveling Agent Runs Away Leaving His Family Destitute.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Orrin W. Fyler, formerly a farmer at Marcellus, this county, but more recently a traveling agent for Aultman, Miller & Co., the Buckeye Mower and Binder manufacturers at Akron, Ohio, whose headquarters in this State are at Rochester, disappeared about three weeks ago, and now the discovery is made, it is alleged, that he is about $400 short in his accounts. It has also been learned that he mortgaged all his personal property for every dollar that he could secure. Then he came to this city and bought on credit a fine suit of clothes and other things and drove away to parts unknown.

He took with him a young woman from Camillus.

His wife and five children are left destitute.

APOSTATE MORMONS.

They Make Terrible Accusations Against the Endowment House.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 16.—Several Mormons have applied for citizenship, and objection has been raised on the ground that Mormons who pass through the Endowment House are obliged to take oaths such as unfit them for citizenship. The court is taking testimony on this point, and several apostate Mormons have made under oath terrible accusations against the Church.

They say that persons admitted through the Endowment House swear to obey the priesthood above all other powers on earth, and to aim at the destruction of the United States Government.

The penalty of violating or divulging the oath is to have the bowels cut out and the throat and tongue cut, and several witnesses swore that they had seen this done. They also testified that the Church had instigated the Mountain Meadow massacre.

THEY DENY IT.

The Civil Service Commissioners Court an Investigation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The statement going through the press to the effect that the Civil Service Commission is preparing for a Congressional investigation is news to the commission. Commissioner Lyman says he had heard nothing about it, but he had no fears of the result should Congress decide to make such an investigation.

In regard to the statement that a discharged clerk of the commission had been approached by missionaries of one of the commissioners to keep silent Mr. Lyman said that as far as he knew it was false. Commissioner Roosevelt said: "It is a lie, pure and simple."

Two Children Burned to Death.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 16.—David, the four-year-old son, and Kitty, the two-year-old daughter of Robert Hennessey, of Danbury, were playing with the fire in their home on Beaver street while their mother was hanging clothes in the yard. Both were burned so badly that they died almost instantly. The third child, still younger, saw the sufferings of the other two and toddled out, bringing the mother in, but relief came too late.

A Chair in the Catholic University.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—A meeting of the general committee of the Catholic Total Abstinence Societies of America was held here to take steps for raising a fund of $50,000 to endow a chair in Washington University in memory of Father Mathew, the Apostle of Temperance. A number of names were added to the National Committee, and each member was assigned a certain portion of the country in which to work for the purpose of raising the fund.

AFTER FAIR PRICES.

The Forge Combination Not Opposed to Organization for Mutual Protection.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 16.—The officers of the Delaney Forge and Iron Company, of this city, which is named as one of the companies in the Forge combination, now state that the report is correct.

The combination was formed for mutual protection. Mr. Delaney said: "We did not organize for the purpose of cutting down the price of labor, but simply to sustain fair and reasonable prices so that there will be a fair profit. As it has been, some firms were doing work at prices below the cost of production."

Patersons's City Treasurer Suspended.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 16.—Treasurer Henry Ridge was suspended yesterday by Mayor Barnert for negligence and violation of the city charter in paying Edwin Royle $35,000 on forged drafts at different times since 1885. Royle was secretary of the Board of Education, and fled after committing forgery and embezzling the funds of the board.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

A New Candidate for the Supreme Court Bench.

GEORGE W. MCRARY, OF IOWA.

He was a Member of Ex-President Hayes' Cabinet.

Influential Men from the West Urging His Claims Upon the President—He was Born in Indianapolis—The President Returns to Washington To-Day from His Hunting Expedition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—President Harrison is said to be preparing a surprise for the numerous candidates for the vacant Supreme Court Judgeship and their friends.

It is learned to-day on the authority of a Senator that the man whom the President really desires to appoint as the successor of Stanley Mathews is George W. McCrary, formerly of Iowa. Judge McCrary was a member of the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses, Secretary of War in the Cabinet of ex-President Hayes, and United States Circuit Judge in Iowa. He resigned the latter place, to which he was appointed by President Hayes, to become the attorney of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad.

For the past three weeks some very earnest work has been done in Judge McCrary's behalf and some of the strongest and most influential men in the West, backed up by friends in Washington, have been urging his claims upon the President. It is a fact not generally known that, aside from other elements of strength, McCrary has the honor of being a native of Indiana. He was born in Evansville fifty-four years ago.

ARMY DESERTERS.

Gen. Schofield Opposed to the Five-Year Enlistment Term.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—General Schofield, commander of the army, in his annual report to the Secretary of War, pays special attention to the desertion question. He says: "It does not seem necessary that men be secured in time of peace to bind themselves absolutely to serve five years. A sufficient remedy may perhaps be found in the case of all worthy men who find, after a few months trial, that they have mistaken their calling, in a more liberal exercise of the power to discharge soldiers upon their own application than has ever heretofore prevailed."

General Schofield also recommends that the present five regiments of artillery be organized into seven, and that the enlisted strength of the army be increased to 30,000 men.

A Successful Duck Hunter.

CHASE, Md., Nov. 16.—President Harrison remained yesterday at Benjies' Point, Middle River Neck, Baltimore County, where he is the guest of the Benjies' Point Ducking Club. The wind was very unfavorable to good shooting there throughout, but the President remained at his post in the shooting blind from about 5 o'clock in the morning until 11:30. During that time five ducks alighted, and the President killed three at one shot, the others being bagged by General Sewell and E. C. Knight. At 2:30 p. m. the gunners returned to the blinds remaining until nightfall. The President's record for the day was seven ducks at four shots. The President will leave for Washington about 2 o'clock this afternoon. He is in excellent health and spirits, and has a regular hunter's appetite.

A Combination Excursion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—There was a combination excursion to Annapolis today. The delegates to the International Congress, invited by Secretary Blaine, and the delegates to the Maritime Conference, invited by Secretary Tracy, left the Baltimore and Potomac depot at 10 a. m. on a special train, and they are timed to leave Annapolis at 3 this afternoon.

NATALIE AND MILAN.

The Ex-Queen Securing Victory While the King Revels in Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Ex-King Milan has gone back to his old life in Paris with a metaphorical black eye, and the Czar is preparing to add another to his long list of bloodless conquests in the control of Servia when Natalie shall have completed the necessary preparations for the tranfer of the keys of Belgrade to her Imperial protector.

Ex-Queen Natalie has scored another victory over her ex-husband in compelling the Servian Regents to enter into an agreement to permit her to see her son whenever she may choose to pay him a visit, the only condition of importance imposed upon her being the that she shall refrain from political intrigue. This arrangement is very much as Russia would have it, and the royal lady may be depended upon to make her influence felt upon her son and in other directions without rendering herself liable to the accusation of violating the terms of her agreement.

President Fillmore's Son Dead.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Millard P. Fillmore, son of the late President Fillmore, died last night of apoplexy. He was about 60 years old, and had long been in failing health. He had no near relatives, and only a few friends were with him at his death, which occurred at the Tifft House.

Chicago Hustling.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 16.—The International Association of Fairs and Expositions, at its session in this city, unanimously indorsed Chicago as the place for holding the World's Exposition in 1891.

OUR LATEST FEATURE.

On the fourth page of THE PRESS today is published in full the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage's sermon in Rome, last Sunday morning. This is the latest effort of this paper to give its varied readers matter to suit them all.

Dr. Talmage is now well on the way on his three months' journey through Italy, Greece, Egypt and the Holy Land. But THE PRESS will, no matter what the expense, give each week his sermons of the Sunday before wherever preached.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Ice formed on shallow water, last night.

—Furs and heavy ulsters were brought out in large numbers, last evening.

—The thermometer took a tumble down to about 30° above zero, during last night.

—The total number of scholars enrolled on the night school list is now 62.

—Candidates for city offices, to be chosen in December, are becoming numerous.

—This is the season when almost every man or his neighbor has a cold or a cough.

—Free singing class conducted by Mr. E. O. Embury meets at the Y. M. C. A., to-night.

—The man who is the most ready to give advice is the one who received a great deal that he failed to use.

—Now is the time to clean the gutters so that when it begins to snow and thaw the water will have free passage.

—A Flemington paper says: "Rumor has it that Wilson F. Eulper is going to Plainfield to engage in the grocery business."

—The Grand Encampment of Patriarchs meet in Trenton on Tuesday, Nov. 19, and the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows the day following.

—Two carriages collided on West 7th street, Thursday afternoon, and the result was that one of them was considerably wrecked.

—Potatoes are saving much better than was expected. People having large quantities should dust them with dry lime, which they find very good to stop the rot.

—The high wind yesterday and last evening, soon dried up the mud in the streets made by the storm on Wednesday and made the street sprinkler a necessity.

—A regular meeting of the Order of American Firemen of this city, was held in Fireman's Hall, on Thursday evening. Only business of routine nature was transacted.

—If, according to the old whim, Winter does not set in until the streams are filled, it must be time for Winter to set in now. The streams got considerable of a filling up on Saturday last and on Wednesday of this week.

—There is a fortune for the person who will invent something that will prove more durable and take the place of the rubber shoes made now-a-days. The overshoes of today are almost worthless and prove a nuisance to the wearer.

—Why is there so much carelessness among gunners. Reports come from all parts of our county of accidents caused by the premature discharge of some fowling piece by which some one is maimed or narrowly escapes his death.

—The case of Chas. Hand vs. D. J. Runyon, came up yesterday afternoon before Special Master in Chancery John H. Van Winkle. D. J. Runyon was the only witness sworn and the case was adjourned until the 29th inst. Stenographer H. C. Runyon took down the testimony.

—Attention is again called to the habit of many of leaving their teams standing on the crossings while people have to walk out in the mud. The practice is in direct violation of the city ordinance, and it should not be tolerated. Certainly, pedestrians have some rights which drivers are bound to respect.

—A farmer from Washington Valley who was returning home with a load of lumber, yesterday afternoon, came to grief at the corner of Park avenue and Front street. One of the springs on the wagon broke, and it became necessary to substitute another vehicle before the farmer could proceed on his journey.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

How Four Plainfielders Enjoyed an Overland Tour and a Week's Hunt at Hopatcong.

Last evening returned to this city a party of four who since Monday last have been enjoying a pleasant hunting tour in the Lake Hopatcong region. The trip was made overland behind a spanking team of young and valuable horses owned and driven by Mr. Elisha Sheppard, of Bound Brook, attached to "Uncle Dan" Roberts' model road wagon. Charles Smith, better known as "Dutchy," Joe. C. Ohl, otherwise known as "Goosey," and another shining light, made up the party.

The objective point was Tommy Bright's Hotel, at Woodport, N. J., just at the head of that grand sheet of water, Lake Hopatcong. Here the party were right royally entertained during their stay. Genial Joe Nicholl and his amiable wife, who have charge of this well-known hostelry, did everything in their power to make all feel at home, while "Sol"—old "Sol"—chaperoned the party in their quest of the lordly ruffed grouse among the rugged hills of old Sussex and Morris. His pleasant (?) voice could be heard incessantly, urging (!) on his canine companion, and his directions to his party to "turn right over to that wood-jab—just Northard of you" was all right to him, but Greek to the others.

But all the same, good-hearted old "Sol" got there with his little gun when occasion required, and the result of the excursion was twenty-seven ruffed grouse, ten rabbits, one squirrel and a duck. With Elisha's noble setter "Duke," and Joe's grand "Noble," however, the game was made to lay close, while Charley's poor "Nick" was pining away in a box stall, because he insisted on flushing everything in the way of a bird, while his game,—the frisky rabbit, had no fears of him. The sight of Nicholas, after a chastisement from his owner, when he went up toward Hurdtown, was enough to draw tears from the beholder—on account of laughter. But, had the bunnies not been in the habit of seeking holes when started, "Nick" would have done some fine work.

The party shall not soon forget the pleasant hours spent at Bright's Hotel, listening to the pleasant strains from poor unfortunate blind Herman Decker, or the royal feasts set before them by the hostess. Coon is good, when properly cooked, but, oh! Sol, where is Paul? Will he ever mind you? Paul!!! Paul!!!!

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Jeremiah R. Van Deventer, President of the First National Bank, died this afternoon after an illness of about a month.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson has returned from Chicago, where she has been attending, as a delegate, the National Convention of the W. C. T. U.

Mr. M. F. Marcley and wife, have returned from a three months' visit in Buffalo, where they were the guests of their son, Dr. Marcley, of that city.

A personal letter from Governor-elect Leon Abbett to a gentleman of this city, says: "The victory was indeed a glorious one and we can all feel proud of it."

Mrs. Charles Johnson is alarmingly ill at her home on Duer street. The old lady is unconscious, and has not spoken since Tuesday of this week. No hope is entertained of her recovery.

Mr. P. A. Burdick who is a Seventh Day Baptist, and a Temperance Evangelist although not a Prohibitionist, preached in Dr. Lewis' pulpit this morning. There was a large congregation present.

A very interesting missionary meeting was held in the church at Pluckamin on Wednesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 6. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. C. Rankin, D. D., of Basking Ridge, Rev. J. G. Hammer, D.D., of Lamington and Rev. Mr. Richards of the Crescent Avenue church, Plainfield.

Not So Fortunate the Second Time.

At the Jersey Street crossing of the Long Branch division of the Central railroad, at Elizabeth, just before noon today, James Packenham, a street car driver, was struck by a locomotive and badly hurt. Three serious scalp wounds were made in his head.

The gateman, John Enright, is an old man, and seems to have lost his head. He had not pulled the gate down and Packenham unsuspectingly drove across the track. Once before, the latter was caught in the same way, but by crowding his horses onto the opposite gate he got his car out of the way.

Built a Fire in the Oven.

One of the inhabitants of rookery in Stiger alley attempted to paint that portion of the city lurid red, last evening. During the afternoon, it is said, he made a tour of the borough saloons, and at night went home, upset the stove, and built a fire in the oven. The neighbors remonstrated with the inebriated man, but for health's sake they did not use force. The police were notified.

Reflective.

Now laid away are bat and ball,
The umpire's peril's o'er,
The bleachers and the rooters all
The season's close deplore,
Now reminiscent stories fill
The scorer's time of rest,
And patrons of the diamond still
At Collier's find the best.

Although we have heard persons remark—"It is worth its weight in gold"—still Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is to be had at all drug stores for 25 cents.

SOUGHT RABBIT AND GOT WET FEET.

So Says a Friend of the Front Street Druggist Who Went Gunning and Shot a Pet Rabbit—His Stockings Fell in the Soup—Dinner Recovered But the Powder is Like the Game—Awaiting an Owner.

The druggist's clerk in an East Front street pharmacy will probably bite his toe-nails, as he did in his infancy, when he learns that one of his most intimate friends was interviewed by a PRESS reporter, yesterday, and the following account was thus obtained of a quiet (?) hunt which took place on the mountain a few days ago:

According to our informant the clerk in company with a companion, (whose name is omitted on account of his extreme youth) started for the mountain in search of ruffed grouse, deer, rabbits, and in fact anything they could bring down from a chipmunk to a "barn pheasant."

The couple started out with light hearts and joyous spirits (not the kind that inebriates) a pound of powder and a lunch wrapped in a paper bag. On Somerset street, near the Notch, the tail-board of the wagon dropped out, likewise the powder and lunch. Part of the latter, however, to the extent of a piece of pie, was recovered.

On the couple sped until they reached an open barn in the "Valley," where the horse they were driving was housed. At this point, the clerk managed to "bring down" a pet rabbit which the farmer had long fondled and fostered. much to the latter's disgust. The shooters next went to a swamp, near by, when the clerk attempted to shoot a woodcock. The gun kicked, the bird escaped, and the sportsman fell in the brook.

To make a long story short, it may be stated that the clerk's stockings were hung over an improvised heating apparatus, one of them fell in the fire, and the young man returned home minus a portion of his foot wear.

DR. JOBS MORTALLY WOUNDED.

He Was Accidentally Shot Through the Arm and Died From Loss of Blood.

Dr. N. C. Jobs, well known in this city, whose home is at Springfield, a few miles North of here, when about to enjoy a half hour's gunning yesterday afternoon, was fatally shot.

Together with George Pudney he drove to Brill's Woods, about one mile from his home, and as he was stepping from his carriage his gun slipped and coming in contact with the wheels was discharged, the whole charge striking him in the left arm, close to the shoulder. When he regained consciousness, with Pudney's assistance he bandaged the shattered arm, and at once started for home. Drs. Pierson of Orange; Chandler of South Orange, and English and Campbell of Millburn, were at once called and with the hope of saving the doctor's life proceeded to amputate his arm, but he had lost so much blood he died in a few moments after his arm was taken off.

Dr. Jobs was considered one of the most skilled physicians in the State, and had a very large practice. He was held in high esteem by all with whom he came in contact, and possessed a host of friends in this vicinity. His wife and child have been for the past two weeks in Sherman, Conn., for the boy's health.

A Mission in Grace Church.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, the General Missioner of the Parochial Missions Society proposes to conduct a mission in Grace church, beginning on Nov. 17 and continuing until the 26th inclusive.

Seats will be free, and a cordial welcome is extended to Christians of every name. The services will be: Sundays—An early celebration of the Holy Communion, at 7:30 A. M. Morning prayer, etc., at 10:30 A. M. Children's service, at 4:30 P. M. Evening prayer, at 8 o'clock, for men only.

Other days—Morning prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life. 10:30 A. M. Evening prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service—Sermon and "after meeting," at 7:45 P. M. Thursday morning—Holy Communion. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 18 and 19, Question box, at 4 P. M.

Meeting for Men Only.

The meeting for men only which was conducted by Mr. Burdick in Music Hall, last evening, was attended by about 200 persons. Rev. Mr. Schenck conducted the devotional exercises, and Mr. A. C La Boyteaux led the singing. Mr. Burdick spoke from the subject: "Stop and Think," and he gave apt illustrations to bear him out in his statements.

Meetings will be held in Music Hall, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

He Left the Empty Vest.

Late on the evening of the Bicycle Club's tournament, a colored man who works for Mr. J. T. Vail, found an empty vest hanging on a fence in the vicinity of The Crescent. It proved to be the vest stolen from the dressing room where it had been left by Mr. W. Lee Simmonds, one of the Club competitors. The thief, however, had emptied it of the gold watch and chain, silver match box, class pin and money it contained.

Danger! Lookout!

On Greenbrook road near the bridge at Mr. John F. Wilson's place, a telegraph pole has broken off at the butt and leans over at an angle of 45 degrees in a very dangerous position and condition.

Fire in the Borough.

An incipient fire started in the frame shed adjoining Mrs. L. Coles' residence on Emily street, North Plainfield, early this morning, but fortunately it was extinguished in time to prevent a serious conflagration. The fire was caused by an overheated stovepipe which projected through an opening in the weather boarding, and when first discovered it was burning fiercely. A few pails of water, however, put on the flames, put the fire out, and sufficed to allay all fears.

A President on Brandy for Sickness.

The President of the Baltimore Medical College, Dr. Byrd, who has thoroughly tested Speer's wines, etc., says:

I have prescribed Speer's Port Grape Wine with marked and decided beneficial effects. I am prepared to bear testimony to the value of his Pedro J Brandy, also, as a pure and valuable article in all cases of diseases in which a reliable stimulant is required. I would be happy to feel that I was instrumental in inducing my fellow citizens to patronize these productions, to the exclusion of the foreign "doctored," and harmfully adulterated wines and brandies with which our people are often injured.

HARVEY L. BYRD, M. D.
President and Professor of Baltimore Medical College.

A LADIES' MAID ON WHEELS.

A Unique Feature of the Pennsylvania Limited.

The Pennsylvania Limited, performing a daily service between New York and Chicago, needed but one feature to complete the perfection of its appointment. The men had their porter and barber, and now the ladies have their maid and hairdresser. The introduction of the maids is as novel as it is a unique feature. It exists on no other regular train in the World, and the ladies who travel will appreciate it heartily. The maids are colored women, and there is one employed on each train.

They are especially charged to look after the comfort of ladies, children, and invalids. They are to assist the ladies in making their toilets, to dress their hair, and serve as a hand-maid to them in the fullest sense of the term. They will have an eye to the children, and have a care for invalids and ladies who may travel without a male escort. The convenience and comfort of having an attendant of one's own sex will be cordially appreciated by timid women and those who are inexperienced in travel. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pullman Palace Car Company deserve great credit for their persistent efforts to enhance the comfort and pleasure of their patrons.

BUT WE WERE THERE.

How an Editor Kept Faith With the Dominie and Lost a "Beat."

An account of the Rev. N. W. Cadwell's jump from a moving train at Roselle, was told exclusively in THE PRESS the other day. The dominie was under the spell of Editor Pearsall's silver tongue at the time the train reached his destination, and he only noticed the station as the car drew away from it. He jumped and hurt himself.

Today's issue of the Westfield Standard, Mr. Pearsall's paper, has the following in explanation of its silence: "So, you see, Dominie, the story is out. But the STANDARD man kept the faith and said "nothing to nobody;" these pesky newspaper reporters up at Plainfield are a nuisance some times; but news is news and its dollars to doughnuts that the "Press" reporters are not in the suppression business for our benefit. What wears on us is that we had a good chance to score 'a beat' (this is newspaper parlance, parson, and not a personal reflection) and let it go by. However you didn't get killed and that is something."

A STATE SASSIETY JOURNAL.

Col. Harvey to Issue a Weekly With Letters Reviewing Plainfield's Social Doings.

Mr. George B. M. Harvey, Managing Editor of the New Jersey edition of the New York World, is, in company with a fellow-worker in newspaperdom, about to establish a weekly society journal, whose field will be New Jersey. The new publication will be issued weekly, and will contain letters reviewing social doings in Plainfield, the Oranges, Montclair and other places; satire, wit, gossip, reports of amusements, and light reading. The journal will be profusely illustrated and will, it is understood, appear every Saturday. There is said to be considerable capital behind the enterprise.

We Herewith Apologize.

(From the Chronicle.)

A number of THE CHRONICLE'S exchanges have honored it by appropriating its account of the swindling of John Smalley, of New Market vicinity, and the Plainfield Daily Press volunteers the information that

The above fake is copied from the Bound Brook CHRONICLE. Somebody has probably been working the paper, but not John.

As the particulars of the affair were furnished directly to a CHRONICLER by members of Mr. Smalley's family and have since been substantiated by the most positive proof, it is but fair to infer that "somebody has probably been working" a paper much nearer Plainfield.

Must Vacate the Premises.

The ejectment case of Mrs. Harry Illsley against "Jack" Manion, proprietor of the Yellow Tavern at Bound Brook, which was carried to the Supreme Court, was on Monday last decided in favor of Mrs. Illsley. Manion was ordered to vacate the premises today, and Mrs. Illsley was awarded $1,000 damages.

Union Teachers' Meeting.

It has been decided to omit the teachers' meeting next Tuesday evening, on account of Mr. Kennan's lecture. The meetings will be resumed the following Tuesday evening. (26th inst.,) at eight o'clock in Vincent chapel.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall St., N. Y. 6-20-y

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the brain material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

REVOLT IN BRAZIL

A Rising Against the Imperial Government.

DOM PEDRO SAID TO BE DEPOSED

The Army in Control of the Capital and a Minister Killed.

The Emperor and His Family Declare Themselves Ready to Leave the Country and Surrender the Throne if the Majority of the People Desire it—The Monarchy No Longer Popular.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A private cipher cable despatch from Rio Janeiro states that a revolution has broken out there. The despatch gives no particulars.

Other despatches from Rio Janeiro concerning the revolutionary outbreak assert that a movement in favor of a republican form of government has recently been strongly fomented, and is the sole cause of the rising.

The announcement is made in the cipher cables already at hand that the Brazilian Ministers have tendered their resignations, and that the situation is controlled by the Army.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Later despatches from Rio Janeiro fully confirm the previous reports. The revolution aims at the overthrow of the Government and the proclamation of a republic. The army supports the movement.

A provisional Government has been established, including Senhors da Fonseca and Benjamin Constant. Among the despatches received, but not yet officially confirmed, is one saying that Baron Ladario, the Minister of Marine, has been killed.

Overthrow of the Government.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—A despatch received here by a coffee planter named W. Hochofler, says that Dom Pedro has been deposed and Brazil made a republic. Nothing further.

No News at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The Brazilian Minister said to-day that he had received no information from his Government with regard to the reported revolution in Brazil, but that he had received from a third party intelligence of the same purport as that contained in the cable message to Charles R. Flint & Co., of New York.

The Minister said that since he had left Brazil in July last he had heard a good deal about the great strength of the Republican party in Brazil, but that in his opinion its strength was greatly overrated in this country. At the last election, which was perfectly free and open, only a few Republicans were returned. While it was possible that great changes had taken place in the affairs in Brazil in the last three or four months, he did not think it all probable that the situation had taken the turn indicated by the cablegram. There might, he thought, have been some Ministerial trouble which had given rise to the reports of a revolution.

The News in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Charles R Flint & Co., South American merchants, of this city, have received the following cablegram from their correspondent in Rio Janeiro:

"A revolution has broken out here. The Brazilian armies are in control. The ministry have resigned. The revolution is for the purpose of forming a Republic."

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

The "Times" Case Adjourned Until Tuesday—Talk From Sir Henry James.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Before adjourning until next Tuesday the Parnell Commission listened for five hours to Sir Henry James in the "Times" case. Yesterday Sir Henry dealt with the bearing of Nationalist journalism on crime in Ireland, contending that the "Irishman," "United Ireland," the "Irish World" and other newspapers of that sort, treat crime as a virtue, and induce patriotic and passionate Irishmen to engage in criminal acts by setting forth lofty ethical motives for them.

Later, he made skillful use of the disappearance of the books and accounts of the League—although, naturally, he did not refer to Sir James Hannen's refusal to let the counsel for Mr. Parnell look at the secret accounts of the "Time's" people in their negotiations with Pigott, etc.

James has certainly made a most able and eloquent use of all possible material in his futile efforts to make out a reasonable case for the "Times" and the Government—or rather to make as bad a showing as he can against the Parnellites, irrespective of the disgraceful collapse of the case for the "Times"; but the only result is admiration for his ability, and the conviction that the Government and the "Times" have brought the best talent and all the means that they could command to bear against Parnell. The verdict of the public is not affected by it.

Mr. Michael Davitt follows the speech of Sir Henry James with the closest attention. He takes copious notes of it.

The Besant Libel Jury Disagree.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The suit of Mrs. Besant, the Socialist writer and agitator, against Rev. Mr. Hoskyns of Stepney for libel, in stating in an election-board circular that Mrs. Besant regarded chastity as a crime and unbridled sensuality as a virtue, ended in a disagreement of the jury. The Judge's charge was strongly against the plaintiff.

Two Freight Trains Collide.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 16.—Two freight trains on the Virginia midland railroad, collided at Russian Branch, opposite Bull Run battlefield, killing Engineer Easters of Madison Run, and fireman James Murphy, of Springfield, and fatally wounding fireman Evans of Alexandria. Several trainmen narrowly escaped by jumping.

Horse Meat in Demand.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—The consumption of horse meat in lieu of beef is daily increasing in Berlin, and it has become almost impossible for the butchers to procure sufficient veritable beef to supply the demands of those who are able to pay the almost fabulous price which that commodity commands.

DR. TALMAGE IN ROME.

EULOGY ON THE WORK AND PREACHING OF ST. PAUL.

Thrilling Interest of Many Sights in Rome. The Scene of Greatness and Vileness, of the Mightiest and Meanest Intellect. Confirming One's Faith.

ROME, Nov. 10.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., Mrs. Talmage and Miss Talmage, with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klopsch, arrived in this city last evening. Today the great Brooklyn divine preached to a large congregation from the text, Acts xix, 21: "I must also see Rome." A full report of the sermon follows:

Here is Paul's itinerary. He was a traveling or circuit preacher. He had been mobbed and insulted, and the more good he did the worse the world treated him. But he went right on. Now he proposes to go to Jerusalem and says: "After that I must also see Rome." Why did he want to visit this wonderful city in which I am today permitted to stand? "To preach the Gospel," you answer. No doubt of it, but there were other reasons why he wanted to see Rome. A man of Paul's intelligence and classic taste had fifty other reasons for wanting to see it. Your Colosseum was at that time in process of erection, and he wanted to see it. The Forum was even then an old structure, and the eloquent apostle wanted to see that building, in which eloquence had so often thundered and wept. Over the Appian Way the triumphal processions had already marched for hundreds of years, and he wanted to see that. The temple of Saturn was already an antiquity, and he wanted to see that. The architecture of the world renowned city, he wanted to see that. The places associated with the triumphs, the cruelties, the disasters, the wars, the military genius, the poetic and the rhetorical fame of this great city, he wanted to see them. A man like Paul, so many sided, so sympathetic, so emotional, so full of analogy, could not have been indifferent to the antiquities and the splendors which move every rightly organized human being. And with what thrill of interest he walked these streets, those only, who for the first time like ourselves enter Rome, can imagine. If the inhabitants of all Christendom were gathered into one plain, and it were put to them which two cities they would above all others wish to see, the vast majority of them would vote Jerusalem and Rome. So we can understand something of the record of my text and its surroundings when it says, Paul purposed in the spirit when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia to go to Jerusalem, saying: "After that I must also see Rome." As some of you are aware, with my family, and only for the purpose of what we can learn and the good we can get, I am on the way to Palestine. Since leaving Brooklyn, New York, this is the first place we have stopped. Intermediate cities are attractive, but we have visited them in other years, and we hastened on, for I said before starting that while I was going to Jerusalem I must also see Rome. Why do I want to see it? Because I want, by visiting regions associated with the great Apostle to the Gentiles, to have my faith in Christianity confirmed. There are those who will go through large expenditure to have their faith weakened. In my native land I have known persons of very limited means to pay fifty cents or a dollar to hear a lecturer prove that our Christian religion is a myth, a dream, a cheat, a lie. On the contrary, I will give all the thousands of dollars that this journey of my family will cost, to have additional evidence that our Christian religion is an authenticated grandeur, a solemn, a joyous, a rapturous, a stupendous, a magnificent fact. So I want to see Rome. I want you to show me the places connected with apostolic ministry. I have heard that in your city and amid its surroundings, apostles suffered and died for Christ's sake. My common sense tells me that people do not die for the sake of a falsehood. They may practice a deception for purposes of gain, but put the sword to their heart, or arrange the halter around their neck, or kindle the fire around their feet, and they would say my life is worth more than anything I can gain by losing it. I hear you have in this city Paul's dungeon. Show it to me. I must see Rome also. While I am interested in this city because of her rulers or her citizens who are mighty in history for virtue or vice or talents—Romulus, and Caligula, and Cincinnatus, and Vespasian, and Coriolanus, and Brutus, and a hundred others whose names are bright with an exceeding brightness, or black with the deepest dye—most of all am I interested in this city because the preacher of Mars Hill, and the defier of Agrippa, and the hero of the shipwrecked vessel in the breakers of Melita, and the man who held higher than any one that the world ever saw the torch of Resurrection, lived, and preached, and was massacred here. Show me every place connected with his memory. I must also see Rome.

CURIOSITY OF THE CHRISTIAN.

But my text suggests that in Paul there was the inquisitive and curious spirit. Had my text only meant that he wanted to preach here he would have said so. Indeed, in another place, he declared: "I am ready to preach the Gospel to you who are at Rome also." But my text suggests a sight seeing. This man who had been under Dr. Gamaliel had no lack of phraseology, and was used to saying exactly what he meant, and he said: "I must also see Rome." There is such a thing as Christian curiosity. Paul had it, and some of us have it. About other people's business I have no curiosity. About all that can confirm my faith in the Christian religion and the world's salvation and the soul's future happiness, I am full of an all absorbing, all compelling curiosity. Paul had a great curiosity about the next world, and so have we. I hope some day, by the grace of God, to go over and see for myself; but not now. No well man, no prospered man, I think, wants to go now. But the time will come, I think, when I shall go over. I want to see what they do there, and I want to see how they do it. I do not want to be looking through the gates ajar forever. I want them to swing wide open. There are ten thousand things I want explained—about you, about myself, about the government of the world, about God, about everything. We start in a plain path of what we know, and in a minute come up against a high wall of what we do not know. I wonder how it looks over there. Somebody tells me it is like a paved city—paved with gold; and another man tells me it is like a fountain, and it is like a tree, and it is like a triumphal procession; and the next man I meet tells me it is all figurative. I really want to know after the body is resurrected what they wear and what they eat; and I have an immeasurable curiosity to know what it is, and how it is, and where it is. Columbus risked his life to find the American continent, and shall we shudder to go out on a voyage of discovery which shall reveal a vaster and more brilliant country? John Franklin risked his life to find a passage between icebergs, and shall we dread to find a passage to eternal summer? Men in Switzerland travel up the heights of the Matterhorn with an alpenstock, and guides, and rockets, and ropes, and, getting half way up, stumble and fall down in a horrible massacre. They just wanted to say they had been on the tops of those high peaks. And shall we fear to go out for the ascent of the eternal hills which start a thousand miles beyond where stop the highest peaks of the Alps, and when in that ascent there is no peril. A man doomed to die stepped on the scaffold and said in joy: "Now, in ten minutes I will know the great secret." One minute after the vital functions ceased, the little child that died last night knew more than Paul himself before he died. Friends, the exit from this world, or death, if you please to call it, to the Christian is glorious explanation. It is demonstration. It is illumination. It is sunburst. It is the opening of all the windows. It is shutting up the catechism of doubt, and the unrolling of all the scrolls of positive and accurate information. Instead of standing at the foot of the ladder and looking up, it is standing at the top of the ladder and looking down. It is the last mystery taken out of botany, and geology, and astronomy, and theology. Oh, will it not be grand to have all questions answered? The perpetually recurring interrogation point changed for the mark of exclamation. All riddles solved. Who will fear to go out on that discovery, when all the questions are to be decided which we have been discussing all our lives? Who shall not clap his hands in the anticipation of that blessed country, if it be no better than through holy curiosity? As this Paul of my text did not suppress his curiosity, we need not suppress ours. Yes, I have an unlimited curiosity about all religious things, and as this city of Rome was so intimately connected with apostolic times, the incidents of which emphasize and explain and augment the Christian religion, you will not take it as an evidence of a prying spirit, but as the outbursting of a Christian curiosity when I say, I must also see Rome.

CHRISTIAN ANTIQUITIES OF ROME.

Our desire to visit this city is also intensified by the fact that we want to be confirmed in the feeling that human life is brief, but its work lasts for centuries, indeed, forever. Therefore show us the antiquities of old Rome, about which we have been reading for a lifetime, but never seen. In our beloved America, we have no antiquities. A church eighty years old overawes us with its age. We have in America some cathedrals hundreds and thousands of years old, but they are in Yellowstone Park, or Californian canon, and their architecture and masonry were by the omnipotent God. We want to see the buildings, or ruins of old buildings that were erected hundreds and thousands of years ago by human hands. They lived forty or seventy years, but the arches they lifted, the paintings they penciled, the sculpture they chiseled, the roads they laid out, I understand are yet to be seen, and we want you to show them to us. I can hardly wait until Monday morning. I must also see Rome. We want to be impressed with the fact that what men do on a small scale or large scale lasts a thousand years, lasts forever, that we build for eternity and that we do so in a very short space of time. God is the only old living presence. But it is an old age without any of the infirmities or limitations of old age. There is a passage of Scripture which speaks of the birth of the mountains, for there was a time when the Andes were born, and the Pyrenees were born, and the Sierra Nevadas were born, but before the birth of those mountains, the Bible tells us, God was born, aye, was never born at all, because he always existed. Psalm xc, 2: "Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God." How short is human life, what antiquity attaches to its worth! How everlasting is God! Show us the antiquities, the things that were old when America was discovered, old when Paul went up and down these streets sight seeing, old when Christ was born. I must, I must also see Rome!

THE PAULINE INTELLECT.

Another reason for our visit to this city is that we want to see the places where the mightiest intellects and the greatest natures wrought for our Christian religion. We have been told in America by some people of swollen heads that the Christian religion is a pusillanimous thing, good for children under seven years of age and small brained people, but not for the intelligent and swarthy minded. We have heard of your Constantine, the mighty, who pointed his army to the cross, saying, "By this conquer." If there be anything here connected with his reign, or his military history, show it to us. The mightiest intellect of the ages was the author of my text, and if for the Christian religion he was willing to labor and suffer and die, there must be something exalted and sublime and tremendous in it; and show me every place he visited, and show me, if you can, where he was tried, and which of your roads leads out to Ostia, that I may see where he went out to die. We expect before we finish this journey to see Lake Galilee and the places where Simon Peter and Andrew fished, and perhaps we may drop a net or a hook and line into those waters ourselves, but when following the track of those lesser apostles I will learn quite another lesson. I want while in this city of Rome to study the religion of the brainiest of the apostles. I want to follow, as far as we can trace it, the track of this great intellect of my text who wanted to see Rome also. He was a logician, he was a metaphysician, he was an all conquering orator, he was a poet of the highest type. He had a nature that could swamp the leading men of his own day, and, hurled against the Sanhedrim, he made it tremble. He learned all he could get in the school of his native village; then he had gone to a higher school, and there had mastered the Greek and the Hebrew and perfected himself in belles lettres, until, in after years, he astounded the Cretans, and the Corinthians, and the Athenians, by quotations from their own authors. I have never found anything in Carlyle, or Goethe, or Herbert Spencer that could compare in strength or beauty with Paul's epistles. I do not think there is anything in the writings of Sir William Hamilton that shows such mental discipline as you find in Paul's argument about justification and resurrection. I have not found anything in Milton finer in the way of imagination than I can find in Paul's illustrations drawn from the amphitheatre. There was nothing in Robert Emmet pleading for his life, or in Edmund Burke arraigning Warren Hastings in Westminster hall, that compared with the scene in the court room, when, before robed officials, Paul bowed and began his speech, saying: "I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer for myself this day." I repeat, that a religion that can capture a man like that must have some power in it. It is time our wiseacres stopped talking as though all the brain of the world were opposed to Christianity. Where Paul leads, we can afford to follow. I am glad to know that Christ has, in the different ages of the world, had in his discipleship a Mozart and a Handel in music; a Raphael and a Reynolds in painting; an Angelo and a Canovo in sculpture; a Rush and a Harvey in medicine; a Grotius and a Washington in statesmanship; a Blackstone, a Marshall and a Kent in the law. And the time will come when the religion of Christ will conquer all the observatories and universities, and philosophy will, through her telescope, behold the morning star of Jesus, and in her laboratory see that "all things work together for good," and with her geological hammer discern the "Rock of Ages." Oh, instead of cowering and shivering when the skeptic stands before us and talks of religion as though it were a pusillanimous thing—instead of that, let us take out our New Testament and read the story of Paul at Rome, or come and see this city for ourselves, and learn that it could have been no weak Gospel that actuated such a man, but that it is an all conquering Gospel. Aye! for all ages the power of God and the wisdom of God unto salvation.

CONCLUDING EXHORTATION.

Men, brethren and fathers! I thank you for this opportunity of preaching the Gospel to you that are at Rome also. The churches of America salute you. Upon you who are like us strangers in Rome, I pray the protecting and journeying care of God. Upon you who are resident here, I pray grace, mercy and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. After tarrying here a few days we resume our journey for Palestine, and we shall never meet again either in Italy or America or what is called the Holy Land, but there is a Holier Land, and there we may meet, saved by the grace that in the same way saves Italian and American, and there is that supernatural clime, after embracing him who by his sufferings on the hill back of Jerusalem made our heaven possible, and given salutation to our own kindred whose departure broke our hearts on earth, we shall, I think, seek out the traveling preacher and mighty hero of the text who marked out his journey through Macedonia and Achaia to Jerusalem, saying: "After I have been there, I must also see Rome."

Rough on the Poor Prince.

British royalty doesn't amount to much in these days. It cannot even command washstands for its personal use at the public expense.

This is the substance of a recent decision by the British admiralty. Young Prince George, the second son of the Prince of Wales, is in the navy, quartered on board H. M. S. Excellent. A short time ago he wanted a marble top washstand and dressing table for his quarters and made requisition for them.

The order was at first given, but, after a howl from Labouchere and a consequent stirring up of public discussion, the admiralty hastened to rescind the order. Young Prince George, therefore, will have to go without the marble top washstand and the dressing table unless he provides them at his own expense—or royal papa's.

Thus is royalty fallen. One who stands near the throne—so near that two deaths would make him heir apparent—is officially ordered to provide his own washstand or go without! It is indeed bitter.—Boston Globe.

The Millerites.

There is something comical in the way outsiders are affected simply by living in an atmosphere surcharged with "Millerism." They first laugh, then argue, then get a little nervous—"it might be so, y' know." In Indiana in 1843 hundreds of people in the infected townships, from hearing the matter constantly discussed and hearing very little else, grew chronically uneasy, though they did not believe the prophets. This, indeed, is the philosophy of all popular delusions. It is needless to give the arguments; they all refer to Daniel's 2,300 years, and claim that the starting time can be located by certain events. In 1886 there was a strong movement in some parts of the south, especially among the negroes, and finally the same year was settled on by many in different sections and without apparent concert. It is stated that 40,000 Adventists in the United States firmly believe that Harrison will be the last president, but they are uncertain about the day.—J. B. Parke.

Bravery Rewarded.

George Grouchy, a salesman in Lawrence, Mass., has received an unexpected reward for saving a man's life at Nantasket Beach last summer. The rescued man is a wealthy merchant of Providence, and he showed his gratitude to his preserver by giving him $100 in cash and a note for $5,000, due when the young man becomes of age. Grouchy is more than 20 years old, so that within a year he will receive a snug sum for his bravery. The rescue was accomplished at great personal risk, and he did not recover for more than a month. The rescued man was unconscious when brought to shore, and lost track of the young man who had saved him, but by employing detectives he found him and rewarded him.—Boston Letter.

Jack the Writer.

If Jack the Ripper is ever caught, he—or she—should write a book. Of its kind, it would be a unique production, detailing the baffling of the ablest Vidocqs of the great city of London and setting forth the most astounding career of murder that ever shocked the world. The communications purporting to emanate from this red handed outlaw reveal a sufficiency of literary ability to invest a narrative from his pen with such gory interest as would far surpass the pages of the most lurid dime novel that ever appeared. Before the gallows has done its work, Jack the Ripper should at least have a chance to shine as Jack the Writer, if for no other purpose than to show the police authorities of London that they do not "know it all."—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Father of the Life Saving Service.

Few of the thousands who pass him on lower Broadway have an idea that the old gentleman with the silky white hair, clean shaven face, somewhat stoop shouldered, and wearing an old fashioned light hat, whom they meet occasionally, is Joseph Francis, the father of the American life saving service. He is the inventor of the metal life car, and almost the entire service to-day is the fruit of his inventive genius. During the past few years Mr. Francis has subsisted entirely upon a diet of milk. Although over 80 years of age, he is as sprightly and has as clear an intellect as most men of half his years.—New York Star.

Stay Out of Macedonia.

Tourists who rush to see the ruins of the ancient cities of Macedonia are warned to keep away if they value their lives. Brigandage has assumed greater proportions there than ever before known. Within the small space of two months no less than 200 travelers have been murdered and robbed by outlaws, who make it a rule to kill every one falling into their hands, without first ascertaining the amount of plunder to be derived. More than twenty murders, each one known to have been committed by two well known brigands, but the authorities make little effort to capture them.—Exchange.

A Profitable Industry.

Flies have been unusually numerous and sticky in some places this fall; but there is one advantage—they are killed easily. A young lady in Augusta, having made a contract from some fly hater to receive one cent for every fifteen killed, went to work. Her season's work amounts to $15. This may be a new industry in Kennebec county, but it is old in some other parts of Maine. A 4-year-old Lewiston girl once earned enough at this business to purchase her a doll, a sixty cent tea set and then walked a mile to buy it.—Lewiston Journal.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Representative Reed at Work for the Speakership.

A COMBINATION AGAINST HIM

His Arrival at the Capital Causes Excitement Among the Politicians.

His Interests Looked After by Congressman Bayne of Pennsylvania—Report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue—The Estimated Receipts for the Year $135,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Thomas B. Reed slipped into town yesterday. He came quietly, and few beside his most intimate friends were aware of his arrival until evening. Then the tongues of politicians were set wagging, and the Brazilian revolution and the proclamation of a Republic were forgotten in the discussion of the Speakership. Though the last of the aspirants on the ground, Mr. Reed says he will certainly not be the last in the race for the gavel.

Still his opponents say that if the proposed combination of the West and South against the East is perfected, they will give the Portland giant the hardest tussle in which he ever participated. During the day Mr. Reed held a brief council of war with Tom Bayne, the commander of his Pennsylvania forces, and a certain blonde-haired and moustached leader from the Old Bay State. Both had been on the field for some days, and the reports they furnished their champion are understood to have been exceedingly rosy.

Mr. Reed has established his headquarters at the Shoreham. He intends to run over to New York within a day or two, and on returning to go into the contest with his usual vim.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The anual report of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Mason, covering the operations of the bureau for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1889, was made public yesterday. The report shows that the internal revenue receipts from all sources during the year were $130,894,434, or $5,894,434 more than estimated in the last annual report from the bureau, and it is estimated that receipts during the current fiscal year will reach $135,000,000.

Miss Juch Sings in a Church.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The announcement that Emma Juch, the prima donna, was to sing at the Church of the Covenant yesterday morning drew a congregation even larger than the President attracts to the church edifice every Sunday morning. Every pew was filled and seats were placed in the aisles. The President and Mrs. Harrison were present. Miss Juch sang Gounod's Ave Maria during the service.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE.

The Engines Driven Into Each Other Six Feet.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—Two freight trains collided a mile from Manassas Junction, on the Chesapeake and Ohio road. They came together in a valley, after each had passed down a sharp declivity, at full speed.

The terrific force of the meeting of the two engines can best be judged when it is stated that they were driven into each other six feet. The trains were completely wrecked, and fifty sheep were killed. Both engineers saved their lives by jumping, while one of the firemen, James Murphy, and a brakeman named Wm. Estes were instantly killed. The accident was caused by misinterpretation of orders.

Eva's Father in Prison.

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., Nov. 18.—William Steele, father of the notorious Eva Ray Hamilton, was in court charged with shooting at a young man named Lutes, of Monroe Township, with intent to kill. The evidence showed that after being put out of a store by Lutes, Steele deliberately drew a revolver and shot at Lutes through the glass door of the store, the ball striking near where Lutes' head had been an instant before. After being out a short time, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment, but recommended him to the mercy of the Court. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $5, the costs of prosecution, and undergo an imprisonment of one year in solitary confinement at hard labor in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Tragedy in a Saloon.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 18.—A West Point, Neb., special says: A midnight tragedy occurred at this place early Sunday morning. Maurice Feurman, a night watchman, while attempting to make an arrest in a saloon, was set upon by Carl Schwenk, the proprietor. Feurman ordered him to keep away. He did not heed the warning and the officer fired. The bullet entered Schwenk's temple, killing him instantly. A bystander was seriously wounded by stray shots from the watchman's revolver. Feurman was arrested.

Another Comet Discovered.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Dr. Lewis Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, discovered Saturday evening a suspected telescopic comet, which last night he verified by motion. It is in field with XI. Pegasi, right ascension 23 hours 42 mins. 25 secs., declination north 11 deg. 50 mins. It is very faint, without nucleus or tail, and has a slow motion northeast. This makes six comets now visible.

Reunion After Secession.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Central Labor Union and the Central Labor Federation decided yesterday afternoon to amalgamate on December 15.

JEFF DAVIS VERY ILL.

He is so Weak that any Relapse is Almost Certain to Prove Fatal.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—Mr. Jefferson Davis is lying dangerously ill at the residence of Mr. L. U. Payne in this city. Last night, as on the previous night, he was very restless and became much worse after midnight, although not as sick as on Friday. The weather, which was heavy, damp, and cold, seemed to affect him unfavorably, and great difficulty was encountered in preserving that even temperature in the room regarded as absolutely necessary to the patient. It is evident that Mr. Davis's condition is extremely critical.

Should he have a return of the difficulty in breathing which attacked him on Friday night, or any other relapse, the chances are that he will die. He is so weak that he is unable to lift his arm or turn over in bed. His only food is beef tea, and this he takes by the teaspoonful. Last night he suffered somewhat from nausea, and it was feared that his stomach also was failing him, which would have proved dangerous in his present low condition, but he recovered and took the beef tea regularly. During the night Mr. Davis had a return of fever, but it passed away, and to-day he is somewhat better.

Mrs. Davis still takes a favorable view of her husband's condition, and calls attention to the fact that she has nursed him through many similar attacks. The unfavorable circumstances are his age and his present great weakness. For nearly a year past friends who have seen him at Beauvoir have recognized the fact that his health was failing, and that old age was beginning to tell on him.

BIG DIVIDENDS.

The Cotton Mills of Fall River in Prosperous Condition.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 18.—The prosperity of the cotton mills of this city during the past year is unprecedented. Dividends of thirty-three corporations, representing $18,538,000 capital, amount to $1,950,000, or 9.97 per cent. Dividends in 1888 amounted to 8.85 per cent.

Some of the leading mills pay as follows: Granite 24 per cent., Troy 24, Union Cotton 20, Seaconnet 17, Wampanoag 17, Bourse 14, Flint 14, Fall River 13, Laurel Lake 12, American Linen 11¼, Sagamore 10¼, Merchants 10, Tecumseh 10, Barnaby 8½, Barnerd 8½, Chace, Davol, Globe, Narragansett, R. Borden and Shove, 8 each.

The dividends represent but a small part of the earnings. In nearly every mill large amounts have been paid for machinery and extensive improvements, large debts cancelled or diminished, and large sums charged to depreciation. Prices of print cloths are satisfactory, and no labor troubles for the ensuing year are expected.

FOR ANOTHER MARTYR.

The Rival Cronin Meetings Which Are to Take Place in Chicago This Week.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Dr. Cronin's Clanna-Gael friends are using every endeavor to make the Manchester martyr celebration, to be held at Battery D next Saturday evening, a worthy rival of the opposition demonstration by Irish Nationalists at Central Music Hall on the same date.

It is probable that Rev. Father Quick, of Beatrice, Neb., who attended Allen, Larken and O'Brien on the day of their execution, will be present and speak at Battery D. Edward O'Meagher Condon, of Philadelphia, will be there.

At the anti-Cronin celebration J. F. Finerty, C. E. Gallagher and M. V. Gannon will be the speakers.

The Fair-Play Committee met to-day at McCoy's Hotel. The contributions to the defense fund aggregate $1,500, of which Philip Corcoran gave $200.

Denounced by Dr. McGlynn.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Dr. McGlynn delivered an address last night before a fair-sized audience at Cooper Union, in which he made allusion to the removal of the body of Miss Kelly from Calvary Cemetery. He denounced the removal, but said it made no difference in the hereafter where one was buried. His audience, which was composed mainly of women, hissed whenever he made sarcastic remarks about Mgr. Preston and Archbishop Corrigan. In closing, Dr. McGlynn said he would deliver a lecture at an early day on Daniel Dougherty's speech before the Catholic Congress.

Important Link to Bradford, Pa.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 18.—A new line to connect the towns of Johnsonburg and Bradford, Pa., is being constructed, and will be a strong ally of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg. It will afford a much shorter route, although operations will necessarily have to be conducted on friendly terms with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg. The road is forty miles in length and extends over the mountains south of Bradford. A contract has been made with a rich firm in Pennsylvania for the entire construction of the line.

Comstock's Libeler Convicted.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—L. Lum Smith was convicted on each of the four counts in the indictment charging him with libeling Anthony Comstock, the agent of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, through the columns of the "Agents' Herald." Judge Hare deferred sentence until next Friday to allow Smith to settle up his business affairs, but unable to secure $2,000 bail, was committed to Moyamensing Prison.

Boston and St. Louis Play Ball.

FOR HIGH LICENSE

Mass Meeting of Catholics in Baltimore.

CARDINAL GIBBONS PRESIDES.

Several Archbishops and Bishops and a Large Number of Clergy Present.

Strong Resolutions Adopted—A Belief that High License Will Diminish Intemperance—Want the Number of Saloons in Any One Locality Limited by Statute, and Kept Away from Churches.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18.—An immense mass meeting under the auspices of the Catholics was held at the Academy of Music last night, with the purpose of advancing the high license movement. The meeting was presided over by Cardinal Gibbons, and upon the stage were Archbishops Ireland of St. Paul, Elder of Cincinnati, Bishop Virtue of England, Monsignor McColgan and a large number of priests.

In the opening of the meeting Cardinal Gibbons said: "I appear before you to-night not only as a churchman, but as a fellowcitizen, anxious for the welfare of my native city. Whatever contributes to the moral growth of Baltimore and the happiness of its people will always have my most hearty approval, and I believe the cause we are here to advocate to-night will enhance our welfare. It will be the means of bettering the condition of the poorer people and laboring classes. The movement we are striving for is for the laboring man and it must and shall be successful.

The speeches were made by Rev. Jas. Nugent, of England, and Rev. Dr. Oleary, of Wisconsin; Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Bishop Keane.

The following resolutions were adopted:

The Catholic clergy and laity of Baltimore, recognizing the gigantic evils of intemperance, imperilling the interests and well-being of the State and society, and casting about for a means which will diminish the evil and pave the way to a complete moral restitution, believe they see this remedy in high license.

They have been backward in uniting in the efforts of many of their distinguished fellowcitizens in the holy cause. It was not from ignorance of the great danger, nor lack of heartfelt interest to avert it, but solely from their inability to compromise the sacred interests of truth by accepting certain portions which were sometimes found to be the concomitants of such movements under non-Catholic auspices.

It is resolved that high license is the only feasible and hopeful means of exterminating the deluge of vices and crimes of which drunkenness is the fruitful source. The license should be put so high as to make it practically prohibitory as regards the multitude of low saloons. Certain restrictions should be enacted as to the time and place of sale. The number of saloons in any one radius should be restricted by statute, and should not be allowed near churches or schools. License should be given only to persons of tried character.

THE MISSING BRIDEGROOM.

George S. Requa's Father Finds Him at Suspension Bridge.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, Nov. 18.—The father of George S. Requa, the missing bridegroom of Tenafly, N. J., has found him in the Spencer House here, in accordance with the young man's telegram to New York. The young man arrived at Niagara Falls at 7 a. m. on Wednesday, and at the hotel it was noticed that he was not in strong mental condition. He walked about Prospect Park and Goat Island, and spoke especially of the fascination he experienced while standing at Prospect Point viewing the American falls, and asked many questions in regard to people who have jumped from that point into the river.

On Saturday morning his mind had apparently cleared, for it was on that morning that he sent the dispatch to his father informing of his whereabouts, and begging him to come and bring his wife. His father arrived yesterday morning. His son was delighted at his arrival. He kept his bed all day, saving his strength for the journey home. The son's brain, it is thought, has been affected temporarily by malaria.

Ruined by Fortune-Tellers.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Henry F. Hoover, the confidential agent of Henry R. Schoch, a wealthy contractor of this city, disappeared from his home on November 4 last, after having embezzled more than $6,000 from his employer. The fact has just been made public. Hoover has been in the employ of Schoch for the past fifteen years. He squandered his employer's money in poker playing, drinking and on fortune-tellers, who abused his mania in this direction by fleecing him out of large sums of money.

The Papal Legate Was Present.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18. — Twenty thousand people were present yesterday at the laying of the corner stone of the new St. Thomas Aquinas Roman Catholic Church at 18th and Morris streets. The ceremonies were conducted by Archbishop Satolli, the Papal legate to the American Catholic Congress.

Smuggled Coal-Oil Seized.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Nov. 18.—The Customs Officers here, made a seizure of coal-oil and syrup which was being smuggled from Buffalo. Two boats were also seized and brought here for disposal.

No Coalition With the Union Pacific.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The Alton officials who are in the city emphatically deny the published accounts of a coalition between the Alton and Kansas Pacific branch of the Union Pacific. They assert that there is absolutely no truth in the rumors, and that, as far as they know, the [illegible] likelihood that such combination will be formed.

REFORM HALL.

Mr. J. B. Cleaver Makes a Great Address.

Reform Hall held a goodly sized audience last evening. President Harper presided, Mr. Eden Boice conducted the devotional services, and Mr. Vanderbeek and choir, with Mr. George Rogers as organist, discoursed music.

The speaker was as announced, Mr. J. B. Cleaver, and for an hour he held the profound attention of every person present, by delivering one of the most eloquent and instructive addresses ever heard. Unrest, political, social and religious, now witnessed throughout this country and the world, formed the basis of his splendid oration, which was freighted with historical data of great interest, and religious truths of priceless value.

Acceptance and perfect obedience to the law of Almighty God was held up as a sure antidote for the many evils now afflicting mankind.

The President gave notice that Mr. Burdick would speak in Reform Hall, Tuesday evening.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, is confined to his home in LeGrande avenue, suffering from a heavy cold.

Mr. John Cameron of this city, who is engaged in contracting in upper New York State, was in town, Saturday evening.

After a month's vacation, Miss Alice Morgan has returned to her post of duty as day operator in the District Messenger office on Park avenue.

Miss Emma F. Martin, of Chatham street, North Plainfield, returned home last evening after a three months' visit with relatives in Deckertown, N. J.

Hon. James Buchanan, Member of Congress from Mercer county, accompanied by his wife, visited his sister, Mrs. H. Pierson, of 86 Duer street, yesterday.

Mr. B. T. Barnes filled the position of basso in the Trinity church choir, at both morning and evening service, yesterday, in a very gratifying manner. Mr. Gorton, the regular member of the choir, was absent on account of illness.

The 25th anniversary of their wedding, was the occasion of a very enjoyable reception and dance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Lowrie, on Park avenue, Saturday evening, from eight till twelve o'clock. About 200 guests were entertained and the presents were numerous and handsome. Orchestra music added to the evening's pleasures, and Caterer E. B. Maynard served a bountiful supper on handsomely decorated tables.

Serious Injury to Mr David E. Titsworth.

Mr. David E. Titsworth of West 7th street was brought to his home, yesterday, from Berlin, New York, suffering from a severe fracture to his left leg, between the knee and the ankle. Mr. Titsworth was returning from the funeral of a near relative at Berlin, when the accident occurred. He was standing in the rear of an open wagon, riding along, when the horse suddenly started, throwing him out backward in the roadway.

Drs. Tomlinson, Murray and Allis are attending the patient, and today his condition is reported as slightly improved.

Wedding Reception.

Mr. John Gerry of South Plainfield and Miss Kate Leary of Athens, Pa., were married at the latter place on the 6th inst., and on Saturday evening they were tendered a reception at the groom's residence. About two hundred persons were present, including the members of the Emerald Benevolent Society of this city.

Don't sigh with pains or burns or accident.
But use Salvation Oil, the greatest liniment.

MR. BURDICK AT MUSIC HALL.

Increased Interest Taken in the Temperance Revival Meetings.

A large audience gathered in Music Hall, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, to take part in the temperance revival service announced for that hour. A short service of song, preceded the devotional exercises, which were conducted by Mr. Seeley Edsall.

The usual collection was taken up, after which Mr. Burdick prefaced his remarks by urging all those who are interested in the temperance work to arrange their business so as to attend the meetings and to exert their influence and prevail upon others to attend. The speaker then told how temptation, influence and companionship had caused his downfall and carried him down to the depths of degradation.

"On the Summit of the Rocky Mountains," said he, "we are told that there is a stone so evenly balanced that the rain drops falling on one side of it flow down the mountain side and find their way into the Pacific ocean; while those falling on the other side course down through the Valley into the Gulf of Mexico." This is illustrated every year in men's lives.

In 1872, Mr. Burdick said, he was nominated for Assembly, but he was not elected. Then it was that his downfall begun, and in five and a-half years he became a wreck, financially and morally, a slave to his appetite and he had lost all confidence in himself.

The speaker told an affecting incident of his wife prevailing upon him to attend a temperance meeting with her, which he did reluctantly. That night, he said, in February, 1887, he signed the pledge, and has since been engaged in temperance work.

Mr. Burdick closed his remarks by stating that since he engaged in the temperance work he had secured 190,000 signers to the pledge, 30,000 of whom were pronounced drunkards. 3,000 of this number, he declared have become Christians.

An appeal was made for pledge signers and many persons stepped forward and signed.

The evening meeting was also largely attended, and great enthusiasm was manifested throughout the proceedings. Meetings will be held in Music Hall every evening this week except on Tuesday and Thursday. On these evenings the meetings will be held in Reform Hall.

Death of Jeremiah VanDeventer.

THE PRESS on Saturday told exclusively of the death of Mr. Jeremiah VanDeventer, which occurred at his home in North Plainfield, on the afternoon of that day. Mr. VanDeventer was in the 84th year of his age, and his death resulted from stomach trouble. His illness dated back for a period of about four weeks.

Mr. Van Deventer was a man well known to most every one in the city. Besides his connection as President, with the First National Bank, he was largely interested in real estate transactions. He was also a member of the Crescent Avenue church, and leaves a widow and one daughter.

The funeral will take place from the house on Wednesday at 11:30 A. M.

Funeral of James Mullen.

The funeral obsequies following the death of the late James Mullen, which occurred on Thursday night, took place from St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the deceased. Rev. Father Smyth conducted the service, and at its close the body was interred in St. Mary's cemetery.

This morning solemn high mass was celebrated in the church for the repose of the deceased's soul.

A Disgraceful Scene

Was enacted on the passenger train which arrived in this city from New York at 11.13 o'clock last evening. A half-dozen drunken men boarded the train at Elizabeth, and on several occasions between that city and Plainfield, a pint flask of whiskey was produced and passed among them. At one time a free fight was only prevented by the timely arrival of the brakeman. Two of the men left the train here, and the rest of them went on to Bound Brook.

The Contract Completed.

Mr. Joseph Sillery has completed the work of building a stone wall along Stony Brook on Somerset street at the Notch, and on Friday the wall was accepted by a Committee from the Somerset County Board of Freeholders.

The wall is 375½ long, eight feet high on an average, three feet wide at the bottom and two feet wide at the top. The contract price was $1,450.

Special Music at Holy Cross Church.

There were large congregations, morning and afternoon, at the Church of the Holy Cross, yesterday. Those who were present at the latter service greatly enjoyed the singing of Mr. Crispen of Trinity Chapel, New York. Mr. Crispen is the chief tenor singer in Dr. Gilberts' choir. The latter is organist in that church and a famous composer of music.

—Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham preached two excellent sermons in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday. The one in the morning was to young men, and in the evening he preached to young women.

We shall never cease to indorse Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; for without it our paper would have been short of reading matter this week; we had a shocking cough and a fearful cold. (Weekly Union.)

PLAINFIELD GREATER THAN ELIZABETH.

The Commuters of the Latter City Called Upon to Rally and Boycott Those who Recognize Our Greater Consequence.

The following letter to the editor of the New York World, shows how apparent to the eyes of the Elizabethans, has become the rapid advancement of this city. When so competent a judge as the railroad company recognizes it, the inhabitants of the sister city become alarmed and are called upon to rally and force the railroad to help check the progress of Plainfield before Elizabeth is distanced. But as well try to stop the floods of Spring as the marvelous and continued career of this city in beauty, wealth and enterprise.

The letter referred to says:

I think it is about time we Elizabeth people begin to get our eyes open. The Central road certainly acts as though it were, in the midst of its prosperity, losing its sense. The idea of boycotting "us" and giving the preference to the natives above us (Plainfield)! Commuters, brace up, and if the 5.30 express is not again put on for our convenience, as well as for Plainfield, remember there is another road which we can take. To think that we have got to wait in the evening from 5.15 until 5.45 before we can get a train, unless we take a way train, and we don't propose to do so under any circumstances. Let the railroad bear in mind that we are the people.

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 14. SUBSCRIBER.

Denied by the Farmer Himself.

An exaggerated story concerning the alleged brutal treatment of a colored boy by a farmer named Johnson in Washington Valley, recently, has found its way into the Metropolitan journals, and has been copied extensively by the press throughout the country. The story is to the effect that the farmer compelled the boy to wear a muzzle so as to prohibit the latter from drinking milk, and some of the New York papers go so far as to state that the boy was kicked in the face by a cow and killed, and that he was buried without the Coroner even being notified. The truth of the matter is that the boy is alive and well.

Mr. Johnson called at THE PRESS office this morning, and denied the statements published in the New York papers and copied in the news on Saturday. He says the boy is afflicted with catarrh, and when milking he is in the habit of wearing a cloth over his nose and mouth, so as to prevent any impurities from falling in the milk.

Monument Committee Meeting.

The members of the Soldiers' Monument Committee, held a meeting in Winfield Scott Post room on Saturday evening, but the result of the meeting was not made public. It is understood, however, that the committee appointed to select a site, have abandoned the scheme to secure the plot in front of the Crescent Avenue church, and have decided upon another site, which, they claim, is equally as desirable.

A committee of three, consisting of Messrs M. W. Tyler, J. E. Tracy and Gen. Negley, was appointed to select a design for the monument, and the meeting adjourned for a fortnight.

The erection of a Soldiers' monument in this city is now assured, and the residents here may soon expect to see erected a handsome granite structure in commemoration of the fallen heroes. The Monument Committee consists of eighteen persons, most of whom were present at the meeting on Saturday evening.

Variety Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wyckoff, of Dunellen, celebrated the ninth anniversary of their marriage, by holding a variety wedding on the evening of October 30th. An infant of Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff was also christened on the same evening. Guests were present from New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia, New Brunswick, Somerville, Bound Brook and Franklin Park.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Whynkoop, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Oley, Dr. Brakely and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Gray and daughter, Mrs. VanWhy and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen, and Mrs. Quick.

The ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. Mr. Skellenger. During the evening a bountiful collation was provided for the guests, to which all did ample justice.

"Run, Speak to this Young Man,"

Was the text of Rev. Mr. Schenck's discourse to young men last evening. It was by request of the Y. M. C. A., that the sermon was preached, and our only regret is that more young men were not present to listen to it. The reverend gentleman handled the subject in his usual earnest, convincing manner, and we feel justified in predicting that the Christian workers of his church at least, will put forth greater efforts in the future toward doing at least what his text commands. The words of his text are found in Zechariah, the second chapter, part of the fourth verse.

No Date Fixed.

Now that the other Plainfield papers have all copied the particulars and dates of the Crescent Avenue church fair, THE PRESS is called upon to set the people right about it. It will not be held until the new Sunday School rooms are nearer completion than seems probable this year.

—The watering cart should be pressed into active service during this windy weather.

Indigestion.

A recent attack of indigestion is easily cured if the right remedy is applied, but every medicine except HAMBURG FIGS is so distasteful to taste or smell that a person prefers to let the disease take its course, if the above laxative cannot be obtained, 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

METHODIST MESSAGE AND MISCELLANY.

Chronicles of Church and Congregation of Casual Comment and Concern.

Volume two, number two, of the Methodist Episcopal church Visitor, published by the pastor, the Rev. Charles B. Mitchell, was issued Saturday. From its columns THE PRESS takes the liberty of making a few selections of items of general interest, as follow:

Mr. John E. Dunn and Miss Lillie E. DeCamp, neice of Mrs. Mary E. Stevens, 39 East Second street, were married Thursday evening, Nov. 14, at the parsonage, and went at once to their furnished home in Somerville, where a large number of friends awaited them with warm congratulations, and a bounteous repast.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weir were recently rejoiced by a visit from the parents of the latter, Rev. Dr. Skeel and wife. Dr. Skeel is a prominent member of one of New York Conferences, and an enthusiastic Egyptologist. The doctor while here delivered a drawing-room lecture on Egypt, which delighted his many scholarly hearers. It was erudite and eloquent to a remarkable degree.

The pastor made a recent visit to Mr. D. H. Mulford, at his home, Vineland, N. J. He is much better than he was two weeks ago, but is still very weak.

Mrs. O. S. Teale is again improving in health, and the dear ones of the home are again cheered with hope. She has been a patient sufferer for years. If tender nursing, medical skill, and many prayers avail, she will soon recover. She and her estimable family have the sincere sympathy of a very large circle of Christian friends.

There are many expressions of satisfaction concerning our choir music. It is certainly one of the most attractive features of our service, and much credit is due Chorister Davis and his excellent choir.

To Miss Annie Mahon we are much indebted for the beautiful Autumn leaves which adorned the "Autumnal Souvenirs," and also to the bevy of nimble-fingered young ladies who worked with leaves and ribbons.

Miss Emma McGee did not give her talk on Alaska at the Epworth League meeting November 1, but will do so Friday evening, Dec. 6.

Mrs. Josephine Tallant, 66 Manning avenue, it still confined to the house. She is a great sufferer.

Rob. Davis is at the Bordentown Military Academy.

The Autumnal service was largely attended and much enjoyed by all. Mrs. Butts' solo, "Sweet Rest at Home," was a marked feature of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Stewart, 19 Park place, have been confined to the house for months with illness.

Miss Ida Angleman, who has been so long connected with the office of the C. L. S. C., in this city, has accepted a position with Dr. Hurlbut, in the office of the Epworth League. Her many friends rejoice that Buffalo, N. Y., will now have no attraction for her.

Mrs. E. H. L. Randolph has recently returned from a visit to her old home in Nashville, Tenn. The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph was baptised by the pastor Thursday evening, Nov. 14, at their residence, 28 Putnam avenue.

Mrs. Geo. H. Burgess, and other members of the family, have been confined to the house for weeks with protracted illness.

Miss Alida Allison, of Lodi, Cal, is visiting at the parsonage.

Rev. Dr. M. L. Gates, pastor of the Park M. E. church, Elizabeth, gave a most interesting lecture on Astronomy at a recent meeting of the Epworth League. All who heard him are anxious for him to return and deliver another lecture on the same subject.

Our last church sociable was well attended in spite of the inclement weather. The ladies in charge had a delightful programme, which refreshed both minds and bodies. It was one of the most pleasant sociables we have had for a long time.

The Carleton Opera Company.

Mr. W. T. Carleton and his excellent array of operatic artists should have a rousing reception at Music Hall, Thursday evening, when they produce Offenbach's sparkling opera, "The Brigands." Mr. W. T. Carleton is well known to our music-loving public as an artist of rare excellence. Miss Alice Carle will sing the role of the brigand chief's daughter; Miss Clara Lane is a charming soubrette, who sings and acts most charmingly; Mr. J. K. Murray has a beautiful baritone voice, which he uses to excellent advantage. The comedy element is in the hands of Messrs Bigelow and DeMesa. The chorus is large and good-looking, costumes beautiful, scenery gorgeous. Taken altogether the performance should produce a brilliant effect and should crowd Music Hall next Thursday.

Target Excursion.

From present indications says the Summit Record, the target shooting match at the Spring Lake Hotel on Thanksgiving Day, will be closely contested. The Park Avenue and Oriental Social Clubs of Plainfield, will send their "crack" team and the marksmen of the Summit Lyceum are using great care in preparing for the contest.

Shortness of Breath.

DR. FLINT'S REMEDY should be taken at once when slight exertion or a hearty meal produces shortness of breath or a pain in the region of the heart. Send for treatise, free. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

Triumphant Democrats.

Highly elated over the recent triumph the Democracy of this State propose to perfect their organization, and get in a condition to ensure similar triumphs for many years to come. To this end a conference of the officers of the State Association of Democratic Clubs, the State Committee and other representative Democrats, will hold a conference at the Jeffersonian club house in West Park street, Newark, today, to discuss plans for perfecting party organization in every part of New Jersey, in order that they may be in excellent trim for the next State election and the Presidential election in 1892.

—Geo. H. Adams Council, No. 31, Jr. O U. A. M., of Newark, will hold their second annual reception in the Belleville avenue rink, to-morrow evening. Several members of Franklin Council, this city, will attend.

Killed in a Railroad Accident.

YORK, Pa., Nov. 18.—Two sections of an Empire Line freight train collided on the Northern Central Railroad at Middletown Ferry, smashing five cars of each section and the engine of the rear section. Four cars took fire and were burned. E. W. Dache, of Baltimore, brakeman of the forward section, was killed, and Adam Affold, engineer of the rear section, seriously injured. The fireman was slightly injured.

Rejoicing at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18.—The news of the victory over the Harvard eleven in Cambridge was received with great enthusiasm. The first reports were received by telephone, and were unfavorable to Princeton. It was not until after 5 o'clock that a telegram gave the game to Princeton. The enthusiasm of the students and assembled townspeople knew no bounds. No sound could be heard above the blare of drums and fish horns.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

DOM PEDRO DEPARTS

The Venerable Emperor Sails for Lisbon.

HE IS TREATED WITH COURTESY

The Provisional Government Will Continue His Civil List.

Portugal Has Dispatched a War Fleet to Rio de Janeiro—All the Provinces Except Bahia Welcome the New Republic—The Former Prime Minister Ordered to Leave.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 18.—The Emperor has sailed for Lisbon. He was notified by the provisional Government of his deposition, and informed that his civil list would be continued. He was treated with the utmost courtesy.

Bahia opposed the new regime, but most of the other provinces recognize the republic.

Dr. Barbosa, the new Minister of Finance, announces that all contracts made by the late Imperial Government will be maintained by the new Government.

The city is tranquil, but business is at a standstill.

It is reported that Dom Pedro recently expressed to his Prime Minister the opinion that the Government had not much longer to live. Among the causes that led to the revolution were the tyranical measures to which the Government resorted in order to secure the return of its supporters at the last elections, when many electors were arrested and imprisoned.

Nothing Official Heard at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Not a word of news reached the Secretary of State or the Brazilian Minister this morning from Rio de Janeiro about the revolution there. At the Brazilian Legation here it is believed that the revolutionists are possession of the capital, and everything of use there, including the telegraph. Consequently only revolutionists news is expected from Rio; but the monarchists are expected to be heard from in a few days by the way of Pernambuco or Para. The Brazilian diplomats here expect that the provinces will stand by the Emperor, and that the revolutionists will not be strong enough to capture these cities.

Portugal Sends a Warship.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Probably the most important news of all is contained in a dispatch received last night from Lisbon to the effect that the Portuguese Government has dispatched a warship, the corvette Bartholomy Diaz, to Rio de Janeiro. Whether this act on the part of Portugal indicates a determination to aid in suppressing the revolt and re-establish the imperial authority, or whether it simply means a move to be prepared to protect Portugal citizens and commercial interests in Brazil, is not made clear. Momentous events are evidently near at hand.

The Overthrow is Final.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 18.—The Lisbon correspondent of the Independance Belge telegraphs that in Portuguese official circles the overthrow of the Empire in Brazil is regarded as final. The royal family of Portugal feels a special sympathy with the deposed imperial family of Brazil.

The News a Surprise.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The steamer Plate has arrived from Rio de Janeiro. Her captain was surprised to learn of the revolution in Brazil, and states that when he sailed, October 27, there was no sign of disturbance in the politics of the country.

No Official News in London.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Brazilian Legation in London is still without official information concerning the situation in Rio de Janeiro.

The Prime Minister Ordered to Leave.

LISBON, Nov. 18.—The Oporto Commercio do Porto has a cablegrom from Rio de Janeiro stating that the former Prime Minister has been ordered to leave the country, and will sail immediately.

LONDON BAKERS WIN.

John Burns Again Leads the Wage Workers to Victory.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The prediction made a week ago that the bakers, under the potent leadership of John Burns, would obtain the concession they demanded from their employers, has been fulfilled, and thousands of journeymen bakers are congratulating themselves upon a marked improvement in their condition.

The boss bakers are trying to shift the cost of the concessions upon the general public by raising the price of bread a half-penny per loaf. Consumers vigorously object to paying more than the accustomed price, and it is claimed by large buyers who have looked into the matter that a half penny actually covers the entire cost of making a loaf of bread, and is therefore much more than would suffice to recoup the boss baker for the additional expense to which he is subjected by reason of the increased wages of the employes.

It is probable that the opposition of the public and the national effect of competition will soon bring about a reduction.

A German Jack th Ripper.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—A man was caught by the Frankfort police in the act of murdering a woman in the streets, a la Jack the Ripper. The fiend gave the name of Bender, but it is believed to be an alias.

Big Catch of Whales.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Two hundred whales have lately been captured in the vicinity of the Orkney Islands, from which locality it had been feared whales were disappearing.

Shot by a Burglar.

ARMONK, N. J., Nov. 18.—At an early hour yesterday morning a burglar forced his way into the residence of Andrew White, in this village. White, who was sleeping in one of the upper rooms, went down stairs and a struggle ensued, in which White was shot in the head. The wound will probably prove fatal.

Signed With the Brotherhood.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Fred Pfeffer signed Farrell and Duffy, of last season's Chicago Club, to play next year in the Players' League Club of that city.

A MEDITERRANEAN TRIP.

SERMON PREACHED BY REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, SUNDAY, NOV. 17.

"And So It Came to Pass, That They Escaped All Safe to Land"—Acts xxvii, 44, His Text—A Powerful Discourse at Brindisi, Italy.

BRINDISI, Nov. 17.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached in this Italian port today. His subject was "A Mediterranean Voyage," and he took for his text Acts xxvii, 44: "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land." Dr. Talmage said:

Having visited your historical city, which we desired to see because it was the terminus of the most famous road of the ages—the Roman Appian Way—and for its mighty fortress overshadowing a city which even Hannibal's hosts could not thunder down, we must to-morrow morning leave your harbor, and, after touching at Athens and Corinth, voyage about the Mediterranean to Alexandria, Egypt. I have been reading this morning in my New Testament of a Mediterranean voyage in an Alexandrian ship. It was this very month of November. The vessel was lying in a port not very far from here. On board that vessel were two distinguished passengers—one Josephus, the historian, as we have strong reasons to believe; the other, a convict, one Paul by name, who was going to prison for upsetting things, or, as they termed it, "turning the world upside down." This convict had gained the confidence of the captain; indeed, I think that Paul knew almost as much about the sea as did the captain. He had been shipwrecked three times already; he had dwelt much of his life amidst capstans, and yard-arms, and cables, and storms; and he knew what he was talking about. Seeing the equinoctial storm was coming, and perhaps noticing something unseaworthy in the vessel, he advised the captain to stay in the harbor. But I hear the captain and the first mate talking together. They say: "We cannot afford to take the advice of this landsman, and he a minister. He may be able to preach very well, but I don't believe he knows a marline-spike from a luff-tackle. All aboard! Cast off! Shift the helm for headway! Who fears the Mediterranean?" They had gone only a little way out when a whirlwind, called Euroclydon, made the torn sail its turban, shook the mast as you would brandish a spear, and tossed the hulk into the heavens. Overboard with the cargo! It is all washed with salt-water, and worthless now; and there are no marine insurance companies. All hands ahoy, and out with the anchors!

A GREAT SEA STORM.

Great consternation comes on crew and passengers. The sea monsters snort in the foam and the billows clap their hands in glee of destruction. In the lull of the storm I hear a chain clank. It is the chain of the great apostle as he walks the deck, or holds fast to the rigging amid the lurching of the ship, the spray dripping from his long beard as he cries out to the crew: "Now I exhort you to be of good cheer: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship. For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve, saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Cæsar: and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee."

Fourteen days have passed, and there is no abatement of the storm. It is midnight. Standing on the lookout, the man peers into the darkness, and, by a flash of lightning, sees the long white line of the breakers, and knows they must be coming near to some country, and fears that in a few moments the vessel will be shivered on the rocks. The ship flies like chaff in the tornado. They drop the sounding line, and by the light of the lantern they see it is twenty fathoms. Speeding along a little farther, they drop the line again, and by the light of the lantern they see it is fifteen fathoms. Two hundred and seventy-six souls within a few feet of awful shipwreck! The managers of the vessel, pretending they want to look over the side of the ship and undergird it, get into the small boat, expecting in it to escape; but Paul sees through the sham, and he tells them that if they go off in the boat it will be the death of them. The vessel strikes! The planks spring! The timbers crack! The vessel parts in the thundering surge! Oh, what wild struggling for life! Here they leap from plank to plank. Here they go under as if they would never rise, but, catching hold of a timber, come floating on it to the beach. Here, strong swimmers spread their arms through the waves until their chins plow the sand, and they rise up and wring out their wet locks on the beach. When the roll of the ship is called, two hundred and seventy-six people answer to their names. "And so," says my text, "it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land."

SOME WHOLESOME LESSONS.

I learn from this subject:

First, that those who get us into trouble will not stay to help us out. These shipmen got Paul out of Fair Havens into the storm; but as soon as the tempest dropped upon them they wanted to go off in the small boat, caring nothing for what became of Paul and the passengers. Ah me! human nature is the same in all ages. They who get us into trouble never stop to help us out. They who tempt that young man into a life of dissipation will be the first to laugh at his imbecility, and to drop him out of decent society. Gamblers always make fun of the losses of gamblers. They who tempt you into the contest with fists, saying: "I will back you," will be the first to run. Look over all the predicaments of your life, and count the names of those who have got you into those predicaments, and tell me the name of one who ever helped you out. They were glad enough to get you out from Fair Havens, but when, with damaged rigging, you tried to get into harbor, did they hold for you a plank or throw you a rope? Not one. Satan has got thousands of men into trouble, but he never got one out. He led them into theft, but he would not hide the goods or bail out the defendant. The spider shows the fly the way over the gossamer bridge into the cobweb, but it never shows the fly the way out of the cobweb over the gossamer bridge. I think that there were plenty of fast young men to help the prodigal spend his money; but when he had wasted his substance in riotous living, they let him go to the swine pastures, while they betook themselves to some other new comer. They who took Paul out of Fair Havens will be of no help to him when he gets into the breakers of Melita.

I remark again, as a lesson learned from the text, that it is dangerous to refuse the counsel of competent advisers. Paul told them not to go out with that ship. They thought he knew nothing about it. They said: "He is only a minister!" They went, and the ship was destroyed. There are a great many people who now say of ministers: "They know nothing about the world. They cannot talk to us." Ah, my friends, it is not necessary to have the Asiatic cholera before you can give it medical treatment in others. It is not necessary to have your arm broken before you can know how to splinter a fracture. And we who stand in the pulpit and in the office of a Christian teacher know that there are certain styles of belief and certain kinds of behavior that will lead to destruction as certainly as Paul knew that if that ship went out of Fair Havens it would go to destruction. "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth: but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment." We may not know much, but we know that.

Young people refuse the advice of parents. They say: "Father is over suspicious and mother is getting old." But these parents have been on the sea of life. They know where the storms sleep, and during their voyage have seen a thousand battered hulks marking the place where beauty burned and intellect foundered and morality sank. They are old sailors, having answered many a signal of distress, and endured great stress of weather, and gone scudding under bare poles, and the old folks know what they are talking about. Look at that man—in his cheek the glow of infernal fires. His eye flashes not as once with thought, but with low passion. His brain is a sewer through which impurity floats, and his heart the trough in which lust wallows and drinks. Men shudder as the leper passes, and parents cry "Wolf! Wolf!" Yet he once said the Lord's prayer at his mother's knee, and against that iniquitous brow once pressed a pure mother's lip. But he refused her counsel. He went where euroclydons have their lair. He foundered on the sea, while all hell echoed at the roar of the wreck. Lost Pacifics! Lost Pacifics!

THE SAFETY OF CHRISTIANS.

Another lesson from the subject is that Christians are always safe.

There did not seem to be much chance for Paul getting out of that shipwreck, did there? They had not, in those days, rockets with which to throw ropes over foundering vessels. Their lifeboats were of but little worth. And yet, notwithstanding all the danger, my text says that Paul escaped safe to land. And so it will always be with God's children. They may be plunged into darkness and trouble, but by the throne of the Eternal God, I assert it, "they shall all escape safe to land."

Sometimes there comes a storm of commercial disaster. The cables break. The masts fall. The cargoes are scattered over the sea. Oh! what struggling and leaping on kegs, and hogsheads, and corn bins, and store shelves! And yet, though they may have it so very hard in commercial circles, the good, trusting in God, all come safe to land.

Wreckers go out on the ocean's beach, and find the shattered hulks of vessels; and on the streets of our great cities there is many a wreck. Mainsail slit with banker's pen. Hulks abeam's end on insurance counters. Vast credits sinking, having suddenly sprung a leak. Yet all of them who are God's children shall at last, through His goodness and mercy, escape safe to land. The Scandinavian warriors used to drink wine out of the skulls of the enemies they had slain. Even so will God help us, out of the conquered ills and disasters of life, to drink sweetness and strength for our souls.

You have, my friends, had illustrations in your own life of how God delivers his people. I have had illustrations in my own life of the same truth. I was once in what on your Mediterranean you call a Euroclydon, but what on the Atlantic we call a cyclone, but the same storm. The steamer Greece of the National line swung out into the river Mersey at Liverpool, bound for New York. We had on board seven hundred, crew and passengers. We came together strangers—Italians, Englishmen, Irishmen, Swedes, Norwegians, Americans. Two flags floated from the masts—British and American ensigns. We had a new vessel, or one so thoroughly remodeled that the voyage had around it all the uncertainties of a trial trip. The great steamer felt its way cautiously out into the sea. The pilot was discharged, and, committing ourselves to the care of him who holdeth the winds in his fist, we were fairly started on our voyage of three thousand miles. It was rough nearly all the way, the sea with strong buffeting disputing our path. But one night at 11 o'clock, after the lights had been put out, a cyclone—a wind just made to tear ships to pieces—caught us in its clutches. It came down so suddenly that we had not time to take in the sails or to fasten the hatches. You may know that the bottom of the Atlantic is strewn with the ghastly work of cyclones. Oh! they are cruel winds. They have hot breath, as though they came up from infernal furnaces. Their merriment is the cry of affrighted passengers. Their play is the foundering of steamers. And when a ship goes down they laugh until both continents hear them. They go in circles, or, as I describe them with my hand—rolling on! rolling on! with finger of terror writing on the white sheet of the wave this sentence of doom: "Let all that come within this circle perish! Brigantines, go down! Clippers, go down! Steamships, go down!" And the vessel, hearing the terrible voice, crouches in the surf, and as the waters gurgle through the hatches and portholes it lowers away, thousands of feet down, farther and farther, until at last it strikes the bottom; and all is peace, for they have landed. Helmsman, dead at the wheel! Engineer, dead amidst the extinguished furnaces! Captain, dead in the gangway! Passengers, dead in the cabin! Buried in the great cemetery of dead steamers, beside the City of Boston, the Lexington, the President, the Cambria—waiting for the archangel's trumpet to split up the decks, and wrench open the cabin doors, and unfasten the hatches.

PERILS NOT TO BE MADE LIGHT OF.

I thought that I had seen storms on the sea before; but all of them together might have come under one wing of that cyclone. We were only eight or nine hundred miles from home, and in high expectation of soon seeing our friends, for there was no one on board so poor as not to have a friend. But it seemed as if we were to be disappointed. The most of us expected then and there to die. There were none who made light of the peril, save two; one was an Englishman, and he was drunk, and the other was an American, and he was a fool! Oh! what a time it was! A night to make one's hair turn white. We came out of the berths and stood in the gangway, and looked into the steerage, and sat in the cabin. While seated there we heard overhead something like minute guns. It was the bursting of the sails. We held on by both hands to keep our places. Those who attempted to cross the floor came back bruised and gashed. Cups and glasses were dashed to fragments; pieces of the table getting loose swung across the saloon. It seemed as if the hurricane took that great ship of thousands of tons and stood it on end, and said: 'Shall I sink it, or let it go this once?' And then it came down with such force that the billows trampled over it, each mounted of a fury. We felt that everthing depended on the propelling screw. If that stopped for an instant, we knew the vessel would fall off into the trough of the sea and sink, and so we prayed that the screw, which three times since leaving Liverpool had already stopped, might not stop now. Oh! how anxiously we listened for the regular thump of the machinery, upon which our lives seemed to depend. After awhile some one said: "The screw is stopped." No; its sound had only been overpowered by the uproar of the tempest, and we breathed easier again when we heard the regular pulsations of the overtasked machinery, going thump, thump, thump. At 3 o'clock in the morning the water covered the ship from prow to stern, and the skylights gave way! The deluge rushed in, and we felt that one or two more waves like that must swamp us forever. As the water rolled back and forward in the cabins, and dashed against the wall, it sprang half way up to the ceiling. Rushing through the skylights as it came in with such terrific roar, there went up from the cabin a shriek of horror which I pray God I may never hear again. I have dreamed the whole scene over again, but God has mercifully kept me from hearing that one cry. Into it seemed to be compressed the agony of expected shipwreck. It seemed to say: "I shall never get home again! My children shall be orphaned, and my wife shall be widowed! I am launching now into eternity! In two minutes I shall meet my God!"

There were about five hundred and fifty passengers in the steerage; and as the water rushed in and touched the furnaces, and began violently to hiss, the poor creatures in the steerage imagined that the boilers were giving way. Those passengers writhed in the water and in the mud, some praying, some crying, all terrified. They made a rush for the deck. An officer stood on deck, and beat them back with blow after blow. It was necessary. They would not have stood an instant on the deck. Oh, how they begged to get out of the hold of the ship! One woman, with a child in her arms, rushed up and caught hold of one of the officers, and cried: "Do let me out! I will help you! Do let me out! I cannot die here!" Some got down and prayed to the Virgin Mary, saying: "O blessed Mother! keep us! Have mercy on us!" Some stood with white lips and fixed gaze, silent in their terror. Some wrung their hands and cried out: "O God! what shall I do? what shall I do?" The time came when the crew could no longer stay on the deck, and the cry of the officers was: "Below! All hands below!" Our brave and sympathetic Captain Andrews—whose praise I shall not cease to speak while I live—had been swept by the hurricane from his bridge, and had escaped very narrowly with his life. The cyclone seemed to stand on the deck, waving its wing, crying: "This ship is mine! I have captured it! Ha! ha! I will command it! If God will permit, I will sink it here and now! By a thousand shipwrecks, I swear the doom of this vessel!" There was a lull in the storm; but only that it might gain additional fury. Crash! went the lifeboat on one side. Crash! went the lifeboat on the other side. The great booms got loose, and, as with the heft of a thunderbolt, pounded the deck and beat the mast—the jibboom, studding sail boom, and square sail boom, with their strong arms, beating time to the awful march and music of the hurricane.

Meanwhile the ocean became phosphorescent. The whole scene looked like fire. The water dripping from the rigging; there were ropes of fire, and there were masts of fire, and there was a deck of fire. A ship of fire, sailing on a sea of fire, through a night of fire. May I never see anything like it again!

PRAYERS FROM ALL.

Everybody prayed. A lad of twelve years of age got down and prayed for his mother. "If I should give up," he said, "I do not know what would become of mother." There were men who, I think, had not prayed for thirty years who then got down on their knees. When a man who has neglected God all his life feels that he has come to his last time it makes a very busy night. All of our sins and shortcomings passed through our minds. My own life seemed utterly unsatisfactory. I could only say: "Here, Lord, take me as I am; I cannot mend matters now. Lord Jesus, thou didst die for the chief of sinners. That's me! It seems, Lord, as if my work is done, and poorly done, and upon thy infinite mercy I cast myself, and in this hour of shipwreck and darkness commit myself and her whom I hold by the hand to thee, O Lord Jesus! praying that it may be a short struggle in the water, and that at the same instant we may both arrive in glory!" Oh! I tell you a man prays straight to the mark when he has a cyclone above him, an ocean beneath him, and eternity so close to him that he can feel its breath on his cheek.

The night was long. At last we saw the dawn looking through the portholes. As in the olden time, in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus came walking on the sea, from wave cliff to wave cliff, and when he puts his foot upon a billow, though it may be tossed up with might, it goes down. He cried to the winds, hush! They knew his voice. The waves knew his foot. They died away. And in the shining track of his feet I read these letters on scrolls of foam and fire, "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of God as the waters cover the sea." The ocean calmed. The path of the steamer became more and more mild; until, on the last morning out, the sun threw about us a glory such as I never witnessed before. God made a pavement of mosaic, reaching from horizon to horizon, for all the splendors of earth and heaven to walk upon—a pavement bright enough for the foot of a seraph—bright enough for the wheels of the archangel's chariot. As a parent embraces a child, and kisses away its grief, so over that sea, that had been writhing in agony in the tempest, the morning threw its arms of beauty and of benediction; and the lips of earth and heaven met.

As I came on deck—it was very early, and we were nearing the shore—I saw a few sails against the sky. They seemed like the spirits of the night walking the billows. I leaned over the taffrail of the vessel, and said: "Thy way, O God, is in the sea, and Thy path in the great waters."

It grew lighter. The clouds were hung in purple clusters along the sky; and, as if those purple clusters were pressed into red wine and poured out upon the sea, every wave turned into crimson. Yonder, fire-cleft stood opposite to fire-cleft; and here, a cloud, rent and tinged with light, seemed like a palace, with flames bursting from the windows. The whole scene lighted up, until it seemed as if the angels of God were ascending and descending upon stairs of fire, and the wave-crests, changed into jasper, and crystal, and amethyst, as they were flung toward the beach, made me think of the crowns of heaven cast before the throne of the great Jehovah. I leaned over the taffrail again, and said, with more emotion than before: "Thy way, O God, is in the sea, and Thy path in the great waters!"

So, I thought, will be the going off of the storm and night of the Christian's life. The darkness will fold its tents and away! The golden feet of the rising morn will come skipping upon the mountains, and all the wrathful billows of the world's woe break into the splendor of eternal joy. And so we came into the harbor. The cyclone behind us. Our friends before us. God, who is always good, all around us! And if the roll of the crew and the passengers had been called, seven hundred souls would have answered to their names. "And so it came to pass that we all escaped safe to land." And may God grant that, when all our Sabbaths on earth are ended, we may find that, through the rich mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, we all have weathered the gale!

Into the harbor of heaven now we glide,
Home at last!
Softly we drift on the bright silver tide,
Home at last!
Glory to God! All our dangers are o'er;
We stand secure on the glorified shore.
Glory to God! we will shout evermore.
Home at last!
Home at last!

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper. plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets —but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

FOR THE SUSPECTS

The Defence in the Cronin Trial Offer Evidence.

AN ATTEMPT TO SET UP ALIBIS

Witnesses Stand Alongside the Prisoners for the Jury's Inspection.

Captain Schaack Gives Unsatisfactory Evidence for the Defense—Two Witnesses Swear They Are the Men Nieman Saw in His Saloon with O'Sullivan and Mistook for Coughlin and Kunze.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Cronin defendants are working in earnest at their great task of attempting to prove their innocence. After more of Lawyer Forrest's motions for excluding testimony were overruled he began to call his witnesses. Peter Koch, who lives near the Carlson cottage, gave evidence as to the reason Coughlin and Kunze, who boarded with Kock, were seen in that vicinity last April. According to the witness Kunze was connected with the Shufeldt distillery explosion, and had certain papers which Coughlin got only by making Kunze drunk. The defence will maintatn that this occurred in April, while the State has introduced evidence showing the drinking to have occurred May 4.

Captain Schaack proved an unwilling witness, the defense by him trying to impeach Dinan's descriptions of the white horse's driver, the officer having given varying descriptions of the man. Schaack, however, explained the apparent discrepancy in his testimony and foiled the intention of the defense.

To shake Saloonist Nieman's story of having served O'Sullivan, Coughlin and Kunze with beer on the night of May 4, the defense introduced James Hyland, by whom they desired to show that Hyland and his cousin were the men who Nieman mistook for Coughlin and Kunze. Hyland told an improbable story of eating supper with O'Sullivan, a total stranger, on May 4, being accompanied by his cousin, the three then drinking in Nieman's place. Jeremiah Hyland, the cousin, corroborated the story.

The two men were stood alongside Coughlin and Kunze for the jury's inspection, but bore little resemblance to the prisoners. A half dozen other witnesses were called to assist in establishing the alibi, but the evidence was of no particular value, except to assist in a preponderance of evidence, which is the defense's only hope of overcoming the prosecution's case. The witnesses told their stories fairly well.

MR. PARNELL AMAZED.

He Would Like to Have His Mother With Him, But She Prefers America.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Mr. Parnell is amazed at the reports of his mother's impoverished condition, and has telegraphed his agent in America to assist her immediately.

In an interview he said that on previous occasions of pecuniary need his mother always applied to him and obtained the sums she asked for. Recently she wrote to him that she expected to realize £650 on the crops gathered from her Bordentown estate, which she had for several years stored in expectation of an increase in values. Mr. Parnell thinks his mother's income and crops have been attached pending the result in foreclosure proceedings. He cannot suppose, he says, that they are in any danger, as he has instructed his American bankers to guard them by necessary advances.

He would prefer to have his mother with him, but she has repeatedly refused to abandon her home in America.

A Denial About Mrs. Parnell.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Nov. 19.—Dr. William H. Shipps of this city, who has been the physician of the Parnell family for ten years, says that Mrs. Parnell has at no time lacked medicine or attendance. He says her present physical condition is, considering her years, remarkable for its vigor.

THE CAR CAUGHT FIRE.

Serious Accident to an Express Train on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 19.—There was a bad accident last night a short distance east of Union Station.

The Eastern express had only run half a mile when the tracks spread, and the smoker turned over on its side.

Fifty people were in the car. It caught fire at both ends and in the middle.

Joseph Buckner, of Chicago, was caught under one of the stoves and so badly burned that he cannot recover. Six others were seriously injured.

A couple of sleepers were thrown from the track, and the one next to the overturned coach was pushed upon it, crushing it.

There was great excitement for half an hour, until the passengers were rescued. The injured were removed to the West Pennsylvania Hospital, only a few yards away.

Oarsman Hosmer Improving.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—George Hosmer, the oarsman, who was taken ill while playing with the "Dark Secret" Company at Philadelphia, and was obliged to sever his connection with that company is now convalescent at his home here. His friends have engaged a hall and will give him a big testimonial ball at an early date.

Scarlet Fever in an Orphan Asylum.

XENIA, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Scarlet fever has broken out at the Soldiers Orphans' Home here and a number of the children have been attacked by the disease, which is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions.

LEWIS C. CASSIDY DEAD.

Stricken Down by an Attack of Apoplexy—His Public Career.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Lewis C. Cassidy died yesterday at his residence in Germantown, from an attack of apoplexy. When last seen in town on Saturday he was thought to be in his customary excellent health, and the announcement of his sudden demise came as a shock to the hundreds of people who knew him. This news was made all the more startling by the fact that ten minutes previously William M. Singerly had called and left word that Mr. Cassidy was improving. Mr. Singerly was at Mr. Cassidy's Germantown home in the morning, and when he left there was nothing in his condition to give cause for alarm.

It is explained that Mr. Cassidy has been for weeks back suffering from nervous prostration. He had not been at his office for a week, when he was called away by the illness of his son, who is down with a bad attack of typhoid fever. This son has been on the verge of death and his father did not often leave his side. This constant watching produced a nervousness that Mr. Cassidy did not consider serious, nor did any one else. Several days during the past week, however, he was compelled to take to his bed, and there was some solicitude on the part of his friends; but anything very serious was not considered amongst the probabilities.

He has been a sufferer from heart trouble for several years, but by the exertion of care and the avoidance of excitement this affection was kept in abeyance, and no immediate danger was suspected. An unexpected strain came in the illness of his son, Hugh Gilbert, who had been for quite a time fitting himself for the legal profession under the sponsorship, during the last months of his life, of the late Hon. Benjamin Harris Brewster and of his own father. To this motherless son Mr. Cassidy devoted himself with all the affection and tenderness of a nature strong in its domestic fibre, and though all the resources of science were at his command, and all the assistance which wealth could summon, he was not content unless watching at the bedside himself. This situation, without any change, was maintained for three weeks, and on Saturday last, when he visited his city office for the first time since his illness began, he showed in a haggard countenance the result of his long unbroken vigil. His one expressed hope was that the boy might live. He has outlived his father, but lies in a critical condition.

Mr. Cassidp was born on October 17, 1829, in the city of New York. He came to Philadelphia while he was an infant, and was educated in the public schools of this city, graduating from the Central High school at the age of 18 years. He entered the law office of the late Benjaman Harris Brewster as a student, and at the age of 20 years he was admitted to the bar, and in a short time achieved notoriety as an attorney and became one of the leading criminal lawyers of the day. When hardly 21 years of age he was elected to the Legislature where he made himself felt. After serving his term in the Legislature he gave his attention to his profession in which he always ranked high, until he was appointed Attorney-General of the State by Gov. Robert E. Patison.

FIGHTING COMPETITION.

A Corporation Formed for the Manufacture of Chair Cane.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—To effect a firm stand against a growing competition with the Wakefield Rattan Company in the manufacture of chair cane, both by home workers and German concerns, a corporation has been formed to be known as the Central Rattan Company, with a capital of $1,000,000. The corporation comprises the Wakefield Rattan Company of Wakefield, the Heywood Bros.' Chair Company, the Union Rattan Company of New York and the E. Newton Sons' Company of New York.

Charles H. Lang, Jr., Manager and Treasurer of the Wakefield Company, will be manager and treasurer of the new corporation. The preparation of the cane for the chair work of the Central Rattan Company will be carried on exclusively at the Wakefield Works, and the first steps in the new departure will be taken to-day.

Chicago Enthusiasts in the South.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A special from Bloomington, Ill., says: Ex-First Assistant Postmaster-General and ex-Congressman Stevenson has returned here from a tour of eight weeks in the States of Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Kentucky and Virginia, where he went in the interest of Chicago's candidacy for the location of the World's Fair. He found the South nearly unanimous for that city. Mr. Stevenson saw seventy-five Congressmen and had interviews with them. With a few exceptions they are for Chicago. A few favor St. Louis for local reasons. He had a delightful trip and found many Chicago enthusiasts.

He Looks for a Reprieve.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Charles Giblin, condemned for the killing of Mrs. Madeline Goetz, and who has been respited three times, is as confident in the belief that Gov. Hill will grant him a reprieve as though he had already read it. If he does not get the reprieve he will be hanged next Saturday. Giblin sits in his cell in the Tombs as unconcernedly as if he were in his own house, and treats the deputy sheriffs who are detailed for his death watch as though they were his guests.

Says He is Not an Absconder.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Nov. 19.—Fred L. Andrews, the contractor who was reported to have absconded from Bar Harbor with several thousand dollars belonging to sub-contractors is at his home here. He denies the report and says he came home because he could not work to advantage so late in the season, but will return in the spring and continue the work. His bondsmen say they know nothing about the matter.

SECRET SOCIETIES

They are Still Opposed by the Catholic Church.

BISHOP RYAN'S STATEMENT.

He Denies the Report that the Ban Has Been Removed.

A Matter With Which Laymen Have Nothing to Do—The Legislation of the Church Could Not be Changed Unless the Archbishops Met for that Purpose—No Talk About Any Such Action.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The report sent out from Baltimore saying that at the Catholic Congress there last week the rules of the Catholic Church relating to secret societies had so far been modified that all except the Free and Accepted Masons would hereafter be tolerated by the church, was brought to the attention of the Right Rev. Stephen V. Ryan, Bishop of Buffalo.

The Bishop in commenting on it, said: "It would be an unparalleled assumption for laymen to say what the prelates of the Catholic Church should do in any matter of this sort, and in this case at least the assertion is groundless. It was thought at the time the assertion was made that it would be proper to send an official denial to the papers, but the report was so ridiculous that it was concluded to pay no attention to it. The legislation of the Catholic Church upon the subject of secret societies is full and ample, and it is pretty well understood."

"Why did the Congress consider the matter?" was asked.

"It was something with which the Congress had nothing to do," replied Bishop Ryan.

"Our laws could not be changed unless the Archbishops met for that purpose, and this they did not do. One paper on secret societies was read at the Congress, and if my memory serves me right, that related to societies within the church."

Bishop Ryan said he had heard no talk about any contemplated action on this subject and thought that there would be none.

BIG CHINA WORKS BURNED.

The Largest Establishment of the Kind in the United States.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Knowles, Taylor & Knowels' china works, the largest in the United States, were totally destroyed by fire last night. The loss will probably reach $300,000; insurance not more than $100,000. Several persons were injured in escaping from the works.

The fire was started by an explosion in the packing rooms which were filled with straw. During the progress of the fire the boilers burst, making a terrible roar that could be heard for miles.

A plumber was repairing a leaking gas main when in some manner escaping gas ignited and an explosion followed. The flames at once broke out and an elevator shaft leading to the sixth story furnished a means of communication to the upper parts of the mammouth structure. To make the situation worse, the water supply was found to be inadequate. The flames spread rapidly and in one hour's time the entire plant was destroyed. Several adjoining dwellings were also caught in the flames and destroyed. Three-hundred workingmen will be thrown out of employment.

Several accidents are reported to have occurred. A workingman by the name of Nicholson fell through a shylight breaking his arm and receiving internal injuries.

Cleveland to the Bandana Club.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—Last week John Page, secretary of the Bandana Club, a Democratic organization of the Twelfth ward of this city, forwarded to ex-President Cleveland a letter concerning the action of the club with reference to him, and this morning received the following acknowledgement:

"I am very much flattered by the note which I have just received from you conveying a report of the Bandanna Democratic Club of Louisville, and I accept, with thanks, the honor conferred by my election as an honorary member of that organization. The best compensation for the discharge of public duty is the approval of good people. If I have gained that, and, in addition, have succeeded in giving to the principles of Democracy increased life and activity, I am content.

Big Receipts From Spirits.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The anual report of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Mason, covering the operations of the bureau for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1889, was made public yesterday. The report shows that the internal revenue receipts from all sources during the year were $130,894,434, or $5,894,434 more than estimated in the last annual report from the bureau, and it is estimated that receipts during the current fiscal year will reach $135,000,000.

Decision in the Troy Election Cases.

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Judge Edwards has rendered a decision in the election cases in this city. He holds that the Inspectors must sign the returns, and the duties of the Inspectors are only ministerial. He has also granted an order to the Board of County Canvassers to show cause why the Sixth Ward returns should not be thrown out on account of illegality in the Senatorial count.

Lewis Brothers & Co. Settle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Lewis Brothers & Co., dry goods commission merchants at 86 Water street, have succeeded in effecting a settlement with their creditors at 57½ cents on the dollar, all the creditors, it is said, having signed the compromise agreement.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The charter election bee is beginning to buzz, and it will soon be heard in our midst.

—THE PRESS made an appeal yesterday for the watering cart. The appeal has been answered.

—Snow shovels will be as much in style this Winter as last. There is not much change in the design.

—The temperance revival meeting, conducted by Mr. Burdick, will be held in Reform Hall, this evening.

—The night school for men will be open for the reception of pupils in the High school building, this evening.

—Gunners say that rabbits are plentiful this season, yet it is a noticeable fact that dealers are not overstocked with them.

—The young folk of the First Baptist church, will hold a sale in their Sunday School rooms during the first week in December.

—Mr. P. M. French is rebuilding the foundation wall under his mill on Somerset street, and getting ready for the reception of a new set of scales.

—The bowling green game at Dunellen, which was to have taken place on Friday last, was postponded until Thursday, on account of the softness of the ground.

—An entertainment for the benefit of the Evona Union Sunday school will be held in the building, corner of Front street and Clinton avenue, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, at 8 o'clock.

—Reports from various parts of the country state that an unusual quantity of snow has fallen within the past forty-eight hours. The snow storm has invariably been followed by rain.

—If, according to the old whim, Winter does not set in until the streams are filled, it must be time for Winter to set in now. The streams got considerable of a filling up last night and today.

—At the close of the meeting in Music Hall, last evening, janitor W. R. Mattox put a force of men at work transferring the stage scenery preparatory to Lecturer George Kennan's appearance there this evening.

—A drunken man, who was returning home, last evening, fell into the cellar of the new building, now in course of erection on Somerset street. The man was partly sobered up when he emerged from the cellar.

—The "Boy's Temperance Drill Corps" will be held at Hope chapel, Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock sharp, for special business. All members are requested to be present. Any boys between 9 and 16 can become members by signing the pledge.

—Gov. J. M. Thayer of Nebraska, recently said without fear of contradiction, that every business man, capitalist, and merchant, who invested money in the new Y. M. C. A. building at Lincoln, Neb., would gain in years to come 15 and 20 per cent. upon his investment.

—The Central Railroad has obtained an injunction to restrain the Waverly and Newark Bay Railroad Company from crossing the tracks of the Elizabeth Branch of the Central Railroad at Elizabeth, and the two locomotives, which were anchored at that point, will be removed in the course of a few days.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionable long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor came into use such examples are not so rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture.

—Mechanical drawing at the Y. M. C. A., to-night.

—Officer Giese expects to take possession of his new house on Orange street, about the first of December.

—One arrest was made in the Borough, last night, for disorderly conduct, and the offender was committed for thirty days, this morning.

—The three paper bags filled with spinach, which were left in a dooryard on West Second street, Saturday evening, mysteriously disappeared.

—It is understood that the members of the W. C. T. U. will appoint canvassers, who will go from house to house and solicit signers to the total abstinence pledge.

—A rough-looking, ill-bred man, whose name could not be ascertained, interrupted the meeting in Music Hall, last evening, by his loud talking. The fellow should have been thrown out.

—Complaint is made by residents of Grove street, that the street lamps on the East end of that thoroughfare are either not turned on full or that the burners are worn out. The light is very dim.

—Upon invitation, last evening, the pastors of the city, officers of the W. C. T. U., and members of the various temperance organizations met in the parlors of Music Hall, and decided to extend an invitation to all of the temperance societies in the city, and others to participate in a union service at Music Hall, on Saturday evening.

FORMING A RIDING ASSOCIATION.

One Hundred Wealthy Plainfielders Who Will Join Together in Providing Recreation and Entertainment for Their Families in Particular, and the Public in General.

About one hundred of the representative and wealthiest citizens of this city and the borough, will probably be soon joined together hand in hand and with wide open pocket books, arranging for the establishment of a riding academy, and the providing of healthful recreation therein, and public entertainment of other sorts. The list of those in favor of the project, already includes such men as L. E. Howard, J. Wesley Johnson, John W. Murray, C. W. McCutchen, O. T. Waring, John I. Holly, Martin I. Cooley, Morgan S. Taylor, E. J. Waring, Justus H. Cooley, A. C. Vail, F. O. Herring, Wm. Bloodgood, Jr., W. T. Broadway and B. O Bowers.

The people interested stand ready to build such a building as will serve their purpose, but are first negotiating for the leasing of The Crescent at Broadway and Fourth street. A tan-bark bed will be laid, one hundred and fifty of the best saddle horses will be secured and a competent instructor engaged. The members' families will have the use of the academy at all times. Commutation tickets will be sold the public entitling the holder to so many hours riding, at a popular price.

There will be exhibition drills and exercises on certain evenings, by the members of the classes under the leadership of their instructor. There will also be band concerts given in the building, of fine music at low prices, as often as the patronage will encourage the managers in an expenditure of the money necessary to import the best music. Further particulars of the project will be found exclusively in these columns.

STRANGE ILLUMINATION IN THE SKY.

A Suggestion and a Denial of What it Was.

A weird phenomenon appeared about Northeast of this city at 6:30 o'clock last evening, which attracted the wonder of many people. It did not stay in its position long, but vanished in a moment. The strange thing was a bright light in the cloudy sky with a long tail that reached the earth. These unusual occurrences peculiar to the times in their many phases, are not strange to those who understand the cronological events due at this period of the World's history.

A bystander suggested, the phenomenon was a reflection of the late Democratic victories; but another remarked, "such do not shine in the Heavens."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The condition of Mr. Solomon Flaig is hourly growing worse, and it is thought that his end is near.

Mr. Wilson Fulper and family of Flemington, have taken up their residence in a handsome flat on North avenue, this city.

Mrs. Anna DeHart Morrison, sister of Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of North Plainfield, died at her home near Dover, N. J., yesterday. Rev. W. E. Honeyman started for Dover, this morning.

THE PRESS cheerfully corrects the statement published yesterday to the effect that Mr. Hervey Doane, the jeweler, was confined to the house suffering from a severe cold. It should have read Master Hervey Doane, son of T. O. Doane.

The death is announced of Mrs. Clarissa Tousley, which occurred at her home in Washington Valley, last evening, from pleurisy. She was in the 77th year of her age. The remains will be taken to Sharon Springs, New York State, on Thursday, where the funeral will take place at two o'clock P. M., on that day.

ELIZABETH DOES BETTER AT HOME.

The Athletic Club Team Rolls the Biggest Score of the Tournament and Easily Defeats the Pastimes of Westfield.

The fourth match of the league tournament for the championship of Union county, was bowled last evening on the Elizabeth alleys between the Pastimes of Westfield, and the Elizabeth Athletic Club's team.

The latter led from start to finish and won by 199 pins. Cash, Collins, Pearsall and Darby did nobly for their side, but the team average was too low.

The score was as follows:

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE MINSTRELS.

Some of the Secrets Exposed of the Local Troupe That is Forming for the Convulsion of the Community.

How the people will crowd Music Hall at the opening performance of the local minstrel troupe that is being formed by the members of the Plainfield Crescent League. The company is already being selected, and a PRESS reporter was told by one of the members, last evening, that Charley Reed and Charley Lyman were spoken of as the probable end men "because they matched so well."

But the utmost secrecy is still preserved regarding the caste and the programme. These columns, however, will contain full information of the event as it materializes. So far it is rumored, the programme will include C. R. Thiers' personal but humorous lecture on "Cranks;" Burnet and Leggett's laughable sketch, "The Madison Avenue Dudes;" T. J. Carey in an original song and dance; and H. Teel and T. Keller as "Thin and Thick," the inimitable two. The whole to conclude with that roaring farce by Drs. Fritts, Endicott and Jenkins, entitled "Prescription Percentages."

Relics Worth Having.

Mr. William Newman of West Second street has a relic in the shape of a map of the United States, drawn on parchment, by Miss Susanna Burt in the year 1821, and also a map of Europe, drawn by the same person, a year later.

Miss Burt, who died in January last, was the wife of the late Thos. B. Stillman, and an aunt by marriage to Judge William M. Stillman of this city. During his lifetime Mr. Stillman was one of the owners of the Novelty Iron Works of New York and he was at one time President of the Metropolitan Board of Police. He died about twenty years ago.

After Mrs. Stillman's death in January last, most of her personal effects were sold at auction, and it was in this way that Mr. Newman came in possession of of the relics.

Gave Bonds to Keep the Peace.

The case of Zachariah Wilson vs. Jennie Becker, was tried before Justice Hardy, yesterday afternoon, in Spencer's Hall, North Plainfield. The complainant alleged that Mrs. Becker called his wife abusive names on Nov. 13, 1889, and had several witnesses of the neighborhood to substantiate the same. The Court, after listening very attentively to the evidence for three hours adjudged that Mrs. Jennie Becker give sureties to keep the peace in the sum of $50, and that complainant's wife also give bond for $25. Wm. A. Coddington represented the complainant, and Chas. A. Reed, Esq., appeared for the defendant.

A Veritable Novelty.

Soubrettes with voices are few, and a manager possessing such an artiste is looked upon with envy by brother managers. Mr. W. T. Carleton prides himself in having such a lady in the person of Miss Clara Lane, his principal soprano, who not alone has a charming voice, but who also can act. She will appear in "The Brigands" at Music Hall, Thursday evening. During a recent performance in San Francisco, in which Miss Lane appeared, Dr. Neuman, a famous Western critic, is said to have exclaimed: "Merciful Heavens! Here is a soubrette who can act and sing! Is the World coming to an end?"

THEY FILLED IN WITH COLLEGE MEN.

The Dishonest Way the Rutgers School Beat Leal's School at Football.

(From the New Brunswick Fredonian.)

The Rutgers College Grammar School football team defeated Leal's School of Plainfield by a score of 34 to 0, on Saturday afternoon. Owing to the sickness of the two half-backs of the Grammar School and the absence of the centre-rush, three college men were allowed to fill in. Plainfield appeared with the intention of doing considerable running around the end, but when they found the ground was so slippery they concluded they would have to work the centre tricks or get left very badly.

The best playing on Leal's side was done by their quarter-back and two half-backs. On the side of the Grammar School the best playing was done by the right end rush and two half-backs.

The Leal's School team is composed of as fine young men as ever went on the ball field.

In connection with the foregoing report the following letter was received from Plainfield today:

To the Editor of The Fredonian:—Without encroaching too much upon your valuable space, I would like to enter a few words of complaint against the way in which the "Leals," a football team from Plainfield, were treated by the management of the R. C. G. S. football team, which they came up to play. The Leals are a team from a school similar in many respects to the Grammar School, and are a good match for the best team that could be picked out of the latter institution. Knowing this the captain, or whoever drew up the Grammar School team, strengthened his team by putting on six men from Rutgers College, two of whom play on the 'Varsity team, viz: Ford and Sampson. The other college men were Kindal, VanOrden, Challen and Field. The Leals, of course, were no match for these men, and those who came up expecting to see a good game witnessed nothing but a walk-over. When the two teams played at Plainfield some time ago, the same tactics were resorted to by the Grammar School. Why cannot that team play a straight game? is the question asked by every player of the Leals, and all of those who witnessed the game, with the possible exception of those bitter partisans of their team who wished them to win, if not by fair means, by some other means.

JOHN WESTING,
Plainfield, N. J.

A Fake from Beginning to End.

The Daily Advertiser of Newark said yesterday, editorially:

"Why is it that the soil of New Jersey is so prolific of 'fakes'? The manufacturer of bogus news flourishes as boisterously as the mosquito. One of the latest of these frauds was a story palmed off on the New York Tribune to the effect that a farmer near New Providence, Union county, muzzled a negro boy employed on his place to keep him from drinking milk; that a cow kicked the boy while he was at his old tricks, and that the muzzle being of steel, the fragments of that contrivance were driven into the boy's face causing wounds whereof he died. The element of improbability was so apparent in this yarn that New Jersey papers, as a rule, let it alone. Today a citizen of New Providence writes to the Tribune denouncing the tale as an unmitigated 'fake.' Another contemporary, having published an account of the drowning of a citizen of Orange, last week, now chronicles the alleged drowned man's reappearance, and artlessly asks: 'Is this a miracle?' No, dear; only a fake."

The Law on the Subject.

So much has been said of late concerning the vile-smelling cigarettes, that it seems almost useless to again allude to the subject. But for the information of parents who have sons at stake, we cheerfully print the following as found in the supplement to the Revision of the Laws of New Jersey, page 383, sections 29 and 40: "An act prohibiting the sale of cigarettes or tobacco in any of its forms to any minor under the age of sixteen years." Approved March 23, 1883.

SEC. 1. That hereafter no person or persons in this State shall knowingly sell any cigarette or cigarettes or tobacco in any of its forms to any minor under the age of sixteen years.

SEC. 2. That if any person or persons in this State shall violate the provisions of this act, he, she, or they, shall be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars for each and every such offense, such penalty to be sued for by, and in the name of the parent or guardian of such minor in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State, such penalty to go to the County Collector for the use of the county wherein the violation of this act occurs.

The Unitarian Conference.

A number of people from this city are expecting to be present at the sessions of the Conference of Unitarian churches, which open, this evening, in New York city, at the Church of The Messiah, at the corner of Park avenue and Thirty-fourth street. The Conference will sit throughout to-morrow, and every session will be full of interest. Two specially practical topics will be considered at the closing meeting on Wednesday evening. One being: "What the Church can do for the neglected classes through Boys' Clubs;" and the other: "What the Church can do for Working Girls." The Conferences are open to all who wish to attend.

—The members of the Bachelors' Club were photographed by flash-light, on Saturday evening.

COMBINED AGAINST JOHN'S PET SCHEMES.

What a Sunday Sun Correspondent in this City Evolved From His Own Great Mind.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 16—Learning that rumors were afloat concerning a proposed combine to defeat Postmaster-General Wanamaker in the imputed schemes underlying his suggested reduction of postage rates on fourth-class mail matter, a correspondent, yesterday, interviewed several prominent parties regarding the matter. All spoke reluctantly and insisted that what knowledge they possessed they held in confidence. It is, however, understood that organization is actually being effected, and that the movement is spreading rapidly and extensively.

"The storekeepers in the larger towns, such as Plainfield, Somerville, New Brunswick and Elizabeth, are the ones most likely to be seriously affected by this contemplated shopping by mail," said the head of one leading firm. "These places have many mails each day, and are on the direct railroad lines between New York and Philadelphia. If the Government announces itself ready to carry merchandise at nominal figures and the big houses cut prices in anticipation of large increase of trade and receive orders and promptly fill them by return mail, we are going to suffer, and suffer heavily. The out-of-the-way places will also be pinched, but not so tightly. Our class would be the first ones ruined."

Those who are interested in the alleged combination were asked if the report was true that the country postmaster-storekeepers in such places as New Market, Scotch Plains, Bloomington and Middlebush, were expressing sympathy with the movement but declining to aid?

"We are seeking to make ourselves as strong as possible," was the invariable reply, "and the help of no one is refused. If some of our rural brethren, in becoming hirelings of Mr. Wanamaker, have come to be afraid to claim ownership of their own souls, that is their misfortune."

The New Jersey storekeepers have for some time suffered in no little degree because of the attractive catalogues published and spread broadcast by the large houses, especially Wanamaker's; but as a large express bill or heavy postage has thus far served as a bulwark against mail-shopping, encroachments on local trade have in a great measure been held in check.

FRIDAY EVENING BIBLE STUDY.

The Coming Topics and Leaders Announced for the Crescent Avenue Y. P. A. Meetings.

The meetings held by the Young People's Association, in Bethel chapel, every Friday evening, are increasing in interest, and the Devotional Committee is anxious that all the young people, whether church members or not, should have a share in the blessing.

The meetings last just an hour; the first half being the Bible study, the second half the devotional meeting.

The topics for Bible study, with the leaders for the remainder of the quarter, are as follows:

Nov. 22—Divisions of the Bible into Old and New Testament. Relations of one to the other. Divisions of Old and New Testament.

MR. JOS. W. GAVETT.

Nov. 29—Divisions of Bible into books. Chronological arrangement. Divisions into chapters and verses. Some familiar chapters.

MR. A. B. BEERS.

Dec. 6—Writers of the Bible. Names and occupations. How many writers? Nationality. Circumstances under which they wrote.

MR. I. C. PIERSON.

Dec. 13—Languages of the Bible. Style of writers. Subjects. Period covered. Unity of whole.

MR. C. W. HILLMAN.

Dec. 20—Bible reading on the "Armor of God."

MR. FRED'K. MOON.

Dec. 27—Review.

MR. W. D. MURRAY.

Those who attend find their own Bible and a note book useful.

The committee would be glad to receive any suggestions tending to add further interest to the meeting.

WM. D. MURRAY,
WM. T. KAUFMAN,
A. B. BEERS,
MISS C. O. DUNN,
Devotional Committee.

The Music Hall Meeting.

In spite of the disagreeable weather, last evening, there was a large audience present at Music Hall to take part in the temperance revival held there under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Rev. A. R. Dilts, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, conducted the devotional exercises and the regular volunteer choir furnished the music.

Mr. Burdick's remarks were clearly and forcibly illustrated and at the close an appeal was made for signers to the pledge.

A children's service for children of all ages will be conducted by Mr. Burdick in Music Hall, to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

To Announce the Result.

The State Board of Canvassers, which consists of four Senators, with the Governor as chairman, and Secretary of State as clerk, will meet on November 26, and announce the result of the late election.

Boils, carbuncles, and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it, and take no other.

Death of Harry P. Roome.

The death occurred early yesterday morning of Harry P. Roome, grandson of Mrs. Jane Roome, of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park. He was about twenty-four years of age, and had been a sufferer from consumption for a long time. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Roome, and during the last few Summers the family have lived in North Plainfield. At the sick man's request that he might die at home, they recently left the VanDeventer residence which they had rented on Washington avenue and the family returned to their New York house, 237 West 48th street, where the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. The interment will be private.

That Washout Case.

The testimony in the case of South Plainfield vs. the County of Middlesex, with reference to liability for damage done by a washout there recently, was resumed on Saturday before Commissioner Boice. Messrs Robt. Serviss, S. S. Stewart and A. S. Manning were examined, the whole of the day being occupied in the examination of these witnesses. The hearing was further adjourned until Friday next at 10 o'clock.

Who Owns That Rig?

Officer Flanagan found a horse and buggy, standing on East Second street, at one o'clock Sunday morning. The horse had been standing there since six o'clock the night before. The rig was stabled in Roberts' livery stable, and Chief Carey is now looking for the owner.

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

THE NEW REPUBLIC

Official News Received by the Brazilian Minister.

ALL QUIET AT RIO DE JANERIO

How Dom Pedro Received the Announcement of His Overthrow.

He Replied With Dignity that He Would Yield Only to Force—One Hour Allowed the Emperor to Prepare for Exile—The United States of Brazil the New Name Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senator Valente, the Brazilian Minister, has received two despatches from Rio de Janeiro, fully confirming and corroborating the news of the overthrow of Dom Pedro II.

One of the despatches came from Bocaywia, the new Minister of Foreign Affairs, and merely announced the success of the revolution and the organization of the Provisional Republican Government. The other from Minister of War Constant, announced the establishment of the Republican Government, the formation of the new Cabinet and also that the dethroned Emperor has been directed to leave the country. Everything in Rio. the despatch stated. was quiet and tranquil.

Senor Valentine declined to state whether he had been requested to resign or whether he intended to resign, merely stating that his resignation was a matter for future consideration.

How Dom Pedro was Informed.

RIO JANIERO, Nov. 19—On the morning of the revolution the city awoke to hear the proclamation of the Republic of the United States of Brazil. Senhors Fonseca. Constant and others proceeded to Petropolis on Friday morning and informed the Emperor that he was dethroned. Dom Pedro was calm and dignified and listened quietly to what his visitors had to say. Senhor Fonseca acted as spokesman and said:

Brazil has advanced in civilization enough to dispense with monarchy. The country is grateful for the Emperor's patriotism, but has insisted on a Republic.

Dom Pedro replied declining to abdicate. He would yield to force, but would not renounce the throne voluntarily.

Acknowledged by Every Province.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—The flag of the new republic has been adopted, and Brazil is as peaceful to-day as though no thought of revolution had ever aroused the feelings of her people.

The United States of Brazil, constituting a federated Republic of the different provinces of the Empire over which Dom Pedro had ruled so long, as an established Government. The new Republic is to-day acknowledged by every province.

Dom Pedro was offered $2,500,000 in cash and provision for the rest of his life in the form of an annual pension of $450,000, which is to be provided for in the civil list of the new republic. He promptly accepted the offer and came to Rio de Janeiro with his family to embark for Lisbon.

The imperial family very quietly boarded the Brazilian gunboat Paranhyba, which was still flying the imperial flag in the harbor. The Paranhyba transferred the imperial family to the Alspas, which steamed out of the harbor during the morning, conveyed by the crusier Riachuelo and the gunboat Paranhyba, bound for Lisbon.

The new flag of the United States of Brazil which takes the place of the imperial emblem with its crown and coffee leaf is composed of green and gold stripes, with a blue field, on which are emblazoned nineteen stars

The overthrow of the empire has been accomplished without the sacrifice of a single life, and the new Provincial Government is proceeding with its work as methodically and peacefully as though it had been in existence for years instead of hours.

Will Firmly Maintain Order.

The new Cabinet is composed of men who have the confidence of the people. The leaders are representative Brazilians. President Fonseca is recognized a brave soldier and honest citizen. Barbalo, Minister of Finance, is able and honest though poor. Bocayuva, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is a journalist, an ardent Republican and a popular leader.

The new Government has announced that it will firmly maintain order. It is preparing a circular to foreign Governments relative to the overthrow of the Empire. The circular will be telegraphed to the Brazilian representatives abroad for presentation to the various Governments. The province of Bahia has signified its adherence to the Republic. News from the other provinces shows that they are also in favor of a Republican form of Government.

Will Observe Financial Engagements.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Brazilian Legation has received a cablegram from the new Brazilian Minister of Finance requesting that notice be given to the Stock Exchange that all the financial engagements of the Empire will be faithfully observed by the Republic.

"Mickey" Welsh With the Brotherhood.

HOLYOKE, Mass., Nov. 19.—John M. Ward, President of the Brotherhood Association of Ball Players, was here yesterday, and on leaving carried a contract with him signed by Tucker, the Baltimore's first baseman, to play first base for the Brotherhood. "Mickey" Welsh has signed the Brotherhood agreement and expects to sign a three years' contract with the New Yorks of the Brotherhood in a couple of days.

Glasgow Iron Market.

GLASGOW, Nov. 19.—The iron market opened strong on the statement that the Cleveland syndicate would probably lift its warrants. Cleveland's opened at 2s. 2½d. above Friday's closing but a subsequent pressure to sell caused a reaction to £3 7s. 2d. Scotch and Hematite were firm at one shilling advance. The shipments of iron from the Clyde during the week amounted to 4,323 tons more than during the same week in 1888.

Vessel Overdue.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Some little anxiety is felt here for the safety of the National line steamer Italy, which left Liverpool for this port on the first inst., and is now about four days overdue. The Italy has sixty steerage passengers on board.

VIEWS OF THE FOREIGN PRESS.

A General Belief that the Government of Dom Pedro Will be Restored.

LONDON, Nov. 19—Until definite news of the Brazilian revolution was received the London and Continental press refrained from extensive comment on the situation or the probabilities arising therefrom. Now, however, while they are disposed to agree that the despatches sent out from Rio are highly colored in the interest of the dominant party or faction, they venture to express opinions generally unfavorable to the stability of the new government, and to advance arguments tending to demonstrate that the overthrow of the the Empire is the precursor of a period of ill-fortune for the country.

The "Standard" expresses its belief that a reign of anarchy will ensue when the full import of the enormity of the change which has taken place shall have impressed itself on the minds of the people, and calls attention to the fruitful field opened to agitation of all of the various heresies extant designed by unscrupulous and irresponsible persons for the purpose of checking the march of civilization and compelling its retreat.

The Paris "Liberte," in a long article on the subject, confidently expects the restoration of Dom Pedro's government within a short time. The removal of the Emperor, it believes, destroys the keystone of prosperity and progress of the nation, and places it in a position from which it is sure to lapse into anarchy.

The London "Times" is more conservative in its views, but thinks that the various conflicting interests in the Brazilian States and provinces concerning the public debt must necessarily give rise to complications which will result in heavy losses to the country's creditors, while there is also the possibility to be confronted that Germany and Spain will interfere in the rearrangement of matters if they do not go so far as to attempt the re-establishment of the Empire.

The "St. James Gazette" refers to the enormous amount of English capitol invested in Brazil, and ventures the opinion that Lord Salsbury will, in all probability, warn the powers, including the United States, not to molest the new Republic. The Monroe Doctrine, the "Gazette" says, affords a great deal of amusement to American politicians, but they must not lose sight of the fact that England has a "Monroe Doctrine" of her own, and that it is not altogether a matter of theory.

THE LAND QUESTION.

Knights of Labor Adopt a Resolution Without Much Opposition.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—The Knights of Labor spent considerable time discussing the land question. The following resolution was adopted and will appear as the fourth article in the declaration of principles: That the land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is the heritage of all the people and should not be subject to speculative traffic. Occupancy and use should be the only title to possession of land. The taxes upon land should be levied upon its value for use exclusive of improvements.

There was practically no opposition to this. A committee of two consisting of Mr. Powderly and A. R. Wright was appointed to meet with the farmers in St. Louis, December 3.

A Change in the Pittsburgh Bishopric.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 19.—It is stated on good authority that the Right Rev. Bishop Tuigg, of the Pittsburgh Diocese, Roman Catholic Church, has resigned, and that the Right Rev. Bishop Phelan, coadjutor, will be appointed to fill the vacancy. Bishop Tuigg has been an invalid for several years. He had hoped his health would again permit him to take charge of the affairs of the diocese, but he has finally decided to retire.

Editor Myers' Bold Talk.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Allen O. Myers has published a card denying the recent statement that he is a candidate for United States Senator. He says that he would rather serve his unfinished term in jail than be a member of the United States Senate as at present constituted. He adds that his mission is to send one or more of Ohio's millionaires to the penitentiary.

A Republican Declared Elected.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Edwin A. Loder, Republican, was declared elected Assemblyman from the Third District of Monroe county by the Board of Canvassers. The claim of an error in the returns of the Second District of the town of Greece was not substantiated.

Signing on Both Sides.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Secretary Rogers, of the Philadelphia club, announces that catchers Clements and Schriver and Pitcher Gleason have now signed League contracts for 1890. Clements and Gleason have signed Brotherhood contracts.

Vessels Under Sail Must so Indicate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The Maritime Conference made a number of minor amendments to rules of the road, including one which requires steam and sail vessels when only under sail to indicate the fact by carrying a black ball at the mast-head.

George Francis in Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—George Francis Train, who is registered at a hotel here as from "Cell No. 10, Suffolk County Jail, Boston," addressed the Connecticut Weekly Press Association, and will address the students of Yale during his stay here.

Jeff Davis is Worse.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—Jefferson Davis' condition is still precarious. He is considerably worse to-day. Members of the Army of Tennessee called on him in a body last evening to pay their respects, but of course none were admitted.

Shot Three Times.

DERBY LINE, Nov. 19.—Charles Calkins, a blacksmith living near here, was shot three times by an unknown person while alone in his house. He is still alive but cannot recover. He was seen last in company with one Wm. Blanc, of Charleston, Vt.

Killen After McCaffrey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Pat Killen says he will chal enge Dominick McCaffrey to a finish fight, and is very anxious to meet him in any way McCaffrey will consent to.

AUSTRALIA MOVING.

Talk in the Colonies About a Grand Federation.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—There is considerable talk in the clubs about the proposal for the federation of the Australian colonies, set forth in the despatch which Sir Henry Parkes, the Premier of New South Wales, has addressed to the Premiers of the other colonies in Australia. It is in reality an invitation to meet and consider the formation of an independent combination of the colonies—a sort of United States in Australia, though most of the colonists probably will not exactly so regard it, and England has not the faintest suspicion of its meaning.

The proposal has come about through the advices of the Military Commissioner whom England sent to assist the Australians to a common scheme of national defence. He reported in favor of a Federal Australian army, and Sir Henry Parkes, who is a Federalist—but not an Imperial Federalist—at heart, has seized the opportunity and boldly tells the colonies that the time has come for a grand federation, not only for military protection but for all the uses that are implied by the term.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

COMMERCIAL CURRENCY.

MARYLAND expects to produce 10,000,000 bushels of oysters this year.

AT the rate of increase in the past few years the wool crop of Colorado will soon exceed in value the output of her silver mines.

THE large cuff and collar manufacturers of Troy, N. Y., say that the late change in the style of ladies' dresses at the neck has practically destroyed the business in ladies' collars and that cuffs have shared in much the same fate.

A WHEELING statistician figures that it would take a train of 175,000 cars to carry the freight of the Wheeling district for one year. Such a train would be 1,160 miles long, and would reach from New York to the Mississippi river.

A CAR-LOAD of grapes from Sacramento sold in New York the other day for $2,406. One grower represented in the consignment cleared $260 per ton, or 13 cents a pound, from his Tokay grapes. Another netted from $160 to $215 per ton on his Muscats and Emperors.

THE San Francisco News Letter thinks that one of the causes of the depression in the California wine trade is to be found "in the production of too much poor wine." The jealousy of the wine growers has led them to indulge in recrimination, which has brought out the truth.

THE chief of the bureau of statistics reports that the total value of the exports of mineral oils from the United States during the month of September, 1889, and during the nine months ended September 30, 1889, as compared with similar exports during the corresponding periods of the preceding year, were as follows: September, 1889, $4,578,668; September, 1888, $4,002,374. Nine months ended September 30, 1889, $39,197,615; nine months ended September 30, 1888, $34,699,067.

A RELIABLE medical writer of this country states that in the year 1886 the town of Oporto, in Portugal, shipped from its docks five times more wine under the name of port wine than it was possible to produce in the entire Douro valley, where the port grape is cultivated; that in the same year London consumed twice as much port wine as was shipped from Oporto; that New York at the same time used and sold half as much as London. Thus two cities only made away with fifteen times as much port wine as it was possible to produce from port grapes. If we add to this the rest of the world where stuff called port wine is used, we have one chance in a hundred of getting "port that is port."

HARDSHIPS OF GENIUS.

HOMER was a beggar.

SPENCER died in want.

CERVANTES died of hunger.

TERRANCE, the dramatist, was a slave.

DRYDEN lived in poverty and distress.

BUTLER lived a life of penury and died poor.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH died on the scaffold.

BACON lived a life of meanness and distress.

PLAUTUS, the Roman comic poet, turned a mill.

PAUL BORGHESE had fourteen trades, yet starved with all.

TASSO, the Italian poet, was often distressed for five shillings.

STEELE, the humorist, lived a life of perfect warfare with bailiffs.

OTWAY, the English dramatist, died prematurely, and through hunger.

BENTIVOGLIO was refused admittance into a hospital he had erected himself.

THE death of Collins was through neglect, first causing mental derangement.

CHATTERTON, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself at eighteen.

SAVAGE died in a prison at Bristol, where he was confined for a debt of forty dollars.

GOLDSMITH'S "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle to save him from the grip of the law.

FIELDING lies in the burying-ground of the English factory at Lisbon without a stone to mark the spot.

MILTON sold his copyright of "Paradise Lost" for seventy-two dollars, at three payments, and finished his life in obscurity.

CAMOENS, the celebrated writer of the "Lusiad, the great Portuguese epic, ended his life, it is said, in an almshouse, and at any rate was supported by a faithful black servant, who begged in the streets of Lisbon for him.

NOTIONS ABOUT FINGER NAILS.

A WHITE mark on the nail bespeaks misfortune.

PALE or lead-colored nails indicate melancholy people.

BROAD nails indicate a gentle, timid and bashful nature.

PEOPLE with narrow nails are ambitious and quarrelsome.

LOVERS of knowledge and liberal sentiment have round nails.

SMALL nails indicate littleness of mind, obstinacy and conceit.

CHOLERIC, martial men, delighting in war, have red and spotted nails.

NAILS growing into the flesh at the points or sides indicate luxurious tastes.

PEOPLE with very pale nails are subject to much infirmity of the flesh and persecution by neighbors and friends.

MISTAKES MEN MAKE.

"A GREAT many people are dying this year who never died before."

"I AM writing with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

"MR. SPEAKER, I would give half of the constitution—nay, the whole of it—to save the remainder."

"SINGLE misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all misfortunes is usually followed by a greater."

"TO INVESTIGATE the question," says an English newspaper, "would lead us too deeply into the dry and troubled waters of moral philosophy."

PROFESSOR (lecturing to medical students)—For this illness, gentlemen, there are but two remedies, and neither of them will do any good."

KASKINE,
(THE NEW QUININE.)

No Bad Effect.
No Headache
No Nausea.
No Ringing Ears
Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mr. Lode Hoornbeck, of the U. S Ship Kearsarge, writes that he meets people almost daily who have used or are using Kaskine, and who affirm from experience that it is superior to quinine in tonic and curative properties, and produces no subsequent bad effects.

Mr. John C. Scarborough, Selma, N. C., writes: "I got malaria in the Southern army, and for a dozen years suffered from its debilitating effects. I was terribly run down when I heard of Kaskine, the new quinine. It helped me at once I gained 35 pounds"

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say,

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c; and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

TORRENTS OF RAIN

Cause a Tremendous Rise in Several Rivers.

MANY OUT OF THEIR BANKS.

The Water in Some Towns Higher Than it Was Last June.

Railroads Blocked and Several Bridges Washed Away—The Schuylkill River Booming and the Streets of Several Pennsylvania Towns Flooded—Great Loss from the Storm Along the Coast.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The steady downpour of rain during the last twenty-four hours has swollen all the small streams in the valley of the Chemung River until they have overflowed their banks, flooding fields and carrying away railroad bridges and heaping piles of gravel upon the tracks.

The Tioga division of the Erie is almost entirely wrecked. Many of the bridges have been carried away, and the track is washed out for two or three miles at a stretch.

A despatch from Blossburg says that four houses have been carried away there. All through that region the water is higher than in the June flood and the damage greater.

At Corning, too, the water is higher than in Juoe, and is still rising. A large part of the town is inundated.

A Train Fell in the River.

SUNBURY, Pa., Nov. 19.—The Susquehanna River has been swollen to enormous proportions by the late rains, and great damage is reported from various towns along its course. At Milton the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge was in danger and in order to hold it in place a heavy coal train was run upon it. The train had been standing on the bridge but a short time when the structure gave way and the bridge and train fell with a crash into the river. Great losses to lumbermen are reported.

A Big Flood Around Bellefonte.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 20.—For the past 48 hours rain has fallen here almost incessantly, and the waters are very high. Reports from the surrounding country give the flood almost as big as last June. At Millhall the water is if anything higher that it was at that time. There is no railroad communications over the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, all bridges being washed away. Lock Haven and Clearfield are reported to be badly flooded. At this writing the rain has ceased but the clouds are yet threatening.

The Storm on the Coast.

ASBURY PARK, Nov. 20.—There was a heavy rain and a high wind on the New Jersey coast. Last night the roar of the surf was so heavy that it was heard a mile inland. A report that a vessel had been stranded on the New Jersey coast was caused probably by the movements of a steamship supposed to be a tramp. She was discovered first off Asbury Park, headed almost directly on shore. The officers discovered their danger in time, and the vessel veered off and thus escaped stranding on the inner bar. The surf has made big cuts in the bluff along Ocean avenue at Long Branch.

The Juniata Rapidly Rising.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 20.—A despatch from Newport, Perry County, states that the water in the Juniata is rising at the rate of eight inches an hour, and there are fears of another flood at this point. The water in the Susquehanna has not materially risen, but rain has fallen steadily since Sunday night, and there are grave fears of a freshet. The people in the lower section of the city are making preparations to leave at a moment's notice.

Williamsport's Streets Flooded.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 20.—Grapiers Run has overflowed its banks and many of the streets here are flooded. A call has been received here for loaded cars to weigh down some of the bridges on the Northern Central Railroad. The Susquehanna River is not above seven feet yet but reports received here state that heavy rain is falling at Clearfield and Lock Haven and a flood in the river from 15 to 18 feet is anticipated.

The Schuylkill Overflows Its Banks.

READING, Pa., Nov. 20.—The rain of the past thirty-six hours has again caused a rise in the Schuylkill, and the river has overflowed its banks. The Maiden Creek, Tulpehocken, Monocacy and other tributaries are greatly swollen. The storm has been very severe, and many of the streets of this city are under water, and cellars in different sections have been flooded.

Great Damage at Elkton, Md.

ELKTON, Md., Nov. 20.—A heavy rain has prevailed throughout this section since Sunday night. All streams are high, and it is thought that many country bridges have been swept away. The streets of this place are badly washed, and many are under water. Cellars are flooded, and great damage has been done to the town.

Could Not Live Without His Wife.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Bernhard Berendsohn, aged 34 years, committed suicide in this city by shooting himself through the head. Deceased, who is said to be quite wealthy, in a note addressed to a friend in New York, said he could not live without his wife who died not long ago, leaving five children.

The Jury Disagreed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—The jury in the case of Terrence McKiernan, who is charged with the murder of Thomas Cleary at Naugatuck last spring, last night reported a disagreement and were discharged.

PROVING O'SULLIVAN'S ALIBI.

Witnesses Assert that He was Asleep When Cronin was Killed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The Cronin defense efforts were directly toward strengthening the character of O'Sullivan's alibi. Edwin Jones, a reporter, gave what appeared to be sensational testimony when he said that he had purchased cotton batting saturated with ox blood and placed it in the Carlson cottage. This was before the bloody find there had been publicly known.

The State, however knocked out the sensational story on cross-examination by showing that Jones placed his imitation gore in the cellar. He then described the real blood marks upstairs, and when his story was all in it proved a big point for the State instead of a teller for the defense. Jones' reason for placing the blood-soaked cotton in the cottage was to fool rival reporters.

William Mulcahey, O'Sullivan's employe until the iceman's arrest, told in detail what O'Sullivan did all of May 4, saying that he and his employer slept together all night, having returned at 9 o'clock, except that O'Sullivan arose for a moment only to open the door for another employe. Mulcahey was once suspected of being the driver of the famous white horse, and the State's Attorney asked him many questions to that point, several of which embarrassed the witness greatly. Thomas Walter, O'Sullivan's cousin, coroborated Mulcahey's story. Robert Boynton, a carpenter, drank with the iceman that famous night until he went home, at nearly 10 o'clock. James Knight and Minnehan, who were of the drinking party, also testified to the same thing, the point being that O'Sullivan went home about 10 o'clock and then retired, according to Mulcahey, and slept while the murder was being committed, thus establishing a complete alibi. These witnesses were more of less rattled on cross examination, but, nevertheless, told a combined story that, so far as O'Sullivan is concerned, will require strong evidence from the prosecution in rebuttal.

ARE THEY THE BENDERS?

Four Witnesses Swear that the Michigan Suspects are the Murderers.

OSWEGO, Kan., Nov. 20.—Four witnesses who had known the Bender family of murderers identified the Michigan family of suspects as Kate Bender and her mother. The preliminary trial of the two women began yesterday and was largely attended.

C. W. Booth, T. C. Dick, J. A. Hand and Mrs. Della Keck all declared that the woman known as Sarah Eliza Davis is the notorious Kate Bender, whose fiendish deeds were almost beyond belief. Two of the witnesses also testified that the elder woman known as Elmira Griffin is old Mrs. Bender, the mother of Kate. G. B. Smith and Rudolph Brackman, the other two witnesses, agreed that the hair, eyes and size of the women compared with that of the Bender women.

County Attorney Morrison and his associate are confident they have the Benders, and Judge Webb and Mr. James, the attorneys for the defense, last evening said the women would probably be bound over.

Fire in a Coal Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Superintendents Phillips and Scott with a large force of men finally succeeded in checking the flames raging in Mine No. 9, operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company at Sugar Notch. When the fire was first discovered the smoke had already spread through the mine and became so stifling that the laborers and miners to the number of 400 who were at work at the time had to hastily abandon the mine.

Farmers Opposed to the Single Tax.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 20.—The National Grange unanimously adopted resolutions condemning the single-tax system; memorializing Congress in favor of the manufacture of jute and other textile fabrics for use instead of cotton bagging, and to make appropriations favoring silver coinage and circulation of paper money independent of national banks, in sufficient quantities to prevent financial embarrasments.

Warner Captured by the Syndicate.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 20.—H. H. Warner & Co. are in receipt of a cablegram from Mr. Warner in London announcing that the sale of his "Safe Cure" has been consummated. The English syndicate, to whom the business has been sold announces that the allotment of the stock will be made on Dec. 2. Five million dollars is understood to be the sum paid for the property. It is reported that Mr. Warner will be president of the new company.

Expelled from the Ministry.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 20.—Rev. H. Nicholls, of the Methodist Church in Housatonic, whose conduct toward certain youths of his congregation has caused a scandal in that village, has been expelled from the ministry by the Quarterly Conference for gross immorality. Evidence was placed before the conference that Nicholls was once expelled from the Campbellite Church for similar practices.

Moved From New Haven to Bridgeport.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 20.—The stockholders of the New Haven & Derby Railroad Company voted to remove their executive offices to Bridgeport and hereafter all business will be transacted from there. The directory was reduced from 13 to 9 members—J. A. Bostwick, W. H. Starbuck, Wm. E. Downes and E. N. Shelton were dropped from the board.

Chamber of Commerce Dinner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The 121st annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, at Delmonico's last night was attended by 200 members. Ex-President Cleveland, Secretary Noble, Justice Miller of the Supreme Court, General Sherman, Congressman McKinley, C. M. Depew and others responded to toasts.

REED OR M'KINLEY

They are the Leaders in the Speakership Race.

ALL THE ASPIRANTS AT WORK.

The Friends of the Maine Representative Count the Highest Vote.

Talk About the Pennsylvania Delegation and Senator Quay's Action—Corporal Tanner's Daughter Resigns Her Position in the Pension Office—Government Printers Abolish the Eight-Hour Rule.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Speakership contest has begun in earnest. All the candidates are here, and of course all are confident of success.

Mr. Reed's friends celebrated the opening of his headquarters by whispers about the hotels that Senator Quay has arranged to hand over the entire twenty-one Pennsylvania votes to Reed. The boom looked large for a few hours, and some of the friends of the other candidates began to get blue, but then figuring began and the situation was looked at in a numerical light.

The Field Against Reed.

The opponents of the representative of Maine calculate of follows: "Mr. Reed claims 21 from Pennsylvania, 19 from New York, 4 from New Jersey, and 23 from New England. That makes a total of 67. Eighty-five are required to elect. Where are the others coming from? Even if that problematic block of seventeen from the South is given him he is still three short, and the West must come in to help. From present appearances the West has deserted Mr. Reed. Give him ten votes from the West; that will give him the caucus with seven to spare. Well and good, so far as it goes, but facts to-day do not warrant his claim."

Pennsylvanians Independent.

The Pennsylvania delegation claim they cannot be handed over by Senator Quay or any body else. Mr. McKinley's friends claim a number of votes from that State for their candidate, and the other Western men say they have a stray vote or two also. The story of a conference seems premature, for there are only four Pennsylvania Congressmen in town, and Mr. Bayne, a great Reed man himself, says he doubts if Mr. Reed will get more than fifteen of his delegation.

Then there is New York; the idea of a united vote is repudiated by several of the members, and the friends of the Western candidates say, while Mr. Reed will have eight or perhaps nine votes from the State he will not have all. Finally, that solid vote from the seventeen Southern members. No conference has been held to arrange it, and, according to one of the leading members of the Southern States, it never will be held. The two Maryland Congressmen are trying their best to arrange it to held their candidate for doorkeeper, but at present prospects are not bright for its being held.

McKinley Next to Reed.

Mr. McKinley seems remarkably bright and pleased over his outlook. His campaign, his friends say, has been a diplomatic one, and everyone places him next to Reed in chances. The whole talk here now is about the Speakership and the World's Fair, and representatives from New York and Chicago get in their work for the Exposition when they are approached on the Speakership problem.

Printers Repeal an Eight-Hour Rule.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the Typographical Union, a resolution was adopted repealing the eight-hour rule that has heretofore prevailed. This action will allow employers to work their men as many hours as they please, and will result, it is believed, in causing the men in the Government Printing office who now work in the day to work also at night, whenever ordered to do so. The job and newspaper offices opposed the resolution unanimously, but it was carried by the men from the Government Printing Office.

A SECRET MEETING.

Brotherhood Baseball Players in Session at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—An important secret meeting of the prime movers in the Brotherhood has been in session at the Tremont House all day. John Montgomery Ward had a long conference with the faithful.

The object of the meeting is secret, but that it had as one of its foremost designs the management of next year's Brotherhood team in Chicago is certain. Baldwin denies that he has signed a contract with the Columbus League team, and Glasscock is indignant at the report that he has deserted the Brotherhood.

Baseball Talk.

Albert Myers and Pitcher Francis Foreman of Philadelphia have signed Brotherhood contracts.

Frank Dwyer, of Auburn, who pitched for the Chicago League Club last year, will pitch for the Brotherhood Club of that city the coming season.

President Dickinson of the Syracuse Baseball club of the American Association denies that W. W. Burnham of the Worcesters has been engaged to manage the Syracuse team next year.

Fred Pfeffer, of the Brotherhood, has signed Farrell and Duffy, of last season's Chicago Club, to play next year in the Players' League Club of that city.

Artist Beard Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Henry Beard, the artist, who was asphyxiated by gas at a hotel Sunday night, died last night.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The hackmen and liverymen reaped a harvest, last evening.

—The temperance revival meetings will be resumed in Music Hall, this evening.

—Yesterday's storm brought havoc and destruction to New Jersey's sea coast at Long Branch and Asbury Park.

—Mr. C. M. Goddard is wiring the office and prescription department of Reynolds' pharmacy, for electric lighting.

—The storm interfered with the attendance at the night school, last evening, there being but forty present.

—Mr. Burdick will conduct a meeting for bible study at the W. C. T. U. rooms, 73 West Front street, to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock.

—A regular meeting of the Union County Board of Agriculture will be held at the court house, Elizabeth, to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

—A regular communication of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., was held in the lodge room last evening. Only business of importance to the lodge was transacted.

—Under the heading "What the Hotel Gossips Say" in this week's Hotel Mail appeared these words: "That a hotel in Plainfield, N. J., advertises 'meals at all (reasonable) hours.'"

—In an enlarged advertisement today, Messrs Van Sciver & Moore have something to say of interest to all people who have a love of the beautiful and harmonious in their homes.

—Among the many prize list petitions sent in to the World was one sent today by Lottie D. Springman, daughter of Mr. W. W. Springman of Somerset street, containing eleven hundred signatures.

—Having been granted a license as a pawnbroker, Samuel Dreier will loan money on jewelry, clothing or other personal property, at his place corner of Front street and Madison avenue, upstairs.

—The heavy rain storm yesterday, again caused the water to flow over Tier's dam, and raised Green brook about three feet. The water in Cedar and Stony brooks was likewise unusually high.

—A couple of hound dogs owned by Mr. Frank Day, of West Fourth street, started a red fox in the woods near South Plainfield, on Friday. The dogs followed the animal for several miles and finally left the trail.

—A west-bound empty coal train drawn by Central engine, No. 317, broke in two in front of the Plainfield station yesterday afternoon, and the locomotive ran to Dunellen with half of the train before the break was discovered.

—The temperance revival meeting in Reform Hall, last evening, was well attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Mr H. J. Martin led the singing and Mr. Burdick conducted the devotional exercises. The latter also made an address.

—Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the distinguished Egyptologist, will lecture at Music Hall, December 6, for the Children's Home. General admission tickets may be had of the lady officers of the Home. Reserved seats will be on sale at Randolph's pharmacy.

—County Superintendent Ayers, of Somerset county, says that the time for the session of the Teachers' Institute for that county has been changed to April next, and the Somerville printers who have been getting their ugly "mugs" in shape so as to look pretty in the eyes of the school marms are greatly disappointed.

FOR THE SUFFERERS' SAKES.

The Efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary Board, Add $300 to the Muhlenberg Hospital's Funds.

Despite a stormy evening that closed one of the stormiest of days, more carriages drove to and from Music Hall, last night, than had been noticeable on any previous occasion. The audience included all of Plainfield's best people, and filled the parquette and dress circle.

In introducing Mr. George Kennan, the lecturer of the evening, Major Rufus K. Case seized the opportunity to publicly bear tribute in deserved commendation of the Ladies Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, who had arranged the evening's event for the Hospital's financial benefit.

The Board includes in its membership fifty representatives of the city's most influential and philanthropic families. Mrs. M. E. Edgerton is the President, and among the most prominent workers are Mrs. Rowland Cox, Miss Mary Tweedy, Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, Mrs. VanNest Talmadge, Mrs. George W. Endicott, Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, Mrs. Edward C. Perkins, Mrs. Frank O. Herring, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs Harry G. Runkle, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Lucy Burlingham, Mrs. H. Eaton, Miss Webster and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller.

Mr. Kennan's lecture was the re-telling of his experience at the lower Kara mines, almost word for word as related in the July and August Century. But the effect of the hero's narrative was added to by his personal presence and his really effective powers of elocutionary art. The audience was intensely interested, and not one but would have gladly sat and listened an hour or two longer.

The net profit secured by the ladies' effort will be about $300 after paying Mr. Kennan's fee of $200 and the incidental expenses. The use of Music Hall was donated for the purpose.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. M. Edgerton, of East Front street, is confined to the house suffering from a severe cold.

Mr. S. C. Peck, father of our only and original "Come to Peck's," is visiting his son on West Front street.

Mr. Herbert Fraley, formerly of this city, but now of upper New York State, is visiting among friends here.

Prof. Guttman's orchestra of this city will furnish the music for a grand ball at Woodbridge, on December 11.

Mr. F. Neis, Jr., is very proud today over the birth of a "Prohibition boy," this morning, at his home on New street.

The Hon. John Vetterlein of North Plainfield, ex-Assemblyman from his district, is confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. F. A. Church and mother, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, spent the day with Mrs. Church's son, Irving, at Elwyn, Penn., where he is at boarding school.

The wedding is announced of Mr. Arthur Pierson of this city and Miss Mary McGann of Brooklyn, which will take place at Brooklyn to-morrow evening.

The members of "O. O. S. S," Our Own Social Society, met at the residence of Miss Currie on Arlington avenue, last evening, and enjoyed a few hours socially together.

There will be music, mesmerism and refreshments at the members reception in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, to-morrow evening. Mr. J. W. Gavett is chairman of the reception committee.

Several members of Franklin Council, No. 41, of this city, attended the second annual reception of the George H. Adams Council, No. 36, Jr. O. U. A. M., held in the Belleville avenue rink, Newark, last evening.

A cablegram from Bremen, Germany, received by Mr. Jacob Kirkner, yesterday, announced Mrs. Kirkner's safe arrival there yesterday morning, after a stormy passage. Mrs. Kirkner sailed from New York on the Steamer Werra, on Saturday, November 9.

Resolutions of Respect.

A committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the First National Bank to prepare resolutions upon the death of their President, have adopted the following memorial:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from us by death, Jeremiah R. VanDeventer, the President of the Board of Directors of this Bank.

Resolved, That we have learned of the death of our President and fellow Director with unfeigned sorrow, and we hereby tender to the afflicted family of the deceased our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their great bereavement.

Resolved, That in the death of Jeremiah R. VanDeventer we realize that this Bank has lost one of its most active, energetic and faithful officers, and this community one of its most valued and trusted citizens, whose place in the different walks of life it will be exceedingly difficult to fill.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered at length upon the minutes and a copy thereof forwarded to the family of the deceased.

Charles Potter,
D. F. Randolph,
Committee.

Where They Burglars!

About nine o'clock last evening two suspicious looking men were seen loitering about the house on the North corner of Park avenue and Seventh street. The men were first seen on the Seventh street side of the property, where one remained on the sidewalk evidently on guard while the other entered the door yard. When any one approached the man in the yard was called out by a low whistle. This was repeated several times, and finally both men suddenly disappeared.

—The case of the City vs. Patrick Muldoon, for disorderly conduct, was today postponed for a week.

THAT BUILDING WE HAVE OF'D FOR.

The Money Already Subscribed for the Plainfield Y. M. C. A's New Home—Changes Probably Necessary in the Plans.

The following circular has just been issued embodying the facts stated in The Press of last Thursday, and the figures published in earlier issues. It speaks for itself and the project it relates of deserves more than anything else a speedy and satisfactory response from the public, of the nature solicited:

"At the beginning of the new year in our work the Building Committee take this method of informing our friends of our progress and purposes. We have now $29,623 subscribed, of which $10,431 have been paid in. From this sum we have expended $7,000 in the purchase of the lot Nos. 55 and 57 East Front street. In order to secure the best results we invited six competent architects to compete for the design of the building. Plans furnished by these architects now await our decision.

"Arrangements had been made to lease our second floor to the Chautauqua Association. By so doing we should have been able to use the first floor for the purposes of the Association, and thus be nearer to the men we desire to reach, and at the same time secure a revenue from the building. But by the removal of the Chautauqua we are compelled to seek elsewhere for tenants and failing to find any, we must have the plans redrawn with stores.

"We desire very much to begin our building in the Spring. To do this we must have a hearty and immediate response from those who have shown an interest in our project, but who have not yet subscribed. On all such, who receive this letter, some of our canvassers will call soon, unless our friends anticipate us by sending to the committee a statement of the amount they are willing to subscribe. We trust that each one will be ready to do his share for what we believe will be a benefit and a blessing to our city.

"THE MONARCH AND THE MANGER."

Dr. Lowry's Latest Service of Sweet Song.

Messrs Biglow & Main, the music publishers, of New York and Chicago, have just issued another of the Rev. Robert Lowry's charming song services—works that have made his name loved all over the country, and that have brought to thousands of hearts, comfort, peace and pleasure.

The latest is entitled, "The Monarch and The Manger," and is a service of scripture and song for Christmas Tide. It contains of Dr. Lowry's composition, a Gloria for quartette or chorus; a processional, "Lift the Song;" a solo for contralto, with chorus, "Hope and Cheer;" and five other beautiful choruses: "Praise the Lord," "Behold the King of Glory," "Brighter Morn," "Wonderful Saviour," and "Awaken."

A CLOSE CALL.

Almost a Murder Committed in a Store on Liberty Street.

A tragedy which almost terminated in murder, was enacted in front of Lorenzo Paoli's store at Third and Liberty streets, about nine o'clock last evening. It appears that a man whose name is said to be McMeny entered the store very much under the influence of liquor. He played a game of pool and got into a dispute with John Kelagher, the clerk, over the payment for the game.

McMeny then left the place, but he soon returned and looked in through the window. Kelagher stepped to the door, and without a moment's notice, it is alleged, the man on the sidewalk deliberately shot at him, the ball just passing his head. The fellow then made his escape in the darkness, and he is now said to be hiding in North Plainfield.

Recovered His Rig.

The horse and buggy which the police found on East Second street, early on Sunday morning, and subsequently put in Roberts' livery stable, was last night claimed by Mr. Lebbeus Ayers of Metuchen.

No explanation was given as to why he left the animal standing several hours in the cold and piercing wind.

Clean the Gutters.

We hear a number of complaints of the condition of some of the principal cross streets in the Borough, especially Craig place and Emily street. The gutters need the immediate attention of the Street Commissioner, and should be ploughed out and cleaned, so that the surface water would run off before it freezes. A word to the wise is sufficient.

—The attention of the Street Commissioner is called to the condition of West Fourth street, near New street.

REVERSED THE DECISION.

The Court of Errors Yesterday Decided in Favor of Mulford Cole.

In 1883 a suit was brought by Frazee and Daniel Lee, now deceased, vs. Mulford Cole and others to set aside certain deeds of conveyances, which they claimed were fraudulently made Testimony was taken before Special Master in Chancery, Nelson Runyon, and in October, 1888, Chancellor McGill decided in favor of the Lee Brothers.

The case was then carried to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and yesterday the decision was reversed in favor of the defendants Messrs R. V. Lindabury of Elizabeth and J. B. Coward of this city were Counsel for the defendants To-Morrow's Opera Company.

The following is the cast of "The Brigands," the opera to be produced to-morrow evening at Music Hall:

Fiorella, the Brigand's daughter...Alice I. Carle
Fra Diavolo, a young farmer.....Clara Lane
Princess of Grenada.....Clara Wisdom
Adolph de Valladolid, her page...Marie Langdon
Pietro, the Brigand's lieutenant..Chas. Bigelow
Antonio.....H. W. Dodd
Prince of Boboli.....H. C. Blake
Count of Gloria Cassis.....J. K. Murray
Captain of Horse Marines.....R. E. DeMeza
Baron of Compotasso.....D. W. Lambton
Domino.....H. Ehrent
Carmagnola.....W. West
Barbavan.....Miles Parker
The Prece tor.....H. Ellis
Pipo, Innkeeper.....J. Riversdale
Falsocappa, the Brigand Chief...W. T. Carleton

Of the opera, it may be said that it is in Offenbach's best vein, his ensembles and finales showing his originality and vivaciousness. Of the company, it may be said that it is one of the best, if not absolutely the best, that will be heard in Plainfield this year.

The principals are excellent—Mr. Carleton, Mr. J. K. Murray, Miss Clara Lane, Miss Alice Carle and Mr. Chas. A. Bigelow shining with special light. The chorus is very much superior to the choruses of light opera that usually visit us, singing with telling effect in the situations of which Offenbach knew so well to make use. The dresses are rich and appropriate, and form no insignificant feature of the general success. It is seldom that an opera is better mounted and sung than the "Brigands" by the Carleton Opera Company.

Burning the Four-Wheeled Coal Cars.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad managers at the shops have adopted a novel way of getting rid of their four-wheeled coal cars, now regarded as out of style. The wheels are removed from the trucks and then the cars are piled up in great heaps in the yard and the torch applied. For a week 25 cars have thus been destroyed per day, but the work was going on too slowly at that rate, so on Saturday a heap of 200 was made at once and reduced to ashes.

There were at one period 8,000 of these four-wheeled cars in use from the coal mines to tide water, but at that time locomotives were lighter, and trains did not usually exceed 125 cars. Now the heavy engines employed to transport coal trains haul from 150 to 170 cars. Recently the four-wheeled cars were condemned by the company as unsafe, because of the frequent wrecks occasioned by their giving way to the pressure put upon them. Only eight-wheeled cars will be used hereafter on the road.

Mannion Ejected.

As a result of the decision in favor of Mrs. Harry Illsley, of this city, in the ejectment suit brought by her against "Jack" Mannion, proprietor of the Yellow Tavern at Bound Brook, which was carried to the Supreme Court, was on Monday, Nov. 11, decided in favor of Mrs. Illsley. Mannion was ordered to vacate the premises Saturday, and Mrs. Illsley was awarded $1,000 damages.

The notice to quit was served upon Mannion by Sheriff Fick and Constables Reed and Soper of New Brunswick. Mannion was perfectly willing to move, but there was a gang of men at the place it is said drinking and carousing, and it was late at night before the place could be cleared. Mrs. Illsley will hereafter conduct the business of the tavern.

The Last Registration Day.

On Tuesday, November 26, the several boards of registry will sit in the different polling places, to register the names of additional voters who are entitled to a vote at the forthcoming charter election. Voters who registered and voted at the last election will not be required to again register their names.

The city election will take place on Tuesday, December 3.

Ramabai Circle.

The annual meeting of the Ramabai Circle of this city will be held in the Congregational church on Friday afternoon at four o'clock. During the meeting a report will be read of the work accomplished by the missionary, Ramabai, since her return to India, less than a year ago. A full attendance of the members is requested.

Cheap Educational Rates.

The German school which was organized in the Gesang and Turner Hall on September 1, now has a membership of 72. The German Language is taught by Mr. Martin Heubner, and the rates of tuition for pupils, outside of the sons and daughters of the members of the society, are twenty-five cents a month.

"Give us a rest" cried a bootblack from the gallery of the Opera House, to a party who had been constantly coughing during the performance. "Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup" chimed in another.

THEIR GRAND ENCAMPMENT.

New Jersey Odd Fellows in Session at Trenton.

The forty-seventh annual session of the Grand Encampment of New Jersey Odd Fellows was held at Taylor Opera House Assembly rooms, Trenton, yesterday. About 300 members were in attendance who were presided over by Grand Patriarch Levi Holcombe. Distinguished visitors were John C. Underwood, of Kentucky, Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge and General of the Patriarchs Militant; Charles M. Busbee, of New York, Deputy Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and Theodore A. Ross, of Columbus, Ohio, Grand Secretary of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, who were received with the usual "honors."

About 40 Past Chief Patriarchs were instructed in the Grand Encampment degree.

The report of the Grand Patriarch showed that there are now fifty-six Encampments in the jurisdiction. One surrendered its charter during the year. Lewis Parker, Grand Scribe, reported that the number of members in the State is 2,942, a gain of 64. The sum paid for the relief of members was $8,100.26, of which $6,128.61 was for the relief of Patriarchs; $1,568.40 for burial of the dead and $402.25 for special relief. The annual receipts of subordinate Encampments were $16,360.52.

In concluding his report the Grand Scribe said he rejoiced that he was able to again congratulate the order upon the continued prosperity that had marked their operations during the year. In every essential they had made an advance, and it seemed that every step forward had been held. What had been accomplished was secure and the future was filled with promise. The Patriarchs of New Jersey, alive to the interest of the order, true to it, true to themselves, and acting in harmony and with a determination to succeed, need not wonder that they grow year by year in membership, efficiency and power.

The following officers were elected; Grand Patriarch, Amos B. Pierce, Newark; Grand High Priest, A. J. Doan, Jersey City; Grand Senior Warden, Jas. C. Robbins, Hamilton Square; Grand Scribe, Lewis Parker, Trenton; Grand Treasurer. William H. Courter, Jamesburg; Grand Junior Warden, Evan Dalrymple, Clinton; Grand Representative, J. Barton Smith, Newark.

PASTIMES LOSE AGAIN.

The Progress of the Union County Bowling Tournament.

The fifth game of the league tournament for the championship of this county, was bowled on the alleys at Westfield, last evening. Although by the substitution of Sorter for Irving, the Pastimes did better than the evening before, yet the Mondays won with 112 pins to spare. M. E. Alpers was umpire.

Nearing Completion.

The Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel which is being erected in Washington Valley, is nearing completion, and the building will be ready for worship about the holidays, provided, however, the weather does not interfere with the work. The building was commenced on September 1, and Mr Joseph Sillery, the contractor, informed a PRESS representative that the stone work will be completed by the latter part of this week. The roof is now on and ready for the slaters.

The chapel is built of what is known as second mountain moss-covered stone, and when finished it will present a rustic and realistic appearance. The dimensions of the main building are 32x50 feet, with an extension in the rear 13x15 feet in dimensions, and another 6x24 feet extension in front, the latter to be used as a vestibule. The chapel was named after the late Mary E. Wilson, of North Plainfield.

A Co-Operative Store.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk, yesterday, by the "Plainfield Co-operative Company," a workingman's association. The incorporators are Warren F. Bartlett, Theo. J. Gillies, Jos. F. Shepherd, Thos. Lee, Christian F. Hendricks, Peter N. Cline, Henry C. Homer, Richard J. Neal and Stevenson Moore.

The object of the association is to cheapen the necessaries of life to workingmen and give them a share of the profits. The organization has the sanction of James Bishop, Chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Its capital is $3,000; the shares are $5 each. Six hundred shares are to be issued, to be paid for in installments of not less than fifty cents a week.

Drunk With a Baby in Her Arms.

(Newark Press-Register.)

Mary Kenworthy of Westfield, came to Newark with her two-months-old baby to visit Bridget Henry, her friend, of 66 Madison street. During the day the "growler" was rushed a number of times, until the ladies got a little noisy. Sergeant Fine of the Third precinct, with Officers Corbally, Carpenter, Smith and Tighe, were called to stop the noise, and found it necessary to bring the gang in, where Mrs. Kenworthy, the baby and Mrs. Henry slept off the effects of the beer. It is said that there were two or three more in the crowd, but they succeeded in making their escape.

Plymouth's Church Difficulty.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Bishop O'Hara visited Plymouth to adjust the church difficulty there between the Polanders and Lithuanians. He has divided the parish according to nationality, and decided that the Polanders should pay the Lithuanians $2,000 for their interest in the church edifice. The Polanders decline to accede to this arrangement, and say they will carry their grievance to the Cardinal.

Not Guilty of Counterfeiting.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—In the United States Court George Meith, brother of John and Fred Meith, of East Aurora, Erie County, all indicted for counterfeiting was tried and the jury rendered a verdict of "not guilty."

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?
Do its Manufacturers Publish the Ingredients Used?
IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?
As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the brain material.
Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead
CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.
This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

ALL QUIET IN BRAZIL

The Republican Government Issues a Manifesto.

DOM PEDRO'S FALL ANNOUNCED

The Senate and Council Abolished and the Chamber of Deputies Dissolved.

Order Will be Preserved Until the People Announce Their Will—Contradictory Stories About Rioting in Rio de Janeiro—An Offer From the Revolutionists that Dom Pedro Refused.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Dispatches were received at the Brazilian Legation here this morning from Rio de Janeiro reporting everything quiet there, and the peaceful progress of the revolution. Senor Valente, the Brazilian Minister, after receiving these despatches, said that he placed no credence whatever in the European reports from Paris and Hamburg of rioting and fighting in Rio.

A Republican Manifesto.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 20, via Galveston—The manifesto of the Republican Government of Brazil is as follows:

FELLOW CITIZENS: The people, the army and the navy, and the provinces have now decreed the fall of the imperial dynasty and the suppression of the monarchial system. The patriotic revolution has been followed by the formation of a Provincial Government, whose first mission is to guarantee order, liberty, and the rights of the citizens.

The formation of this Government until a definite Government has been named has been made with full regard to the most competent material. The Government is simply composed of temporary agents, who will govern and maintain peace, liberty, fraternity and order. The attributes and extraordinary faculties invested are for the defense and integrity of the country and preservation of the public order.

The Provisional Government promises to use all means in its power to guarantee security of life and property to all the inhabitants of Brazil, native and foreign, and respect for individual political opinions, excepting the exigent modifications necessary for the good of the country. The army and navy, the ordinary functions of the Department of Justice, the civil and military administrations, will continue under the existing organizations, and respect for those holding positions will be maintained.

The Senate and State Council are abolished and the Chamber of Deputies is dissolved. The Provisional Government recognizes and acknowledges all national compromises under the late Government and all agreements with foreign powers. The public debt, internal and external, will be respected; also all existing contracts and obligations legally made.

"DEODORO FONSECA.
"Chief of the Provisional Government."

DOM PEDRO REFUSED.

He Would Not Associate With Revolutionists for Honors.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A story is in circulation to the effect that the leaders of the Brazilian revolution went to the Emperor prior to the uprising and, representing the strength of the republican sentiment in the Empire, asked him to throw the weight of his influence upon the side of the democracy, in return for which his majesty was promised the presidency of the reconstructed government.

To this proposal Dom Pedro is said to have given an indignant answer in the negative, declaring that while he recognized the increase of republican sentiment throughout the Empire and foresaw the ultimate establishment of a Democratic Government in Brazil he would countenance no attempt to hasten the event by revolutionary means. If the people desired to try the experiment of a Republic through plebiscite he was ready to abdicate, but on no account would he associate himself with revolutionists.

A Paris Rumor About Restoration.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The Figaro publishes a despatch from Hamburg, stating that merchants of that city have received a despatch from Rio Janeiro, saying that a movement in favor of the restoration of the dethroned Emperor, Dom Pedro, has been started and that fighting between the ex-Emperor's sympathizers and the revolutionists is now going on in the streets.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Sir Henry James Takes Things for Granted of Which He Knows Nothing.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—In continuing his speech before the Parnell Commission Sir Henry James said that the large amount of money sent to the leaders of the National League unaccounted for gave wide scope for the belief that it was used in evil doings. He also declared that the money of the League was used to defend other than Agrarian prisoners.

Sir Henry James, continuing his argument, dwelt at great length upon the Phoenix Park murders, and asked the court to accept the evidence concerning the tragedy given by the convict Patrick Delaney, whose testimony, he said, was fully supported by that of other witnesses.

Justice Day, one of the members of the Parnell Commission, was knocked down by a cab while on his way to Court. He proceeded to his destination and took his seat on the bench, but was unable to sit during the session.

A Revolt in Spain Feared.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Senor Castelar, the Spanish Republican statesman, has started for Madrid. His sudden and unexpected return to that city at this particular juncture is regarded with suspicion in political circles, and it is feared that a revolt may occur against the present Spanish regime.

Religion for the Rich.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A religious society has been formed by certain enthusiasts whose aim is to convert the people of the West End of London to Christianity. Every house in that aristocratic quarter is being visited by members of the organization, and even the residence of the Prince of Wales has been invaded.

The Tenants' Defense League.

DUBLIN, Nov. 20.—The convention of the Tenants' Defense League opened at Tralee with great enthusiasm. Upward of 1,000 delegates were present, including a large number of priests and prominent Parnellites. The town is crowded with people.

A Big Donation for the Poor.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The celebrated brewing establishment of Guinness' Sons has donated the sum of £200,000 for the purpose of erecting dwellings for the laboring poor of London, and £50,000 for a like purpose in Dublin.

HENRY GEORGE IN LUCK.

He Will Receive the $25,000 Bequeathed to Him by a Jersey Disciple.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 20.—By a decision of Chief Justice Beasley of the Court of Appeals, Henry George will get the $25,000 which George Hutchins, of Waterford, N. J., bequeathed to him for the promulgation of "Progress and Poverty."

The relatives of Hutchins were left but a trifle, and the will was contested on behalf of Hutchins' widow. Vice-Chancellor Bird rendered a decision to the effect that the bequest made to Mr. George was inoperative because the book sought to be disseminated was not of such a nature as to be a charity, and the doctrine set forth in it was in defiance of existing law.

Chief Justice Beasley now reverses this opinion, and holds that the book was for the purpose of spreading light upon questions of social and political economy. The Chief Justice adds that the works of Mr. George have greatly elucidated and enriched the subject of which they treat. Such benefactors are entitled to the most favorable reception by the courts. The work is not hostile to religion, to law, or morals and is not proscribed by law.

A LUCKY STRIKE.

The Greatest Accidental Find of Pure Coal Ever Known.

MAHANOY PLANE, Pa., Nov 20.—Lawrence & Brown, of Mahanoy Plane colliery, have made a tremendous hit in striking a new mammoth vein of anthracite coal. The vein is said to be 200 feet thick, containing millions of tons. It will go on record as the greatest accidental "find" of pure coal ever known.

The vein was struck while making a drift 440 yards under the surface. It is now believed the mammoth vein basin has been found. It is impossible at this time to accurately compute the millions of tons of anthracite fuel contained in it, but the operators regard it as inexhaustible.

POWDERLY'S PLAN.

The Knights Will Gradually Reduce the Hours of Labor.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—The General Assembly, Knights of Labor, considered the eight-hour question, and as a result the recommendation of Grand Master Workman Powderly was virtually adopted.

It was resolved that where practicable the members should arrange for a reduction of hours of labor to nine and a half per day, or fifty-seven per week for the year commencing March 30, 1890, and a reduction of one-half hour daily each succeeding year until the eight hour point has been reached.

Nothing in this shall be so construed as to prevent any national trade district assembly from taking any action to further reduce the hours.

Death of a Noted Outlaw.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Jacob Buzzard, one of the six notorious brother outlaws of that name died yesterday in the Eastern Penitentiary. For many years they defied arrest, and when arrested defied detention in the jail of Lancaster county, within whose limits most of their depredations were committed. Their mother was a thief, and taught the boys to steal, and the most apt of her pupils was the widely known burglar, Abe, who was chased by and defied 100 armed men on one occasion in his hiding place in the Welsh mountains.

A Young Girl Assaulted by a Tramp.

FOXBORO, Mass., Nov. 20.—Intense excitement exists here over the outrage inflicted on the thirteen-year-old daughter of Charles Comey, who lives three miles from the center of the town. She was returning from school through the woods, when she was seized by a tramp and feloniously assaulted. The police arrested on suspicion a dozen tramps, one of whom, Edward Lonsdale, aged 30, was identified by the girl, arraigned and bound over to the Grand Jury.

Attempted Wholesale Assassination.

IRONWOOD, Mich, Nov. 20.—Three dynamite cartridges were exploded under the Alcazar Theater at Hurley, Wis. Fortunately the explosive was so placed that the building was but slightly damaged, and no one in the audience of 400 was injured. The attempted wholesale assassination caused great excitement. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

Brooklyn's Car Strike a Failure.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 20.—The strike on Richardson's horse car lines is a complete failure. Not one quarter of the drivers and conductors, and none of the stablemen quit work. The only men that went out were the members of the union. There were very few and trivial acts of violence by the strikers. The Deacon says he will have a full force of non-union men at work to-morrow.

Defrauding Odd Fellows.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Nov. 20.—F. M. Wonser, has been arrested here on a charge of obtaining money from Odd Fellows as the representative of the Odd Fellows' Mutual Aid and Accident Association of Piqua, Ohio. He received advance payments from several applicants.

The Collom Jury Disagree.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 20.—The jury in the Collom forgery trial reported that they had failed to agree. They were discharged. They stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal. A new trial is probable.

Confirmed by Mgr. Satolli.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Mgr. Satolli, the Papal delegate, has arrived here, and confirms the statement made by Archbishop Fabre that Rome would not raise the ban against the Masons and other secret societies.

Flagler Resigns.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—J. H. Flagler has resigned the general managership of the National Tube Works at McKeesport, which is owned by Boston men and employs several thousand men all the year around.

Diphtheria is Raging.

LANCASTER, Ohio, Nov. 20.—There are more than 100 cases of diphtheria in this city. All the schools have been ordered closed. About twenty children have died.

Arrived on Time.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 20.—The first of the new fast mail trains from the East arrived here on time.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The World's Fair Guarantee Fund at New York now amounts to $4,010,597.

The bodies of two men, dressed in the garb of sailors, were washed ashore at Long Branch, N. J.

John G. McMurray, carpenter and builder at 58 West Twenty-fourth street, New York, has failed.

W. H. Campbell has been appointed postmaster at Larchmont, a fourth-class office in New York State.

The New York and New Haven Railroad yesterday subscribed $50,000 for the New York World's Fair.

It is stated that that Queen Victoria has forwarded to Dom Pedro an invitation to visit her at Windsor.

A cablegram from London announces that the market for Brazilian securities there is firm at slight advances.

Charles H. Montague, city editor of the Boston "Globe," died last night of typhoid fever after an illness of four weeks.

The steamer Marie St. Croixton, Quebec for St. Roch, was wrecked in a gale, and the captain and three sailors were drowned.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe has become a hopeless imbecile. Her mind is a total blank, and she is haunted with numberless fancies.

Wm. W. Converse, aged 55, president of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company at New Haven, Conn., died last night of cancer of the throat.

Chas. Ford and Bernard Gaffney, two of the English glassworkers brought to Jeannette, Pa., have made affidavits that they came under contract.

A boy was born to Mrs. John Feeks, widow of Lineman Feeks, who met his death while repairing telegraph wires in New York about a month ago.

The steamer Italy from Liverpool, before reported as four days overdue, has reached her dock in New York. Her detention was caused by a succession of westerly gales.

During the voyage of the steamer Fulda, just arrived in New York from Bremen, four little children died of diphtheria. All the victims parents were Russian Jews.

Forest fires in the vicinity of Middletown, Conn., have burned over one hundred acres of valuable woodland. A force of 100 men worked twelve hours to subdue the flames.

The body of an unknown man was found at South Windsor on the banks of the Connecticut river by E. R. Vibberd. The man must have been in the water several weeks.

Governor-elect Campbell of Ohio has appointed as his private secretary Claude Meeker, of the Cincinnati "Enquirer," and as Adjutant-General Morton L. Hawkins, of Cincinnati.

Joseph Clayton, of Manmouth Junction, N. J., went home intoxicated and his wife refused to admit him. He thereupon shot himself dead. The couple had four children.

Edward Edwards, aged 33, while in a bin at Dinison Bros. grain mill at New Bedford, Mass., shoveling oats that came down an elevator, was sucked into a chute by the flowing grain and smothered to death.

Joseph W. Bradley, aged 43, a wool sorter at the Adriatic mill in Westchester, Mass., was killed by the New York express. His body was frightfully mangled, both legs were broken and the top of his head was torn off. He leaves a family.

W. T. Bernard represents a company of New York capitalists who are negotiating for the purchase of land near Uniontown, Pa., on which to erect a plant for the manufacture of aluminum metal from clay. It is claimed that the metal can be made harder than steel and light as wood.

Schuyler Taylor, a street car driver, and Mrs. Irving Taylor, wife of a well known blacksmith, of South Norwalk, Mass., have eloped from that place and their present whereabouts are unknown. The couple's intimacy had created much scandal for some time. Taylor has left a wife and four children in destitute circumstances.

Walter Haynes, of Brimfield, Mass., is 100 years old to-day. He is in excellent health and does not look to be over 75. As a carpenter Mr. Haynes helped to build the first block erected in Syracuse, N. Y., and alone excavated a quarter section of 26 rods of the Erie Canal. He never used liquor or tobacco and attributes his longevity to boiled victuals and "Johnny cake."

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

* * * * *

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

* * * * *

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

* * * * *

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, lor a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you,

* * * * *

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

* * * * *

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

* * * * *

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

* * * * *

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

POWDERLY'S ARREST

To Be Taken Into Custody on His Arrival in Scranton.

THE CHARGE IS CONSPIRACY

Preferred by a Fellow Knight for Injury to His Business Through a Boycott.

John R. Byrne Arrested at Scottdale, Pa., And a Warrant Issued for Peter Wise—The Arrests Grow Out of Letters Published by Mr. Powderly—Knights and the General Elections.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.—Ex-Representative John R. Byrne, of the Knights of Labor, was arrested at Scottdale, Pa., last night on a charge of conspiracy preferred by ex-Representative Edward Callaghan. The information also includes General Master Workman Powderly and Peter Wise, a local labor leader.

Mr. Powderly will be placed under arrest on his return from Atlanta to Scranton. Wise is absent from home, but will be arrested at the earliest possible moment.

The suit grew out of letters which Mr. Powderly published in the "Journal of United Labor" in June, 1888. At that time Callaghan was a candidate for the Senatorial nomination, but was overwhelmingly defeated. Callaghan alleges that he was boycotted and injured in his business by the Knights of Labor through the influence of Byrne, Powderly and Wise. Byrne was released on bail.

The General Assembly Adjourns.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.—The Knights of Labor in convention passed a resolution asking that days of national elections be made legal holidays with a penalty for employers violating the law.

Action was recommended whereby farmers and workingmen will be able to borrow money from the Government as easily as the national banks do. Convict labor was condemned.

Toledo received the highest vote as the next meeting place. Birmingham, England, received a large vote, which is taken to indicate the increasing sentiment of internationality in the order.

In his closing address Mr. Powderly said the present conservative policy of the order had resulted in placing it in better condition than ever before. He asked that his salary be reduced from $5,000 to $2,500. This was refused. The Assembly then adjourned sine die.

Erie Railroad Employes Dissatisfied.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—It is stated that the engineers, firemen and trainmen of the Erie Railroad are dissatisfied, as well as those of the Central. A list of grievances was submitted to General Manager Thomas and he is to give an answer to-day. The men claim that the agreement made two years ago between the company and its employes, covering the rights and duties of the latter, has lately been violated by the company. But their brief grievance is an attempt by the company to force them to sign what is called the cast-iron agreement, that the company shall not be held liable for any injury to the employe while on duty.

The Report Not Believed.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The dispatch from San Francisco saying that "Rev. C. Hudson Smith, the supposed Boston suicide, is there with his mistress," was shown to Rev. Frederick Campbell, brother-in-law of the missing pastor. Mr. Campbell said he had just brought himself to believing that Mr. Smith was dead, when this report reached him. He believed it was a newspaper story without any foundation in fact. Should it prove true he would have Mr. Smith sent home and placed under restraint befitting his irresponsibility, for, if alive, he is beyond a doubt insane.

They Want a Big Paper Mill.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 21.—There is a prospect of the second largest paper mill in the world, located in Glens Falls, passing into the hands of an English syndicate of wealthy capitalists. M. A. Sheldon, the attorney for the owners, sailed for Europe a few days ago to negotiate on the part of the paper company in the matter. There seems to be no doubt but that negotiations are pending.

High Water at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 21.—The Susquehanna river covers the flats between here and Kingston, cutting off communication between Wilkesbarre and the Delaware, Lackawana & Western Railroad. The great quantity of floating drift coming down indicates that the flood must be doing considerable damage in the country above. The water here is at the 16-foot mark, and still rising.

Replacing Washed-Away Bridges.

READING, Pa., Nov. 21.—A large force of carpenters was sent by the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad to Milton to build three temporary structures in place of the three bridges washed away. A large force of linemen have also been sent out to repair the damages done to the wires.

Choked to Death by Gas.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Owen Bixby, sixty years old, of Hillsdale, N. Y., was found dead in bed at the Putnam House, the gas in the room being turned on. Bixby had lived at the hotel since November 10.

Western Governors in Chicago.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 21.—Governor Cooper, of Colorado, suddenly left for Chicago last night. It is rumored that all the Western Governors are to meet in that city to consider the World's Fair location question.

WHO KILLED FLYNN?

Two Sensational Reports About the Umbrella Stabbing Affair.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A genuine sensation has come to the front in the case of Martin Flynn, the man who was fatally stabbed in the eye with an umbrella Oct. 28. Major Joe Stewart, widely know through his efforts in behalf of the Austin, Texas, Confederate Soldiers' Home, is stated to be the man who wielded the umbrella.

At his office, 62 Wall street, Major Stewart said that about 9:30 p. m. on October 25 he and his wife were walking down Broadway, when at the corner of 37th street a man passed close to Mrs. Stewart and taking her by the arm said: "How d' ye do?"

Stewart turned and struck the fellow several times with his umbrella. He fell back, but soon renewed his insults. This time he made a movement as if to draw a pistol, when two gentlemen interfered, saying that Stewart had hit him enough.

Major Stewart waited some time for a policeman, but none appeared, and he and his wife returned home. Mr. Stewart admits noticing blood on the cheek of his wife's assailant after the affray.

George de Bois, who saw Flynn wounded, will meet Stewart and see if he can identify him as the man who killed Flynn.

Later in the day it was learned that the man struck by Stewart could not have been Flynn. Siegfried H. May, a liquor dealer, of 2931 First avenue, gave himself up to the police, and there is no doubt that it was he that caused Flynn's death. He says that he was walking on Broadway, near 36th street, one night in October when a man asked him for a quarter, and on being refused, grabbed him by the coat collar. May had been drinking but could control himself, and he pushed the man away. The man renewed the attack, however, and in self defense May struck him several times with an umbrella, and finally struck him in the face with it. Two friends who had been walking with May, but had dropped behind, now came up, and the three walked away. May afterward heard of the Flynn case and was advised by his lawyer to give himself up. He was released in custody of his counsel and will appear in court to-day for examination.

TO PASS INTO ENGLISH HANDS.

The Lamson Store Service Company to Go to the Syndicate.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—It is reported that an English company will succeed the present Lamson Store Service Company. The Lamson Company having bought up its competitors will turn over to the new company a monopoly of the business, which is paying already over $1,250,000 a year.

The new company is organized with about $11,000,000 capital, of which amount $9,000,000 is to go to the Lamson Company, whether in cash or stock is not known.

After paying $3,000,000 required to meet the notes given in purchase of its five competitors, the Lamson Company can pay its floating debt of $500,000, and will then have $6,500,000 to be divided among the 66,000 shares, or less, of Lamson stock now outstanding.

Recommends a Christian Trust.

ROME, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Dr. Frank Russell of New York, Field Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance movement, says the Christian workers of the country should follow the example of the business men, co-operate and form a syndicate for the redemption of the people. Co-operation was the order of the hour. The Christian workers must form a trust, as it were, in order to bring the classes which they wish to reach, into the folds of the Church. Much interest is taken in the movement here.

Seamen Rescued Off the Coast.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The captain of the steamer Leona, of the Mallory Line, just arrived, reports that he has on board eight seamen whom he rescued at sea in an open boat. The men were picked up off the coast of the Southern States in a pitiable condition. The name of the wrecked vessel has not been learned, but the men state that it was lost off the coast of Florida on a voyage from Key West to Baltimore.

An Undertaker Assigns.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Isaac C. Shuler, the well known undertaker of this city, has made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors to his confidential clerk, Hicks B. Waldron. His liabilities are estimated at $75,000. His nominal assets exceed this amount but his actual assets will fall considerably below it. The failure was caused by refusal of local banks, as a consequence of the deplorable Carmichael affair, to renew his paper.

Conference of Colored Men.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 21.—A conference of prominent colored men in the State will be held in Richmond on the 17th of December next, to consider the condition of colored men in Virginia, politically and otherwise. A call has been issued for representatives from every county and city in the State. A committee will probably be appointed to visit Washington, and try and induce Congress to pass a National election law.

Accident on a Railroad Bridge.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 21.—Six men were injured while working on the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge at the eastern end of this city, by a heavy timber falling on them. Anthony Catrop has since died from his injuries and Frank Cherbin is very dangerously hurt.

The Editor of "Dixie" Dead.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.—News has reached this city of the death at Saranac Lake, N. Y., of Charles H. Wells, editor of "Dixie," a prominent trade journal of this city. Deceased was 29 years old, and was well-known in railroad circles.

GLASSCOCK DESERTS

Working for the Old League Against the Brotherhood.

EWING CALLS HIM A TRAITOR.

The Giants' Captain in Indianapolis to Defeat the Hoosier's Scheme.

"King" Kelly, of the Bostons, Pronounces in Favor of the Brotherhood—League Magnates in Consultation in Philadelphia—All the Stock of the Brotherhood Taken in Pittsburg.

INDIANAPOLIS Nov. 21.—The mystery surrounding the conference between President Brush and Manager Glasscock was cleared up when it became definitely known that the latter had formally allied himself with the home club for the coming season, and had taken a commission from Brush to visit all the league cities and endeavor to wean the players from their allegiance to the Brotherhood.

It is understood that Glasscock has a commission from the League managers, secured through Brush's influence, to mingle with the Brotherhood players, secretly induce as many of them as possible to abandon their contracts and sign with the League.

Buck Ewing, of the New York club, is here and says frankly that he is in the city to prevent the Indianapolis players from deserting the Brotherhood, if possible. He has arranged for a conference of players, which is expected to be held this afternoon. John M. Ward and Arthur A. Irwin will arrive here to-day, and other Brotherhood men, Ewing says, may be here. Boyle and Ewing had a conference, but neither would say definitely what the result of it was. Ewing says some very harsh things about Glasscock.

"Glasscock is a traitor," said he to-day. "We are not disappointed though, for we expected him to desert us. Still we thought he might have known enough to remain with the Brotherhood. He was one of the first men to object to the way the players were treated by the League, and when the Brotherhood was first suggested he was one of the first to indorse the movement. Now he is the first man to turn traitor."

Kelly a Brotherhood Man.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—"King" Kelly, of the Bostons, says: "I suppose the public look upon me with some apprehension because they know I am sure to be a big loser by sticking to the Brotherhood. It has been published that the Boston managers would give something away up in the thousands to get me for this season. That may have caused this feeling; but my friends have never felt anxious. Some men may have their price, but there isn't money enough in Boston to make me a traitor. I have given my word, and that settles it. I am with the Brotherhood, no matter what the sacrifice may be."

League Magnates in Consultation.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—A. G. Spalding, of Chicago, is in consultation with John B. Day, of the New York Baseball Club, and John I. Rogers, of the Philadelphia club. The object of their meeting is the preparation of an address to the public relative to the troubles of the National League with the players. Each of the gentlemen has prepared a draft of an address giving his individual views. These will be carefully considered, and in a short time, possibly to-morrow, a statement will be given to the press.

Signing Baseball Players.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 21.—Jack Rowe who came on from Buffalo, has signed the following players for the Brotherhood club. Ferson, in Manchester; John Irwin, in South Boston; Carney, in Salem, and Coney Mack in Hartford. All these men were with Washington last season. With Wise, Rowe and White this makes seven men now signed by the new Buffalo club.

A Big Coal Syndicate.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.—It is announced that a syndicate headed by Col. W. H. Simms, of New York, has been organized for the control of the Monongahela Valley coal region, which supplies Cincinnati, Louisville and the river trade. The mines and vessels are to be turned over to the syndicate in return for stock. Options expire on December 15, and before that time details will be arranged.

An Idle Furnace Put Into Blast.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 21.—The Centre Iron Company, recently reorganized, has put into blast its 100-ton furnace after an idleness of six months. Col. James B. Coryell, of Williamsport, is president of the new company.

Lehigh Champions.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 21.—The foot ball game between University of Pennsylvania and Lehigh resulted in a score of 8 to 0 in favor of Lehigh. The victory virtually gives Lehigh the State championship.

A Reformed Woman's Charity.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.—Maggie Bassendorf, a reformed woman, formerly known as Daisy Hutchinson, has donated her house and $1,000 as a nucleus to establishing a home for fallen women.

Diphtheria Epidemic.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Diphtheria has become so epidemic here that all the schools have been ordered closed until December 9, and the Teachers' Institute, which was to have been held here, will, on account of the general sickness, be held in Lansingburg instead.

Boils carbuncles, and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it, and ake no other.

HYMENEAL HARBINGERS OF HAPPINESS.

Three Plainfield Belles Were Made Brides, Yesterday.

LEE—ADAMS.

At the home of Carman Parse, Esq., on Grove street, last evening, the Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., united in marriage Miss Mary Adams, only sister of Mr. Daniel C. Adams, and granddaughter of the Hon. Daniel Cory, of Warrenville, N. J., to Mr. Charles A. Lee, of New York. The affair was very private, only the most intimate friends and relatives being present. Supper was served by Maynard.

The guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Parse, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Mundy, Mr. and Mrs. Dunham, Mrs. Susan Honeyman, Miss Allen, Miss Dunham, Miss Hull and Mr. James Dunham.

DRAYTON—MANNING.

In the Crescent Avenue church at six o'clock, took place the wedding of Miss Margaret Manning and Mr. John B. Drayton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Manning, and sister of Mr. J. H. Manning, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The groom has long been one of Plainfield's most popular young men.

The church was crowded long before the ceremony began. Miss Jessie Utter gave an organ recital of choice selections, as an appropriate prelude to the solemn service of harmony that followed. The altar was literally overflowing with rich decorations of cut flowers, growing lilies and other plants. The bride entered on the arm of her brother and was met at the altar steps by the groom and Mr. Fred Yates. She was clad in a gown of white faille, and a veil that entirely enveloped her. The Rev. W. R. Richards performed the ceremony. The ushers were Messrs George Craig, Robert Fairbairn, Wiswall Drayton and R. Henry Depew.

ATFIELD—LEAHEY.

Mr. John C. Atfield and Miss Mary E. Leahey, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Smyth, at St. Mary's church, yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Last night the newly married couple received their friends at their home on South Second street. Prof. S. Frazee furnished the music for dancing.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. Joseph S. Cutter has been confined to the house for several days past by illness.

Mr. Theodore Dunn of Broadway is confined to the house, suffering from a severe cold.

The Rev. Charles B. Mitchell will deliver a temperance address in Hope chapel, to-morrow evening.

Mr. Jules Boutes, the West Second street hair-dresser, arrived home from Europe on the French steamer, LaGascone, on Monday.

Rev. Mr. Thompson of Lakewood, N. J., has returned home after spending a few days very pleasantly with his sister. Miss Thompson of No. 13 Peace street.

Mrs. Anna P. Thorn, the aged and respected mother of Mr. E. P. Thorn, celebrated her 88th birthday anniversary yesterday, Nov. 20. Mrs. Thorn still retains all her mental faculties.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society will hold its regular meeting for sewing, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Mrs. Newhall's, 20 East Seventh street. All the ladies are cordially invited.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, who is conducting the mission services in Grace church, is Chaplain of the Grand Lodge, F. A. M., of Pennsylvania. He will preach next Sunday evening at eight o'clock, to men only.

William Kellington, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, and a member of the 5th N. Y. Battery, accompanied by his friend, Harry Smith, visited the former's old comrade, E. C. Morse, in this city, yesterday. Mr. Kellington is blind and deaf from the effects of concussion from guns during action.

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

For several years past, the Plainfield Relief Association has been enabled, through the generosity of its friends, to give Thanksgiving dinners to a number of poor families, who would otherwise know little of the good cheer of that day. For this purpose contributions of small turkeys, chickens, vegetables, fruit, flour, etc., are earnestly solicited from all who will aid in the good work this year. Such gifts should be sent to the Association Rooms, No. 45 West Second street, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, or early the following morning.

E. R. LEONARD, Sec.

Fix That Walk!

The dilapidated, miserable apology for a board sidewalk on Somerset street, between Linden and Grand View avenues, is a disgrace that should not longer be tolerated. Let the Borough authorities see to it, and either compel the owner to lay a new one or lay it themselves and assess it against the property.

Husband versus Wife.

A free fight between man and wife, took place in an East Third street residence on Tuesday afternoon, and it is reported that a considerable quantity of claret was spilled during the melee. The man struck his wife on the head with a whiskey bottle, which led to the affray. No arrests were made.

Every home should be supplied with a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup—the great family remedy.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM JAQUES MARSH.

William Jaques Marsh, son of Mr. Seymour Marsh, of Putnam avenue, died at the home of his father, last night, of consumption, aged 23 years.

Previous to his return home last Spring, young Mr. Marsh had spent the greater part of the past five years in Colorado; and for the last two years was chief clerk of the Denver Fuel Co., a large coal mining corporation at Sopris, near Trinidad. He was an exemplary young man, possessing a lovable character and all the characteristics of a thoroughly Christian gentleman. He was able beyond his years, faithful in his duties, and had he lived, would have made a shining mark in the business world. His death is a loss to the community, and to the country, for it is to just such young men as he was, that this Nation must look for safety in the future.

A devoted father, honored and respected wherever known, has the earnest and heartfelt sympathy of a host of loyal friends, and for him, in his great affliction, are shed the tears of brotherly love. The immediate friends and former schoolmates of young Mr. Marsh will feel a blow of sorrow that they will never forget, and it will require true Christian fortitude for them, and the stricken family, to bear up under the terrible adversity that has crossed their path. If there was ever a manifestation of Christian virtues, it was shown in the life and death of our departed young friend. He was always of the same gentle and loving nature, in health and in sickness; patient and cheerful to the last, and never uttering a word of complaint or showing the least sign of discontent. He lived a consistent Christian life; he was the soul of honor, the idol of his family and employers, and has gone to reap the reward of the faithful.

May the consolation that can only come from Him who doeth all things well, sustain his household and friends in the dreadful ordeal through which they are called to pass, is the prayer and sincere desire of all who knew young Mr. Marsh, and who know his family. His patience was sublime, and his hope of the future was a realization of a blessed hereafter, even in his suffering here.

Funeral services will be held at the residence of his father, 35 Putnam avenue, on Saturday morning, 23d inst., at 10:30 o'clock. Interment at Rahway.

Republican Convention.

The City Republican Convention to nominate three councilmen-at-large, city judge, assessor, collector, treasurer, three commissioners of appeal and a member of the board of education, will be held in the Republican Association rooms, on Saturday evening, the 30th instant.

Besides this each Ward will nominate a member of the common council, a judge, two inspectors and one clerk of election, one justice of the peace, a constable and three members of the city executive committee.

The primaries will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week.

Jeremiah VanDeventer's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Jeremiah Van Deventer, who died on Saturday, took place from his late residence on Green Brook road, yesterday forenoon. The large house was filled with the relatives and friends of the bereaved family, including many of the representative citizens of both this city and North Plainfield. Rev. Wm. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, conducted the service, and at the close the remains were interred in the Bound Brook cemetery.

Its Just as Easy as Can Be.

The new style of street letter boxes recently placed in position in certain localities in the city, by order of the Post Office Department, seem to puzzle a great many citizens who desire to deposit their mail therein. It is only necessary to turn the tray by means of the handles conspicuously displayed on either side of the box, slip the letter on the tray and and let go of the handle. You will never see your letter again, unless you follow it to its destination.

The Mission Services in Grace Church.

The mission in Grace church is being continued every day by the Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector, and the Rev. G. A. Carstensen, missioner. Seats are free, and a cordial welcome is extended all.

The hours of service on week days are: Morning Prayer, at 10 A. M. Instruction in the Christian Life, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 4 o'clock. Mission Service, sermon and "after meeting," at 7:45 P.M.

Mr. Burdick at Reform Hall This Evening.

The Reform Club holds an adjourned business meeting this evening at 7:30 sharp. After that, Reform Hall, placed by the Club at the disposal of the W. C. T. U., will be occupied by Mr. Burdick, the eminent temperance speaker. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all the citizens of Plainfield and vicinity. Mr. Burdick is well worth hearing.

Gun Club Meeting.

A special meeting of the Middlesex Gun Club will be held at Force's Hotel, this city, Saturday evening, November 23, at which time the Tournament Committee will make a report.

PEERLESS DYES

SUPT. OLHAUSEN WILL GIVE IT ATTENTION.

The Movement of THE PRESS and the People, for the Movement of the Freight House, Takes a Step in Advance.

The following correspondence explains itself, and will be welcome news, so far as it goes, to the people:

Mr. J. H. Olhausen, Gen'l Supt., Central Railroad of New Jersey:

DEAR SIR: The people of Plainfield are all very earnest about having the unsightly freight house with its inconvenient yard, moved from the centre of the city. It is now an eyesore and a nuisance.

Residents South of the station are compelled to travel far out of the way in order to get around it; the drilling cars are a menace to life; the noise of the live stock and whistling of the shifting engines, make night hideous; and the odors of large consignments of fertilizers, gasolene and other aromatic necessities, spread themselves for blocks to the windward.

Now that you have taken the outside tracks for the running of freight and coal trains, they must be kept clear, and, in consequence, there is but one track left from which to unload the fifty odd cars a day billed to Plainfield.

Come up and see just how inconvenient to your freight receivers, and objectionable to your resident passengers, is the old house and its old yard.

Very truly yours,
THE DAILY PRESS.

C. R. R. Co. of N. J.,
OFFICE OF
GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 19, 1889.

Mr. J. A. Demarest, Plainfield, N. J.:

DEAR SIR: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of Oct. 28, and desire to say that the matter will receive attention at my hands. It is a question, however, where a more central location with less interference to our patrons who desire to receive and deliver freight, could be secured.

Yours truly,
J. H. OLHAUSEN,
Gen'l Supt.

[The present situation of the freight house is no more convenient to all, and not so convenient to most others, as many more available places out of sight, smell and hearing. There is no necessity for a "central location" for the delivery of freight. It is all carted to and from the yard. So because a few trucks may have to drive a block or two further than now, is no reason that the people South of the tracks should be compelled to tramp all around town to get to the station or home again.—ED.]

An Unfortunate Executor.

The Court of General Sessions convened at Elizabeth, yesterday morning, with Judges McCormick, Hyer and Wiley on the bench.

A jury was at once empanneled to try the case of The State vs. Auguste Saltzman, of this city. Hon. Fred C. Marsh, of Elizabeth, and Mr. Arthur H. Eeley, of the New York bar, appearing in behalf of the defendant.

Prosecutor of the Pleas, Wm. R. Wilson, informed the court that as in all probability he would himself be called upon to testify, he had made arrangements with Mr. Lindabury to represent the State.

Mr. Lindabury, in opening the case, stated that the defendant was on trial for having, as it is alleged, appropriated money not his to his own use. From what could be understood, Saltzman was appointed as one of the executors of the will of Eliza Pooler, of Central avenue, now deceased, and that being a business man engaged in a business of his own, he used a part of the funds placed in his keeping in his business, thinking, as he claimed, he had a right to. The result was his business failed, and now he is unable, at least for the present, to make good the loss.

The jury after deliberating for a time, came into Court, at noon today, with a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment, and with a recommendation for mercy.

A Generous Act.

Mr. John Marsh of Scotch Plains, has very generously given a lease for land enough, next to the Post Office, on which to build a good-sized Hall for the use of the W. C. T. U., of that place. The ladies are now encouraged to believe that other liberal-minded citizens, stimulated by this good example, will come forward and help erect the structure.

There are about fifty (50) children, belonging to the Loyal Temperance Legion, all enthusiastic in temperance work, who will be greatly benefited by this new home.

The Music Hall Meeting.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis conducted the devotional exercises at the Music Hall meeting, last evening and Mr. M. M. Dunham led the singing. Mr. Burdick gave one of his old time temperance addresses, and a number of new names were added to the pledge signers. The meeting to-night will be held in Reform Hall.

This Evening's Reception.

A members reception will be held at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms to-night. A choice programme including mesmerism and orchestral music under the direction of Prof. Conde has been provided. President Murray will address the workers.

Realty Transfer.

The deed was recorded in the Somerset county Clerk's office, Wednesday of last week, of the transfer by A. W. Haviland et ux to Nina M. S. Weir, of property in North Plainfield for $4,000.

THAT "PLAINFIELD ALMS HOUSE" AGAIN.

The Impossibility Suggested Once More in Earnest.

(From the Central Times.)

On Wednesday, Nov. 6, was held in Elizabeth the stated meeting of the Union county branch of the State Charities' Aid Association of New Jersey, Dr. Kempshall of Elizabeth being the presiding officer.

The special efforts of the Society have been directed to the improvement of the condition of the alms house and its occupants, of Elizabeth, and while marked changes for the better have been effected, the institution is far from being a model one, and added to other evils is that of the establishing of a race course in its vicinity, an influence most demoralizing to the inmates. Among the changes which have been effected is the introduction of simple religious services on Sundays and on the occasion of the burial of paupers.

The subject of organized charities for Elizabeth was warmly discussed, and already preliminary steps are being taken in this direction. A report was presented by the committee on industrial education showing a most encouraging advance by the introduction of drawing, modeling, carpentry and sewing into the public schools of Elizabeth. It is hoped that the Plainfield schools will not long remain behind those of Elizabeth in this important movement.

The Plainfield committee, composed of H. P. Reynolds, Mrs. E. L. Goddard, Mrs. J. K. Myers, Mrs. Craig Marsh, Miss Isabel Tweedy and Mrs. Tiffany reported the formation of the Provident Savings Committee designed to promote provident habits among the working classes. This effort has been most successful and a similar plan has been proposed for Elizabeth. The savers in Plainfield number 137, and the special desire is to promote this habit among boys just beginning to earn wages. The amount collected since June has been $398.70 and the amount withdrawn $45.85. On October 1 fifteen individual bank accounts were opened for those who had saved $5 and upwards. Also, the committee reported an effort to introduce sewing into the public schools of Plainfield, the committee having presented the consideration of the matter to the Board of Education.

In the Plainfield report, the necessity was again emphasized of providing an alms house for those incapable of self support by reason of sickness, intemperance and vice, many of whom, for their own good as well as that of the community needed restraint, such as may be provided in such an institution only. As the erection an alms house for Plainfield seemed attended by insuperable objections and obstacles, it was suggested that the townships work to secure the establishment of a county poor house and farm, after the most approved models.

THE GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS.

Reports of Officers Showing Increases in Various Departments.

The Grand Lodge of New Jersey Odd Fellows was in session at Trenton yesterday, and a large representation of the order from all sections of the State was present. The session was called to order in Taylor Hall Assembly rooms at 11 o'clock by Grand Master J. Frank Jennings, who presided. After the preliminary exercises, the reports of the various Grand Officers were presented.

The Grand Master reported the Order in a flourishing condition. Grand Secretary Parker reported that there were 216 lodges on the roll. Two new lodges were instituted during the year—Oriental, No. 215, and West End, No. 216. The number of active members is 20,607, an increase during the year of 730. The number of brothers relieved during the year was 2,236; widowed families relieved, 129; number of weeks benefits paid, 17,833; amount paid for relief of brothers, $73,460,10; for widowed families, $2,428 36; education of orphans, $100.82; burial of the dead, $23,139,75; special relief, $3,945.56; total relief, $103,074.59. Amount of annual receipts from subordinate lodges, $224,234.73.

Denial Did Not Stop The Story.

[New York World.]

John Smalley, an old farmer of New Market, is beginning to think himself a much-persecuted man. A week ago somebody made the startling discovery that Mr. Smalley had been robbed of $1,000, which was news to Farmer John. He laughed at the idea, but denial did not stop the story, which went the rounds of the country newspapers until, with commendable enterprise, it was copied by the Evening Post in all its harrowing details.

Runaway on Park Avenue.

A horse attached to a furniture truck, belonging to Mr. R. R. Fairchild, ran away from the freight house, early this morning, but the animal was captured at the corner of Park avenue and Front street, before doing much damage.

The mosquito as a public singer draws well, but never gives satisfaction. Salvation Oil, however, always gives satisfaction in curing at once insect bites or any other sorts of wounds. Price 22 cents.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionable long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor came into use such examples are not so rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture.

Fourth Ward Club Meeting.

About forty of the members of the Fourth Ward Republican Club met in Councilman Dunham's office, last evening, with President W. R. Codington in the chair. It was decided at the meeting to continue the organization and a committee consisting of Messrs Carey, Mitchell and Randall, was appointed to secure headquarters for the club.

Exonerating its Correspondent.

A private letter from Managing Editor Bowers of the New York Tribune, received today, exonerates that paper's regular correspondent in this city from all blame in connection with the lot of trash sent from here, concerning the negro boy muzzling. The letter also states from whose pen the article originated.

Real Estate Sold for Taxes.

Justice Nash, at his office, yesterday, made a general sale of the real estate in the city, upon which there remained unpaid taxes. Back taxes amounting to $350 were paid in yesterday, and most of the property put up at auction was bid in by the owners or their representatives.

SAW HIM IN HIS COT.

Where O'Sullivan Was According to the Cronin Defense.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A desperate attempt was made by Kate McCormick, sister of Mrs. Thomas Whalen, to prove an alibi for O'Sullivan, defendant in the Cronin case. She swore that O'Sullivan was in the house of Mrs. Whalen all of the fatal night. She saw him in his cot at midnight.

D. J. Lyon testified to prove an alibi for Beggs, another defendant. He swore that he and Beggs were together on a train the night of February 20, going to call on the President-elect at Indianapolis, Ind.

Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla, I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

PORTUGAL EXCITED

The Royal Palace at Lisbon is Closely Guarded.

FEARS OF A REPUBLICAN RISING

The Revolution in Brazil May Cause Popular Insurrection.

Everything Quiet at Rio de Janeiro—The Brazilian Minister at Washington Satisfied With the Manifesto—Sir Henry James Attacks Minister Egan—Tories Taunt Parnell About His Mother.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A private dispatch from Lisbon to a diplomatic attache here reports that the revolution in Brazil causes great excitement in Portugal.

There are are fears of a Republican uprising. The Royal Palace in Lisbon is guarded with troops for the first time since the death of King Luis. The soldiers are apathetic and not to be trusted in the presence of a revolution.

No Rioting at Rio Janeiro.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Brazilian Legation has received a positive denial of the reported rioting in Rio de Janeiro. The Legation has also been informed that action on the status of the ambassadors and consuls will be taken in a few days. It is thought probable that their resignations will be asked for.

The Brazilian Minister Pleased.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Brazilian Minister regards the views of the dominant Republicans as set forth in their manifesto as most reasonable in all respects, and, as they have assumed all of the obligations and debts of the empire and have guaranteed the fullest protection and personal liberty to the citizens of other nations residing in Brazil, as well as security to their vested interests, he cannot see any excuse for dissatisfaction abroad at the recent change. In his view a constitutional convention must be assembled in Brazil at the earliest possible moment. This body will probably readjust the boundaries or representation of the twenty existing provinces, which vary largely in size and density of population.

The United States Government has ordered Rear Admiral Gillis, who is stationed at Montevideo with the vessels Richmond and Tallapoosa, to proceed to Brazillian waters. Secretary Tracy has cabled him to sail for Brazil at once. The dispatch contained a warning about yellow fever, but gave no detailed instructions to the Admiral.

No fear is entertained in the State and Navy departments concerning United States interests in Brazil, but it was thought best to have a couple of warships conveniently located in the event of serious trouble.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Sir Henry James Talks About the League Books and Patrick Egan.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—In his address before the Parnell Commission Sir Henry James, in alluding to the suppression of the Land League's books, said that while he did not wish to direct suspicion against Mr. Lewis nor make allegations against him he could not help but think that that astute gentleman had been imposed upon.

With regard to the missing books Sir Henry said that he was of the opinion that if the commission could have gotten them they would have been found to contain records showing that Byrnes and other members of the League had had financial transactions with that band of assassins known as the Invincibles.

He then reviewed the defence put forward by Sir Charles Russell on this aspect of the case and declared that it was open to the gravest suspicion. He referred to the flight of Patrick Egan as proof of his having been guilty of criminal conduct. He also declared that other evidence of his criminality existed in the fact of his association with the Phœnix Park murderers.

Sir Henry next referred to Byrnes's complicity in the murders which were committed at the time he was Secretary of the Land League.

THE SULTAN SUBMITS.

He Will See that Moussa Bey is Put on Trial.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—If the recent visit of Emperor William of Germany to Constantinople has been productive of no other result it has certainly been the means of inducing the Sultan to see to it that Moussa Bey, the Kurdish robber, murderer and perpetrator of every vile crime known to the region over which he lately terrorized, receives at least a portion of the punishment he deserves, for he certainly could not be adequately punished and live.

It now appears that one of the points insisted upon by the Kaiser, while conferring with the Sultan, was that Moussa should be placed upon trial as soon as possible, and if found guilty punished without delay. This the Sultan promised to do, and the first step toward the fulfiment of this promise is the imprisonment of the Kurdish caitiff, who has until now been permitted to go whither he pleased pending his trial.

Still, it will not do to rely too confidently on Moussa's conviction of the graver crimes with which he is charged, for it will be remembered that the witnesses who went from Albania to Constantinople to testify against him, some twenty in number, mysteriously disappeared en route or almost immediately after their arrival at their destination.

Tories Taunting Parnell.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Mr. Parnell's confessed ignorance of his mother's condition has created a bad impression generally, and the Tories are making full use of the opinion thus created in their warfare against him. Ordinarily the explanation of the matter vouchsafed by the Irish leader would be accepted as conclusive, but in the circumstances of the lady's pressing need having become a matter of public notoriety before Mr. Parnell was aware of her condition it is held that a clear case of unfilial conduct and indifference is established.

Late News from Stanley.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A dispatch has been received from Captain Wissmann stating that Stanley arrived at Mpwapwa on November 10.

KEYSTONE WAR CLAIMS.

The United States Will be Asked to Pay $3,000,000.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.—Gov. Beaver, Auditor-General McCaman, Attorney-General Kirkpatrick, and several members of the State Legislature, who constitute a commission to lay before Congress the claims of the border counties of Pennsylvania for extraordinary losses incurred by rebel invasion during the late war and to demand their payment by the Government, met here to organize and to consult with representatives of the border counties.

The claims for the burning of Chambersburg and for losses in the other counties aggregate about $3,000,000. The State of Pennsylvania has made three separate appropriations amounting to $900,000 towards the relief of the sufferers.

It is the intention of the Commission, backed by the united Pennsylvania delegation in Congress, to ask that the State be reimbursed for its outlay and the balance of the claims be paid. The Commission effected a temporary organization here. It will meet again at Harrisburg early in December and proceed to Washington to present the claims to Congress.

KELLEHER KNOCKED OUT.

The Boston Boy Put to Sleep in the Twenty-First Round.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 21.—A fight to a finish between Billy McCarthy, champion middle-weight of Australia, and Denny Kelleher, of Boston, for a purse of $1,800, took place last night at the rooms of the California Athletic Club.

In the first and second rounds McCarthy took the aggressive, and forced Kelleher around the ring with vicious swingings.

In the third round Kelleher was knocked down with a right hander, which also cut his lip badly.

The fighting up to the 21st round was about even, when McCarthy got in a savage blow on Kelleher's neck knocking the Boston boy out.

She Cut Her Baby's Throat.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Ellen Good, a young colored woman of 16 years, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter in the first degree in killing her baby by cutting the child's throat with a razor. The girl said she was suffering from intense mental anguish and bodily pain at the time she committed the crime, and was not responsible for her actions. The Judge sentenced her to five years in State prison.

On a Solid Basis in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.—Galvin, Miller, Fields, Kuehne and Hanlon have signed the regulation players' contract of the Players' National League Club of Pittsburg. John M. Ward, who is here, also secured the signature of DeWolf Hopper, playing at the Bijou Theatre, as mascot to the new League. All the stock has been subscribed for the Players' National League Club in Pittsburg.

Two Cases of Sandbagging.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Theodore W. Whiteman, freight agent of the Cromwell Steamhip Line, was sandbagged and robbed while passing through Washington Square on his way home last night. Michael J. Carroll was sandbagged and robbed by a man who entered his restaurant, 1606 Broadway, just as he was closing up. Their assailants escaped.

Fatally Injured at Football.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 21.—J. D. Dewell, Jr., son of J. D. Dewell, one of the wealthiest merchants in the city, is reported as lying at the point of death. Young Dewell attended the Yale rush as a freshman early in the fall and received internal injuries which called for an operation. This did not result favorably, and his recovery is despaired of.

Mrs. Goodloe to Succeed Her Husband.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—George W. Thomas, of Kentucky, called on the President and presented his papers and asked for the position of Internal Revenue Collector in the place of the late William Cassius Goodloe. The President told Mr. Thomas that he could not appoint him, as he had decided to appoint Col. Goodloe's widow to the place.

Cutler's Books All Right.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 21.—The books of missing Cashier Cutler, of the Ware National Bank, are all right, and upward of $6,000 belonging to him, in the shape of bonds, is also at the bank. Cutler held an $8,000 policy on his life. Ware River is being dragged to-day, as the suicide theory is now fast gaining the ascendancy.

Dr. Peters Heard From.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The Emin Bey Relief Committee has received a cablegram stating that letters from Dr. Peters, dated October 5, had reached Lamoo. The expedition was then at Korkowo and all were well. From this it is argued her that the reported massacre of Dr. Peters and party is untrue.

Postoffice Robbed.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 21.—For the second time within a year the postoffice at Fishkill Landing was robbed. There were three safes in the office, and but one was broken open. Funds and stamps amounting to $50 were taken. There is no clue to the thieves.

Slavin Ready to Fight Sullivan.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Slavin, the Australian champion, is ready to come to America to fight Sullivan for $5,000 or $10,000, according to a letter received here from his manager in London.

Will Not Act as Referee.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—Cowan, of Princeton, who had been selected as referee of the Yale-Harvard football game at Springfield, Mass., next Saturday, telegraphs that he will not act.

An Office for His Son.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Green B. Raum, Jr., son of the Commissioner of Pensions, has been appointed chief clerk of the Pension Bureau, vice Reed, resigned.

Big Money for a Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO Nov. 21.—The California Athletic Club last night decided to offer a $10,000 purse for a match between Sullivan and Jackson.

Diphtheria is epidemic in the 12th Ward of Chicago. Four families in one block have lost ten children. Defective sewerage is the cause.

A laborer named Mack cut his throat and then threw himself on to a red-hot stove and was burned to a crisp yesterday at Burlington, Iowa.

The Upson block at Baldwinsville, N. Y., which contained the Seneca Hotel, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at about $300,000.

Rev. Hippolyte Boranski, of the Polish Catholic Church, on Tillary street, Brooklyn, N. Y., died suddenly at Baltimore from inflamation of the brain.

Elmer Sharkey, the boy murderer awaiting execution for killing his mother at Eaton, Ohio, has been given a new trial. He would have been hanged yesterday.

The body of a man found floating at Alexandria, Va., yesterday, was identified as that of Thomas Cartwell, of Williamsburg, N. Y., who has been missing for a month.

Joseph Barton, an old and well-known citizen of Syracuse, N. Y., is dead. He was for many years a successful cigar manufacturer. He built the Barton Opera House in that city.

The meeting at Philadelphia of bar iron manufacturers of Eastern Pennsylvania decided not to advance prices at present. Fifteen firms were represented personally, and as many more by letter.

J. H. Rathbon, founder of the Order of the Knights of Pythias, is prostrated at a hotel in Lima, Ohio, with an immense carbuncle. He is not expected to live, and his family has been telegraphed for.

An engine and three passenger cars on the Jersey Central Railroad jumped the track near Elizabethport, N. J., yesterday. Engineer Stoddard was severely bruised and the passengers badly shaken up.

The representatives of important railroads in the United States are in session at Washington considering the present system of freight classification and discussing improvements to be made therein.

The reported strike of the freight handlers on the New York Central is premature. The men will meet the officers of the road to-day, when it is expected all differences will be amicably arranged.

The fast mail train from New York due at Portland, Oregon, yesterday was derailed near Union, Oregon, by the engine jumping the track. No serious damage resulted and no passengers were injured.

The coroner's jury has found that young Isaiah Browne, of Newark, N. J., who was found dead in the hallway of a disreputable house in New York shot himself while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.

Charles Claus' large meat storage house at Pittsburg, Pa., was entirely destroyed by fire. In the attempt to liberate sixty horses from an adjoining stable a stampede occurred, during which a number of persons were knocked down and severely injured by the excited animals.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—For New England: Rain: stationary temperature; southwesterly winds.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Rain; warmer, except stationary temperature in northern portion of New York; southeasterly winds, becoming variable.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Rain: no decided change in temperature; southerly winds.

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.

A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœia.—J. D. Hird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

WHAT THE LEADERS OF

Low Prices Have to Say.

We are after the Writing Paper trade of this town, and this is the way we are going to do it. We sell for 10c a box of extra-fine paper, and at 14c we can sell you a box of fine linen paper, plain or ruled, same as you usually pay 25c for.

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c; and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

The next time you want a good pair of Kid Gloves, for a little money, try our 5-button 65c glove. 'Tis a good one and will satisfy you.

We have some good things in Lace Curtains. The one at $1.25 per pair is unusually cheap. Better ones at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 per pair.

Ask to see the Merritt Skirt. 'Tis all wool and warranted not to shrink or crock; making it the best skirt ever made.

Rather early to cut prices on blankets—but we are doing it—and now is the time to buy.

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

We deliver goods everywhere free of charge.

THE BASEBALL WAR

The National League Issues an Address to the Public.

HOW THE PLAYERS PROFITED.

No Contract Made With the Brotherhood Has Ever Been Violated.

The New League Signing Players Very Rapidly. Farrell Signs With the Chicagos and Madden With the Bostons—Shortstop McKean, of Cleveland, Captured by the National League.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—The National League's committee to prepare an address to the public has completed its labors and issued an address reviewing the record of the League from its organization, and stating what it believes to be the causes of all the trouble with the Brotherhood.

The address sets forth that for fourteen years the League has stood sponsor for honesty and integrity of professional baseball. Now the good name of the organization has been assailed, its motives impugned and its integrity questioned by some of the very men it has most benefited.

The National League was organized in 1876 as a necessity, to rescue the game from its slough of corruption and disgrace, and take it from the hands of the ball players, who had controlled and dominated the National Association of professional baseball players for some years.

The address then goes on to state that no effort was made by the old association to control its members, and the result was that contract-breaking, dissipation and dishonesty had undermined the game to such an extent that it seemed an almost hopeless task to attempt its rescue.

Then the address goes on to state how the Brotherhood asked and received recognition from the League: how they disavowed any intention or claim to interfere with the business affairs of the League, the salaries of the players, or the "reserve rule," simply asking that the contract be so revised that it, in itself, would indicate every relation between a club and each individual player. Then the committee states:

"This 'Brotherhood Contract' then accepted and adopted, has never been violated by the League, either in letter or spirit, and we challenge proof in contradiction of this declaration."

The document further says that during the past five—and only prosperous—years, there have been paid in cash dividends to stockholders in the eight League clubs less than $150,000, and, during the same time League players have received in salaries over $1,500,000.

The address is signed by A. G. Spalding, John B. Day and John I. Rogers.

Chicago's Brotherhood Club.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Fred Pfeffer to-day said the following ball players had signed the Brotherhood agreement and would play with the Chicago Players' National League Club next season: Hugh Duffy, Ed N. Williamson, John K. Tener, Dell Darling, Charley Farrell, James Ryan, Frank Dwyer, M. E. Baldwin, Charles King, Charley Bastain, W. A. Latham and F. Pfeffer.

Farrell Goes With the Brotherhood.

MARLBORO, Mass., Nov. 22.—Charles Farrell, of this town, star catcher of the Chicago League team for the past season, has signed for next season with the Players' National League team of Chicago.

McKean Shakes the Players.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—J. E. McKean, the hard-hitting short-stop of Cleveland, has signed a contract with the National League for next year.

The Brotherhood Gets "The Kid."

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 22.—Madden, "the kid," signed a contract for 3 years with the Boston Brotherhood team at a yearly salary of $2,700.

Lave Cross in the Brotherhood.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Lave Cross, catcher of the Athletics, signed with the Brotherhood Philadelphia club.

Stole Six Trays of Diamonds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Two desperate thieves broke in and robbed the show window of L. Silberstein & Son's jewelry store, at No. 10 Sixth avenue, of over $2,000 worth of diamonds just before 6 o'clock last evening. One slipped noiselessly up to the iron-latticed sliding door, pulled it to suddenly, and snapped on a spring lock. This was no sooner accomplished than the other threw a brick through the plate glass window. Instantly two pairs of hands reached in through the hole in the glass, and six trays of diamonds disappeared. The thieves escaped.

The Tradesmen's Bank Resumes.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 22.—Business at the Tradesmen's National Bank, which was almost entirely ruined by the defalcation of Cashier William Henry Cresson, has resumed with $50,000 capital. Cresson's successor at the bank is Isaac Roberts. The directors feel very much encouraged at the action of more than 90 per cent. of the depositors in not withdrawing their deposits, and it is believed the resumption will be a success.

Bennington's Battle Monument.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Nov. 22.—The capstone of the Bennington battle monument will be laid next Monday. The monument is 310 feet high, and is surmounted by a ball and star of metal, making the total height 380 feet. It commemorates Stark's victory over the British in 1777—one of the decisive battles of the Revolution. The formal dedication will occur in 1891.

SULLIVAN'S TERMS.

He Will Charge Double for Colored Fighters, and Is Anxious for a Fight.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—The sporting fraternity were anxious to hear what John L. Sullivan would say about the proposition from San Francisco for the champion to meet Jackson for $10,000.

"The California Athletic Club know what I offered them," said John, "and that is just what I will do. I will meet the colored fighter at their club rooms if a purse of $20,000 is hung up, and that is my final answer.

"I am willing to meet any man they can put against me, but they must carry out the deal about Jackson now, or it will cost them more money when they come to talk it over again."

"What about the chances of Slavin meeting you?" he was asked.

"It's all the same to me as to which of them is set up against me. I have no choice in the matter. All that I am looking at is the amount of money that is given.

"I once said I would never fight a colored man, but they seem to think that Jackson is a world-beater, and I am anxious to show them just where he belongs."

"Do you think there is any chance of Kilrain being the one chosen to do battle with you?"

"I think it altogether unlikely; but if there is any money behind him he can step into the breach and be the club's candidate. The talk about a ring fight is simply nonsense, for it is plain to everybody that a London rule battle is out of the question.

"There is no place in the country where the fight could come off, and since the last battle the authorities will be more severe than ever. I am open to do business with the California Club, but it must be on the basis I have already given."

"Then you will refuse to go to the Pacific slope unless the purse is made $20,000?"

"That is the price for meeting a colored fighter. I will meet any white man for a $10,000 purse, but for the other kind I want the full amount."

POWDERLY COURTS ARREST.

He Starts from Atlanta for Scranton To-Day and Is Not Disturbed.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 22.—Grand Master Workman Powderly says he is not disturbed by the report that he will be arrested on his return North. He goes from Atlanta to Scranton, his home, and he says they can arrest him there if they want to. He leaves here to-day. Mr. Powderly says this has been the best meeting ever held.

Of the Callahan matter he says that while he has written letters to the "Journal of United Labor" he does not know what letter Callahan refers to and cannot recall that he ever said anything about Callahan.

He is willing that the letters should speak for themselves. He supposes the defeat of Callahan for the Legislature is the conspiracy referred to. He does not know Callahan personally.

Mr. Powderly says his information leads him to believe that the power back of Callaghan in the instigation of the attack is the Reading Railroad.

MURDERED BY NEGROES.

An Employe of Dwyer Brothers Receives Four Terrible Stab Wounds.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 22.—Henry W. Wurtman, aged 34 years, employed by the Dwyer Bros. at their race track at North Elizabeth, was murdered late last night by three colored men, also employed at the track.

He received four terrible stab wounds, the one causing his death entering his back and penetrating the lung. His body was found on West Grand street. One of the men, Paul Holland, was captured.

Wurtman won considerable money on the races yesterday, and it is supposed the murder was committed for robbery.

Wages Increased in Iron Works.

READING, Pa., Nov. 22.—Notices have been posted in all the mills of the Glasgow Iron Company, near Pottstown, announcing an increase in the wages of puddlers of 25 cents per ton. The wages of all other employes will be correspondingly increased. The standard price of puddlers' wages in the Schuylkill Valley is now $3.75 per ton.

An Opium Victim Commits Suicide.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—Stoughton P. Hill, a well known telegrapher, familiarly known as "Jersey," committed suicide by shooting himself through the head while lying in a hammock in his room at the Central Hotel, Allegheny. Mr. Hill has been for years a victim of the opium habit.

Held on a Forgery Charge.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Charles B. Wigton, secretary of the Glanmorgan Iron Company, has been placed under $15,000 bail to answer a charge of forgery preferred by John R. Tell, of A. Pardee & Co. Mr. Tell charges that Mr. Wigton altered the dates on a note for $10,000.

His Creditors Uneasy.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 22.—O. S. Roberts, for many years proprietor of the Sagamore Hotel, in this city, and owner of the Franklin Trotting Park in Sangus, left town on Monday, and his numerous creditors are unable to ascertain his whereabouts.

An Italian Arrested for Murder.

NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 22.—Chief of Police Lockwood, of this city, and Detective Adams, of New York, have arrested here an Italian who stabbed and killed a grocer in Newark, N. J., a few weeks since.

Shoe Trimmers on Strike.

EAST WEYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 22.—The trimmers and edge setters in Dieser's shoe factory have struck because the firm wanted them to work at reduced wages.

WASHINGTON TOPICS

Congressmen Actively Working for the Speakership.

IS NEW ENGLAND FOR REED?

A Rumor that the Delegation Will Split in the Caucus.

Uncle Sam Recognizes the New Republic, and the Old Representatives Present Their New Credentials. A Prominent Irishman Visits the President—Minister Ryan Returns to Mexico To-Morrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The fact that there are less than fifty Republican members of Congress in the city has somewhat dismayed the five candidates for Speaker. The contest languishes, and the fierce fight anticipated for this date has failed to develop. Still, the candidates and their friends are busy trying to convince each other that the thing is settled, and that they each have pledges enough to elect. One strange thing in the contest is the number of written pledges the candidates claim to have. If all are genuine a number of the members will be obliged to vote several times in the caucus.

Will New England Break?

The only news of the day is the fact that the New England delegation shows signs of breaking. All along these twenty-three votes have been given to Mr. Reed without question, but it was whispered around in the select circle of Congressmen now here that one member had signified his intention of leaving the Maine man's column. A scout was sent out by one of the Western candidates to investigate. A visit was paid to the New England Congressman's room, and there in close confab he found the member and the Hon. Thomas B. Reed. The Maine candidate was laboring with the reputed deserter. The entrance of the visitor somewhat disconcerted the two, and especially Mr. Reed, who soon after took his departure. It is said that the defection will be publicly known before many hours, and that this one will be followed by others from the same locality.

Recognized by Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The republic of Brazil has been definitely and regularly recognized by the Government of the United States, and the new credentials of its envoys, both ordinary and extraordinary, were tendered to the Secretary of State, Mr. Blaine, and accepted in due form by him. Senor Valente, the Brazilian Minister, has received instructions from the Republic of Brazil to continue to act as Minister from that country to the United States. The Brazilian delegates to the Pan-American Congress have presented credentials from the Republic of Brazil. They were accepted.

Presented to the President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Hon. Robert P. Porter, Superintendent of the Census presented to the President James Brown, one of the leading manufactures of Tyrone County, Ireland. Mr. Brown is a personal friend of Gladstone. He is making his first visit to America although he can claim to be uncle to 80 residents of this country. One of his nephews is Hon. Henry Oliver of Pittsburg. Mr. Brown spent an hour in conversation with the President.

Minister Ryan to Sail for Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Minister Ryan, about whose alleged resignation of the Mexican mission so much has been said, will effectually dispose of the rumors concerning his reported action by sailing for his post from New York to-morrow. Mr. Ryan's leave of absence has expired, and he says he goes back to the City of Mexico with the intention of remaining there.

Tanner Goes Into Business.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Ex-Commissioner of Pensions Dudley and ex-Commissioner of Pensions Tanner have formed a partnership for conducting pension claims and cases.

Bruce for Recorder of Deeds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—It is said that ex-Senator B. K. Bruce may be appointed Recorder of Deeds in the District of Columbia. The position is now held by a colored man.

CATHOLIC SYNOD.

Annual Meeting of the Clergy of the Archdiocese of New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The annual synod of the Roman Catholic Church in this diocese was held in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Archbishop Corrigan presiding. There were present in all about 400 of the clergy of the diocese.

An allocution was delivered in which decrees of the Council of Baltimore and of former synods were confirmed. Six consultors were appointed, three by the Archbishop, namely, Monsignor Preston, Monsignor Donnelly and the Rev. Father W. F. Wayrich; and three by the Archbishop, on the recomendation of the clergy, namely, the Rev. Monsignor Farley, the Rev. James H. McGreen and the Very Rev. Dean Mooney of Newburg.

Deputy Secretary of State.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 22.—It is said here on good authority that Charles R. Defreest, of Troy, an employe in the State Insurance Department, will be appointed Deputy Secretary of State by Secretary-elect Rice. Mr. Defreest is secretary of the Democratic State Committee, and, it is said, is favored both by Governor Hill and Chairman Murphy.

Columbia-Amherst Game Postponed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Columbia-Amherst football game was stopped by rain. It will be played at some future date not yet fixed.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—As usual on such occasions, the "front row" in Music Hall, was filled last evening.

—Mr. Burdick will speak on "the money waste of the liquor traffic," at Music Hall this evening.

—Court will open at Elizabeth on Monday evening for the purpose of granting naturalization papers.

—The temperance revival meetings under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will be resumed in Music Hall, this evening.

—Mr. Burdick, the temperance revivalist, will occupy the pulpit in the Seventh Day Baptist church, to-morrow morning.

—On account of Thanksgiving Day falling on Thursday next, the regular weekly meeting of the Reform Club will be omitted on that evening.

—Borough tax collector H. N. Spencer this morning shot a rabbit in Mr. Peter Wooden's door yard. Mr. Wooden dined on rabbit an noon today.

—A union service of all the temperence organizations in the city and others who are interested in the work, will be held in Music Hall to-morrow evening.

—The Y's will hold a cake and candy sale on the afternoon of next Wednesday, the day before Tnanksgiving, at their rooms at North avenue and Peace street.

—The members of the Reform Club are requested to meet in the basement of Reform Hall at seven o'clock this evening, so as to attend the meeting in Music Hall in a body.

—By an official notice elsewhere the members of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, are requested to attend the funeral of a brother's son, to-morrow morning at 35 Putnam street.

—The female members of the chorus in the Carleton Opera Company, evidently have to "spar" for themselves, as several of them wandered about town yesterday looking for cheap boarding places.

—John McMeny, the man who attempted to shoot John Kelagher on Liberty street, Tuesday night, is still hiding in the Borough. His arrest, however, is thought to be only a matter of a short time.

—A runaway horse caused some excitement among the pedestrians on Park avenue, South of the railroad, this forenoon. The animal was captured in the vicinity of the Park Avenue Baptist church before any damage was done.

—Mr. Jaspar Wilson has recently become the owner of a strip of land and the water way in the "Notch" on Somerset street which was for many years owned by Mr. P. M. French and the late Nathan Vail. The purchase price was $3,000.

—The entertainment which is to be given for the benefit of the Evona Union Sunday School, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, promises to be a grand affair. It will take place at the corner of Front street and Clinton avenue, beginning at eight o'clock.

—The Mission, which is being conducted in Grace church by the Rev. G. A. Carstensen, is creating deep interest. Those who have heard his instructions feel greatly benefited. They will be continued through the week and on Monday and Tuesday of next week Hours 10 A. M., 4 P. M. and 7:45.

—At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O U. A. M., held last evening, in the S. of T. rooms, P. C., D. D., Peter H. Bennett, was elected Financial Secretary to fill the unexpired term of Charles F. Stephens, resigned, the latter having accepted a lucrative position on the Times at Montclair, N J.

—A member of the Carleton Opera Company told a PRESS representative last evening, that Mr. W. H. Carleton was simply "resting" in New York while his company performed here. Furthermore he said it was too much trouble to transfer the scenery in the third act, which accounts for the presence of that old-time drawing room scene that the audience has gazed upon "many a time, many a time."

Plainfield's Enormous Appetite.

One firm of meat dealers alone, the Chicago Beef Company, last week, sold the Plainfield butchers 9,000 pounds of pork loins, 150 head of mutton, lamb and veal, and 85 whole beeves. This big quantity of meat if added to that which is shipped here from New York and slaughtered for some of the city butchers themselves, would astonish everybody by its total proportions.

A BRILLIANT ASSEMBLAGE.

The Great Success of the First of the Series of Musicales Planned by a Number of Plainfield's Society Women.

The elegant mansion of James T. Closson, Esq., on Front street, East, was thronged last evening with one of the most brilliant assemblages of intellectual and refined people, that ever adorned a salon. The occasion was the first of a series of musicales arranged by an association of cultivated and enlightened women of this city, for the coming season. These artistic affairs are to be given at the homes of such of the members as tender them, and only those who belong to the association and their escorts are present, with such guests as may be invited by the evening's hostess.

All who attended last evening will remember the occasion forever as one of the most enjoyable in their experience. The warmth of welcome extended by Mrs. Minnie Edgerton, Mr. Closson's sister; the glow of congeniality that pervaded the company; the good taste of the supper and the tact displayed in its service; and foremost of all, the programme and its artistic rendition; combined in a remarkable whole unequalled in purpose, and unexcelled in accomplishment.

The appearance of Miss Ada G. Marsh for the first time in public since her return from Europe, was the occasion of a most flattering reception. The sincerity of the greetings she received from all, was very apparent, and showed how highly she is esteemed. The applause accorded her performance was also of a most gratifying nature. Miss May's solo was highly commended as well, and Miss Haines' part in the trio with Messrs Eisner and Muldener, was, as usual, perfect. Suffice it to say, as THE PRESS can, and truthfully too, the entire programme as given below, was rendered in a manner worthy of the selections and composers appearing upon it.

Not the Fault of the Telephone Company.

The wires of the telephone company of this city are all strung upon the company's own poles. Any "induction" as it is called, which causes a "buzzing" and sometimes a lack of clearness in the service, is because of the way the electric light current is run along the telephone poles.

The electric light company are hard at work remedying this, and in a very short time their wires will be changed so as not to interfere with the satisfaction of any telephone subscriber.

Broke Her Leg.

A Swedish girl employed in the family of Mr Aaron M. Powell, slipped and fell down the steps of the back stoop of the house on East Sixth street, yesterday morning, and broke her leg just above the ankle.

AN AGREEABLE EVENING.

Reception to Members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Quite a large number of young men—members and their friends—attended the reception at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, last evening. Mr. Murray welcomed them all in a very happy and neat speech which was loudly applauded. The entertainment provided was varied and pleasant.

The music by an orchestra composed of Prof. P. L. Conde, violin; Mr. Benj. Le Vere, cornet; Mr. Howard Coghill, flute, and Mr. Geo. Rogers, accompanist, was excellent and greatly appreciated. Prof. Conde's violin solos accompanied by Mrs. Buckley on the piano, were the musical features of the evening, and frequent encores showed how much they were enjoyed.

Dr. Laidlaw, after explaining briefly the origin and history of mesmerism, proceeded to illustrate the mysterious power, by causing a young gentleman to do many funny and wonderful things much to the amusement of everybody. The "subject" was told to fish, row a boat, wheel a baby carriage, etc., which he did amid uproarous applause.

The Reception Committee endeavored to make it pleasant for all, and the evening ended with a pleasant social time with refreshments kindly furnished by the Ladies' Committee.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Pessinger, of North Plainfield, is visiting friends at Sayville, L. I.

The family of Mr. Charles Hyde have received the sad news of the death of Mr. Hyde's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Yose and family, returned home yesterday after spending a week with Mr. Yose's parents, at Rahway.

Ex-Councilman S. P. T. Wilbur and Mr. John H. Tier, are spoken of as possible nominees for Councilmen from the First Ward.

The condition of Mr. Solomon Flaig remains unchanged, and while he lingers along in an uncertain state the chances for recovery are slight.

Miss Yates has sent a song from Berlin, of most novel and unusual beauty. It will be sung at Music Hall, to-night, for the first time in America.

Mrs. Joseph Bolsterle, of 38 Chatham street, North Plainfield, has been very ill with a severe attack of neuralgia and quinsy sore throat, but she is now improving.

Miss Gilbert, a teacher in the Monroe School building, severely sprained her ankle, while on the way to the Grant avenue station, when returning from school, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. George H. Babcock, of this city, was among the prominent members present at the tenth annual convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, held Wednesday in New York.

The suit for criminal libel brought in London, by John A. Chandos against Mrs. Bloomfield-Moore has been dropped, the plaintff paying the costs. The charge was that the defendant allowed letters defamatory to plaintiff's character to leave her possession.

Plainfield's population has been increased to the extent of two within the past week. On Friday night last Mr. William Wright was presented with a bouncing baby boy, and a female heir was born to Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Force within the past few days.

Word was received in this city on Wednesday of the death of Jacob Titsworth, a brother of Mr. R. Titsworth of West Seventh street, which occurred at the former's residence at Adams, N. Y., on that day. The deceased was about 70 years of age. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

The death occurred on Tuesday, at Brighton, N. Y., of Mrs. Emily Brown, formerly of Newark, and wife of Dr. Thomas A. Brown, who is a brother of Mr. Isaac P. Brown, Mrs. Oren Johnson and Mrs. Anna P. Thorn, all of this city. Interment of Mrs. Brown's remains, was made at Penfield, N. Y., this morning.

Death of Mrs. Abbie Johnson.

It is with sincere regret that we today chronicle the death of Mrs. Abbie Johnson, wife of the late Charles Johnson, which occurred at her home on Duer street, North Plainfield, this morning, from paralysis, in the 78th year of her age. Mrs. Johnson's husband died about nine years ago, and for the past seven years she has been a helpless charge upon the two daughters with whom she lived at the time of her death, and who have watched over and lovingly cared for her during her declining years.

Out of a family of seven children, Mrs. Johnson was next to the only remaining member—Mrs. Hettie Johnson, mother of Messrs. A. W. and Russell Johnson of North Plainfield—four sisters and one brother having died in former years.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the First Baptist church, and as a true Christian woman she lived an exemplary life while here on earth. She is now at rest with her Heavenly Father whom she loved and served. The surviving children are Mrs. Rev. Robert Miller of Elwood, Iowa, Mrs. Sarah Randolph and Miss Grace T. Johnson of North Plainfield, and Mr. Chas. W. Johnson of New York.

The funeral will take place on Monday.

THE GRAND LODGE CLOSES.

The Officers Chosen for Another Year—Deputy Busbee's Speech.

The session of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey Odd Fellows, at which delegates from this city were present, closed yesterday afternoon at Trenton. The work of the day was strictly relative to the secret business of the Order. The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: Grand Master, Henry M. Jewett, of Winslow; Deputy Grand Master, Howard Sutphin, of Flemington; Grand Warden, J. W. Trenchard, of Bridgeton; Grand Secretary, Lewis Parker, of Trenton; Grand Treasurer, Joseph L. Lamb, of Juliustown; Grand Representative, August Grassmann, of Hoboken.

The following are the appointive officers: Grand Marshal, Wm. H. Allen, of Jersey City; Grand Conductor, A. A. King, of Paterson; Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. R. Manning, of Red Bank; Grand Guardian, R. Frank Trerbeeke, of Butler; Grand Herald, Wm. H. Biddle, of Atlantic City.

During the session of the Lodge on Wednesday, Deputy Sire Busbee, of North Carolina, in response to an address of welcome from the Grand Master, made quite an interesting address. After thanking the brothers for his kindly welcome, he spoke of the greatness to which the Order had attained and continued:

"It has become a power in the land. It has passed the stage of doubt or criticism; it has outgrown the weakness of its early life; it does not need to defend its existence or explain its creed; it stands today serene in the consciousness of its acknowledged power, the strongest fraternal organization in the land, with fraternity as the central essence of its strength, and practical charity the outward and daily manifestation of its mission. The world has no barriers that can impede its progress or stay its onward march. Its membership is of the flower of American manhood; it is the nursery of good citizenship; it is the conservator of patriotism, not only in the United States, but in whatever land and under whatever government it plants its lodges, for no one can be an Odd Fellow in spirit and in truth unless he is faithful to his country as well as fraternal to his fellowmen. It has done more than any other agency to heal the wounds of civil strife and to restore that harmony of patriotic feeling that is the hope and safety of the nation, for we are one people again, thank God, with one flag and one destiny. Within the circles of the order, sectionalism is submerged and nationalities obliterated. It is the measure and the pledge of friendship—the simple creed of humanity incarnated and systematized. It is the foremost humanitarian organization of the century, treading the pathway of its sacred mission, seeking to elevate human character and mitigate human misfortuue."

Christmas Within Sight.

An enthusiastic exchange exclaims: How the years roll around! Here we are again, right on the threshold of the Christmas holidays. It seems but as yesterday when the Christmas festivities set the whole world aglow with evidences of affectionate regard—the inspiration of the most enjoyable festival in the history of human joys and human blessings.

The recurrence of another Christmas so near at hand, will awaken all the old joyous anticipations which attach to this grand and ancient holiday. Housewives will be busy from now until the night before Christmas preparing for the feasts of the day following, and hopeful hearts, in young and old bosoms, will swell with expectancy as to what jolly old Saint Nicholas will bring to them. The time between this and Christmas will soon speed by, the gladdest day of the year will soon be here, and may it be one of joy to all who live to greet its rising sun and blessings.

Something New in Ferry Boats.

The Central Railroad Company has offered the public something new in the line of ferry boats. The handsome boat Communipaw has been refitted, and comes to the service again minus the old metal arm rails which have divided the long cabin benches into comfortable seats ever since ferry boats were ferry boats.

The new arrangement crowds the possessors of seats beyond any degree of comfort, and forcibly reminds one of a horse-car during the rush of the day. The patrons would rather take even chances of getting a seat or standing up rather than submit to the infliction.

Mr. Burdick at Reform Hall.

Notwithstanding the storm and the several other attractions, Reform Hall was well filled last evening by an appreciative audience. Mr. M. M. Dunham led the singing, and Mr. Burdick conducted the devotional exercises. At the close of the meeting President Nathan Harper of the Reform Club, extended an invitation to the members of the Club to participate in the Union service at Music Hall on Saturday evening.

Well, I Guess!

Don't forget the first grand ball, under the auspices of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social clubs, at The Crescent rink, next Wednesday, Nov. 27, (Thanksgiving Eve.) The music will be furnished by Prof. Boswald, of New York, and the committee will do all in their power for the enjoyment of all who favor them with their presence. Grand march at 9 o'clock.

Boils, carbuncles, and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it, and take no other.

HOW THE MONEY WENT.

The Amounts Expended on the Various Accounts by the State.

The following detailed statements taken from the State Treasurer's report to the Governor shows the disbursements on different accounts of the State during the past year:

S. Truex, $500; charities and corrections, $200; purchase of camp grounds, $89; soldiers' State bounty, $68.65.

The amount of the receipts over the disbursements this year is $72,056, but this includes a loan and does not show actual receipts from the resources of the State.

There are some pretty radical changes in the disbursements over the previous year. The Court expenses are increased nearly, $3,000; lunatic asylums are reduced from $165,328 to $143,857; militia increased from $114,968 to $124,683; Legislature increased from $77,389 to $84,300; Home for Disabled Soldiers decreased from $113,305 to $81,619; State Prison maintenance increased from $71,-871 to $76,082; prison salaries increased about $1,000; advertising reduced from $79,999 to 59.123; Blind and Feeble Minded reduced about $1,000; salaries increased about $1,000; printing increased from $29,596 to $42,604; State House expenses increased from $19,346 to $25,010; Agricultural Experiment Station increased from $11,397 to $16,201.

The following receipts are shown: Tax from railroad corporations, $938,515.39; miscellaneous corporations, $222,103.03; tax from certificates of incorporation, $43 463.20; tax from foreign insurance companies, $6,110.48; tax from Paterson Savings Institution, $750; temporary loan, $150,000; State Prison receipts, $64,267.22; dividends on stock of United Companies, $18,870; Home for Disabled Soldiers, $18,-772.33; official fees, $18,230.55; judicial fees, $13,597.11; loans to Sinking Fund, $12,000; fines and forfeited recognizances, $1,197.50; geological survey, $1,200; militia, $1,167.62; discharged convicts, $741.50; revised statutes, $412.50; commissions, $400; escheats, $167.70; Legislature, 42.06; Industrial School, $33.03; State House expenses, $20; total, $1,512,-061.42. The total receipts last year were $1,504,124.26. The receipts from the railroads are about $50,000 less than last year; State Prison receipts increased from $57,284 to $64,267.

Tingley—Myers.

About fifty relatives and friends gathered at the residence of Mr. J. B. Myers, at Bound Brook, on Wednesday evening, to witness the marriage of Mr. Ulysses Grant Tingley, of Dunellen, and Miss Linda Belle, daughter of Capt. S. H. Myers, a former resident of Bound Brook. The ceremony was preformed by Rev. R. Johns, pastor of the M. E. church, of Bound Brook, assisted by the Rev. D. W. Skellinger, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Dunellen.

Miss Mamie McNabb played the wedding march as the ushers Mr. C. Trafton Clark, and Mr. Merton W. Bennett, of Yonkers, N. Y., entered the room followed by the bridal pair. The bride wore cream colored cloth and valenciennes lace. The groom wore the customary suit of black.

The gifts were exceptionally handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Tingley left town on the 6:31 P. M., train for Philadelphia amid a shower of rice and old shoes.

Bowling at Dunellen.

The last of the series of bowling games between the Dunellen and Middlesex teams was bowled on the green at Dunellen, yesterday, and was won by the former named team by a score of 21 to 20. The following persons constituted the two teams:

Dunellen—Messrs C. Schepflin, James Stevens, J. R. Smith, F. P. Haffner.

Middlesex—Messrs W. Bewster Willis, R. M. Pettit, E. D. Christian, F. J. Richters.

The Lady Godiva must have had exceptionable long hair since it completely concealed her lovely person. Since Ayer's Hair Vigor came into use such examples are not so rare as formerly. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but gives it a rich, silken texture.

A Partition Suit.

Vice-Chancellor VanFleet heard testimony in his Chambers at Newark, yesterday, in the suit between James Conolly of Westfield, Union county, and Hamoris Connelly and Mrs. Henry Saunders, of Castlereagh, Roscommon county, Ireland, complainants, and Mrs. Winnifred Conolly, of Jersey City, defendant, for partition of two properties in Jersey City, owned by the defendant's husband at the time of his death. The defence was that Mrs. Conolly purchased both properties with money she earned herself, and although they were deeded to her husband, he had no pecuniary interest in them whatever. No decision was reached.

Thanksgiving at Music Hall.

The Music Hall Association has made special arrangements for Thanksgiving as follows: In the afternoon, matinee of "Private Secretary," Leonard Grover and company from Park Theatre, Brooklyn. For the evening, "Humpty Dumpty," by the original company from New York.

The management is able to have two separate companies for Thanksgiving by reason of the friendly arrangement with the Elizabeth Opera House manager. The companies alternate.

—The chorus of Carleton's Company, this season, is the best in voice and looks that has sung in this city for many months.

—Mr. "Ed" Apgar, manager of the Crescent Bowling Alleys, will raffle off a Spring (?) turkey. The fowl was born in the present century.

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

CANADA TREMBLING

The Leading Newspapers Out for a Republic.

BRAZIL'S GENERAL ELECTION.

Universal Suffrage Declared Throughout the Dominion.

A Cable Dispatch Received from Stanley. Sir Henry James Still Talking Against the Land League—A Clerical Paper Says the Pope Will Act as Mediator Between England and Ireland.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—The "Herald," the chief organ of the Dominion opposition, and several county organs declare in favor of a Canadian republic this morning. This declaration is brought out by discussion of the Brazilian changes.

The "Herald," in its article, says that the English people are slow to make constitutional changes, but adds that it is unsafe to say what the force of example and the increasing intercourse of Great Britain and America, backed by the further blackguardism of persons in high position, might not do. Australia, which is a baby among nations, is already considering the propriety of establishing the Australian nation.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Sir Henry Still Talking Again the Land League and Home Rulers.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Continuing his argument for the "Times" before the Parnell Commission Sir Henry James denounced the National League severely. He said that the moonlighters acted more like burglars than as League's police, but they were never reproved by the leaders until February, 1886, when the Parnellites were supporting the Government. The leaders then refused money to certain districts because the outrages therein brought discredit on the head men of the party.

Sir Henry referred to the Manchester murders, and said that the murderers had been held up to the Irish people as heroes worthy of imitation. Mr. Davitt, had unveiled a monument in their memory, and there was other ample evidence that the murderers' example had been lauded as worthy of being followed.

The French Ministry Defeated.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Leydet offered a motion in favor of allowing the free manufacture of matches. At present a company pays the State for the possession of a monopoly of the business. M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, offered a compromise. He proposed to withdraw the company's concession, and to establish a direct Government monopoly. The proposal was rejected by a vote of 312 to 226, and M. Leydet's motion was carried. The defeat of the Government has caused a sensation, and is looked upon as a bad augury for the Ministry. M. Rouvier desired to resign from the Ministry of Finance, but Premier Tirard dissuaded him from doing so.

Awaiting News from Stanley.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A detailed account of Stanley's journey, together with authentic news from Emin, is awaited with great interest and the geographical societies are on the qui vive for data which will explode or confirm the hitherto accepted theories of the topography of the country traversed by the intrepid explorer, of which previous knowledge has been extremely vague or totally lacking.

A Dispatch from Stanley.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Sir W. Mackinson, head of the Emin Pasha Relief Committee, has received a cable dispatch from Henry M. Stanley announcing his arrival at Mpwapwa, and stating that he expects to reach Zanzibar in four or five days. Mr. Stanley's dispatch also states that he has made the important discovery that there is an extension of Lake Nyassa.

The Pope and the Irish Question.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The "Koelnische Zeitung" (clerical) states that the Pope has signified his willingness to arbitrate the Irish question in case he is asked to do so by the English Government or the Parnellites.

Brazil's Presidential Election.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 22.—The Brazilian Parliament, under the new Government will meet early in December to elect a President of the Republic.

Elected United States Senator.

BISMARCK, N. Dak., Nov. 22.—Gilbert Pierce was formally elected United States Senator by the Legislature.

A BANK SUSPENDS.

The Lawrence National of Pittsburg Closes its Doors.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—The Lawrence Bank, located at Penn avenue and Butler street, has failed to meet its obligations and has closed its doors.

The Lawrence bank was organized in 1866 with a capital stock of $80,000, and was supposed to be one of the most solid in the city.

All of its officials and directors are men of large wealth. Carnegie & Co. were the largest depositors. The principal business of the bank was, however, with small depositors.

About three weeks ago rumors were afloat that the affairs of the institution were in a shaky condition, and a few depositors withdrew their funds. These troubles were tided over and confidence was restored. The failure has caused much surprise in financial circles. The opinion prevails that the embarrassment is but temporary.

Milk Producers Organizing.

SCRANTON, Nov. 22.—The farmers along the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad west of Scranton are organizing milk unions for their own protection. Local sections of the Farmers' Milk Union were organized at Dalton, Factoryville and Nicholson. The farmers declare that they will not be controlled by a milk trust any longer.

Wrecked by a Cyclone.

NEWBERNE, N. C., Nov. 22.—A terrific cyclone struck this city yesterday. Gray's pulp mill was leveled to the ground. Two employes were killed and many hurt. Many houses were unroofed, and scores of persons injured. The loss is $200,000.

TIRED OF THE MINISTRY.

Charles Hudson Smith Says He is More Fitted for a Worldly Calling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Rev. C. H. Smith is here in company with Miss Willamette Carlisle, a former inmate of a disreputable house. It was their intention to sail for China to-day, but Smith says his plans have been changed. He says he regrets having returned to Boston after his first visit here and when he left the second time, he said he turned his back on friends and church for good and will no longer be known as Charles Hudson Smith. He intends to leave the United States but is undecided where he will go. He said he left home because his wife was too spiritual, his mother-in-law unconquered, and he felt that he was fitted for a more worldly calling than that of the ministry.

The woman, who is a pretty Mexican of 20 years, had little to say except that she loved Smith, would marry him, and would go with him to the end of the world. The ex-minister has lavished nearly all his money and jewels on her. He now has about $500, and on this the pair will start off together.

Chief Crowley says that he does not believe the Rev. C. Hudson Smith to be insane and will not interfere with him unless he is requested to do so by the authorities in Boston.

MUTUAL BENEFIT DECISION.

Society Money Must be Paid to Relatives of Deceased Members.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Vice-Chancellor Fleet has filed his opinion in the case of Susan Britton vs. The Royal Arcanum, which is of importance to mutual benefit insurers.

The suit was to compel payment to Mrs. Britton of a three-thousand-dollar membership certificate of her deceased son.

When Britton joined the society he assigned his certificate to R. M. Brennan to secure a debt. The mother's name was not mentioned in the application. Brennan was described as a cousin, but was, in fact, unrelated.

The Court holds that the object for which the society was incorporated being to accumulate a fund to be paid to the dependent relatives of deceased members, Brennan has no claim on the money.

The fact that the society was deceived as to Brennan's relationship does not relieve the society from liability, as the deceit did not influence its action in accepting him as a member. The money must be paid to the nearest dependent relative, who is Mrs. Britton, the plaintiff.

NOT A WHITE HORSE.

A Witness Says it was a Gray That Hauled Dr. Cronin to His Death.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—In the Cronin trial the defence continued the work of trying to prove an alibi for the prisoners and also that the white horse of Dinan's was not the one that carried off Dr. Cronin from his rooms on that fatal night.

Philip Buhdener, of New Jersey, who formerly lived in Chicago, testified that he stood across the street from Dr. Cronin's office when Dr. Cronin drove away in company with another man.

He noticed the horse and says it was a gray instead of a white horse. He corroborated Frank Scanlan's testimony for the prosecution in all other respects. The cross-examination considerable shook his direct evidence.

Just before Court opened Judge McConnell called Judge Longenecker, Mr. Forrest and Mr. Mills to the bench and informed them that he had received a letter from a man who claimed to have seen Dan Coughlin at the Chicago avenue station about nine o'clock the night of May 4. Mr. Forrest took the address and the man will be called as a witness.

Burial of Ex-Attorney-General Cassidy.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—The Roman Catholic church of St. Vincent de Paul, Germantown, was crowded with the relatives and friends of the late Lewis C. Cassidy, to pay their last respects to his memory. Every pew was filled, and the aisles were crowded. The floral offerings were many and handsome. An eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. L. F. Horstman, D. D., chancellor of the arch diocese.

Burglars Raid a Town.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 22.—Professional burglars raided Wyoming, Del., a village fifty miles south of here, last night. The postoffice, the Delaware railroad station and the store of A. R. Aldrich were entered. The stamp drawer of the postoffice was cleared out. The money drawer in the railroad station was also robbed, and a number of tickets taken.

Yale Will Play Princeton.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—The rumor current that the Yale football eleven had protested certain Princeton players to prevent their playing in New York on Thanksgiving day is entirely unfounded. Captain Gill, after due consideration of the question with the players and interested alumni has decided to play his eleven against the men Princeton sees fit to enter.

A Life Prisoner Pardoned.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 22.—The council has voted to commute the life sentence of Charles H. Keenan, of Portland, to 30 years. This is almost a pardon as his term began in 1867 and with his allowance for good behavior he is a free man to-day. He was sentenced for killing one Johnson in an altercation over a woman.

Jeff Davis Improving.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22.—Mr. Davis passed a restless and feverish night, partly on account of the change in the weather, but as the day advanced the fever diminished, until it had disappeared entirely. Dr. Bicklan has no fears about Mr. Davis's final recovery, though the patient lacks the recuperative powers of a young man.

Nearing the Five Million Mark.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Standard Oil Company through William Rockefeller has subscribed $100,000; Jay Gould, the Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company $25,000 each to the World's Fair Guarantee Fund, which now amounts to $4,310,732.

Failure of a Hosiery Company.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 22.—The Crane & Waters Manufacturing Company, of Milbury, with a capital of $52,500, is reported as having failed. They are engaged in the manufacture of hosiery. The liabilities are not given. The mill was shut down last night.

BOOK MAKING IN JAPAN.

The Author Paints Instead of Writing. Using Brush and Ink.

Having resolved to "paint" a book, for, as all the world knows, the Japanese use a brush and not a pen, the author betakes him to his workroom. It is a little room, a very little room. "Six matts" is its Japanese measurement, and a mat is about six feet by four. It is full of the soft, dull light which pulses from a square white paper lantern; the low, bright wooden ceiling gives back a pale brown gleam here and there.

There is a silvery glint in the frail panelled walls, and in a warm gray shadowed recess a gold Budha crosses his feet and stretches forth his palms, smiling gently upon the lotus which he holds. In another recess stand the curious vessels of iron and clay and bamboo for the tea ceremony.

The author sits on the floor in a flowing garment of brown silk lined with blue, his legs disposed comfortably under him. In front of him stands a lacquered table, about a foot high and upon it his writing materials, which are as idyilic as his surroundings—his paper is delicately tinted yellow, with blue lines running up and down. His inkstand is a carved ebony slab, with one end hollowed out for water to rub his cube of India ink in, and holds the four or five daintily decorated bamboo brushes which are his pens.

Naturally he does not write his novel, he paints it. Beginning at the end of the whole, at the left of every page and the top of every line, straight down between the two blue parallels his small brown hand goes, with quick, delicate, dark touches.

Although the novelist's "copy" might seem to a stranger to be daintiness itself, yet he always has it duplicated "by an artist" before sending it to the publishers, the success of the stock depending largely upon its artistic forthbringing. The "artist" to whom the "copy" is now entrusted proceeds to repaint the long series of word pictures with a professional dexterity which is something astonishing.

THE PLAYERS' SIDE.

Another Address to the Baseball Public.

THE BROTHERHOOD'S ANSWER.

Statements Made by the League Committee Pronounced Untrue.

The Reserve System Pronounced Iniquitous—No Reserve Rule in the Brotherhood—Baseball Players Will Be Elevated by the New League—Ewing, Ward and Andrews Write the Reply.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The open letter of the League Committee was the main topic of conversation in baseball circles yesterday. In the absence of Ward of the Brotherhood, Tim Keefe is regarded as the oracle, and he is of the opinion that the address of the Committee has weakened the League's case. Ward is in Cincinnati with "Buck" Ewing, and both of them, together with Andrews, last night published an open letter in reply to that of the League Committee.

They combat, one by one, the arguments of the letter, especially that referring to the reserve rule. They claim that in the new league a player is at liberty to go where he pleases, and nothing in the constitution deprives him of his rights. That when he wants to leave one club and go to another his "consent" is not forced, nor is there a reserved rule. The letter admits that the League has enacted some things which the Brotherhood asked, but claims that by so doing the League admits the injustice of its former position. Then after further arguing the question at issue, the letter continues:

"It is no easy task to organize a new league, nor is it the work of a week. We could not postpone action until fall, when we would all be separated and powerless to act together, because in such a condition, the League would have laughed at us. In order to interest men with capital to spend time and money in such a project it was necessary to give some guarantee of good faith. We tried to meet the League, and they refused; whereupon, and not till then, we decided to look elsewhere for employment. If anyone thinks we should have made our plans public from the beginning, let him look at the obstacles the League is now throwing in our way, and the methods it is employing to defeat us. Had we had these to encounter at first, our failure would have been certain, and our position, in consequence, worse than ever.

"As for the effect of this movement upon the game, the public need have no fear. The men interested are the very ones most vitally concerned in the game's future, and they will do nothing to injure it in any way. On the contrary they will do everything to preserve its purity and integrity, to elevate it above a mere speculative enterprise, to place it on the level which our national game should occupy."

REFEREE CLEVELAND.

The Ex-President Takes a Strong Stand Against Brokers.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Ex-President Cleveland, referee in the case brought by George B. Phelps, of this city, against Clarence H. Venner, banker and broker, of Boston, to recover the difference between the price at which Venner sold certain bonds, as the agent of Phelps, in 1884, and the price at which he accounted them to Phelps, has filed his report with Phelps' attorney, in which he orders judgment in favor of Phelps for about $33,000.

The case has attracted widespread attention on account of the prominence of the parties involved in the action. In his report the referee finds with the plaintiff upon every question of fact involved in the case. He refuses to allow Mr. Venner to retain any commissions which he otherwise would be entitled to on account of his having violated his duties as an agent of the plaintiff.

Every representation made by Venner to Phelps from the time negotiations began between them until after the bonds were finally disposed of, the referee finds, was made with an intent to cheat and defraud the plaintiff. Many interesting questions involving the duties of a broker to his principal are passed upon by the referee, and if his report is to stand as law in this case, brokers hereafter can be held to strictest fidelity to their clients.

Mrs. Parnell Indignant.

NEW YORK, Nov., 23.—Regarding the interview with President Fitzgerald of the Irish National League, opposing the raising of a fund for Mrs. Parnell, because such action would be a reflection upon her son, Mrs. Parnell writes from Bordentown, N. J., as follows: "No one authorized Mr. Fitzgerald's interference. It is unmanly and so far from truthful that he must misunderstand my matters. I know my own business, and the letters I have to show, as do others, friends of mine. I seek no notoriety. My appeal was general not special, for good reasons."

A Suspected Poacher Arrested.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—North End officers have arrested Pietro de Gesa, an Italian, 22 years of age, on suspicion of having been concerned in the shooting of millionaire Cunningham, in Milton.

A Shoe Strike Settled.

MILTON MILLS, N. H., Nov. 23.—The trouble in Varney and Lane's shoe shop, has been amicably adjusted by mutual concessions, and the men have returned to work.

Six Months For Lem Smith.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Lem Smith, editor of the Agents Herald, who was convicted a few days since of libelling Anthony J. Comstock, was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

A Prominent New York Merchant Killed on a Public Street.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Stephen L. Pettus, a trustee of the East River Bridge and one of Brooklyn's most prominent citizens, was shot and killed by Hannah Martin Southworth in Fulton street, this city, within fifty yards of the ferry.

Mr. Pettus lived at 49 Eighth avenue, Brooklyn and was a member of the firm of Pollard, Pettus & Co., of 54 Broad street this city. He crosses each day by the Fulton ferry and reached his place of business at about 10 o'clock every morning. He had just left the ferry and was passing by No. 8 Fulton street when the woman stepped up behind him and drawing from her breast a 38 calibre revolver began shooting.

Three shots entered the body in the back before he could possibly turn, such was the rapidity with which the desperate woman handled the revolver. With the third shot Mr. Pettus turned and faced his assailant, who, by this time, was within three feet of him. He made a desperate but vain attempt to elude the smoking barrel that met his gaze, and again the weapon was discharged, the bullet entering his neck.

The fifth and last shot fired entered the right side of Mr. Pettus' face. He staggered and fell backward into Bennett's tea store dead.

When the woman who had wrought this wonderful change realized that the man had breathed his last, she turned quietly toward the door, still grasping the emptied pistol. But all attempt to sustain the deadly composure displayed by her up to that time was in vain. Trembling in every limb, she walked nervously to and fro, until Mr. J. P. Bennett, the store-keeper, grasped her by the arm and demanded why she had done this terrible thing.

"It was the only thing for me to do," she exclaimed, vehemently. "He more than killed me; he dishonored me. And now he has met his just doom."

When Policeman Goodwin came up immediately afterward and took Mrs. Southworth in charge after disarming her, she had in some measure regained her self-possession and accompanied him to the Old Slip Station House quietly. Arrived there, she gave her name to the sergeant in charge and informed him of the name of her victim. Admitting the shooting, she reiterated that she had killed Pettus because he had ruined her, adding that he had drugged, assaulted and slandered her.

A JUMP FOR LIBERTY.

An Illicit Whiskey Dealer Escapes from Court After Conviction.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 23.—There was an exciting scene at the morning session of the United States District Court when Samuel Schickler, of Buffalo, was convicted of violation of the Internal Revenue laws in compounding whiskies without paying the required tax.

The verdict seemed to daze Schickler but he soon recovered and made a break for liberty.

Shortly after the announcement of the conviction Schickler was missed from the court room and it was discovered that he had jumped from a window of one of the ante-rooms in the rear of the judges stand, a distance of 20 feet. Several officers at once started in search of the runaway and captured him near the New York Central depot.

When captured he threatened to commit suicide.

Schickler is a German-Jew and is reported to be wealthy. He has been in the wholesale whiskey business in Buffalo for years. Sentence has been deferred.

A Deranged Letter Carrier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—James J. Smith, a letter carrier, shot and killed his two-year-old child Elizabeth, and fatally wounded his 11 months' old child May, in his rooms at 321 East 9th street, and slightly wounded himself in an attempt to commit suicide. Smith's wife left him a short time ago, taking the two children and nearly all the furniture away. It is supposed that Smith stole the children back from his wife to-day and took them to his rooms to kill them. He is a consumptive, and acts as if crazed by illness and trouble. He refused to make any statement when arrested, and was locked up.

In Favor of the Indians.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 23.—The New York State Senate Committee on the Cayuga claims for back annuity heard the closing arguments in behalf of the Indians, yesterday, and have now decided that counsel for the Indians had made out a prima facie case; that the Cayugas settled near here were of the same ancestry as those in New York State.

Josh Mann and Mrs. Swinton.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Counsel for "Josh" Mann and Mrs. Swinton, indicted for complicity with Eva Hamilton in the Robert Ray Hamilton affair, applied for the release of the prisoners on the ground that they have been held two months with no prospect of a trial. The hearing was postponed until Monday.

Blown Up by Natural Gas.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—A two-story brick dwelling on Robinson street, Braddock, Pa., was blown to pieces by an explosion of natural gas. Two persons were fatally burned and six others seriously injured. The accident was caused by a leak in the main.

Murder in the First Degree.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of Commonwealth vs. Wm. H. Smith, colored, charged with the murder of his wife on Sept. 5, returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

Terrible Act of an Idiot.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 23.—Walter F. Pray, 22 years old, a half idiot, killed the 3-year-old son of Philip Fisher by burying him alive in a yard.

HOT OHIO POLITICS

A Rumor That Excited Buckeye Democrats.

ARRANGING A TICKET FOR '92.

Ex-President Cleveland's Brother-in-law Visits Gov.-Elect Campbell.

A Presidential Slate Proposed and an Effort Made to Send Chairman Brice to the Senate—Old Politicians Startled at the Bold Move—A Belief That Brice Will be Elected.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Specials to the papers here say: "W. E. Bacon, of Toledo, the brother-in-law of ex-President Cleveland, has been closeted all day at Hamilton with Governor-elect Campbell, his object being to get the new Governor and his friends to support, for the 1892 Democratic national ticket, Cleveland and Campbell, and to send Hon. Calvin S. Brice, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, to the United States Senate as Payne's successor as part of the scheme.

"Campbell's friends are said to favor this scheme, and its broaching has created consternation among the Senatorial supporters of Hon. John H. Thomas, Col. Charles W. Baker, ex-Congressman McMahon, Hon. G. L. Converse, Gen. Thomas E. Powell and others. Gov. Hill's friends here are up in arms at Cleveland's interference in Ohio's politics, and Brice's opponents for the Senatorial nomination are 'hot in the collar,' and swear vengeance. The ex-President's bold move has made a panic in Ohio politics, and it looks as though the Cleveland-Brice-Campbell combination had cornered the political market and would bull their way through over the Hill-Thomas moss-back bears."

LOOKS LIKE BRICE.

Ohio Men Think He Has the Call for United States Senator.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Representative Outwaite, of Ohio, said to a reporter to-day: "I think things are pretty well fixed for Brice now, and he will be the Senator."

Representative Haynes was at the capitol to-day. Speaking of the Ohio Senatorship he said that, while the field is still open to everybody, the popular sentiment seemed to be in favor of Mr. Brice. The people in his part of the State, he said, were generally favorable to Mr. Brice, and his election seemed likely.

CALLAGHAN'S VERSION.

A Talk with the Man Who Charges Powderly with Conspiracy.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 23.—Mr. Callaghan, when asked for a statement as to his reasons for bringing the suit against Powderly and others, said:

"In June, 1888, I was a candidate for State Senator on the Democratic ticket. A few days before the election J. R. Byrne circulated a report that I had, in a communication addressed to General Master Workman Powderly, called the latter a vile name. The report flew over the country like wild fire, and as I was a member of the Knights of Labor in good standing I was denounced in local assemblies. I was defeated and I then turned my attention to business. Early in the month of August John R. Byrne called at my store and showed me the "Journal of United Labor" wherein Powderly denounced me, claiming that it was a vindication of himself. I stated that I was done politically and wanted to be left alone. Peter Wise, who was present, said 'No, we will boycott you and ruin you in business.'

"I ordered Wise out. A few days later Wise came into the front part of the store, which I had rented to a clothing firm, and asked if I received any benefit from the sales of that part of the store. On receiving an affirmative reply he stated that a boycott had been ordered on me, and that if the clothing man was wise he would get out as soon as possible, which he did." Mr. Callaghan says that he will push the matter to the end, and that he has plenty of evidence against the accused.

A telegram was sent to Mr. Powderly to-day to the effect that bail would be furnished him at this place. The hearing is set for Saturday, Nov. 30.

Wise Arrested.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Nov. 23.—Peter Wise returned from Cornwall and was arrested to-day. Mr. Powderly has not been arrested yet but will be Monday or Tuesday. Byrne and Wise have both given bail for a hearing Nov. 30.

He Likes Tariff Reform.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Jacksonian League of Rahway, N. J., having elected ex-President Cleveland an honorary member, have received the following acknowledgment:

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.

J. J. Healy, Secretary,

Dear Sir: I desire to express my appreciation of the action of the Jacksonian Legion in electing me an honorary member of that organization.

I like the declared purposes of the Legion—tariff reform, equal taxation and ballot reform. I hope all of these will be constantly pressed with the zeal and sincerity which so aptly characterize New Jersey's Democracy.

Yours very truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

Will Let Their Note Go to Protest.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The statement is made that Theodore Roberts, James Long, R. B. Wigton and A. Pardee & Co., comprising the Glamorgan Iron company, whose notes were fraudulently circulated by Charles B. Wigton, treasurer of the concern, have decided to permit all paper endorsed by them to go to protest. This action is taken in order to ascertain what notes are genuine and what are not. Treasurer Wigton has admitted that over $50,000 worth of fraudulent paper has been negotiated by him.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Rev. C. B. Mitchell delivered a temperance address at Hope chapel, last evening.

—Some one suggests that we hoist a flag in appreciation of a few hours of clear weather.

—Thanksgiving turkeys are like Spring bonnets; they come high, but they must be had at any cost.

—The Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago receives $50,000 by the will of the late John Grerar of that city.

—The President of the W. C. T. U., requests the members to be present in a body at Music Hall, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

—Mr. Burdick will speak at Music Hall, this evening, from the subject: "The saloons must go." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—Court met at Elizabeth, this morning, and adjourned over until Wednesday next. Owing to the illness of Judge McCormick the sentencing of prisoners was deferred until that time.

—The cold wave has started from Montana and will be here before Thanksgiving. Those in need of a stove would do well to look over the large assortment of J. C. Pierson, Jr.

—Mr. Joseph Bird of West Second street, had a foot painfully injured while erecting a press at the Potter Press Works, yesterday afternoon. He was taken home in a carriage.

—It is reported that burglars attempted to force an entrance into Bowman's boarding house on Wednesday night, but the intruders were frightened away before accomplishing their design.

—The regular monthly meeting of the shareholders of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association, for the payment of dues, etc., will be held in Cutter's Hall, Monday evening next, at 7:30 o'clock.

—A special prayer meeting will be held in the W. C. T. U., rooms on West Front street, on Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Prayers will be offered especially for the success of the temperance work now in progress.

—The Fireman's Herald a New York periodical published in the interest of firemen throughout the country, has passed into other hands, and Mr. Fred L. Pierce, the business manager, has severed his connection with the paper, so as to enable him to engage in other mercantile pursuits.

—Unnaturalized voters should bear in mind the fact that in order to vote at the forthcoming charter election it will be necessary for them first to become American citizens, and to also register their names on Tuesday next, the last registration day. Court will be in session at Elizabeth, on Monday evening for the purpose of granting naturalization papers.

Special Officers Appointed.

President T. Logan Murphy of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, yesterday appointed the following persons to act as special officers with authority to arrest all persons who are guilty of cruelty to animals:

Messrs J. C. Allen, D. C. Adams, F. S. Brown, J. P. Bush, W. A. Coddington, T. J. Carey, W. R. Codington, R. C. Dingee, T. O. Doane, S. E. Flower, C. W. Fisher, A. M. Griffin, Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Jno. Johnson, L. A. Kline, W. J. Leonard, Dr. H H Lowrie, C. A. Marsh, J. Marc Martin, Rev. T. L. Murphy, J. O. Nodyne, J. Scott, Wm. M. Stillman.

"All For a Wife."

Under the auspices of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, the Plainfield Dramatic Club will produce the popular melo drama, "A Desperate Game; or, All For a Wife" at T. A. B. Hall on the evening of Thursday, December 26. The drama is humorous, with not one dull minute throughout.

The early bird catches the worm, and sometimes a bad cold, which however, does no injustice to the old proverb, for with the aid of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup colds are of no consequence. Price 25c.

PUNDITA RAMABAI'S WORK IN INDIA.

The Plainfield Supporters of the Movement Have a Meeting.

A good representation of the members of the Ramabai Circle of Plainfield, was present at the second annual meeting of the organization held yesterday afternoon in the Congregational church. At the request of the president of the circle, Rev. C. L. Goodrich occupied the chair and opened the meeting with prayer. He read a letter from Rev. E. Everett Hale, who had been invited to be present and make an address. In referring to late reports from Ramabai, Mr. Hale said, "Everything there is encouraging to a degree far beyond my expectations."

The president of the association, Mrs. Dr. H. D. Burlingham, made a brief report of the affairs of the circle, which she said now numbers sixty-five members. Ten of these are life members, having paid $10 each. The amount received from annual dues is $49 which is now in the hands of the Central Association. Five new members have been added to the circle during the year.

Portions of a letter were then read by Mrs. Burlingham which was recently received by her from Pundita Ramabai, dated at Bombay, in which the writer referred pleasantly to Plainfield. The following extracts will be read with interest:

"My school is fairly started now. Twelve pupils are living with me, six of whom are child-widows. Two other widows attend the school as day scholars. I have 25 pupils including the boarders in my school. You will find particulars about them in the Lend a Hand * * * * * Please tell the children of Plainfield public schools that their examination papers were a great help to me in showing to my people the difference of methods of instruction given to children in India and in America. Many of the public school teachers here in Bombay were interested to see these papers and have very likely profited by them."

A letter from a member of the National Executive Committee was read giving a few of the details of the pitiful history of some of the child-widows that have already come under the eye of Pundita Ramabai since she opened her school a few months ago.

A careful "review of the second year's work of the Ramabai Association for the education of the high-caste child-widows of India," prepared by the Corresponding Secretary of the National Committee was read by W. J. Leonard. The review dealt largely with extracts from letters sent by Pundita Ramabai to the Central Association, giving the story of the remarkable success the brave little woman has already met with in founding the school which promises to be the beginning of a great social revolution in India.

The very interesting meeting of the Plainfield Circle closed with the reading by Mr. Goodrich of the latest report received from Ramabai and contained in the last number of Lend a Hand.

Notice.

The annual public meeting of the Order of the King's Daughters and the King's Sons will be held Monday, November 25, in the Broadway Tabernacle, corner 34th street and Broadway, New York city.

There will be three sessions: From 11 to 12 A. M., devotional services; from 3 to 5:30 P. M., conference of workers, which will include the reports of secretaries of the Order, and reports of work from the heads of Circles.

At 8 P. M., a general meeting, which will be addressed by Mrs. Margaret Bottome, Mrs. Frances Barnes, Mrs. Theo. Irving and Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis.

From 1 to 2:30 members of the Council will meet informally those who desire to converse with them in regard to opportunities and methods of work. All are cordially invited to be present.

O. O. S. S.

The above letters signify the name of a new society recently organized in this city. The organization is known as "Our Own Social Society," and it is composed of young people from both this city and North Plainfield. The main object is to provide entertainment for the members.

The society will meet every two weeks, at one or the other of the member's residence, and dancing and card playing will alternate each other from time to time. The last sociable was held at the residence of Miss Currie, on Arlington avenue, a few evening since, as told exclusively in THE PRESS on the following day.

A Return of the Old, Old Pleasure.

That lovers of roller-skating are a legion yet, will be proven by the crowds at The Crescent, Thanksgiving afternoon and evening.

The management has already received news of large parties from New Brunswick and Elizabeth, and other adjacent places will also add their numbers to the attendance. Miss Jennie Houghton, know during the height of the late craze from one end to the other of the country, and who has since developed from a pretty girl to a lovely woman, will give exhibitions both afternoon and evening of her art as in days gone by.

Ladies' Day.

Monday afternoons and evenings of each week will be reserved entirely for the ladies, at the Crescent League's club house, hereafter. No smoking will be indulged in by the gentlemen, and the ladies will have the prior right to the alleys.

Who can foretell a sudden bruise on the leg of a favorite? Keep Salvation Oil for the stable.

THE MUSIC HALL MEETING.

Mr. Burdick Discourses on "The Money Waste of the Liquor Traffic."

A large audience assembled at Music Hall last evening, to listen to Mr. Burdick. Among those present were noticed Revs. Dr. Yerkes, W. E. Honeyman, C. B. Mitchell, Asa R. Dilts and C. L. Goodrich. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Goodrich, and Mr. M. M. Dunham furnished some excellent music.

Mr. Burdick's theme was "The Money Waste of the Liquor Traffic," and he said that the lowest estimate of the money paid over the bars of the United States for liquor was $800,000,000 annually, while the general estimate was $900,000,000. Taking the lowest figures, you could with that money build a railroad from New York to SanFrancisco, one from Chicago to New Orleans, one from Chicago to Galveston, Texas, one from Boston to Quebec; also found a University in every State and endow it; also build a State Capital in every State, and then have a large sum left over.

Drinking took the laborer away from his work and made him worthless in many cases, and the employer and laborer alike suffered. A factory left New York city and went into a country place, simply to get away from the saloons. Railroads are refusing to employ drinkers, simply to secure their property. He told of a town in New York that voted "license," and he positively knew that the leading merchants each had from $3,000 to $5,000 bad debts that year. Then they voted "no license," and they told him they didn't begin to have the bad debts they formerly did, and would not go back to license on any consideration. Alfred Centre was "no license," and had scarcely a criminal, and had peace and prosperity far above any of its "license" neighbors. Many other facts of this kind were given, when the pledge was offered and a number of signers secured. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. Merritt Potter, formerly of this city, but now of Philadelphia, was in town yesterday.

Assemblyman Ulrich and wife have returned from a trip to Washington, the Gettysburg battle ground and other points of interest.

Mrs. Maggie Cadmus returned to her home in Philadelphia this afternoon, after a short visit to her father, ex-Councilman John Simpson, of East Second street.

The funeral of the late William Jaques Marsh, who died on Thursday, took place from his father's residence, No. 35 Putnam avenue, this morning, at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. E. M. Rodman officiating. Interment was made at Rahway.

Janitor Mattox of Music Hall, was tendered a birthday surprise party at his residence on Park avenue, last evening. About fifty of the members of Howell and Plainfield Divisions, S. of T., were present and enjoyed the evening with games, dancing, etc. The gifts were numerous and appropriate.

Sociable in Trinity Reformed Church.

A committee of five from the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, arranged and successfully conducted a sociable in the parlors of the church, last evening.

The entertainment was given for the benefit of the members and congregation of the church, and a pleasant time was had by all who attended. During the evening Miss N. Mattison contributed a piano solo, and the Rev. Mr. Schenck, the pastor, gave a very interesting talk on Venice. Refreshments were served in abundance.

"The Leal's Won't Play."

Under this heading, the New Brunswick Fredonian says:

"The second football eleven of the Grammar School tried to arrange a game with the Leals, of Plainfield, whom they played on Saturday. Yesterday an answer to their challenge was received, couched in the following terms:

"'In view of the action of your first team on Saturday, in playing six 'Varsity men against us, we think it better to not play any more games with such teams, and in the future to steer clear of New Brunswick.'"

A Remarkable Occurrence.

On Monday last Mrs. Annie DeHart Morrison, a sister of Mrs. Rev. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield, died at her home near Dover, N. J., and a few hours later on the same day the deceased's aunt, Miss Phœbe DeHart, died from paralysis.

To add to the grief caused by the death of the two ladies, an uncle of Mrs. Honeyman's, living at Madison was, the next day, thrown from a carriage, and it is thought fatally injured.

Flemington Sarcasm.

"The Somerville police force have received their new overcoats, belts and clubs, and while they stand in front of the mirror admiring their beauty, thieves uninterruptly break into the stores and freight cars, and other places where valuables are to be had. More vigilance and club and less overcoat and belt is what Somerville needs."—Hunterdon Democrat.

Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. HAMBURG FIGS were prepared to obviate the difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25c. Dose, one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y. For sale by J. G. Miller.

A FEW COMMENTS.

Theatres in Plainfield, and a Local News Item.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I was looking over a Boston paper the other day when I came across the following item:

"Two German explorers have passed the Summer in cruising about the shores of Spitzbergen, and the result of their toil is that they have discovered a new Arctic current. They might have discovered a dozen by sitting on any Winter evening near a door in Music Hall."

And how well this applies to our Music Hall! One cannot help thinking what a great and overpowering resemblance there must be between that Boston Music Hall and our own. The middle of the parquet is about the only spot where any-one who is in the least susceptible to draughts and does not happen to be attired in a full dress Esquimaux costume, can sit with impunity. The very look of those great, bleak, barren walls is enough to give one a chill.

It's too bad we couldn't have had a pretty, cosy little play house while we were about it; instead of a vast, bare structure, too big for two Plainfields and nearly big enough to hold a Democratic convention. Nobody blamed the rustic who wanted to put up his team in Music Hall the other day, mistaking it for a barn! Our hopes are centred on Second street and Pruden's alley. Let our new theatre be as little as it likes, so long as it is cosy and comfortable; let it have carpets on its floors and covers on its chairs, and hangings and draperies around like any other civilized play-house. If it is made attractive it will pay well; but, if it is not, it won't pay any better than does our present Music Hall.

A local paper came out on Wednesday with a notice of a wedding which was to occur that evening. It asserted that "the service will be novel in many respects. Miss —— will be led up the aisle by an usher, after which the bridal party will proceed to the altar." The obvious novelty of such a ceremony must have proved a drawing card. I made every effort to attend, but somehow missed connections through not having either time or invitation. I should have been present. There has always lingered in my fancy an intense desire to behold a sight of such weird, unutterable novelty as that of a young lady being "led up the aisle by an usher."

Of course the fact that the bridal party would proceed to the altar, was by no means a thing to be slighted; but the statement about the young lady and the aisle and the usher, fascinated and interested me most. I have seen young ladies "led up" aisles by ushers often enough—I've even participated in the delightful pastime of leading them up myself and I was not aware that the feat was a novelty. The person who put that item into circulation should throw in a chart and a key with his next attempt.

CRITIQUE.

HELP!

Who Will Assist This Poverty Stricken Family?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I address you as the head of a paper that has done more for the assistance of the deserving poor and the afflicted, than all the other papers of the city. The people of Plainfield recognize at once, if THE PRESS recommends a case as worthy they need no other endorsement.

A wealthy gentleman of this city who subscribed ten times as much as anyone else for the return of Miss Fliege to her home in Germany, did so entirely upon the recommendation of your paper. In the case of little Willie Hamilton, I understand that there was sent you for him more than he knew what to do with, and you gave the balance to the Children's Home.

I want to call the attention of the people who read THE PRESS to the case of Mrs. Forrester, now living on Grove street, between Linden avenue and Green Brook road. She has seven children—two of whom are twins of a few weeks old—but with absolutely no means of support—her husband having been sent to prison for an offense to which he plead guilty.

She needs coal, food and clothing. No matter how bad a man is her husband, she and her children are suffering human beings.

MERCY.

A Marvellous Aggregation of Capital, Reported.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The greatest combination of capital ever made in Plainfield, was consummated yesterday by the formation of an association composed of several gentlemen representing the possession in the aggregate of over nine hundred thousand dollars. Their intent in the formation of this association I am not at liberty to make public at the present time; but this much I will state, offices have been secured on North avenue and soon will be refitted for the use of the company. Perhaps by Monday evening I will be able to give you the full details.

G. W. BOORUM.

Saved My Child's Life.

J. S. Weaver, Secretary Iron Steamboat Company, New York, says: I wish to say to the public that I had a child about four years of age, lying at the point of death with Summer complaint, (diarrhœa) the doctor and all of us having given up hope. The doctor, however, advised us to get some of Speer's Port Wine, and give her a little at a time—very little, but often. As a last resort we did so, and I say that Speer's Port Wine saved her life. She is my only child. I had never seen Mr. Speer, but with tears of joy, I went and told him that his wine had saved the life of my only child.

DR. VANDEGRIFT'S COTTAGE BURNED.

A Mysterious Fire in Washington Valley.

The Summer cottage of Dr. George Munson Vandegrift, of 277 Henry street, New York, situated on the hill back of Moses H. French's mill in Washington Valley, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning about 10:30 o'clock. The flames were so fierce when discovered, it was impossible to approach within 100 feet of them. Nothing was saved—even a pet dog of the Doctor's perished. The house cost about $2,000 to build three years ago. Everything fully covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. The cottage was occupied by E. F. Budd during the owner's residence in New York. Budd had only a wood fire built this morning to make coffee for himself and another of the Doctor's men who had been sent out to see about building a new barn on the place. This man left the house early this morning, and when afterwards interviewed by a PRESS reporter said that when Budd on his way to Plainfield this morning for his week's groceries, subsequently passed where he was working, he said he put the fire in the stove all out before leaving.

Memories of the Revolutionary War.

The Metuchen correspondent of the New Brunswick Fredonian writes as follows:

"After attending a very interesting golden wedding in Pennsylvania, visiting Niagara and Canada and delivering a dozen lectures on astronomy in various places out West, L. W. Thickstun returned to his quiet home in this place Tuesday. He is ready and anxious to fix dates for more talks on descriptive astronomy in new fields in New Jersey. J. A. Thickstun and wife, of Plainfield, were the other members of the company which went West in September. All were greatly pleased with the journey, the country and the people.

"In comparing notes John A. and L. W. Thickstun found that their great grandfathers were brothers who had some bitter but honorable experience in the Revolutionary struggle. Joseph Thickstun John's great-grandfather, was a scout in Gen. Washington's army, with headquarters near Plainfield, 110 years ago. He, with four others, well mounted and, for those days, well armed, dared to cross the British lines near here night after night and after a stay of a day in the swamp near the Raritan would return, taking with him what information could be obtained about the enemy. On several occasions the party fell in with British foraging expeditions where the red coats were persuaded with cold lead to leave their spoil and run for their lives. Some aid and comfort was gained in this way for Washington's needy troops, but it was a source of great annoyance as well as some loss to the British."

The Republican Slate.

The Republican primaries for the election of delegates to the city convention will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. The main contest in the coming election centers on the election of Councilmen, although there are several aspirants for the office of collectorship.

In the First Ward the Republicans will probably nominate for Councilman either ex-Councilman S. P. T. Wilbur or John H. Tier. While no definite choice has been decided upon in the Second ward, ex-Councilman S. A. Ginna is the most prominently spoken of. In the Third ward the nomination will lie between John W. Murray, Jr., and Townsend Rushmore, and Mr. Edward Nelson will in all probability receive the nomination in the Fourth ward. For Councilman-at-large Messrs S. G. Smith, E. N. Erickson and Mr. J. B. Dumont, it is thought, will be the nominees.

For the office of Collectorship there are three candidates, namely, John Johnson, the present incumbent, Vincent W. Nash and J. Oakley Nodyne.

Engaged for the Season.

The La Clyde Social Club of Elizabeth, consisting of some of the elite of that city gave their first sociable at the residence of Mr. Wm. Meeker on Broad street Thursday evening. Although the night was very stormy, there were fifty couples in attendance. Music was furnished by Prof. Frazee of this city and the members of the club were so well pleased that they have engaged him for the season.

—The Union Teachers' Meeting will be held on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock in Vincent chapel. The lesson will be taught by Jas. McGee, Esq.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

SIR HENRY'S SPEECH

He Concludes His Address to the Parnell Commission.

HIS CLOSING WORDS PATHETIC

The Report of the Commission Will Be Presented in February.

Reports of a Revolution in Cuba Denied—There Has Been No Sign of a Disturbance—Pensions Granted by the Emperor of Brazil Confirmed by the New Government.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Sir Henry James has just finished his argument in behalf of the "Times" before the Parnell Special Commission and in view of the utter collapse of his client's case almost at the outset, and the numerous obstacles against which he has had to contend, it must be said that his speech, as a whole, was a masterful effort.

His peoration, regarded from any point of view, was pathetic, and, with the facts in his favor, he would have carried conviction to many wavering minds, but the outcome of the testimony having placed him on the defensive, his compulsory recourse to specious pleas rendered his eloquence nugatory, and well-nigh carried his pathos into the bounds of bathos.

This was particularly the case when he referred with sadness of expression and demeanor to the history of Ireland, and lapsed into solictitude for the welfare of true Irish patriots in the future, while the baneful influence of revolution and separationists shall preponderate. Inasmuch as Sir Henry himself has gone to the extent of his ability in his endeavors to make life miserable to these same patriots, not even his fine periods and earnest manner could defeat the effect of his words of absurdity.

It is expected that the final report of the Commission will be presented to Parliament in February, the thirteenth month of the duration of the court, which has actually sat for purposes of hearing arguments or taking testimony 128 days.

All Quiet in Cuba.

HAVANA, Nov. 23.—Information having been received here that reports of a Cuban revolution are in circulation in the European capitals, it is deemed proper to state that the rumors are wholly without foundation. There has been no disorder whatsoever, nor any signs of disturbance, and the island was never more quiet or its people more contented than now.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Merchants and others who have dealings with Cuba have no faith in the reported revolution. James E. Ward, agent of the Cuba Mail Line steamers, said: "If there is a revolution in Cuba it must have begun since noon. During the morning I received two telegrams from Havana and there was no mention of a revolution in them. Revolutionary conditions do not exist in Cuba to-day."

Nester Ponce de Leon, a Broadway publisher, who has had considerable experience in Cuban revolutions, said: "The story is all bosh. If there was going to be a revolution no one outside of Cuba would hear of it sooner than I. I am in constant communication with Havana, and have not heard of even symptoms of a revolution."

Affairs in Brazil.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 23.—All the pensions granted by the Imperial Government have been confirmed by the Provisional Government, and an order has been issued that they will be paid out of the revenues. A decree will be issued shortly making numerous changes in the personnel of the Government officeholders. The greater number of officials who served under the Emperor have announced their allegiance to the new government.

THEY WANT THE CREAM.

A Syndicate After all the Cheese Factories in the Country.

ARCADE, N. Y., Nov. 23.—During the past two months options have been secured on all the cheese factories in Western New York by the agents of a monster cheese syndicate, which is to embrace the entire cheese production of this country.

It is not known certainly, but it is believed to be at the instigation of British capitalists.

William E. Smith & Co., of New York, are securing the options through their agent and buyer W. J. Manley, of Cataraugus, and the options cover all the combination factories, including the famous Marshfield, Cloverfield, Springville, Sandusky, and Johnsonburg combinations.

Half the buyers of cheese made in Western New York live here, and the views of a number of them have been sought. The general opinion was that the scheme would not work, that dairymen would not support it, and as the tendency was to withdraw from cheese production a syndicate would hasten it. On the other hand the cheesemen seem to agree that if the dairymen will support the syndicate scheme, cheese can be sold cheaper and milk producers realize more for their milk than under the present system because two, if not three, of the middlemen, the buyer, the receiver and the shipper will be done away with.

Call For a Caucus.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—L. E. McComas, the Secretary of the Republican caucus of the last Congress has, with the concurrence of all the candidates for speaker and with the assent of the friends of candidates for other offices, published the following call for a caucus:

The Republican representatives-elect to the 51st Congress are requested to meet in the Hall of Representatives at Washington at noon Saturday, November 23, 1889, in caucus, to nominate candidates for Speaker, clerk, sergeant-at-arms, doorkeeper, postmaster and chaplain to be elected at the commencement of the 51st Congress.

Arrested for Ballot Box Forgery.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 23.—The political sensation of the day was the arrest of R. G. Wood, of the famous ballot box forgery case, which played so prominent a part in the late Ohio election. The arrest was made at the instance of Governor-elect James E. Campbell, Senator John Sherman and Congressman Butterworth. It is said the disclosures in connection with the case will cause a profound sensation in the political world.

THE LAWRENCE BANK FAILURE.

The Poor Depositors Gather Near the Closed Doors of the Bank.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 23.—Considerable excitement prevails over the failure of the Lawrence bank.

Many of the depositors, which are principally of the poorer class, gathered about the institution, but the best of order was maintained. The failure has caused but little flurry in financial circles, and it is claimed that no other banks are involved. Long & Co.'s iron plant is in the hands of the sheriff. The judgment confessed in favor of the defunct bank was $300,000, but it is claimed by the firm that the actual amount is not over $150.000.

President W. W. Young of the bank declares that the collapse was complete; that he had sunk all his own money and that of some of his friends, and he is ruined. He ascribed the failure to injudicious investments and declares positively that there was no dishonesty.

The bank carried over $800,000 in deposits, much being from persons who are unable to stand loss.

E. Z. Wainright is said to have had $40,000 in the bank, and Carnegie Brothers also a heavy deposit, but neither will be involved by the failure.

A PUGILISTIC TEACHER.

Principal Du Rie, of Jersey City, Charged with Assaulting a Pupil.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 23.—Ernest Norris, a schoolboy, had his teacher, Principal Du Rie, of school No. 11, before Police Justice Wanser to answer a charge of assault and battery. The youth appeared in court without witnesses or counsel. He said that, being sick, he asked leave to go home, but was refused. The teacher, he says, emphasized his refusal by seizing hold of him and wiping the floor and dusting the desks with him in such a manner as to bruise him from head to foot.

Du Rie said the boy was unmanageable, that he refused to let him go because he believed he was shamming sickness, and that he received the bruises in a scuffle resulting from a vigorous kicking, by means of which he attempted to resent the refusal. Du Rie, however, did not have witnesses on hand to prove his assertions, and the case was adjourned to give both parties opportunity to get evidence.

$15,000 OR NOTHING.

Sullivan Will Fight Jackson and Then Retire to His Farm.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—In regard to the California Athletic Club's proposition to match Jackson against John L. Sullivan the champion says: "I will fight Jackson for a $15,000 purse, no less, I'll guarantee to bring five men with me that will out-bet the friends of Jackson. I intend to purchase a farm within ten miles of Boston, and devote my whole attention to raising horses. I don't care whether I fight again or not. I have plenty of money, although they say I am broke.

"I once said I would never fight a colored man, but they seem to think that Jackson is a world-beater, and I am anxious to show them just where he belongs."

THE MONTANA MIX.

The Legislature to Meet To-Day and a Fight Looked For.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 23.—The Legislature is called to meet to-day. It is believed that there will be dual bodies of the House and that neither party will have a quorum in the Senate. The Democratic County Commissioners yesterday created a sensation by taking possession of the Legislative halls, and to-day they delivered the keys to the Governor to whom the County Commissioners have leased the rooms.

It is thought the Republican members will meet separately should the representatives from Silver Bow County certified to by the State Canvassing Board be denied admittance. Politicians of both sides talk of fighting to the end, yet a small number favor a compromise on the basis of one Senator from each division of legislative officers.

His Remains Will be Cremated.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 23.—The remains of Wm. Schnauffer, the publisher of the German "Wecker," will be cremated at Loudon Park. This is in accordance with the expressed wish of Mr. Schnauffer several months ago. The date of the cremation has not yet been fixed. His will be the second body incinerated at Loudon Park.

The College Football Trouble.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 23.—The Yale students held a meeting last night and decided to confer with the Harvard students on the general subject of Athletics. A number of the students favored withdrawing from the Football League, but it was determined to take no action until after the game with Princeton.

Gold Discovered in the Adirondacks.

SARATOGA, Nov. 23.—Elijah Comp claims to have found veins of both gold and silver in rock deposits along the Cedar river, about three miles north of Indsan lake, in the Adirondacks. Camp has filed a claim in the Secretary of State's office. He claims five acres of land on each side of the river.

Brown University's Ex-Registrar.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 23.—Gilman P. Robinson, the ex-registrar of Brown University, who is alleged to have been an embezzler to the extent of $7,000 from that institution, waived an examination in the district court, and gave $8,000 surety for his appearance in the court of Common Pleas in December.

Trains Blocked by Snow.

MISSOULA, Minn., Nov. 23.—All trains on the Northern Pacific Railroad road have been blocked and four serious accidents are reported, two being near Bonny, a town seven miles east of here on the banks of the Hell Gate river and the other two west of here.

His Family Witnessed His Suicide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Patrick McDermott, aged 31, out of work and suffering with consumption, committed suicide to-day at No. 1319 Avenue A., by cutting his throat in the presence of his wife and their three small children.

Assaulted an 8-Year-Old Girl.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23.—Edward S. Hoyt, 30 years of age, of 141 New street, was held in $200 bail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of having assaulted 8-year-old Georgiana Weber, of Division street.

(THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives

Good Appetite,

New Strength,

Quiet Nerves,

Happy Days,

Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.

A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœia.—J. D. Hird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

ESTABLISHED May 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1889. PRICE, TWO CENTS

Something New To day.

This has been a big Umbrella year with us, and we have sold some good ones, but the best for the money is the one we offer now—a 26in. Silk and Linen, Oxidized Handle, color warranted, price $1 25.

We have one case of 36in. Worsted Checks and Stripes—goods made to sell at 25c—our price 16c.

Don't you want a new set of Knives for Thanksgiving? We are offering a 12oz silverplated knife, Rogers' make, at $4 50 per doz., slightly imperfect they are. Regular price, $9.00 per doz.

How the Writing Paper does go! Three qualities there are—one at 10c, one at 14c. per box, and a special box of 48 sheets of paper and 48 envelopes at 25c—is the best value ever offered.

Pure Vaseline, 7c per bottle.

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

☞We deliver goods everywhere free of charge.

REED HAS THE LEAD

Figures on the Vote for the Speakership.

M'KINLEY A DANGEROUS SECOND

His Friends Believe He Will Win if His Followers Vote Solidly.

The Morse Story Denied by Both Reed and McKinley—Secretary Proctor Issues His First Annual Report What It Costs to Support the Army—Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson's Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—A table is printed giving the strength of the five prominent Republican candidates for the Speakership of the House.

It gives to Mr. Reed 56 votes, to Mr. McKinley 47, Mr. Cannon 24, Mr. Henderson 13 and Mr. Burrows 12 votes. Seventeen are recorded as doubtful and likely to be scattered among the various candidates. Many of these scattering votes, it is thought, will go to the man who has the best chance of winning. If this is not clear by the time the caucus assembles, they will be cast on the early ballots for those candidates who are lowest in the order of probabilities, which will afford the opportunity of holding a reserve vote for a critical period.

In this table Mr. Henderson is credited with 13 votes, though he only claims 10, those of the Iowa delegation. At the headquarters of the other candidates, however, 13 votes are conceded to him at the outset, so that he, perhaps, presents the rare spectacle of a candidate underestimating his own strength.

Mr. McKinley's friends believe that all he now needs to win is to hold solidly his present strength, because he is the strongest second both East and West. The Republican membership of the House is 169, and it will require 85 votes to nominate if all are present.

OUR ARMY.

Secretary Proctor's Figures and Recommendations in His Annual Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Redfield Proctor, Secretary of War, has issued copies of his first annual report. In it he shows that the expenditures of appropriation in his department for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889, aggregated $46,654,121, and the appropriations for the current year are $33,930,290.

In speaking of the necessity for coast defence, Secretary Proctor says:

"I submit as a basis to start from that no time is to be lost in placing the capital of the country, the commercial metropolis on the Atlantic seaboard, and at least one port on the Pacific in the best possible state of defence. How rapidly the work shall be carried on until it embraces every vulnerable point from the St. John's to the Rio Grande and the ports of the Pacific is the only question. In my view the progress cannot be too rapid."

Postmasters Removed and Appointed.

WASHINTON, Nov. 25.—The report of First Assistant Postmaster-General Clarkson about the removal and appointment of postmasters is as follows:

Appointments.	June 30, 1888.	June 30, 1889.	Inc.	Dec.
On resignation and commissions expired.	6,521	8,854	2,333	.....
On removals....	1,244	7,853	6,609	.....
On deaths of postmasters..	659	553		106
On establishment of postoffices.....	3,864	2,770		1,094
Total.....	12,288	20,030	8,942	.....

The number of postoffices established during the year ended June 30, 1889, were 2,770. Decrease over previous year, 1,094, or the whole number of postoffices in the country is 58,999, an increase of 1,623.

The Morse Story Denied.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Congressman E. A. Morse has received letters from Congressmen Reed and McKinley denying the story of their receiving letters from Mr. Morse in which he compromised himself in regard to voting for Speaker.

Krupp Won't Make Guns Here.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—Some time ago an item was telegraphed from Pittsburg that an agent of Krupp, the great German cannon maker, was in the city for the purpose of investigating for a site for the establishment of a branch of his gun works in America. Gov. Lee was requested by some Virginian land owners to communicate with Krupp, and direct his attention to fine sites in Virginia, with coal and iron convenient. The Governor has received a response from his letter to Krupp, in which the great gunmaker said he had never entertained any idea of locating gun works in the United States.

Flint Glass Works Burned.

MILLVILLE, N. J., Nov. 25.—The flint glass works of T. C. Wharton & Co., were burned yesterday. About 100 men are thrown out of work. The loss is heavy, but the exact amount cannot yet be stated.

The Crew Rescued.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—It is believed that the crew of the barge Alice A. Carley, which sprang a leak and sank in the Hudson, were rescued by the tug which had the bargo in tow, and were landed safely in Troy.

To Vote for Federal Officers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Congressman Roswell P. Flower will offer to the next Congress a bill, or a Constitutional Amendment, providing for the election by the people of Postmasters, Collectors of Internal Revenue, Custom House officials and other Federal officers, the President only to retain the power of removal for cause.

WANTED TO LYNCH HIM.

New Jersey Coachman Pursued by a Little Girl's Father and His Friends.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 25.—There would have been a lynching in the little town of Taylorville had a posse of indignant citizens been successful in their search for a half-minded coachman, named John Liddane, who made an unsuccessful attempt to assault Maggie Osabo, a 14-year-old girl. Maggie lives with her father, John Osabo, a cigarmaker, her mother and her little sister Mary, aged 5 years.

On Saturday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, Mrs. Osabo sent the two girls to Fort Lee, about a mile distant, for groceries. After the basket had been filled, the girls found it very heavy, so they decided to take a short cut home by the way of Linwood avenue. It had begun to get dark, and just as the children reached a part of the avenue which leads through a short patch of woods, a man stepped out and, knocking the basket to the ground, seized Maggie and carried her into the woods.

"Stay where you are," said he to Mary, "or I will kill yer."

Mary ran to her home and screamed to her mother that a man was killing Maggie. Mrs. Osabo siezed a stout cane and rushed frantically to the scene. As she neared the place she saw the figure of a man skulking away in the bushes. Maggie's would-be assailant proved to be John Liddane, a private coachman employed at Ridgewood. A posse, headed by the sheriff, found Liddane early yesterday morning, and he is now in the county jail.

$30,000 FOR A FIGHT.

The Santa Cruz Club Makes a Big Bid for Sullivan and Jackson.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The Santa Cruz Athletic Club has decided to offer a purse of $30,000 for a finish fight between Sullivan and Jackson, to take place at Surf Side, Santa Cruz, California.

Instructions to make arrangements with the principals have been telegraphed and mailed to a well-known New York ex-pugilist. It is believed that the size of the purse will certainly induce the big fighters to accept the offer.

The Daly-McAuliffe Fight.

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 25.—Mike Daily is training at Monmouth Centre for his fight with Jack McAuliffe. He is working hard under the directions of Jack Havelin, the Boston featherweight, and has already reduced his weight from 153 to 142 pounds. He intends to go into the ring weighing 134 pounds, and thus far stands the training first rate. Daily says very little about the coming fight, but he is confident of his ability to do up McAuliffe. There is considerable betting in Bangor and other Maine cities on the result of the match, with the odds rather in favor of Daily. P. A. Houlahan, Daily's backer, is at Monmouth, where the party will remain until Dec. 1.

Two Girls Killed.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25.—Annie McDonald and Mary Mullarkey, two girls about 16 years of age, were knocked down and horribly mangled by a freight train backing over the Park street crossing on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad last evening. A young man named Dan Ryan, who accompanied the girls, was thrown to one side of the track and seriously injured. Miss McDonald was instantly killed, while Miss Mullarkey died soon after being taken to the hospital.

A Double Murder.

PINE CITY, Minn., Nov. 25.—William Brooker committed a double murder here yesterday morning, shooting down in cold blood William P. Coombs and wife. After committing the atrocious deed he visited a neighbor's house and sat with his rifle across his knee conversing coolly about the heartless deed. Coombs leaves two small children. Brooker is at large.

To Prison for Life.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The young murderer, Charles Giblin, will bid farewell to the Tombs to-morrow, when he will be taken to Sing Sing Prison. He will spend the remainder of his days in that institution. Giblin is confident that some day he will be pardoned. He spent some months in close confinement in the Tombs, and to-day he said to a reporter that he would be glad to leave the dismal scenes. At Sing Sing, he expects to have a position in the open air. His face has grown pallid from worriment.

A Moral Ulcer in Detroit.

DETROIT, Nov. 25.—A police raid has brought to light a counterpart of the notorious Cavendish Square scandal which some time ago shocked wicked London. Prominent representatives of the legal and medical professions, merchants and several railroad officials are concerned in the affair, but, as in London, the aristocratic element was permitted to escape and several active but unimportant actors gathered in. The police tell a revolting story, and it is possible that an examination this week will develop more startling disclosures.

Stole From a Hospital.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 25.—Edward M. Burrows, who has been night nurse at the Maine General Hospital for three years, has been arrested for stealing bedding, crockery etc., from the hospital. At his house in Gray officers have found a trunk and six cases filled with quilts, sheets and blankets. A large quantity of stolen goods has also been found in a room occupied by Burrows in this city. He has confessed his guilt.

The Chippewas Have Signed.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 25.—The work of the Chippewa Indian Commissioners is practically finished, and it has been entirely successful, the signatures of every tribe on all the reservations in Minnesota having been secured to the provisions of the Nelson bill.

—A horse belonging to Lutkins & Hummer, the butchers, ran away on Park avenue, this morning, but fortunately no damage resulted. The horse ran direct to the stable in North Plainfield.

A BROTHERLY BOWL.

The Senior Team of the Crescent League Give the Juniors a Lesson in Rolling.

Saturday evening at the club alleys on East Second street, the first team of the Crescent League rolled a match against the second team under Captain Hallock, with the result given below.

In view of their entire lack of experience in match games, the juniors' work astonished the seniors themselves and everybody present. Captain Hallock rolled the highest score of the contest, and was immediately approached with overtures from Captain Davis to accept a position on the latter's team. Hallock refused, however, to desert his men who he believes with practice and experience can defeat the others.

It is no more than just to state that Baker was absent, and his game was rolled by the others, each bowling one frame. VanEmburgh gave him a strike, and Kline, Emerson and Davis each a spare, but the others broke. Thiers had the satisfaction of beating Jackson who has supplanted him on the first team.

The score was as follows:

FIRST TEAM.	S.	S.	B.	Total
VanEmburgh	1	5	4	148
Jackson	1	1	8	106
C. VanWinkle	2	5	3	152

THE METHODIST LADIES INTERESTED.

Some Dishonest Person Collecting Funds for Mrs. Forrester.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Your notice of the distress of the Forrester family has interested charitable ladies of the M. E. church who have called upon the family. This need not deter others, but to give notice to the public who have donated a liberal sum already to some person not authorized, and from which sum Mrs. Forrester has received no benefit.

W.

Funeral of Mrs. Abbie Johnson.

The funeral of the late Abbie Johnson who died on Friday, took place from the deceased's late residence in North Plainfield this morning and was largely attended by the relatives and friends of the family. Rev. Dr. Yerkes read the burial service and spoke in a sympathetic manner to the living and eulogistically of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Livermore of New Market also made a few comforting remarks to the mourning relatives and friends and offered the closing prayer.

A quartette composed of Mrs. W. A. and Arthur Freeman, M. C. Van Arsdale and E. E. Runyon sang "Asleep in Jesus" and "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." The floral decorations were modest and appropriate, consisting of a pillow with the word "Mother" inscribed thereon, a bunch of wheat and some cut flowers. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

The Music Hall Meetings.

There was a large attendance at both the afternoon and evening meetings in Music Hall, yesterday. In the afternoon Rev. Dr. Lewis conducted the devotional exercises and Mr. M. M. Dunham led the singing. Mr. Burdick told in affecting terms the story of his conversion, and of his uniting with the church at Adams Centre, New York State, twenty years ago during a series of revival meetings there. Mr. Burdick spoke from the subject, "America's Siberian Exiles," last evening. On Thursday evening the service will be held in Warren Mission chapel.

To Erect a Chapel.

The Methodists are considering the question of erecting a neat chapel on their lot in North Plainfield, corner of Somerset street and Park place. They will talk the matter over throughly at their prayer meeting next Wednesday evening, and all people in North Plainfield, whether members of the Methodist church or not, but who would like to see a chapel erected at the above mentioned corner, are invited to Vincent chapel, Wednesday evening. It is desirable to ascertain to what extent the people of that neighborhood want a chapel and religious services.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF DR. JOBS.

Proceedings of the Middlesex Gun Club at a Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Middlesex Gun Club was called to meet at Force's Hotel, this city, Saturday evening last, to hear a report from the October tournament committee. In their absence, however, a verbal report was made by the President, that after all bills were paid, there is a small balance of about $60 left over. The following resolutions were presented by the Secretary and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from our midst by death our fellow member, Dr. N. C. Jobs.

Resolved, That it is with unfeigned sorrow we learn of his sudden demise and mourn his loss as a companion and member of the Middlesex Gun Club.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathies to the deceased's bereaved family, and that these resolutions be entered at length on the minutes of the Club, and a copy be sent to his family.

THE ASBESTOS LIMITED.

A Plainfield Aggregation of Capital That Reaches a Million Dollars.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The association referred to in your Saturday's issue, has been completed with two additional members representing $50,000 each, making the sum total represented, one million dollars, the full amount called for.

The name of the Association—obtained by ballot, Australian system—is "The Asbestos Limited." The hour being late after arriving at the name, the meeting adjourned until Tuesday, Nov. 26, 2 P. M., at which time a permanent organization will be completed by the election of the following officers: President, Vice President, Treasurer and Corresponding Acephalist. After the election, the Asbestos Limited will be open to transact all business coming under their head, which will be fully set forth either in pamphlet form or through your paper.

G. W. B.

REPUBLICANS AT WAR.

A Pretty Fight for the Office of City Judge.

There is no truth in the rumor that City Judge Stillman does not desire to fill that office after the expiration of this year, and that he is not a candidate for re-election; but on the contrary his friends are straining every nerve to secure him the nomination and thereby prevent a rival candidate from turning him out.

The struggle will come in the Ward primaries of this and to-morrow evening. The friends of the present incumbent charge W. R. Codington, the other aspirant for the office, with having those primaries packed to secure such delegates to the City Convention as will give him the nomination.

It is rumored, though, that Mr. Codington's friends will run him whether he gets the nomination or not.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver of Manning avenue, North Plainfield, is suffering from quinsy sore throat.

Mr. Burdick, the temperance revivalist, preached in Rev. Mr. Livermore's church at New Market, on Saturday morning.

It is reported that Mr. David Condon, formerly Captain of the Crescent Base Ball Club, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Providence, R. I., from the effects of hemorrhages.

The Rev. Martin V. Schoonmaker, D. D., formerly of Wolden, N. Y., now of New York city, was in Plainfield, yesterday, and attended the morning service at Trinity Reformed church.

Bishop John H. Vincent has disposed of his property at the corner of Fifth street and Arlington avenue, to Mr. C. H. Buckelew of West Fifth street, who will take possession on December 1.

Mrs. Ezra Brewster of Sewaren, sister of Mrs. Geo. Smock, and Mrs. John Voorhees, of New Brunswick, sister of Mr. Smock, are visiting at the home of their niece, Mrs. Chas. Penfield, on Park avenue.

A quiet wedding took place in the parlor at Miller's Hotel, on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, when Mr. Charles Roberts and Miss Lizzie Miller, daughter of the late George Miller were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Louise Baum, of Syracuse, a niece of Assessor Joseph A. Hubbard, is visiting for a few days with her relatives on West Fifth street. Miss Baum is on her way South where she will spend the Winter with her mother and sisters previous to the family's departure for Europe next Spring.

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

For several years past, the Plainfield Relief Association has been enabled, through the generosity of its friends, to give Thanksgiving dinners to a number of poor families, who would otherwise know little of the good cheer of that day. For this purpose contributions of small turkeys, chickens, vegetables, fruit, flour, etc., are earnestly solicited from all who will aid in the good work this year. Such gifts should be sent to the Association Rooms, No. 45 West Second street, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, or early the following morning.

The State Board of Health Adopts Measures to Prevent Sickness.

The New Jersey State Board of Health has ordered a thorough examination to be made into the sanitary condition of all premises where persons are lodged or boarded. This class of premises includes all the hotels, restaurants, boarding-houses, colleges and seminaries in the State, whose inmates have no control over the water supply, drainage and other local conditions which may affect their health, and this action of the Board is only one of a series of precautionary measures which are being instituted by the State authorities.

The inspections will be made under the personal direction and supervision of the officers of the State and local Boards of Health. One of the special features of this new movement will be the searching examination which will be made of the premises of all hotels and boarding houses at the seaside resorts in Monmouth, Ocean, Atlantic, Burlington, and Cape May counties before the opening of next Summer's season. New Jersey is the first State to inaugurate such an inspection by its State Board of Health.

Protect the Rich, the Poor Can Beg.

(Contributed.)

In a pleasast village, not over one hundred miles from Englewood, N. J., lives a worthy tailor who is a strong Democrat. Just before the last Presidental election, a prominent member of the local Republican Club called at the shop of the knight of the shears, and soon commenced to urge upon the latter the stock arguments (Save the mark!) of high tariff worshippers; how, in case of Cleveland's election, wages would be reduced, work stopped, men discharged; whereas, if Harrison were elected, the land would flow with milk and honey, etc., etc., (how funnily it all reads now!) But the tailor held his ground, with the tenacity of his own stitches, and the baffled "Chinese-Wall" advocate went away.

After the election the tailor called at Mr. Protectionist's office to collect a bill, and, on being paid, remarked, "Mr. —— this is a very small bill." The gentleman replied, "Yes, it is—but the fact is that when I was in Europe this Summer, I laid in a large stock of clothing you know they make things so much cheaper over there than here."

Said the tailor, "And that is the way you protect the American workingman!" The Republican leader had to "admit the corn," but will be just as earnest next election in his desire to look after the interests of the poor laborers here. Moral—The poor must be protected; the rich can protect themselves. (Englewood papers please copy.)

He Would be Most Acceptable.

Among the names mentioned as a possible candidate for Councilmen-at-Large on the Republican ticket is that of Mr. Seymour G. Smith, a resident of Central avenue, though not very generally known in political circles. Mr. Smith has many warm friends within his party and outside of it. His business is tea packing in New York city. Having good executive ability and property interests in this city, THE PRESS does not know but that Mr. Smith is the most acceptable candidate named in connection with the office.

Winter Table Luxuries.

Last Summer's canning of vegetables in the extensive establishments of Stout, Spencer & Co., the renowned wholesale grocers of New York, surpassed in quality most previous years, if such a result could be. These goods, sold by the majority of Plainfield grocers, are universally recommended by all who use them. Mr. Stout's residence in this city also assures the excellence of the goods, because otherwise the firm would probably desire to suppress their sale here.

The Last Registration Day.

On to-morrow, Nov. 26, the several boards of registry will sit in the different polling places, to register the names of additional voters who are entitled to a vote at the forthcoming charter election. Voters who registered and voted at the last election will not be required to again register their names.

The city election will take place on Tuesday, December 3.

That Washout Case.

The fourth hearing of the testimony in the South Plainfield washout case occurred before Commissioner Boice at New Brunswick on Friday. Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham of this city, L. H. Tappen and A. S. Manning were examined on behalf of Piscataway township. The further hearing of the dispute was postponed until December 5.

THE NEW ROADS ROUND PLAINFIELD.

The System Highly Praised by Dr. Chauncey B. Ripley.

Property owners in this county are justly delighted with the outcome of the county road bill, the object and purpose of which is the acquirement, improving, and maintenance of public roads in this State. Speaking of the benefits accruing therefrom, Mr. Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield, said Friday:

"The county road act provides that any public road in any county of the State may be declared a county road by the County Board of Chosen Freeholders in that county, and becomes such by the filing of a map with the clerk of the county defining the road; and that money may be raised by such board for the construction and care of all such roads in any county. Union county is entitled to the credit of this new system. The act was prepared and presented by its citizens, who have for several years deemed some such road law a necessity for the permanent improvement of the public roads in Central New Jersey.

"Union county has availed itself of this new law to a greater extent than any other county in the State. Its Board of Freeholders, unanimous in favor of the law, proceeded at once to declare as county roads the principal roads leading from Elizabeth to Rahway, from Rahway to Westfield, from Elizabeth through Westfield to Plainfield, from Plainfield through Westfield to Springfield, from Springfield to Summit, and from Elizabeth to Springfield.

"One hundred and fifty thousand dollars has already been raised for macadamizing these roads and for keeping them in repair for one year. They have all been surveyed, the maps filed with the county clerk, and hundreds of laborers, mostly Italians, are now engaged in their construction. Stone crushers, of which there are a half dozen or more in the county of Union, are running to their full capacity, cracking stone for top dressing, while scores of teams are hauling stone in blocks for the solid foundations. No stone is used in the construction of these county roads except trap rock, which is all quarried from the mountains in Westfield. This rock abounds in these mountains and the supply is inexhaustible.

"The whole appearance of the localities where these roads are being constructed is changed for the better. Before any stone is used, the bed of the road to be macadamized, is brought to a grade, the high points being cut down, and the low places being filled with the earth taken from high points.

"The new county roads are very popular. Those few who feared the expense at first are now more than satisfied with the improvements as they progress, and it is safe to say that there is not a taxpayer in the county that would have the new law repealed, or the old condition of things restored, to save the small expense incurred. County roads under the new law will soon become general in most of the counties in the State, especially if built with the economy, care, and thoroughness which characterize the present Board of Chosen Freeholders in Union county. We want more county roads next year, and the present board to construct them, or a board equally good.

"The work is being honestly done, and there are no political jobs, as some feared. These county roads have been advocated for several years by the largest property owners and taxpayers in Westfield, and they are well satisfied with the operation of the new law. What is the attitude of large property owners, as a class, respecting these county roads? I will say this: The assessor of Westfield officially informed me that the largest taxpayers in Westfield for 1889 are Chauncey B. Ripley, Ludlow V. Clark, Thomas H. Love, James T. Pierson, John Darsh, Edward Harbison and Warren Ackerman.

"As to the views of myself, you have them above. As to the views of others in this list, many have expressed the belief, and all, I am sure, feel that there has never been so important an undertaking in the interest of Central New Jersey as the construction of county roads. It opens up the county, affords beautiful drives, enables people to move from any of the near cities, and is of incomparable advantage to all tradespeople and the farmers of this important section.

"Westfield, the central point, pivot, or hub of the other townships of Union county, derives more than its share of benefits from the county roads, by reason of its central position, being four miles from Rahway, the same distance from Summit; five miles East of Plainfield, seven miles West of Elizabeth and adjoining Fanwood, Cranford, Linden, and Union. The Central Railroad of New Jersey manifests much interest in these county roads, pursues a liberal policy, and is encouraging by material aid macadam connection between Central and South avenues in Westfield."

—Court will open at Elizabeth on this evening for the purpose of granting naturalization papers.

L. W. Noyes of Chicago, the maker o Dictionary Holders, sends upon receipt of a two-cent stamp to pay postage, a series of very pretty blotters of most excellent quality. One has a cut of a little drum-major cupid at the head of two long columns of Dictionary Holders, and this is his speech: "I am a quiet little 'drummer' for the Noyes Holders. It is my mission to call attention to the fact that these are the only Holders that have strong springs to hug the book firmly together, thus keeping the dust out of the upturned edges. The possession of Noyes' Dictionary Holders has made about 125,000 families happy and accurate in the use of words. Buy a Noyes Dictionary Holder from your bookseller and see how much more frequently you will refer to the dictionary."

GAVE HIM A MILLION.

A Report that Banker Gorham Has Paid that Amount to His Putative Son.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—It has been common talk in this city for several days that Arthur C. Williams, alias Arthur C. Gorham, who recently became an inmate of a jail for passing an alleged forged check for $500, has made an agreement with his putative father, Arthur C. Gorham, the rich banker of Boston. It was also said that an immense fortune had been settled on williams. Williams, after being some time in prison in this city, was taken to Los Angeles, where his case was finally dismissed. He remained there a short time, and then disappeared. About a month ago he came back to this city, and has since been quietly living with a friend in the western addition.

According to the rumors A. C. Gorham, of Boston, also arrived here two weeks ago, and since then he and the young man have been negotiating for a settlement. The latter left for home a few days ago, after having, as was stated, settled the gigantic sum of $1,000,000 in 4 per cent. Government bonds on Williams, and also eight acres of ground near Kansas City and one-half interest in extensive iron and coal mines and works at Birmingham, Ala.

REMOVED THE TUMOR.

But the Physicians Left a Pair of Forceps in the Woman's Side.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 25.—Two locally prominent surgeons some time ago removed a large tumor from the side of a married woman living on Forty-second street, in this city. Since the operation the woman has suffered most excruciating pains in the side from which the tumor was extracted. She called in another surgeon yesterday, and, upon examination, he declared that some hard, metallic substance had been left in the wound, which it would be necessary to re-open.

A second operation was performed yesterday and the hard substance, when taken out, proved to be a small pair of physician's forceps which were used in holding the veins cut in the first operation.

The surgeons who made the first operation say they missed the pair of forceps at the time, but refuse to believe that the instrument was left in the cavity from which the tumor was taken.

Religious Work Among the Italians.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A dispatch from Rome to a prominent Catholic says that Mgr. Scalabrini, Bishop of Piacenza, Italy, has been appointed by the Pope Vicar Apostolic for the Italians of the United States. Mgr. Scalabrini is very favorably known here and even the most liberal minded Italians have a high respect for him, owing to the great interest which he has shown on the subject of Italian immigration. He is expected here next spring and when his mission is accomplished it is considered very likely that he will be raised to the cardinalate.

Moving Toward the United States.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 25.—The movement in the Dominion in favor of closer trade relations with the United States is growing in strength every day. The agitation in Protestant Ontario over the incorporation and endowment of the Jesuits by the Quebec Legislature promises to be prolonged. Premier Mercier announces his intention of suing the Dominion Government for the recovery of the Champs de Mars at Montreal. The property, now valued at $1,000, belonged to the Jesuits of the last century, and when confiscated was reserved for a military parade ground.

TALMAGE FOLLOWS PAUL.

THE DOCTOR PREACHES IN ATHENS ON PAUL'S MISSION THERE.

Vivid Word Pictures of Ancient Athens and Corinth—The Bible Is but an Introduction to the Great Knowledge of the Future—Paul's Anticipations of Heaven.

ATHENS, Nov. 24.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., of Brooklyn, preached in this city this evening, to a group of friends, basing his discourse on the following two passages from the Pauline epistles: I Corinthians ii, 9: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard;" and I Corinthians xiii, 12: "For now we see through a glass darkly." The sermon was as follows:

Both these sentences written by the most illustrious merely human being the world ever saw, one who walked these streets, and preached from yonder pile of rocks, Mars Hill. Though more classic associations are connected with this city than with any city under the sun, because here Socrates, and Plato, and Aristotle, and Demosthenes, and Pericles, and Herodotus, and Pythagoras, and Xenophon, and Praxiteles wrote or chiseled, or taught or thundered or sung, yet in my mind all those men and their teachings were eclipsed by Paul and the Gospel he preached in this city and in your nearby city of Corinth. Yesterday, standing on the old fortress at Corinth, the Acro-Corinthus, out from the ruins at its base arose in my imagination the old city, just as Paul saw it. I have been told that for splendor the world beholds no such wonder today as that ancient Corinth standing on an isthmus washed by two seas, the one sea bringing the commerce of Europe, the other sea bringing the commerce of Asia. From her wharves, in the construction of which whole kingdoms had been absorbed, war galleys with three banks of oars pushed out and confounded the navy yards of all the world. Huge handed machinery, such as modern invention cannot equal, lifted ships from the sea on one side and transported them on trucks across the isthmus and sat them down in the sea on the other side. The revenue officers of the city went down through the olive groves that lined the beach to collect a tariff from all nations. The mirth of all people sported in her Isthmian games, and the beauty of all lands sat in her theatres, walked her porticos and threw itself on the altar of her stupendous dissipations. Column, and statue, and temple bewildered the beholder. There were white marble fountains, into which, from apertures at the side, there gushed waters everywhere known for health giving qualities. Around these basins, twisted into wreaths of stone, there were all the beauties of sculpture and architecture; while standing, as if to guard the costly display, was a statue of Hercules of burnished Corinthian brass. Vases of terra cotta adorned the cemeteries of the dead—vases so costly that Julius Cæsar was not satisfied until he had captured them for Rome. Armed officials, the corintharii, paced up and down to see that no statue was defaced, no pedestal overthrown, no bas-relief touched. From the edge of the city the hill held its magnificent burden of columns and towers and temples (1,000 slaves waiting at one shrine), and a citadel so thoroughly impregnable that Gibraltar is a heap of sand compared with it. Amid all that strength and magnificence Corinth stood and defied the world.

PAUL ADDRESSED HIGH INTELLIGENCE.

Oh! it was not to rustics who had never seen anything grand that Paul uttered one of my texts. They had heard the best music that had come from the best instruments in all the world; they had heard songs floating from morning porticos and melting in evening groves; they had passed their whole lives among pictures and sculpture and architecture and Corinthian brass, which had been molded and shaped until there was no chariot wheel in which it had not sped, and no tower in which it had not glittered, and no gateway that it had not adorned. Ah, it was a bold thing for Paul to stand there amid all that and say: "All this is nothing. These sounds that come from the temple of Neptune are not music compared with the harmonies of which I speak. These waters rushing in the basin of Pyrene are not pure. These statues of Bacchus and Mercury are not exquisite. Your citadel of Acro-Corinthus is not strong compared with that which I offer to the poorest slave that puts down his burden at that brazen gate. You Corinthians think this is a splendid city; you think you have heard all sweet sounds and seen all beautiful sights; but I tell you eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Indeed, both my texts, the one spoken by Paul and the one written by Paul, show us that we have very imperfect eyesight, and that our day of vision is yet to come: for now we see through a glass, darkly, but then face to face. So Paul takes the responsibility of saying that even the Bible is an indistinct mirror, and that its mission shall be finally suspended. I think there may be one Bible in heaven fastened to the throne. Just as now, in a museum, we have a lamp exhumed from Herculaneum or Nineveh, and we look at it with great interest and say: "How poor a light it must have given, compared with our modern lamps," so I think that this Bible, which was a lamp to our feet in this world, may lie near the throne of God, exciting our interest to all eternity by the contrast between its comparatively feeble light and the illumination of heaven. The Bible, now, is the scaffolding to the rising temple, but when the building is done there will be no use for the scaffolding. The idea I shall develop today is, that in this world our knowledge is comparatively dim and unsatisfactory, but nevertheless is introductory to grander and more complete vision. This is eminently true in regard to our view of God.

"CANST THOU FIND OUT GOD?"

We hear so much about God that we conclude that we understand him. He is represented as having the tenderness of a father, the firmness of a judge, the pomp of a king and the love of a mother. We hear about him, talk about him, write about him. We lisp his name in infancy, and it trembles on the tongue of the dying octogenarian. We think that we know very much about him. Take the attribute of mercy. Do we understand it? The Bible blossoms all over with that word, mercy. It speaks again and again of the tender mercies of God, of the sure mercies, of the great mercies, of the mercy that endureth forever, of the multitude of his mercies. And yet I know that the views we have of this great being are most indefinite, one sided and incomplete. When, at death, the gates shall fly open, and we shall look directly upon him, how new and surprising! We see upon canvas a picture of the morning. We study the cloud in the sky, the dew upon the grass, and the husbandman on the way to the field. Beautiful picture of the morning! But we rise at daybreak, and go up on a hill to see for ourselves that which was represented to us. While we look, the mountains are transfigured. The burnished gates of heaven swing open and shut, to let pass a host of fiery splendors. The clouds are all abloom, and hang pendant from arbors of alabaster and amethyst. The waters make a pathway of inlaid pearl for the light to walk upon; and there is morning on the sea. The crags uncover their scarred visage; and there is morning among the mountains. Now you go home, and how tame your picture of the morning seems in contrast! Greater than that shall be the contrast between this scriptural view of God and that which we shall have when standing face to face. This is a picture of the morning; that will be the morning itself.

Again: My texts are true of the Saviour's excellency. By image, and sweet rhythm of expression, and startling antitheses, Christ is set forth—his love, his compassion, his work, his life, his death, his resurrection. We are challenged to measure it, to compute it, to weigh it. In the hour of our broken enthrallment, we mount up into high experience of his love, and shout until the countenance glows, and the blood bounds, and the whole nature is exhilarated. "I have found him." And yet it is through a glass, darkly. We see not half of that compassionate face. We feel not half the warmth of that loving heart. We wait for death to let us rush into his outspread arms. Then we shall be face to face. Not shadow then, but substance. Not hope then, but the fulfilling of all prefigurement. That will be a magnificent unfolding.

TO SEE EYE TO EYE.

The rushing out in view of all hidden excellency; the coming again of a long-absent Jesus to meet us—not in rags and in penury and death, but amidst a light and pomp and outbursting joy such as none but a glorified intelligence could experience. Oh! to gaze full upon the brow that was lacerated, upon the side that was pierced, upon the feet that were nailed; to stand close up in the presence of him who prayed for us on the mountain, and thought of us by the sea, and agonized for us in the garden, and died for us in horrible crucifixion; to feel of him, to embrace him, to take his hand, to kiss his feet, to run our fingers along the scars of ancient suffering; to say: "This is my Jesus! He gave himself for me. I shall never leave his presence. I shall forever behold his glory. I shall eternally hear his voice. Lord Jesus, now I see thee! I behold where the blood started, where the tears coursed, where the face was distorted. I have waited for this hour. I shall never turn my back on thee. No more looking through imperfect glasses. No more studying thee in the darkness. But, as long as this throne stands, and this everlasting river flows, and those garlands bloom, and these arches of victory remain to greet home heaven's conquerors, so long I shall see thee, Jesus of my choice; Jesus of my song; Jesus of my triumph—forever and forever—face to face!"

The idea of my texts is just as true when applied to God's providence. Who has not come to some pass in life thoroughly inexplicable? You say: "What does this mean? What is God going to do with me now? He tells me that all things work together for good. This does not look like it." You continue to study the dispensation, and after a while guess about what God means. "He means to teach me this. I think he means to teach me that. Perhaps it is to humble my pride. Perhaps it is to make me feel more dependent. Perhaps to teach me the uncertainty of life." But after all, it is only a guess—a looking through the glass, darkly. The Bible assures us there shall be a satisfactory unfolding. "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter." You will know why God took to himself that only child. Next door there was a household of seven children. Why not take one from that group, instead of your only one? Why single out the dwelling in which there was only one heart beating responsive to yours? Why did God give you a child at all, if he meant to take it away? Why fill the cup of your gladness brimming, if he meant to dash it down? Why allow all the tendrils of your heart to wind around that object, and then, when every fiber of your own life seemed to be interlocked with the child's life, with strong hand to tear you apart, until you fall bleeding and crushed, your dwelling desolate, your hopes blasted, your heart broken? Do you suppose that God will explain that? Yea. He will make it plainer than any mathematical problem—as plain as that two and two make four. In the light of the throne you will see that it was right—all right. "Just and true are all thy ways, thou king of saints."

PROVIDENTIAL HINDRANCES IN LIFE.

Here is a man who cannot get on in the world. He always seems to buy at the wrong time and to sell at the worst disadvantage. He tries this enterprise, and fails; that business, and is disappointed. The man next door to him has a lucrative trade, but he lacks customers. A new prospect opens. His income is increased. But that year his family are sick; and the profits are expended in trying to cure the ailments. He gets a discouraged look. Becomes faithless as to success. Begins to expect disasters. Others wait for something to turn up; he waits for it to turn down. Others, with only half as much education and character, get on twice as well. He sometimes guesses as to what it all means. He says: "Perhaps riches would spoil me. Perhaps poverty is necessary to keep me humble. Perhaps I might, if things were otherwise, be tempted into dissipations." But there is no complete solution of the mystery. He sees through a glass, darkly, and must wait for a higher unfolding. Will there be an explanation? Yes; God will take that man in the light of the throne, and say: "Child immortal, hear the explanation! You remember the failing of that great enterprise. This is the explanation." And you will answer: "It is all right!"

I see, every day, profound mysteries of Providence. There is no question we ask oftener than Why? There are hundreds of graves that need to be explained. Hospitals for the blind and lame, asylums for the idiotic and insane, almshouses for the destitute, and a world of pain and misfortune that demand more than human solution. Ah! God will clear it all up. In the light that pours from the throne, no dark mystery can live. Things now utterly inscrutable will be illumined as plainly as though the answer were written on the jasper wall, or sounded in the temple anthem. Bartimeus will thank God that he was blind; and Lazarus that he was covered with sores; and Joseph that he was cast into the pit; and Daniel that he was denned with lions; and Paul that he was humpbacked; and David that he was driven from Jerusalem; and the sewing-woman that she could get only a few pence for making a garment; and that invalid that for twenty years he could not lift his head from the pillow; and that widow that she had such hard work to earn bread for her children. You know that in a song different voices carry different parts. The sweet and overwhelming part of the hallelujah of heaven will not be carried by those who rode in high places, and gave sumptuous entertainments; but pauper children will sing it, beggars will sing it, redeemed hod-carriers will sing it, those who were once the offscouring of earth will sing it. The hallelujah will be all the grander for earth's weeping eyes, and aching heads, and exhausted hands, and scourged backs, and martyred agonies.

HOW MANY SHALL BE SAVED?

Again: The thought of my texts is true when applied to the enjoyment of the righteous in heaven. I think we have but little idea of the number of the righteous in heaven. Infidels say: "Your heaven will be a very small place compared with the world of the lost; for, according to your teaching, the majority of men will be destroyed." I deny the charge. I suppose that the multitude of the finally lost, as compared with the multitude of the finally saved, will be a handful. I suppose that the few sick people in the hospitals of our great cities, as compared with the hundreds of thousands of well people, would not be smaller than the number of those who shall be cast out in suffering, compared with those who shall have upon them the health of heaven. For we are to remember that we are living in only the beginning of the Christian dispensation, and that this whole world is to be populated and redeemed, and that ages of light and love are to flow on. If this be so, the multitudes of the saved will be in vast majority. Take all the congregations that have assembled for worship throughout Christendom. Put them together, and they would make but a small audience compared with the thousands and tens of thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand, and the hundred and forty and four thousand that shall stand around the throne. Those flashed up to heaven in martyr fires; those tossed for many years upon the invalid couch; those fought in the armies of liberty, and rose as they fell; those tumbled from high scaffolding, or slipped from the mast, or were washed off into the sea. They came up from Corinth, from Laodicea, from the Red Sea bank and Gennesaret's wave, from Egyptian brickyards, and Gideon's threshing floor. Those thousands of years ago slept the last sleep, and these are this moment having their eyes closed, and their limbs stretched out for the sepulcher.

A general expecting an attack from the enemy stands on a hill and looks through a field glass, and sees, in the great distance, multitudes approaching, but has no idea of their numbers. He says: "I cannot tell anything about them. I merely know that there are a great number." And so John, without attempting to count, says: "A great multitude that no man can number." We are told that heaven is a place of happiness; but what do we know about happiness? Happiness in this world is only a half fledged thing; a flowery path, with a serpent hissing across it; a broken pitcher, from which the water has dropped before we could drink it; a thrill of exhilaration, followed by disastrous reactions. To help us understand the joy of heaven, the Bible takes us to a river. We stand on the grassy bank. We see the waters flow on with ceaseless wave. But the filth of the cities is emptied into it, and the banks are torn, and unhealthy exhalations spring up from it, and we fail to get an idea of the river of life in heaven.

A GLORIOUS AND EVERLASTING REUNION.

We get very imperfect ideas of the reunions of heaven. We think of some festal day on earth, when father and mother were yet living, and the children came home. A good time that! But it had this drawback—all were not there. That brother went off to sea, and never was heard from. That sister—did we not lay her away in the freshness of her young life, never more in this world to look upon her? Ah! there was a skeleton at the feast; and tears mingled with our laughter on that Christmas day. Not so with heaven's reunions. It will be an uninterrupted gladness. Many a Christian parent will look around and find all his children there. "Ah!" he says, "can it be possible that we are all here—life's perils over? the Jordan passed and not one wanting? Why, even the prodigal is here. I almost gave him up. How long he despised my counsels! but grace hath triumphed. All here! all here! Tell the mighty joy through the city. Let the bells ring, and the angels mention it in their song. Wave it from the top of the walls. All here!"

No more breaking of heartstrings, but face to face. The orphans that were left poor, and in a merciless world, kicked and cuffed of many hardships, shall join their parents over whose graves they so long wept, and gaze into their glorified countenances forever, face to face. We may come up from different parts of the world, one from the land and another from the depths of the sea; from lives affluent and prosperous, or from scenes of ragged distress; but we shall all meet in rapture and jubilee, face to face.

Many of our friends have entered upon that joy. A few days ago they sat with us studying these gospel themes; but they only saw dimly—now revelation hath come. Your time will also come. God will not leave you floundering in the darkness. You stand wonder struck and amazed. You feel as if all the loveliness of life were dashed out. You stand gazing into the open chasm of the grave. Wait a little. In the presence of your departed and of him who carries them in his bosom, you shall soon stand face to face. Oh! that our last hour may kindle up with this promised joy! May we be able to say, like the Christian not long ago, departing: "Though a pilgrim walking through the valley, the mountain tops are gleaming from peak to peak!" or, like my dear friend and brother, Alfred Cookman, who took his flight to the throne of God, saying in his last moment that which has already gone into Christian classics: "I am sweeping through the pearly gate, washed in the blood of the Lamb!"

An Automatic Fog Signal.

A new fog signaling apparatus has lately been perfected in England which is of sufficient merit to attract the attention of all those interested in the saving of life and property at sea. It calls into use electricity, which admits of the signals being automatically worked, and at the same time records every signal as it is given on a band of graduated paper. This paper forms a complete register of the signals, and is documentary evidence in case of dispute as to whether or not a vessel was signaling when a collision occurred.

The apparatus consists of a single switch, which is placed on the vessel's bridge, so that the signaling can be controlled by the officer on watch. When it is desired to blow the signal whistle or to begin the automatic signaling, whatever its nature may be, the lever is turned to the "under way" notch if the vessel be moving, and the electric current at once begins working the valve of the steam whistle at regular intervals, conforming to what the law specifies. Should the vessel be at anchor the switch is turned to "at anchor," and the bell is rung in the same way. The register consists of the band of paper properly subdivided and moved along by clock work. A traveling pointer, actuated by an electro-magnet, pricks the paper at every sound of the bell or whistle. The signaling can also be made at will, entirely independent of the automatic mechanism, by simply pressing a button which closes the circuit leading to the bell or whistle.—New York Herald.

A Revolting Spectacle.

The other day, in a city not a thousand miles from Seattle, a grandfather and a father were contending in court for the custody of a family of children. One of the children, a bright boy of 10 years, was placed on the witness stand, and repeatedly declared: "I hate my father! I hate him! I hate him!" The father bowed his head and wept. The grandfather—a member of the United States senate, by the way—smiled and seemed to approve. It was a revolting spectacle. The father was a feeble, purposeless creature, probably unfit for custody of the children, but nobody could teach the boy any worse lesson than he seems to have learned.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

AN ARMY OF VOTES

An Alliance Between the Knights and Farmers.

POWDERLY FAVORS THE SCHEME

Committees of Both Bodies to Meet at St Louis Next Week.

United They Will Have 3,000,000 Votes—The General Master Workman Thinks the Two Bodies Could Control the Presidency, and It May Mean the Birth of a New Political Party.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Mr. Powderly says that in his opinion some form of consolidation between the Knights of Labor and the Farmers' Alliance will be accomplished at an early date. The Knights favor it heartily, and he has good reason to think that the Alliance is very favorably disposed toward the scheme. On Dec. 3 General Secretary Hayes and Mr. Wright, of the Knights' Executive Board, will meet a committee of the Alliance at St. Louis to discuss the matter.

"The aims and interests of the two organizations," says Mr. Powderly, "are the same. United, they will have about 3,000,000 votes—an army so vast that politicians will not dare spurn it.

"For over one year we have been receiving letters from prominent men in the Farmers' Alliance asking us to consider the practicability of an amalgamation. The officers of the Knights of Labor will readily throw up their offices and be subsidary workers in the amalgamation.

May Control the Presidency.

"No sensible man can disparage the magnitude and importance of such a step. It might mean that the two organizations, when combined, will wield such a political power as to control the Presidential chair. There are, in round numbers, 500,000 men in the ranks of the Knights of Labor, while the Farmers' Alliance, which is merely in its infancy, has over 2,000,000 members. I think that if the amalgamation is brought about, the American Federation, with its half a million followers; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with its many thousands, and other great labor bodies will want to be merged. It will probably mean the birth of a new political party which will have sufficient strength to control tariff and other legislation."

CALLAGHAN-POWDERLY SUIT.

They Say It Is a Fight Between the Knights and the Reading Road.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 26.—John Costello, a member of the General Executive Board, Knights of Labor, said the Callaghan-Powderly conspiracy suit is a fight between the Knights of Labor and the Reading Railroad.

"The latter corporation," he said, "has masked itself behind the form of Callaghan, supporting him with money influences. Believing this, the Knights of Labor General Assembly, just before adjourning at Atlanta, levied an assessment of 5 cents per head on the whole organization as a Powderly defence fund.

"They say Powderly will be acquitted without trouble, and will then inaugurate a vigorous war on the Reading Railroad Company for its violation of the Constitution of Pennsylvania in mining coal contrary to the section which provides that no railroad company chartered by the State shall engage in any other business."

The Cronin Case Nearly Ended.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The rebuttal part of the Cronin trial will be finished today. Half a day, or probably a full day, will be allowed by indulgence of the court for the preparation of the closing speeches to the jury. The opening address will be made by State's Attorney Longenecker, who will be followed by Judge Wing for the prisoners. The honor of "the last say" has been conferred upon Luther Laflin Mills, ostensibly by courtesy of Judge Longenecker, but really because everybody knows he is the pillar of the prosecution in dramatic power and intense earnestness.

Baltimore Buys Out Washington.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—It has leaked out to-day, and from a very reliable source, that Baltimore will be represented in the National League in place of Washington. Negotiations to that effect have been going on for some time between Mr. Van der Horst and Mr. Hewitt, and it is pretty sure that a satisfactory conclusion has been arrived at. It is quite likely that the Association men who have signed with the Brotherhood will return to the old fold.

Terrible Accident to a Child.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26.—A little 5-year-old son of W. W. Tally, of this city, met with a singular and terrible accident. While playing near his father's door, with a sharp stick in his mouth, the boy fell and drove the stick entirely through his throat, the point coming out through the back. The stick was removed with great difficulty. The wound is very serious and may prove fatal.

New York Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The following fourth-class postmasters have been appointed in New York State: Wm. Ainslis, Barnes; J. P. Hathaway, Mertensia; G. D. Getty, Middle Granville; J. W. Chisholm, New Kingston, and George H. Lott, Oceanus.

Josh Mann's Trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The trial of Joshua Mann and Mrs. Swinton for conspiracy against Robert Ray Hamilton has been set down for Dec. 2.

THE PETTUS INQUEST.

Mrs. Southworth, the Murderess, Before the Coroner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The coroner's inquest in the case of Stephen Pettus, the Brooklyn millionaire, who was murdered by Mrs. Southworth, was commenced to-day. The murderess was accompanied by a female friend. Mr. William Howe, the senior member of Howe & Hummel, who have had charge of Mrs. Southworth's case against Pettus from its start, said his client at the present time was in no condition to undergo an examination or to make a statement. It is evident from this that the line of defence will be the insanity of the defendant, a plea which it will not be difficult to substantiate, judging by the number of persons who have already offered their testimony to that end through the newspapers.

Unexpectedly District-Attorney Fellows had Captain McLaughlin bring the prisoner to the General Sessions building at 11 o'clock, and the Grand Jury are now considering the case. This action pleased the woman's counsel, who said he was anxious for an immediate trial.

"We have documents in our possession," said Mr. Howe, "bearing on the assault and the subsequent proceedings which will, when they are made public, startle and horrify society. We will prove the operation at Syracuse, and we will have the testimony of physicians to show the unbalanced condition of her mind. As soon as the inquest is over I will write a letter to the District Attorney asking for an immediate trial."

Mr. Lauterbach, of the firm of Hoadley, Lauterbach & Johnson, who have acted for Mr. Pettus in the past, said that the family of the murdered man would not press the prosecution. That lay entirely in the hands of the District Attorney, and they had apparently decided to leave it there, as they said nothing to him or his partners concerning the coming trial. If it was necessary, Mr. Lauterbach said, he would furnish the documents in their possession.

Their side of the story of Mrs. Southworth's intimacy with Pettus is in effect that she voluntarily submitted to the alleged assault. They say that not only once, but on several occasions Mrs. Southworth visited places of evil resort with Pettus and that her feeling against him was due to his having become weary of her and refusing to give her $100 a week on the condition that she would leave him alone.

STABBED BY A CONVICT.

A Life Sentence Cut Short in Rhode Island's State Prison.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 26.—At the State prison about 7:30 a. m. Phillip Lacoste, aged 32, who on May 18, 1886, was sentenced for life for the murder of a French Canadian at Woonsocket, was fatally stabbed by John McCarthy, aged 19, who on July 6, 1888, was sentenced to five years imprisonment for highway robbery.

The victim was bending over a pile of leather from which he was cutting shoe soles when McCarthy stepped behind him, thrust a keen shoe knife into the left side of his neck and made a deep cut across the back of the neck and around under the right ear.

As Lacoste sank to the floor McCarthy inflicted eight other serious cuts on the head, shoulders and left arm.

McCarthy has been chained and placed in the dark cell. He gives no reason for the assault, and so far as the prison officials know it was entirely without provocation.

Daring Train Robbery.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 26.—Several thousand dollars was taken from the safe in the express car of the northbound passenger train on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad which was held up at Pryor Creek, near Perry station, Indian Territory. Two men forced the engineer and fireman to descend from the cab. They uncoupled the engine, mail and express cars and ran them ahead two miles, where they cleaned out everything of value in the express car and also rifled the pouches in the mail car.

Patrolling for Dead Bodies.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 26.—Four more bodies came to the surface of the Conemaugh river at Johnstown. One was that of a man supposed to be John Day, of Prospect, Md., who, with his daughter, was lost from the ill-fated day express of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Conemaugh Station. So many bodies are being brought to the surface by the high waters of the past few days that a patrol has been started. Men will walk up both sides of the river between Johnstown and Nineveh daily to look for corpses.

Mystery Over a Man's Skeleton.

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 26.—There is considerable mystery about the finding of a man's skeleton in the woods at Danforth's Corners, in Amherst. The body had evidently lain where found since last Spring. A portion of the skull had been shot away. It was at first thought to be a case of suicide, but a gun found by the body was discovered to be loaded. The remains have not been identified.

Postmaster Fogarty Discharged.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Postmaster L. M. Fogarty, of the Brookline branch office, appeared before United States Commissioner Hallett, charged with misappropriation of money order funds, and was honorably discharged, as his guilt could not be proven. Fogarty was charged with taking a portion of the money he received from money orders to supply a deficiency in the postage stamp department.

Society Sensation in a New York Town.

ALBION, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Society here is shocked over the news that George W. Ough, a prominent furniture dealer of this place, has commenced an action against his wife for absolute divorce on the ground of infidelity. The couple have lived apart for the past few years. Both are prominent society people and the event causes a sensation. Several prominent parties are mentioned as concerned in the case.

The Pan-American Congress Elect Secretaries.

BRAZIL'S DELEGATES ADMITTED.

New York's Congressional Delegates to Vote as a Unit for Speaker.

If the Plan is Carried Out Reed Will Secure the Vote of the Empire State—Dalzell's Latest Document About Pensions—An Increase in National Banks—The Hoover Will Set Aside.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The Pan-American Congress had Senor Zegarra, of Peru, as presiding officer in the absence of Secretary Blaine. A favorable report from the Committee on Credentials of the Brazilian delegation led to some discussion. Dr. Nin, of Uruguay, wanted to know whether the credentials emanated from the Emperor or from the new Government of Brazil.

Senor Romero, chairman of the committee, stated that the credentials originally came from the Emperor, but subsequently, and after the recent change in the Government in Brazil, had been indorsed by the new Government, and the delegates had been fully empowered to act for the Provisional Government. This explanation seemed satisfactory to all the delegates, and the report was adopted unanimously.

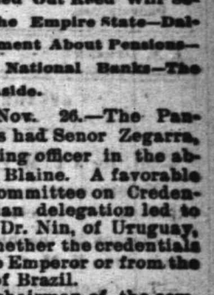
The Congress then proceeded to the election of secretaries. F. G. Perira and H. Ramson Whitehouse were nominated by the foreign and home delegates respectively, and were elected to those positions. Mr. Whitehouse is a citizen of New York, and is at present Secretary of Legation at the City of Mexico. Mr. Perira is also from New York, and is connected with the Spanish-American Commercial Union in that city.

The Congress then proceeded to the consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules, taking up Rule 8, where it had left off last Friday. Little or no progress was made when the Conference adjourned to 2 p. m. to-morrow.

NEW YORK FOR REED.

It Is Said that the Empire State Delegation Will Vote as a Unit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The Congressional delegation from the State of New York has decided to vote solidly for Congressman Reed, of Maine, for the Speakership. It is stated on good authority that the two-thirds rule will prevail, and as Reed has the requisite two-thirds majority, the New York delegation will vote as a unit for him.



HON. T. M. REED.

Congressman Flood, whom, it is understood, is for Major McKinley, is the member who proposed the two-thirds rule, and it is reported that he intends to abide by it. Rumors have been prevalent for the past week that the New York delegation would cast several votes for Mr. Reed and then scatter, each member voting for his choice.

An understanding at present exists to the effect that the New York delegation would go solidly for Mr. Reed until it has been clearly shown that he stands no chance whatever. The rule of casting a complimentary vote now and then will not be observed, but a strong fight will be made in the beginning for Mr. Reed.

PRIVATE DALZELL'S LATEST.

He Reminds Congress That 600,000 Families Desire Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The following has been received from Caldwell, Ohio: "Six hundred thousand families, in sickness, poverty and distress, are anxiously looking to Washington for a Christmas gift. Many of them have waited ten or fifteen Christmases for it. There are 600,000 unadjusted claims on file in the Pension office. Congress has promised to break the deadlock and let them fly. It can easily do so by codifying the laws and striking out all the technicalities that hinder and delay the consideration of our long-delayed pensions. Let it cut the red tape and the boys will bless it.

"Every pension means from $100 to $1,000 for some poor soldier's family. What a nice Christmas gift it would be. It would be so nice for Congress to do it, too. Think of it, O! ye statesmen and millionaires of Washington as you sit down to your Thanksgiving turkey. Think of the 600,000 poor families who have no turkey and have nothing for which to give thanks but the hope of the pension that you are to send them for a Christmas gift."

PRIVATE DALZELL.

Caucus of Democratic Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—The Democratic members-elect of the new House of Representatives, now in the city, held a meeting in the Ways and Means Committee room and decided to hold a formal caucus in the House chamber on Friday night next, to nominate a candidate for Speaker and other officers of the House.

Engineer Killed and Several Men Injured.

MASSILLON, O., Nov. 26.—Coal train No. 30 and the work train on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad collided at Flushing. Engineer A. H. Meyers, of the coal train, was killed. Jerry Page, conductor, and Charles Beesie, engineer of the work train, were seriously injured, as were also several trainmen.

Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 26.—George H. Williams, colored, aged 20 years, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. He was charged with killing Walter E. Wright, a white boy, about 18 years of age.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—Voters must register today, if they expect to vote on election day.

—Classes in mechanical drawing will meet at the Y. M. C. A., to-night.

—The Commissioners of Appeal are in session in the Council Chamber this afternoon.

—Both the Republican and Democratic City Conventions will be held on Saturday evening.

—At Mosher's Crescent Parlor, he is offering some of the best cigars in the city. Try them.

—The first ward primary last evening, was the most exciting of any that has ever taken place in the ward.

—Benbrook & Co, butchers, at Dunellen, have sold their meat market to Taylor Bros, of Jersey City.

—Thursday being a legal holiday the post office will close at ten o'clock, and remain closed for the balance of the day.

—Joseph. T. Sullivan of this city has pleaded not guilty to the indictment found against him for assault. His trial will take place on Friday.

—The Second, Third and Fourth ward Republican primaries will be held this evening, and the Democratic primaries will take place to-morrow evening.

—One of the hind wheels of Mr. J. T. Vail's carriage came off on West Fourth street, yesterday afternoon, but none of the occupants of the vehicle were injured.

—The "Y's" will hold a home-made cake and candy sale, at their rooms, corner of North avenue and Peace street, on Wednesday afternoon from two until six o'clock.

—Manager Sliter of the District Messenger office, is desirous of knowing why it is that a certain butcher's wife in this city wants him to secure her a dozen or more felines.

—Iced cream in bricks for Thanksgiving, may be ordered now at Tier's. The best of Orange county cream used exclusively. Delivered in all-sized bricks, anywhere in the country.

—Yesterday was one of the meanest days of the season. The cold, rain storm which set in during Sunday night continued throughout the day, and made things very unpleasant.

—It is reported that there was an uprising among the Italians who are quartered near Scotch Plains, this morning The men have been working on the county roads, but the recent wet weather has thrown them out of work, and they are without funds.

—Justice Nash this afternoon rendered judgment in the action on contract case brought by Woolston & Buckle, vs. Wm. G Anderson, awarding to the plaintiff $135.17 the full amount claimed, and $3 costs. Mr. W. K. McClure appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. C. A. Marsh represented the defence.

—The regular meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held on Friday evening of this week instead of Thursday evening. It is requested that all the members who can be present, as there are several members-elect to be initiated into the order and other attractions will be had during the evening

—The two companies — Christie's Humpty Dumpty, and the Madison Square Theatre Private Secretary—which are to appear at Music Hall on Thursday next, Thanksgiving, will also play at Elizabeth the same day, as such arrangements have been made between Managers Craig A. Marsh and A. H. Simonds.

—The Central Railroad has done away with its system of running its coal trains on schedule time. Every train now leaves Mauch Chuch "extra," and the train despatchers have orders to rush them through as fast as they can, after they are made up, in the intervals between passenger trains. The empty trains also go back as "extras," and in this way the company handles many more trains a day than formerly.

To unfortunate chronic coughers we recommend the timely use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cents.

—Few men have the moral courage to be seen buying peanuts on a crowded thoroughfare.

When, from any cause, the digestive and secretory organs become disordered, they may be stimulated to healthy action by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills are prescribed by the best physicians, and are for sale at all the drug stores.

PLAINFIELD LOSES AGAIN.

The "Mondays" of Westfield Get There With Both Feet.

The sixth game in the league contest for the championship of Union county, was rolled on the Westfield alleys, last evening, between the Monday Club of that place and the Crescent League team of this city. The usual result followed—the defeat of the Plainfielders. Mr. Chas. MacQueid was umpire, and Messrs Reese and H. Teel, scorers,

Westfield led from start to finish, yet Plainfield had many opportunities to pull itself out of the hole it was in. These tournament bowls are the first match games the Crescent League team were ever in, and their lack of experience and team practice grows more evident. The score was as follows:

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Rev. W. R. Richards preached at Princeton, last Sunday.

The friends of Mr. Jeremiah Compton are urging him to run for the Democratic nomination for Councilman in the Fourth Ward.

Mr. Charles C. Davis, formerly of the firm of Talman & Davis, and now of Bridgeton, N. J., is visiting friends in this city.

A young son of Mr. Chas. Seible of North Plainfield fell down a flight of stairs on Saturday and broke an arm. Dr. Boone attended to the injury.

Mr. J. W. Handren and family who have a country seat at Dunellen, are now at their city home for the Winter, 192 Washington Park, Brooklyn.

A young son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stephens, of Warren street, North Plainfield, yesterday afternoon. Mother and child are doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Matilda Duryea left in THE PRESS office today, five dollars for Mrs. Forrester, whose sad case was told of in Saturday's issue, and three dollars for a Thanksgiving dinner for Willie Hamilton.

The Kitchen-Garden entertainment which was to have been given to-night in W. C. T. U., 73. W. Front St. has been postponed on account of meetings in Music Hall under direction of Mr. P. A. Burdick. Notice of date of entertainment will be given.

A Horse Killed in a Collision.

A collision occurred on Peace street near the railroad bridge, about half-past five o'clock, last evening, which resulted in the killing of Dr. T. S. Davis' handsome carriage horse. At that time the doctor and a hired boy drove under the bridge, and about the same time Mr. M. A. Moore, who was driving a spirited horse, turned into Peace street from North avenue. The two horses came up neck to neck, and in trying to prevent a collision the shaft on Mr. Moore's wagon penetrated the flesh on the doctor's horse, inflicting an ugly looking wound on the left side. Dr. Voorhees, the veterinary sergeon, dressed the wound, but the horse died this morning.

Just who is responsible for the accident they are not prepared to state. The doctor claims that he was on the right side of the road, and Mr. Moore claims that the horse he was driving became unmanageable. Dr. Davis had become so attached to his horse that he would not have parted with the animal for $1,000.

Thanksgiving Services.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service in Dr. Ketcham's church, at 10:30 A. M., next Thursday. The Rev. C. B. Mitchell will preach the sermon, and a collection will be taken up for the benefit of the Relief Association.

Because of the taking out of the church wall, the Crescent Avenue Presbyterians will join with the Congregationalists and Park Avenue Baptists in the latter's church, Thanksgiving morning, and the Rev. A. R. Dilts will preach.

Changes in Real Estate.

Manager Moore of the Electric Light company has traded with Mr. W. J. Penoyer of Orange county, N. Y., a farm of 58 acres, situated near Rahway, for the desirable piece of property on the East corner of Sixth street and Madison avenue, with a frontage of 188 feet on Madison avenue. Mr. Moore will probably reside on his newly acquired property.

MISTAKEN MISTER MOORE.

The Secretary of the Elizabeth Foot Ball Team Says Some Hard Things of Secretary Cox of Plainfield.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ELIZABETH JOURNAL:—The "Dauntless" wish to explain the apparent misunderstanding of the foot ball game on Saturday, on the Maple avenue grounds, and trust the patrons of our base ball, as well as foot ball teams, will be satisfied with our explanation.

We received a special telegram Friday night from Manager Cox of Plainfield, saying that his "team were partly disabled, and it would be impossible for them to come to Elizabeth on Saturday and play." We accordingly notified our team, and the boys all denounced the Plainfielders as "crawlers," and as being afraid of us. But it seems that the telegram was sent to us for a "fake," as they really expected to come, and did come, eleven strong, and on account of the telegram misleading us found a scrub team and beat them easily.

They stated on their arrival that they had sent a second telegram on Saturday morning saying they would come. But that was "another" ——; no second telegram came, and even if one had been sent, it was too late to get word to our players, some of them going off to New York, Bergen Point, etc., for the day.

About four hundred of our friends, among whom were many ladies, assembled on the grounds to see the game as advertised. Of course we did not have a chance to notify the public, hence this explanation.

S. C. MOORE,
Sec'y Dauntless B. B. C.

A PASTOR RESIGNS.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell to Give Up His Charge of the Plainfield Colored Baptists.

At a regular meeting of the Mount Olive Baptist church, held last evening, the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Mitchell, tendered his resignation to take effect the first of next March.

After the regular business of the meeting, the communication was read in which the pastor gave his people three months notice. The discussion of the matter that followed, was with good feeling throughout. A vote upon the acceptance resulted in 33 in the affirmative and 18 in the negative.

Deacons Mansfield Robinson, Edward Maynard and John Reed, certify to the church's acceptance of the resignation. The Mount Olive congregation have no other pastor in view as yet, but Mr. Mitchell will continue to preach to them until March 1890.

Republican Primary.

The Republican voters of the First ward held their primary in the Republican Association room on East Front street, last evening. Mr. J. B. Coward called the meeting to order and he was afterward made chairman. The other election officers were: Secretary, Geo. W. Moore; Judge, Elias H. Bird; Inspector, Dr. O. L. Jenkins; Clerk, N. W. Conway.

The chairman called attention to a false statement published in the news on Saturday, charging the City Republican Executive Committee with making up the slate. The article he denounced as a falsehood. The following nominations were made:

Delegates to the City Convention—Chas. Johnson, J. B. Coward, Jno Chandler, Joseph Flack, E. H. Bird, C. H. Rugg, D. S. Roberts, R. B. York, Geo. Cole and Robert A. Meeker.

For Councilman—S. P. T. Wilbur.
Judge of Election—Robt A. Meeker.
Inspector—Richard E. Coriell.
Clerk—Elias H. Bird.
Justice of the Peace—Lewis Peterson.
Constable—R. B. York.

Members of the City Executive Committee—J. B. Coward, R. A. Meeker and Dr. O. L. Jenkins.

The Executive Committee was authorized to fill all vacancies, and the meeting adjourned at ten o'clock.

Death of Letter Carrier Flaig.

Solomon Flaig, letter carrier No. 1, in the Post Office, died this morning at half-past ten o'clock, at his residence on East Front street, from tumor in the stomach, after an illness of about one month.

Mr. Flaig was appointed a carrier by Postmaster Force, Oct. 1, 1888, and has served diligently up to time when symptoms of his fatal malady made an appearance. This was while he was on his vacation in October last. Mr. Flaig was an efficient official, and had many warm friends on his route, and was highly esteemed among his fellow-carriers. He was born in Germany in 1835, and came to this country in 1854. For many years he was engaged in his vocation of shoe merchant at his late residence. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter.

I was persuaded by a friend to try "Salvation Oil" for neuralgia and headache. I found it a great relief after a few applications. I cheerfully recommend it to all who likewise suffer. G. H. MCGEE.

—A thin coating of ice again formed on shallow water, last evening.

—John Powers, alias "Sailor Jack" and Michael Kelly were jailed last night for drunkenness. This morning Judge Stillman committed the former for five days and the latter for thirty days.

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained unrivaled as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

NEED NORTH PLAINFIELDERS PAY TAXES?

A Rumored Supreme Court Decision That May Hold Boroughs Powerless to Assess and Collect.

A New York paper the other day said that "consternation had been aroused" in the sea-coast boroughs of this State by the decision of the Supreme Court declaring the recent Seaside Borough Act unconstitutional. All the seaside boroughs were reorganized under the act, and the decision wipes out the Government of at least a dozen of them. They are therefore powerless to collect taxes, and the validity of bonds issued by them is in question.

The article goes on to say that the boroughs will probably appeal to the Court of Errors. Beyond this, fears are entertained that the decision may reach other boroughs of the first, second, third and fourth classes in other parts of the State. In that case the decision destroys the Governments of about sixty other towns. Competent South Jersey lawyers say that they do not see how these can escape being affected by the decision.

It was also said that $5,000,000 or more will be lost in the inland boroughs alone. A case to test the constitutionality of the special act under which they are incorporated will come up before the Supreme Court early next year.

A Birthday Celebration.

There was a pleasant gathering at No. 7 Washington street, on Saturday evening, Nov. 23, to celebrate the sixty-sixth birthday of Street Commissioner Angleman.

There were gathered under one roof all the lineal decendents of Mr. Angleman, with one exception, the eldest grandson being located in far away Kansas, preaching the gospel. There were present five children, and nineteen grandchildren, ranging from the wee toddling baby to the young man past his majority. After supper, which was served at seven o'clock, a speech was called for from the host, and the latter responded in a humorous vain, telling his grandchildren that in the year 1823 there was a baby boy born on Pluckamin mountain; of his early days and of his coming to Plainfield in 1841. Mr. Angleman said that although it was a long time ago yet he felt as young as he did then. He told of the many changes that have come to the town since he settled here and in conclusion he admonished the boys to be sure and grow up good, manly, honest temperance boys, and the girls to let it be known that "the lips that touch wine, shall never touch mine."

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. John Angleman and daughter, Mr. William Angleman and mother, Miss Melissa Angleman, Mr. and Mrs. I. Mc Voy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kellar and family, Mrs. Dodge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Giles and family, Mr. and Mrs. Northup, Miss Northup, Mr. and Mrs. McClain, Miss McClain and Mr. Joe Kellar.

After spending a merry evening the guests all dispersed to their homes wishing grandpa many happy returns of his natal day.

Saved by the Doctor's Foresight.

Ex-Councilman Finch's coachman, William, filled the stove in his room over the stable with coal when he laid down to sleep, last night, and left the stove door open. At six o'clock this morning he was found asphyxiated with the deadly gas.

Dr. Endicott was summoned at once and by his foresight saved the man's life. The doctor sent at once to the home of Mr. James Raymond on Central avenue, and borrowed an oxygen apparatus which was applied to the patient who was then about dead. It was some six hours before any satisfactory sign of life was apparent, but the man's life is now assured.

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

For several years past, the Plainfield Relief Association has been enabled, through the generosity of its friends, to give Thanksgiving dinners to a number of poor families, who would otherwise know little of the good cheer of that day. For this purpose contributions of small turkeys, chickens, vegetables, fruit, flour, etc., are earnestly solicited from all who will aid in the good work this year. Such gifts should be sent to the Association Rooms, No. 45 West Second street, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, or early the following morning.

The Music Hall Meeting.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes conducted the devotional exercises at the meeting in Music Hall, last evening, and Councilman Dunham led the singing. Mr. Burdick gave an interesting talk as to who is responsible for the drink habit. He maintained that if the people are anxious and ready to suppress the liquor traffic then prohibition will be successfully carried into effect. The attendance was large.

Found With a Broken Leg.

The Elizabeth Herald of Saturday says: "Yesterday morning a man giving his name as that of John Lanbern, and his home as Plainfield, was found lying on Bridge street, Newark, with his leg broken near the ankle. He was at once removed to St. Barnabas hospital, where the injured member was set. It is not said how he come to break it."

Meeting of the Board of Health.

A regular meeting of the City Board of Health was held in Councilman Dunham's office, last evening, with President Rockfellow in the chair. Several matters of importance to the Board were considered, and the meeting adjourned.

SECOND ONLY TO JOEL PARKER'S.

Abbett's Plurality for Governor Has Been Beaten But Once in New Jersey.

At the Secretary of State's office in Trenton, the returns of the recent election were all ready for inspection by the State Board of Canvassers, which met there to day. Abbett's plurality for Governor is 14,253, the largest ever given except the 14,597 by which Joel Parker was elected in 1867. The following are the pluralities by counties:

GROWING IN GRACE AND NUMBERS.

Over a Quarter of a Million Paying Members in the W. C. T. U.

It has been stated many times that the membership of the W. C. T. U., is on the decrease. With forty reporters present at every session, it does appear strange that so much misrepresentation should find its way into public print.

The official report from the national headquarters states that there were 465 accredited delegates present at the national convention at Chicago—an increase of fifty-three over last year. The basis of representation being one to every 500 paying members. Besides there are 200,000 children enlisted in the Loyal Legion, while there are 12,000,000 children under temperance text book instruction in the public schools. The Rev. Dr. Josiah Strong, author of the famous book, "Our Country," wrote thus of the convention: "At no time in all the year, and at no place in all the land is there so much of the saving power of the nation gathered together as at the annual convention of the W. C. T. U.

Satisfying Their Creditors.

H. Gale and Edward White, the sureties for Christopher A. Bettman in his contract to build a sewer for the city of Bayonne, have settled all outstanding claims for work and intend to complete the contract. His hardware business at Bergen Point has been bought in by his brother, J. Marion Bettman, of North Plainfield, who caused its sale by Sheriff Davis to satisfy a judgment of $3,000 which he held. The place brought $1,300. Bettman has announced his intention to liquidate every dollar of his indebtedness.

Death of Edward B. Porter.

Edward B. Porter, a well-known printer, died at the City Hospital in Newark, on Saturday, of phthisis. He was the son of Daniel Porter, one of the old Newark publishers. The son conducted his father's paper at Somerville after the later's death, but was unsuccessful, and for years had been working at the case. He leaves a widow and several children.

Mr. Porter was well-known in this city. His father was for a long time postmaster at Somerville, and he was succeeded in the office by his daughter.

Injured at Ponds.

Henry Van Middlesworth an employe at the Pond Tool Works, was painfully injured while at work there yesterday. In some unexplained manner a heavy spindle fell on the index finger of the left hand, terribly crushing the finger. The unfortunate man was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the matron dressed the wound.

—An old bachelor remarked this morning that the local matrimonial market is booming. Three marriages in one day, as was the case on last Wednesday.

A two-cent stamp sent to L. W. Noyes, Chicago, will bring you a packge of fine quality blotters. One showing a cunning little cupid dressed only in a traveling cap and grip, is represented as saying: "I am a 'runner' for La Verne W. Noyes, the well-known maker of Dictionary Holders, and am here to point out the fact that a book held with the edge up will become filled with dust, soiled and spoiled unless hugged together with strong springs. The Noyes Holders are the only ones thus closely clasping the book. About 125,000 are now in use, and the later makes are so greatly improved—indeed are so perfect that Mr. Noyes is sad because nothing more is desired or can be done in this direction."

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

STANLEY AND EMIN

How the Latter Was Captured and Released.

FIGHTING FAMINE AND DISEASE

The Awful Dangers Stanley Was Compelled to Face.

The Pasha Had to Be Forced Out of His Jungle—Daily Conflicts With the Wambutti Dwarfs—Soudan's Strange Fascination—The Wave of Insanity in the Country Subsided.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Henry M. Stanley's letter to Mr. Mackinnon, chairman of the Emin Pasha Relief, dated August 5, 1889, after describing his experience at Starvation Camp and the return of the detachment with provisions, continues his narrative of the journey to rescue Emin.

The expedition, refreshed and supplied with provisions, resumed the march to Kavalli, which it reached on January 18, 1889.

There Stanley received a letter from Jephson, whom he had left with Emin Pasha, and learned for the first time of the rebellion against Emin and the conquest of his province by the Mahdists.

Seized by the Rebels.

Jephson wrote that Emin's troops rebelled at the instigation of their officers at Dufile the previous August. Emin and Jephson were seized by the rebels and kept close prisoners. They were taken to Redjaf, which was attacked by 1,500 Mahdists. The rebels fled to Labore, taking Emin and Jepsom with them. Many officers were killed, whereupon the soldiers insisted on the release of Emin.

Jephson intimated that Emin, notwithstanding his adverse fortune, was inclined to remain with his people and fight it out.

Stanley sent back word there must be no hesitation and he declined to wait long.

This brought out the lingerers. Jephson reached Kavalli Feb. 6 and Emin Pasha himself arrived a week later.

Conflicts with Dwarfs.

Here the writer describes daily conflicts with the Wambutti dwarfs, whom he found very numerous in this region. The Wambuttis clung to the northeast route, which Stanley wanted to take. Accordingly, he went southeast and followed elephant tracks. On Dec. 9, the party had to halt for forage in the midst of a vast forest, and 150 rifles were sent back fifteen miles to a settlement. Many Manyema followers undertook to follow them. At the end of five days the men had not returned, and the situation was growing desperate. All the flour had been distributed, and only one goat was left. Two people died, and the Somalis and Soudanese gave signs of a collapse. On the sixth day broth was made of butter and one cupful of flour for 130 people.

Threatened to Carry Emin Away.

Jephson, in his report to Stanley of the condition of Emin's province, says the Pasha was twice imprisoned by his troops. He possessed only a semblance of authority, but hid the desperate state of affairs from others. He was desirous of leaving the country, but could not decide to abandon those dependent upon him, even if they had mutinied against him. Jephson once threatened to carry Emin away, and Emin said he would do nothing to prevent it. All the people praised Emin for his justice and generosity, but said he was not firm enough. Stanley promised to send another letter as soon as possible.

The Wave of Insanity Passed.

Stanley writes that Emin Pasha, on arriving near his camp, sent him a letter saying he had come with two steamers filled with people, and they would go back for others who wished to leave the country. Among the refugees were twelve officers and forty soldiers, who asked for time to bring their brothers from Wadelai. Things had changed now, and Stanley could impose his own conditions. The wave of insanity which passed over the land had subsided, and he could trust the people he brought with him. He hopes Stanley will be able to save all his people who want to be saved.

KING HUMBERT'S SPEECH.

Italy's Ruler Opens the Italian Parliament in Person.

ROME, Nov. 26.—King Humbert opened the Italian Parliament in person. He said that the Government's wise policy had maintained domestic tranquility, which, thanks to the concert of the great Powers, now appeared to be assured. The questions that might arise, however, to disturb peace, were not yet all settled. It was therefore necessary to continue to provide for military and naval protection.

He hoped that it would not be found necessary to use all the armaments that were being prepared.

The Government's policy in Africa was to promote the cause of humanity. Italy would always pursue the work of civilization, from which such great advantage had resulted.

The populace loudly cheered the King on his way to and from the hall of Parliament.

Eighty Women Charged with Poisoning.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—At Gross Beesberck, Hungary, a trial is in progress possessing the most remarkable features of any criminal prosecution of which the country has any record. It is the arraignment of eighty women, each charged with poisoning her husband. Thirty-eight of the victims died, and their respective wives are being tried for murder, while the remaining forty-two are required to answer the charge of attempting to kill.

Arrested for Passing Forged Checks.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—James Wright, aged 40, claiming to belong in New Jersey, was arrested here charged with uttering and passing forged checks upon the Commercial National Bank, signed "A. F. Blossom," Canal street, upon a number of Boston hardware dealers. It is alleged that he has defrauded 23 firms by means of his forged checks, getting all sorts of goods.

Torn to Pieces by a Shaft.

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 26.—While Christian Metzger was oiling a shaft in Lester's Agricultural works he was caught and whirled round the shaft until torn to pieces, his head, arms and legs being severed from the body by coming in contact with the framework of the shafting.

THE DEAD EX-MINISTER.

The Remains of Hon. George H. Pendleton Will Be Taken to Cincinnati.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 26.—The death of ex-Minister to Germany George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, occurred in the Hotel Bellevue, where he had been lying sick for six weeks. His two daughters were present when he died. The funeral services will be held in the Protestant Church to-morrow. The body will remain in the church several days, and will be taken thence to his home in Cincinnati. Mr. Pendleton had been ill for a long time; in fact, he never entirely recovered from the shock received by the accident in Central Park, New York, when his wife was thrown from a carriage and killed. It was reported that Mr. Pendleton was suffering from cancer, but this is denied by relatives.

GEO. H. PENDLETON.

George Hunt Pendleton, the son of Congressman Nathaniel Greene Pendleton, was born in Cincinnati, O., July 25, 1825. He received an academic education, after which he studied law and was admitted to the Ohio Bar. He was elected a State Senator in 1854-5, and afterwards acted as Congressman from 1856 to 1864, having been elected on the Democratic ticket. During each term he served as a member of the Committee on Military Affairs, and in the Thirty-eighth Congress was a member of the Ways and Means Committee, as well as chairman of a special committee on admitting Cabinet officers to the floor of the House. He was the candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic National ticket in 1874, with George B. McClellan. Before his appointment as United States Minister to Germany by President Cleveland, in 1885, he represented Ohio in the United States Senate, and was the principal exponent of civil service reform.

ASSAULTED BY A SWEDE.

Two Women Attacked by a Farm Hand, and a Mysterious Death Follows.

WILTON, Conn., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Dr. Turner and daughter were assaulted by Carl Anderson, a Swede, employed by them on the farm. Anderson, who was intoxicated, seized a chair and attacked both women, the latter being unable to make their escape.

Their screams aroused Mr. Lott, an aged neighbor, who went to their assistance, when Anderson knocked him down and then made his escape. Mr. Lott retired to his room and was afterward found dead in bed with a bottle of laudanum on a chair near the bed. Whether he died from the injuries inflicted by Anderson or from an overdose of laudanum taken to relieve pain is not yet known. The women are quite badly hurt, and vigorous search is making for Anderson.

Gunworks to be Removed.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Lyman C. Smith has sold a controlling interest in the gunworks of L. C. Smith, manufacturer of hammerless guns, to John Hunter and his five sons and Harry Comstock, of Fulton, N. Y., and the works will be moved to Fulton immediately. The new firm will be known as the Hunter & Comstock Arms Co., and will have the largest gun manufacturing plant in the United States.

Protest Against Railroad Discrimination.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Board of Trade and Transportation of this city employed Mr. John D. Kernan, ex-Chairman of the State Railway Commission, as counsel in an effort to compel the trunk lines to desist from alleged unjust discrimination against seaboard importing cities and their commerce.

Iron Manufacturers Assign.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Coldwell, Wilcox & Co., iron manufacturers and contractors, with extensive works on the river front, have made a general assignment to Thomas Coldwell, of the Chadborn and Coldwell Manufacturing Co., for the benefit of their creditors. Liabilities and assets unknown, but it is stated they will be heavy.

Secret Societies Not Considered.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—It is stated, on authority than which there is no higher in this country, that there has been absolutely no action taken by the Hierarchy of the Catholic Church on the question of secret societies, as was reported to have been taken by the Bishops during the centennial celebration.

The Bogus Diploma Man Released.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 29.—Dr. J. F. Bradbury, the bogus diploma man, who was sentenced to pay $350 in fines, and in default was committed to jail in October, was released under the Federal statute providing for release in such cases where the prisoner has no property.

Trial of Murderer Hodge.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The trial of Harvey Hodge, the Cambridge wife murderer, begins at Sandy Hill this week. The defense will be insanity. Hodge mutters to himself and claims to see visions, but it is believed that he is feigning.

The Driggs-Schroder Cannon Sold.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—English capitalist have purchased for $600,000 the rapid firing cannon invented by Lieuts. Schroder and Driggs, of the United States Navy, the former commander of the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius.

Minister Loring Will Not Resign.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 25.—Geo. B. Loring has written to a gentleman here saying that the statement published in New York, that he intends to resign his position as Minister to Portugal was a great surprise, as he has never intended that he should resign.

Flynn's Death Was Accidental.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The coroner's jury exonerated Siegfried May from blame for the death of Martin Flynn. It was shown that May stabbed Flynn in the eye with an umbrella accidentally while defending himself from an attack by Flynn, who was drunk.

North Dakota's Second Senator.

BISMARCK, N. Dak., Nov. 26.—The House and Senate, in joint session, elected L. R. Casey, of Jamestown, the second Senator for North Dakota. On the last ballot he received 51 votes, and his election was then made unanimous.

KASKINE, (THE NEW QUININE.)

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC.
A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœia.—J. D. Hird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

ESTABLISHED May 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1889. PRICE, TWO CENTS

Something New To day.

This has been a big Umbrella year with us, and we have sold some good ones, but the best for the money is the one we offer now—a 26in. Silk and Linen, Oxidized Handle, color warranted, price $1 25.

We have one case of 36in. Worsted Checks and Stripes—goods made to sell at 25c—our price 16c.

Don't you want a new set of Knives for Thanksgiving? We are offering a 12oz silverplated knife, Rogers' make, at $4 50 per doz., slightly imperfect they are. Regular price, $9.00 per doz.

How the Writing Paper does go! Three qualities there are—one at 10c., one at 14c. per box, and a special box of 48 sheets of paper and 48 envelopes at 25c—is the best value ever offered.

Pure Vaseline, 7c per bottle.

Our Cloak and Jacket Department is booming. Everything is new and our garments are perfect-fitting and cut in the latest styles—our prices we guarantee lower than all others. There are all sizes in Ladies' Jackets and Newmarkets and Children's Newmarkets, and Plush Coats for the little ones.

Do you know that we can save you money on Underwear, as well as everything else? Every one claims to sell the best 50c Ladies' Vest—we will sell you one, that we guarantee better than any of them, at 44c: and one Gentleman's Shirt at 50c, is worth 65c. In Children's, we have all sizes and qualities.

When in the store, don't miss going through our House Furnishing Department; you will find many things that housekeepers want, and our prices are lower than regular dealers.

☞We deliver goods everywhere free of charge.

LYNN'S GREAT FIRE

The Business Portion of the City in Ashes.

THE LOSS NEARLY $10,000,000.

The People Panic-Stricken and Hundreds of Them Homeless in the Streets.

Nearly Three Hundred Buildings Destroyed in Eight Hours—Dynamite Used to Arrest the Progress of the Flames—Help Summoned from Boston and Surrounding Towns—No Lives Lost.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 27.—Lynn, the City of Shoes, was yesterday afternoon visited by the greatest fire in its history, and, with but two exceptions, the most disastrous which has ever visited New England. The exceptions are the great Boston fire of 1872, which destroyed between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000 worth of property, and the Portland fire, which caused a loss of between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000.

The fire here raged over eight hours and devasted a square mile of the business section, and caused a loss estimated at $10,000,000. In fact, the greater part of Ward 4 is wiped out as regards the important shoe manufacturing blocks and prominent places of business.

The Fire Department Powerless.

The fire started in Mower's wooden building, over the boiler, and spread with such rapidity that the excellent fire department of the city was powerless to cope with it. The large wooden building was soon doomed, and the flames leaped across the narrow passageway and communicated with the six-story brick block known as Mower's Block. When these two buildings got well under way it was evident a terrible conflagration would result. Almost simultaneously the four-story wooden shoe factory of Bennett & Barnard on Central avenue, and the four-story wooden building on Almont street took fire, and when under way, a hurricane of flame was in progress which blanched the cheeks of all who were looking on. For eight hours the flames had full sway, the efforts of firemen and citizens seemingly being of no avail.

The Burned Territory.

The burned territory is bounded by the following named streets: Central avenue, at its junction with William street, Union street from its junction with Broad to the Boyden block on both sides, Mt. Vernon street entire, Central Square entire, Beach street on both sides as far down as Lee's lumber yard, Washington street from Monroe through to Union, Railroad Avenue, all of Exchange street, Broad street from the engine house on both sides up as far as the corner of Exchange, Spring street entire, besides dwelling houses too numerous to mention on Suffolk, Amity, Sagamore and Beach streets.

Aid arrived from Boston, Salem, Marblehead and other surrounding towns, but their united efforts seemed to have little effect on the hurricane of flame.

Harrowing Scenes.

Scenes familiar in the great Boston and Chicago fires were repeated in all their horrors. Mothers fleeing with babes in their arms, express wagons loading at business and dwelling houses and transferring goods to places of safety, in many cases a second removal being necessary, and the utmost alarm prevailing.

The excitement increased and became a panic as it became realized that a conflagration threatening the entire business quarter was in progress. After the fire had been burning two hours everybody agreed that it would not stop until it had reached the ocean, and this proved to be the case.

Business Places Destroyed.

Four daily newspapers are burned out—the "Item," "Bee," "Press," and "News," three afternoon and one morning. Three National banks, the Central, Security and First National, together with the Lynn Institution for Savings, located in the First National block, are all wiped out. Twelve of the finest shoe blocks in the city are in ruins, and about twenty-five stores. The houses destroyed were mostly those occupied by poor people in the vicinity of Beach street and the wharves. It is impossible, as yet, to estimate the insurance, but conservative estimates place the loss on property at $10,000,000.

There were many narrow escapes from serious injuries, but no fatalities are reported. The high brick fire wall on the B. F. Spinney block served as a barrier to the further progress of the flames up Union street after that handsome structure had been gutted.

The Central Congregational Church burned to the ground between 6 and 7 o'clock. The First Methodist and First Universalist Churches and several school houses have been thrown open to accommodate burned-out families. Mayor Newhall has called a special meeting of the Aldermen to take action and choose relief committees.

Blowing Up Buildings.

Dynamite and powder were used at frequent intervals to blow up wooden building, but with little effect. The fire virtually burned itself out, and at 7:30 was considered under control. Both companies of the Massachusetts militia located in Lynn were called out and put on patrol duty.

Several of the shoe manufacturers burned out have country factories and will transfer their business there for the present.

Thieves came in from Boston and other places in large numbers, and the amount of stealing was large.

A house was blown up by powder on the corner of Broad and Exchange streets, shattering window glass in all directions.

A hopeful feeling prevails, and there is no question but that the public-spirited citizens and shoe manufacturers will soon rally from the terrible catastrophe.

The Lynn firemen had neither the experience nor the equipments to fight such a big fire successfully. The populace was well behaved. Mayor Newhall ordered all saloons to be closed at 4 p. m.; and ordered out a company of militia to keep the crowds away from the burning district. Mayor Newhall reports that 200 people are homeless and calls for aid.

Boston Will Send Help.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Mayor Hart has called a citizens' meeting, to be held this afternoon, to take action in connection with the Lynn conflagration.

TRADE UNION VICTORY.

The Hatfinishers' Association Force the Surrender of a Big Firm.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 27.—The quarrel between McGall Brothers and the Orange Hatfinisher's Association has been settled by the surrender of the firm, which is one of the largest in the hat making industry. The quarrel has been of long standing, and the Hatfinisher's Association determined to risk all its money in the contest. One hundred workmen employed by McGall Brothers belonging to the rival Independent Union of Hatfinishers were induced by money and promises to join the association and desert their employers. The firm of Berg & Co. became involved in the difficulty.

McGall Brothers made a strenuous effort to find independent men in New York and Connecticut. Hat manufacturers everywhere became interested in the contest, and it was believed the firm would win. The firm held a conference with the officers of the association and decided to yield. The association men agreed to accept the bill of wages now current in the factory and to allow it to remain undisturbed throughout the season. By this action the factory becomes an association shop and the association gains an important victory over the Independent Union.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

One Man Killed and Several Injured at Duquesne, Pa.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—The explosion in the Allegheny Bessemer Steel Company's works at Duquesne was caused by the failure of Fireman Cooper to turn off the gas from under the boilers after the pump that supplied the boilers with water had refused to work. The pump stopped working fully an hour before the explosion occurred with terrific force.

Superintendent Marshall was instantly killed, Robert Worth and fireman Cooper were fatally injured, and John Pritchard badly burned.

Several workmen in the converting department were more or less burned by the upsetting of a huge ladle of molten steel, caused by the force of the explosion. The building is almost a complete wreck.

BIG ROBBERY.

Masked Men Hold Up a Train and Secure About $20,000.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 27.—United States Marshals are in pursuit of the fifteen masked and heavily armed men who boarded the southbound Santa Fe passenger train at Berwyn, a small station in the Chickasaw Nation, Indian Territory, and cut the engine, mail and express cars loose from the coaches. The money stolen is between $10,000 and $20,000 and came principally from Chicago.

The robbers ran the train two miles and threw the fireman off the locomotive. Two miles further on the engineer was thrown off, and after running four miles further the steam was turned off and the locomotive "killed."

The robbers then began an attack on the express car. The guard and messenger fired twenty shots, but finally gave in, after the robbers had literally riddled the car.

New Jersey's Catholic Benevolent Legion.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 27.—The State Convention of the Catholic Benevolent Legion is in session in this city. The secretary's report showed that there are now fifty-two councils, with a membership of 4,000, in the State. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, A. V. Harding, of New Brunswick; Vice-President, John Gheogan, of Newark; Secretary and Treasurer, James Mattis, of Newark.

British Capital to Control Print Works.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 27.—A rumor has been current in dry goods circles for some days to the effect that a consolidation of print works was on the tapis, which will embrace the Manchester, at Manchester, N. H., the Pacific, at Lawrence and the Indian Orchard, Mass. mill, the consolidated interests to be controlled by British capital.

Signing League Players.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 27.—H. G. Smith, the new manager of the Pittsburg League Club, is in this city and has secured the signature of Pitcher W. Sowders to a contract. He says he has signed 17 other men, but Sowders is the only man of the old players. He thinks, however, that he will secure Sunday, Beckley and Staley.

Lives Lost by a Gas Explosion.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 27.—The two-story brick dwelling of Scott Hawthorne was blown to atoms by an explosion of natural gas yesterday. Two children were killed and Hawthorne, his wife and father were terribly, and probably fatally, injured. The explosion was heard all over the city.

Decided Against Ex-Senator Platt.

ALBANY, Nov. 27.—In one of the cases decided against Thomas C. Platt by the Court of Appeals, it is held that he unlawfully continues in the office of Quarantine Commissioner, and in the other that the United States Express Company must pay the State $3,000 for taxes on its capital stock.

THE FIRST BALLOT

Reed's Managers Produce Figures for the Speakership.

ALL DEPENDS ON THE UNIT RULE

McKinley's Friends Say It Cannot Hold in Pennsylvania.

Western Men Say the Fight Means a Solid West and South for a Western Man—New Yorkers to Hold a Caucus—Serious Illness of Ex-Speaker Randall—Efforts Made to Keep His Sickness from the Public.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The arrival of a number of New York Republican members of the House has materially aided Mr. Reed's canvass. For a week or more all sorts of rumors have been current concerning the situation among the New York members, and there have been numerous statements to the effect that one or the other of the nineteen would not stand by the agreement of Feb. 28.

Yesterday Congressmen Farquhar, Laidlaw and Wallace announced positively that the agreement would hold, and that every member of the delegation was expected to live up to it. Each gentleman expressed his personal preference for Reed, and said that two-thirds of the nineteen members would be necessary to determine who should have the support of the entire delegation.

Last night Mr. Belden, chairman of the New York caucus, arrived in company with Mr. Sherman. He had been in his hotel but a moment when Messrs. Sawyer, Payne, Farquhar and Quackenbush entered. There was some little consultation among these gentlemen, and it was decided informally to await the arrival of the others, who will all be here to-day, before determining when the meeting shall be held.

It is probable, however, that this meeting will be called for to-morrow. There is not the slightest doubt that every member of the New York contingent now in the city is a firm Reed man, and as there are nine of them here it seems certain that the necessary two-thirds will fight for Reed at the meeting, and that this will secure the practically unanimous indorsement of all the Republican members from New York.

On the other hand, the Western candidates do not seem in the least disturbed over the action of the New York delegation. Mr. McKinley's friends even say that the talk is premature, because a majority of the New York delegation has not arrived yet, and a decision before they all get together was impossible.

As to Pennsylvania, the Ohio candidate's supporters claim that the unit rule cannot hold in that State, for even to-day that gentleman has received letters and dispatches from his friends in Pennsylvania saying they will remain firm to him and vote for him. "Let the unit rule carry in New York and Pennsylvania," says the Western men to-day, "and it means a solid West and South for one of the Western men. Reed can never get the votes from these sections necessary to elect him."

Here are Mr. Reed's confidential figures on the first ballot, as prepared by one of his trusted lieutenants.

The solid New England States	32
New York	17
Pennsylvania	17
New Jersey	8
California	3
Kansas	3
Nebraska	2
Minnesota	2
Wisconsin	4
Montana	1
Total	74

The Republican Southern members held a conference to determine upon a joint candidate for Speaker. The general impression is that the Southerners declined to vote for Mr. Reed.

Congressman Wade, of Missouri, was originally esteemed a Cannon man, but when accused of having gone into the Reed ranks, he did not deny the impeachment.

Ex-Speaker Randall Seriously Ill.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The family of ex-Speaker Randall entertain grave fears that it will be impossible for him to take part in the deliberations of the session of Congress at all. His son admits that efforts have been made to keep from the public the true condition of the former leader of the Democrats, but these efforts are now useless, he says, as his father's condition is so serious that it would be impossible to conceal it successfully.

Judge Seney Will Oppose Brice.

TIFFIN, O., Nov. 27.—Strong pressure has been brought to bear on Judge Seney by prominent Democrats of Ohio to be a candidate for United States Senator. Yesterday he stated that relying upon the voluntary assurance given him that he would have a strong support in the Democratic caucus he had concluded to be a candidate and is now in the field and would remain there to the end of the contest.

Three Persons Killed on the Tracks.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Sarah Gilbert, aged 10 years, was run over by a street car and instantly killed. The girl was being chased by playmates and she ran directly in front of the horses, and before the car could be stopped the wheel crushed her skull. Phillip Biehl, while walking on the Central track, was struck by an engine and killed. The same engine also struck and instantly killed Charles Yaring.

Opposed to Free Trade.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27.—At a called meeting of the Ohio Wool Growers' Association an address was prepared to the wool growers of the United States, urging the necessity of unity in order to avert the peril of free trade or free wool, with which they are menaced.

Grand Ball and Target Excursion.

Don't forget the first grand ball, under the auspices of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social clubs, at The Crescent rink, this evening. The music will be furnished by Prof. Boswald, of New York, and the committee will do all in their power for the enjoyment of all who favor them with their presence. Grand march at 9 o'clock.

To-morrow these clubs will go to Summit on their first annual target excursion. They will leave this city about half-past nine o'clock by stages. Before leaving they will have a short street parade preceded by the Bound Brook Cornet Band. After the shooting contest and dinner at McGrath's Spring Lake Hotel, they will be the guests of the Summit Lyceum of the former place.

A Shorthand Conference.

On Saturday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock, those who have signified a desire to join a class in shorthand, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, together with all who may be interested in the subject, are requested to meet at the Association rooms.

PLAINFIELD'S CHORAL SOCIETY.

The Grand Concert That Will Open Its Season.

It is understood that the Choral Society is making arrangements to give its first concert the latter part of the coming month. Besides the usual part songs, the Society will render as the feature of the evening as told exclusively in THE PRESS of some day's ago, Gaul's "Holy City" a work that, judging from the interest the members take in it will be greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Four Soloists from New York will be engaged to take the necessary solo parts and assist in making the concert a success. In this connection we desire to say that we doubt if those of our community who love good music fully realize the excellent work this body of vocalists is doing. The membership is much larger than in previous years and by the increase of male voices, and the better balancing of parts, the members are sure to exceed their former efforts. We believe the supporters of the Society will not only be pleased but surprised at the efficiency of the chorus. Many residents who have come to this city since the Vocal Society suspended its concerts which for so many years delighted all who attended them, may not be aware that they have the opportunity of enjoying as finely rendered music, and as carefully a prepared programme as they would by attending similar concerts given by any of the several Societies in New York, where such entertainments are considered a rare treat, and which are attended by fashionable and critical audiences. The concerts are of the same character, are conducted in the same manner, and as first-class soloists appear at each concert, the Society is not dependent altogether on local talent to be successful, as the members are ably seconded by the efforts of the soloists, thereby giving a pleasing variety to the programme.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST SOCIABLE.

A Thanksgiving Entertainment Follows a New England Supper.

The Seventh Day Baptists held another of their novel and enjoyable sociables, in the Sabbath School rooms, last evening. Mrs. Joseph G. Miller was in charge of the success, and Miss Grace Lewis and Miss Mabel Potter, assisted.

There was a bountiful supper of New England style to open the evening's entertainment, whereat everyone partook heartily of the pork and baked beans, pumpkin pie, and other old-fashioned delicacies provided. The programme that followed included instrumental music by Mr. A. L. Titsworth, and vocal solos by Mr. Robert Gorton. A charade in five acts, "Thanksgiving Turkey," was the source of much amusement, and the syllables were portrayed with much originality. There was a large party of the church people and their friends present.

The Late Solomon Flaig.

By the death of the late Solomon Flaig, which occurred yesterday, the city loses an influential citizen and the members of the grief stricken family are bereft of a kind and loving husband and father.

Mr. Flaig was for three years a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners and for fifteen years he was a valued member of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company. He was one of the charter members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein, and a member of the Fireman's Relief Association. He was also at one time a member of the County Democratic Executive Committee. The funeral will take place from the First Presbyterian church on Friday at 1:30 P. M.

The Post Office clerks and carriers met yesterday and adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God to remove from our midst our fellow-associate and friend, Solomon Flaig,

Resolved, That in the death of Solomon Flaig we feel that we have lost a valued friend and companion; and while bowing to the will of an inscrutable Providence, desire to express our unfeigned sorrow at the sudden demise of our fellow-carrier and associate.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathies to his bereaved family in this their hour of affliction.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. George P. Taggart, of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, has accepted the position of assistant day editor in the National Press company of New York.

Mrs. S. C. Peck, Sr., of Connecticut, is visiting her son, Mr. S. C. Peck, Jr., of West Front street. Recently Mrs. Peck fell on a flight of stairs and broke one of the small bones in her wrist. The broken bone is knitting rapidly.

The marriage of Henry S. Craft, of this city, and Miss Carrie Fussell, of New York, will take place at the home of the bride, 38 East 28th street, Wednesday evening of next week. Miss Fussell is the daughter of Mr. J. Fussell, the renowned iced cream maker.

Mrs. L. B. Boice and son, E. C. Boice of North Plainfield, arrived in Los Angeles, California, today, where they will spend the Winter in the interest of benefitting the son's health. Letters received from Mrs. Boice, while en route, state that the young man's health has improved.

The Commissioners of Appeal, Manning Vermeule, Jeremiah Manning and J. F. MacDonald, with Assessor Hubbard, were in session until late last evening, listening to the complaints of those who considered themselves overtaxed. A number of slight reductions were allowed.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

Robert Mitchell, T. J. Carey and John Manchester were elected members of the City Executive Committee.

For the Muhlenberg Hospital.

At a recent meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the sum of $500 heretofore appropriated under the laws of 1886 for charity hospitals be appropriated as follows: Seventy per cent. of $350 to the Elizabeth General Hospital and Dispensary of Elizabeth, N. J., and the remaining thirty per cent. of $150 to the Muhlenberg Hospital of Plainfield, N. J., and that the county collector be and is hereby authorized and directed to pay the above named sums to the respective treasurers of said institutions without delay.

Thanksgiving Services.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service in Dr. Ketcham's church, at 10:30 A. M., to-morrow. The Rev. C. B. Mitchell will preach the sermon, and a collection will be taken up for the benefit of the Relief Association.

Because of the taking out of the church wall, the Crescent Avenue Presbyterians will join with the Congregationalists and Park Avenue Baptists in the latter's church, Thanksgiving morning, and the Rev. A. R. Dilts will preach.

Democratic Nominees.

The following candidates will probably be nominated for Councilmen at the Democratic primaries to-night: First ward, W. L. Hetfield; Second ward, L. Spangenberg; Fourth ward, E. D. Moffett. Messrs Tell Beguelin, J. G. Miller and Gen. D. T. VanBuren are spoken of for Councilmen-at-large.

Union Service.

The Union Thanksgiving service, in which the Crescent Avenue, the Congregational and Park Avenue churches will join, will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church to-morrow morning. The service will begin at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Asa Reed Dilts will preach the sermon.

Do not "throw up the sponge." Try the old standard remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

PLAINFIELD YALE CLUB.

Its Prosperity, Influence and Public Spirit.

The members of the Plainfield Yale Club are planning for an elaborate banquet, to be held early this Winter, and promise to treat the college and social World to a most brilliant event.

The club was organized in the Fall of 1887 for the double purpose of arousing in Plainfield an interest in Yale University and of promoting social intercourse among the resident graduates. The membership at the outset numbered thirteen, and this it still continues, one member having resigned owing to a change of residence, and one new member having been elected. The annual meeting for the election of officers is held the first Tuesday of December, and special meetings are called by the President or three other members at such times as seem desirable.

The present officers are as follows: President—Rev. Wm. R. Richards, '75. Secretary and Treasurer—Howard C. Tracy, '87. Executive Committee—Samuel St. J. McCutchen, '70, chairman, J. Frank Raymond, '83, James R. Joy, '85, and ex-officio the Secretary and Treasurer.

Since the foundation of the club an annual banquet has been held during the Christmas vacation, attended by the undergraduate Plainfielders and invited guests representing other colleges. How successful the club has been in arousing local interest in Yale, may be seen in the fact that at its formation there were six undergraduate Plainfielders in the University, while now there are thirteen.

The public spirit of the club has found expression in subscribing to and placing in the Plainfield Public Library various publications, including, of course, The Yale Literary Magazine, and The Yale Record. The membership of the club promises to be materially increased at the business meeting attending the forthcoming banquet, and the future prospects of the club are very bright.

PROGRESSIVE PLAINFIELD'S PRIVILEGES.

Another Source of Attraction That no Other City Could Support.

Editorially the Elizabeth Journal said yesterday: "Roller skating was thought to be long since obsolete, but it seems that the progressive city of Plainfield has a roller skating rink, and announces that some of the old time favorites will appear there on Thanksgiving. So far as heard from Plainfield is the only city in the State that has a big, handsome and almost useless skating rink.

"After the craze subsided it was a grave question how to dispose of these places of amusement. The Temple in this city has become one of the leading theatres in the State; others have been utilized for a variety of purposes, but Plainfield's handsome Crescent remains exactly as it was."

Sunday School Entertainment at Evona.

The entertainment given by the Union Sabbath school of Evona, last evening, was a perfect success in every particular. The programme was as follows:

Piano solo; doll drill by 18 little girls, concluding with a recitation by Hattie Randall; a recitation from Bertha Brown; song by 4 little girls, accompanied on the piano by Mary Saums; piano solo; tableaux of the 10 Virgins; declaration by Eddie Randolph; "see-saw" by Bertha Brown and Stephen Haff; dialogue by Miss Katrina Haff and Master Fred Sutton; song by Sadie Eliott, a child under 5 years old, which was beautifully rendered; tableaux, "Day Driven by Night" which was very fine—Miss King personating "Day," and Miss E. Haff "night." The piano solos by Mrs. Carpenter, of Dunellen, were beautifully given and appreciated by all.

Charity Without Ostentation.

A PRESS reporter noticed among the deliveries today, fifty pounds of chicken from Mrs, Louisa Closson to the Relief Association; turkeys from Col. Wm. H. Sterling to the Children's Home and Muhlenberg Hospital; chickens from Mr. H. G. Runkle to the Relief Association, and turkeys to all the men in his gas house; and two twenty-two pounds turkeys from Andrew J. Carney to Muhlenberg Hospital and the Children's Home.

A Word to Business Men.

Careless business men, if we have any such should read with profit the following decision recently given by the United States Supreme Court: "When the drawer has drawn his check in such a careless and incomplete manner that a material alteration may be readily accomplished without leaving a perceptible mark or giving the instrument a suspicious appearance, he himself prepares the way for fraud, and, if committed, he, and not the bank, should suffer."

In Favor of the Workingman.

We see by our exchanges that butchers in various towns of our neighboring counties, as well as our own, have cut prices on meat, and the plan has met with general satisfaction to both the butchers and the public from the fact that more meat is sold. This necessity of the hard working man has been too high in the past and there is now no good reason why consumers should pay exhorbitant prices.

ARGUING AGAINST ASSESSMENTS.

School Trustee Day Shows Many Discrepancies in the Work of Piscataway Township's Assessor.

Messrs Manning, Runyon and Storms, Commissioners of Appeal, Township of Piscataway:

GENTLEMEN: I desire to place on record a protest against the advance of 12½ per cent. in the assessment on the property of M. I. Day. There have been no improvements made during the last year and no advance in values of real estate from any cause has taken place. If the assessment is just now it has been unjust for the past seven or eight years, and it should not take an officer that period to discover it. While this property has been advanced 12½ per cent., the property of Nelson Dunn has been reduced 10 per cent without any apparent cause of depreciation whatever.

Upon glancing at the assessment list of School District No. 3, I am convinced that a great discrepancy in valuations exist; a few examples will be sufficient for me to quote in order to direct your attention specifically:

Parsons	$5,500
A. B. Smith	3,600
Hallett	2,900
Thorn	700
Balch	1,800
Dryden	5,000
Blackford	3,000
Sharp	700
Smalley	1,000
M. L. I. Co	6,250

Take the Dryden property, which has been improved and embellished with lavish expenditure; would anyone doubt that it would readily sell for double the amount of the Parsons property, which is assessed $500 higher?

Take Sharp's $700 on property, which has lately sold for $1,350, and we find a basis of about 50 per cent. on value; and then compare Thorn's $700 or Smalley's $1,000—the latter property would not bring that amount today.

In land I only quote two examples: Balch's 30 acres at $60 per acre; and then take the M. L. I. Co., $6,250 on the Mahlon Vail estate of over 140 acres, which cannot be bought for less than $100 per acre, and you will find an assessment of less than $45 per acre, for land admirably situated for improvement, with large frontages on Washington avenue and 7th street, or Union avenue, and having an intrinsic value not attached to ordinary farming land.

If such glaring inequalities of taxation exists in this School District, it naturally induces to the belief that similar inaccuracies exist throughout the township, and leads one to believe a monstrous wrong and injustice is being perpetrated upon the taxpayers through a want of equalization.

It becomes your duty to correct this evil as far as your judgment may dictate, but becomes a question whether the entire assessment roll should not be submitted to a higher court to pass judgment upon. This might lead to serious inconvenience, but, in the event of your taking no action, such a course would suggest itself as a public duty.

Again, I find that exemptions are made on real estate for personal debts due outside of the District and upon which no taxes are collected. Now as it is the rule not even to deduct mortgages unless the tax on the mortgage can be collected, I do not believe this deduction of personal debts off real estate is legal, unless the tax can be collected on that personal property in this District.

In any event it is certainly desirable that the taxpayers should be made acquainted with a system which exonerates a number from paying a fair share of the existing heavy rate of taxation, at the expense of their neighbors, in order that a remedy may be in the future applied, even at the ballot box, if necessary.

The Township this year has been assessed at an increased valuation of $56,000; whilst New Brunswick, whose assessment has been notoriously low for years, was reduced $300,000. Her tax rate, I am told, is $40 on the $1,000, which suggests that her assessment is less than 50 per cent. of equal value placed on property in this Township. The natural inference and conclusion must be that Piscataway pays a much larger share of the State and County tax in proportion to actual values; and it is to the want of a just and equitable assessment that this deplorable state of affairs can be traced. At all events a system that assesses one citizen at 100 cents on the dollar and another at 50 cents, cannot be exposed too soon. You will, therefore, receive and accept this communication as an "open letter."

Yours faithfully,
STANLEY DAY.

Progress.

Ninety years ago there were accommodations for only fourteen travelers each day between here and New York. About that many thousand can now be accommodated.

Another of those nice blotters of which we have already made mention shows a winged cherub carrying a Dictionary Holder under one arm and saying: "I am making a flying trip in the interest of education. The basis of education is the dictionary, and the base of the dictionary should be a Noyes Holder. The valued unabridged is of little value unless it is getatable (look this word up). A book held edge up gets full of dust, soiled and spoiled unless hugged together with strong springs. Only the Holders manufactured by LaVerne W. Noyes, the originator and inventor of Book Holders, have such springs." Send to him, at Chicago, a two-cent stamp to pay postage and receive in return this series of blotters.

A STATE POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

All Interested Invited to Meet at Trenton and Form a Mutual Chicken Improvement Organization.

At a meeting of poultrymen, held at Trenton, N. J., Nov. 13, 1889, in response to a circular issued by Mr. J. H. Baldwin, of Orange, Secretary of the New Jersey State Poultry Society, for the purpose of forming a State Poultry Association, to unite the fanciers of the State of New Jersey in one strong, effective body, Mr. T. W. Hill, of Jamesburg, was elected temporary President, and Mr. J. H. Baldwin, of Orange, temporary Secretary.

It was resolved that a committee of invitation be appointed to invite all County Boards of Agriculture and all local Poultry Associations, to send delegates to a convention to be held at the State Street House, Trenton, on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 10:30 A. M., for the purpose of forming a State Poultry Association. A committee was also appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws to present to the meeting on the above date.

The organization of this Association is at the request of the State Board of Agriculture, and it is hoped that all who are interested will attend. Among the objects of the Association are the following: To improve, by any and all proper means, the poultry industry; to work in unison with the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture, and the Poultry Associations already formed; to furnish lecturers who will attend the meetings of the County Boards of Agriculture, or Farmers' Institutes; to co-operate with the State Experiment Station, if necessary, in conducting experiments in poultry raising; to recommend to the County Associations throughout the State competent men to pass judgment upon their poultry exhibits; and, in future, if advisable, to hold one or more exhibitions, in places to be decided upon by the Board of Directors.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

THE PUREST AND BEST

Is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour as a preservative, nothing else whatever, and is warranted entirely free from alum, ammonia, phosphates, lime, and all the adulterants frequently found in baking powders. The character of materials used, their purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, chemists of Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

Sold only in cans, full weight.

VERY WEAK ALIBIS

Rebuttal Testimony that Injured the Cronin Suspects.

THE STATE RESTS ITS CASE.

The Illness of a Juror Child Causes an Adjournment.

One or Two Witnesses for Sur-Rebuttal Will Close the Great Case—The Closing Speeches Will be Commenced on Friday —Evidence Against Burke that Made the Suspect Turn Pale.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The Cronin trial has been adjourned until Friday morning. The long recess was caused by the serious illness of Juror North's child, and everybody interested agreed that the juror might visit his home.

Before adjourning, the prosecution offered rebuttal testimony that probably knocked out completely all the alibis of the defendants. Beggs' claim that he was at the Grand Pacific Hotel May 4 was demolished by Bailey Dawson and Col. A. C. Babcock, prominent politicians, who placed the occurrences told of by Beggs' witnesses just one week later. Saloonkeeper Nieman then swore that O'Sullivan and the Hylands were not in his saloon May 5, and the lineman's alibi fell to the ground.

Burke's hope consisted of the sworn story that he was in Danahy's saloon all evening on May 4, with William Coughlin and O'Malley, but Simon Olsen, a liveryman, and Frederick Swanson, his driver, swore positively that Coughlin and O'Malley were on the West Side all night, having been driven about the city by the witness.

This rap made Burke turn pale, as if realizing that his only bulwark had given away. Minnehan had testified on behalf of O'Sullivan that he had called for the iceman's business cards at Printer Stanton's shop, but the latter and his foreman, Harry McMahon, swore nobody ever received any of O'Sullivan's cards except the iceman himself.

After the jury retired a long consultation was held in reference to the closing speeches, and the details will be arranged by Friday. The defense announced one or two witnesses for surrebuttal, which will close the case so far as evidence is concerned.

ALIVE BUT INSANE.

Representing a Young Man Dead to Get His Insurance Money.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Geo. Reddington, a young man who went to Kansas three years after marrying an attractive girl of this village, was reported as having died on November 27, 1887.

His mother telegraphed for his remains and was told they had been buried. She wanted them exhumed and was then informed that the grave had been robbed. The young man's partners in a real estate firm applied for the money on a life policy, and were arrested for fraud but escaped. A detective has found Reddington in an asylum, insane from drugs administered at the time of his reported death.

Robbed of $14,000.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 27.—The police are working on a mysterious robbery that took place in the Crystal Palace, a resort on Beaver street. A well-known real estate dealer was robbed of $12,000 worth of negotiable bonds and $2,000 in cash, a gold watch and a diamond ring. The police refuse to make public the name of the person robbed, or that of the person suspected of commiting the robbery.

THE MURDERESS HELD.

Her Counsel Admit that She Killed Pettus and the Jury So Decides.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The coroner's jury in the Pettus case had little trouble in arriving at a verdict, as the woman's counsel raised but slight objections to the evidence offered.

Mr. Howe said that he was willing to admit that Pettus came to his death at the hands of Mrs. Southworth. The jury brought in a verdict accordingly. The Coroner held the prisoner without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The attorneys for Mrs. Southworth showed their hand and the defence will be insanity.

Stanley's Return to Civilization.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Mr. Stanley in a letter to the Geographical Society, gives most interesting details concerning the country traversed by him. The "Times" says it is assured by his authority that Stanley is not likely to reach home until the end of January, and that he will probably stay some time at Mombassi, to give the benefit of his experience to Mackenzie, who is organizing the government in British East Africa. "It is hoped," says the "Times," "that Stanley, after a rest, may be induced to undertake the administration of the East African Government. We believe he might be quite willing to become a British subject."

Ireland Aroused.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—It is officially stated that the Rt. Hon. Peter O'Brien, new Attorney-General for Ireland, succeeds Sir Michal Morris as Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. Mr. Madden, now Solicitor-General, becomes Attorney-General, and Mr. Atkinson becomes Solicitor-General and Crown Prosecutor. The promotion of Mr. Peter O'Brien has raised a howl of indignant protest from one end of Ireland to the other, particularly as the elevation of the detested Attorney-General to the bench has come so soon after the Gweedore trials as to suggest that he is being rewarded for his direction of that infamous business.

England's Protest to Portugal.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The "Gazette" publishes a dispatch from Lord Salisbury to the British Minister at Lisbon, ordering the latter to protest against the decree issued by the Portuguese Government, claiming countries north and south of Zambesi, of which Mashonaland is under British protectorate.

Bad Outlook for Trade Unions.

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—The difficulties in the cigar trade have resulted in the closing of all the factories. The strikers are more difficult to manage than ever, and threaten mischief. The Government, to prevent agitation, has dissolved all trade associations, and forbidden gatherings. The outlook is gloomy.

WORK OF THE FIRE.

List of Blocks and Buildings Burned by Lynn's Great Conflagration.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 27. — The most prominent places burned are as follows: On Almont street: Mowers' block, and the block occupied by the Consolidated Adjustible Shoe Company, Central square and Central avenue, Bennett & Brainerd's block, Fuller's block, the Wooden block, in which was located the "Daily Bee;" Bergengreen's block, and the brick block owned by the "Daily Item."

On Exchange street: M. H. Abbott's wooden block, the large Deak brick block, the wooden block corner of Spring street, the brick block occupied by L. S. Johnson & Co., the First National Bank block and ten or twelve small shoe factories, the entire stock being wiped out.

On Broad street: Sawyer & Chace's carriage factory, W. N. Breed & Co.'s five-story brick block, V. K. & A. Jones five-story brick block and eight or ten smaller wooden buildings.

On Beach street: S. N. Breed & Co.'s lumber wharf and planing mill, B. Potter & Sons' planing mill, Joseph Breed's Sons' lumber wharf, five or six carpenter shops and several dwelling houses.

FIRST TO SHUT DOWN.

A Movement of the Glass Manufacturers Against the Blowers.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Nov. 27.—The glass factory here has shut down. The manufacturers gave as their excuse that the supply is far in excess of the demand, and especially in glass jars. The blowers claim that the manufacturers want to reduce their pay, and kept their pots running night and day so as to have surplus stock in case of a lockout. The men say that the shut down will extend all over the country and that all the works in the glass manufacturers combine will have stopped work within a month.

Kelly Off to 'Frisco.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Michael J. Kelly, of the Boston club, left for San Francisco yesterday. When President Johnson signed "the king" Monday morning, he said it was the best move made by the Brotherhood up to date. He had scarcely put the contract in his pocket when the Bostonian turned to his friends and said that he wanted to show how true he was to the boys, and would go to California for the purpose of using his influence to sign the entire team. Johnson was overjoyed at the proposition, and it was at once agreed that Kelly should go. Arrangements were soon perfected, and last night, accompanied by his wife, the great and only "Kel" started on his trip.

Worsted Mills Resume Operations.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 27.—The Thornton Worsted Mills have resumed operations, having effected a settlement with their creditors at 40 cents on the dollar. The mills suspended at the time of Gideon P. Brown's departure from Boston, being involved in the failure incident to the suspension of Brown, Steese & Clarke.

Boodle Convicts Pardoned.

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 27.—Major Alexander M. Way and Garret M. Boise of Jersey City, two noted "boodle" convicts in the New Jersey State Prison, have been pardoned. Way embezzled foam a number of Building and Loan Associations in New Brunswick. He was sentenced to four years imprisonment in 1888.

Callaghan Replies to Powderly.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 27.—Callaghan denies Powderly's allegations that the Reading Railroad is behind his charges "I would ask the Reading Railroad Company to publish my letter to them when I returned their free pass. See how that will explode Powderly's humbug," he says.

Trying to Prove Murderer Hodge Insane.

GLENS FALLS, Nov. 27.—In the trial of Harvey Hodge for wife murder in Sandy Hill, the prosecution has put in all its evidence, and the defence will begin this afternoon. An attempt will be made to prove the insanity of the prisoner.

Republicans Carry Dover, N. H.

DOVER, N. H., Nov. 27.—In the city election for Mayor, Benjamin F. Neally, (Rep.,) received 1,300 votes; Aaron Pinkham, (Dem.,) 903. The Republicans elected seven of ten Aldermen and 15 Councilmen.

The Sugar Trust Will Appeal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Notice of appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court sustaining the order of Justice Barrett dissolving the North River Sugar Refinery Company has been filed.

The Newburgh Failure.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 27.—The assets of Caldwell, Wilcox & Co., who assigned yesterday, will amount to $60,000 and liabilities will aggregate about the same amount.

A Well-Known Mason Dead.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 27.—A. T. C. Pierson, the greatest Masonic character in the world, died at his home here of Bright's disease, brought on by an attack of erysipelas.

Two Miners Fatally Injured.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Two miners named White and Mull were fatally injured by a coal car running back on them in a mine a few miles east of Washington, Pa.

No Choice in the Providence Election.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 27.—The election for Mayor resulted in no choice. The vote on City Council is very close.

Big Fire in Leechburg, Pa.

LEECHBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Fire last night burned a block consisting of twenty houses, stores, etc. The loss is over $100,000.

THE FIGHT IN NEW ORLEANS.

Trying to Raise $30,000 for a Battle Between Sullivan and Jackson.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—A syndicate of sporting men here, including Bud Renaud, Leon Lamothe, Capt. Galvin, Marsh Redon and other sporting men are making efforts to raise a purse of $30,000 for a contest between John L. Sullivan, the world's prize ring champion, and Peter Jackson, the Australian colored champion. According to the programme mapped out, the rivals are to battle with gloves, according to "Police Gazette" rules, during the Mardi Gras festival. The purse is to be deposited with Richard K. Fox, in New York, if he will consent to be the final stakeholder; if not, with Mr. Al Cridge, who held the $20,000 Sullivan and Kilrain battled for when they fought for the "Police Gazette" champion belt and the championship of the world.

The contest might be brought off in Sportsman Park. If not, a large amphitheatre will be erected on No Man's Land or Honey Island. Bud Renaud is to be elected chairman of the syndicate, and, if the purse is raised and Sullivan and Jackson agree to meet, Renaud will manage the affair. New Orleans sportingmen intend to do their best to have Sullivan and Jackson meet, and money will not stand in the way. If a match was arranged for Sullivan and Jackson to contest here over 10,000 tickets at $10 and $20 might be sold, while reserved seats would bring from $25 to $50. So that the management, with ticket money and railroad rebate, would no doubt double their money, for the receipts would run up over $50,000

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The French Chamber of Deputies has quashed the election of Count Dillon.

There is no opposition against Turner, the iceman, for Congress in New York city.

The famous banking house of Kendler, in Venice, has failed, with liabilities of 2,500,000 florins.

Notice was posted to-day that the Welland canal will be closed at midnight on Saturday for the remainder of the season.

BOSTON'S BIG BLAZE

Two Acres of the Business Portion Burned Over.

TWENTY FIRMS THE LOSERS

The Loss Estimated at $5,000,000, and the Fire Caused by Electric Wires.

It Started in the Burned District of 1872. The Fire Department Unable to Control the Flames—Fire Steamers from Neighboring Towns Called In—Many Narrow Escapes from Death.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—For the first time since the awful conflagration of 1872 the general alarm was sounded on Boston's fire bells yesterday morning, and last night a score of her magnificent business buildings around Bedford and Chauncey streets were a mass of ruins, with an estimated loss of $5,000,000.

As a spectacle the fire was superb, and no finer sight could be seen than Brown, Durell & Co.'s building, where the blaze started, presented. The whole building was a mass of flame. The windows had been knocked out, and great tongues of flame shot through them in a most picturesque manner. The huge walls of stone melted quicker than ice under the rays of the sun. The intense heat, even at that early hour, could be distinctly felt almost to Washington street. A clear and unobstructed view of the fire was open to spectators. The engines were then hurrying in answer to the general alarm, and the police details were surging through the streets.

Water Had no Effect.

The streams from the engines first on the spot had no more effect on the fire than the rain that poured in torrents from the heavens. It seemed but a few minutes after the fire had enveloped the building before the walls fell in and the structure went to the ground a mass of ruins; but before it went down it had spread the contagion of fire to the other side of Bedford street.

The beautiful building just in the curve of Bedford street, leading into Kingston street, owned by Fred. Ames, and built by the greatest of American architects, Henry Richardson, was next to go. Then the buildings to the west and south caught the flames, and the great fire was under full headway.

Ruined in a Few Moments.

As the intelligence of the fire spread through the city the owners and the occupants of buildings hurried to the scene.

Prosperous merchants who went from their business places secure in the possessions of great fortunes rushed to the lines in trembling and despair. It was pitiful to see strong men who knew that all they possessed had been licked up by the flames whisper in the policemen's ears the story of former ownership, and then speed under the lines to the location of their stores.

But, in many instances, the flames had done their work, and the merchants could only see a mass of ruin staring them in the face.

Appealing for Help.

Already the general alarm had been sounded and Chief Engineer Webb called for help from Stoneham, Woburn, Fall River, Beverly, Taunton, Providence, Melrose, Marblehead, Cambridge, Peabody, Lowell, Chelsea, Haverhill, Brockton, Somerville, Lawrence, Malden, Medford, Salem, Newburyport, Glocester and Worcester, and engines and men were sent from nearly all these cities.

At the intersection of Rowe place, with the great building of Claflin, Larrabee & Co., a number of engines were massed, holding the fire gallantly in check until the big stone building of S. Williams & Co., on Chauncey street and Rowe place, ignited, when, finding a fierce conflagration in their rear, they had to hurry up Rowe place to save, if possible, the long granite block on the west side of Chauncey street. The effort was futile, and the fire stole across.

Firemen Blown Out of a Building.

Just before this, while a small army of firemen were striving to save Chauncey street, the hot air generated by the fire raging in the rear, blew out the entire glass front of No. 72 Chauncey street, occupied by Wright Bros., dealers in skins and furs. Firemen were in the building with a line of hose, and were literally blown out into the street. One of them, named Manning, was cut and torn in a frightful manner. His eyes were forced out of his head.

It was said all day that the fire in Brown & Durrell's was caused by an electric wire. In the confusion and lack of accurate knowledge no one can say just what agency is responsible, but people are asking this: "Was it not the same wire which burned out the electric clocks?" The Electric Clock Company's wires ramify all through the business district.

Territory Burned.

The geography of the fire is as follows: Starting in the six story granite building owned by Jordan, Marsh & Co., and occupied by Brown, Durrell & Co., dry goods dealers, at Bedford and Kingston streets, it spread to the Shoe and Leather Exchange building, another large granite structure adjoining on Bedford street; thence across Bedford street to the opposite corner; thence across Kingston street, and along Bedford to Chauncey street, where it was stopped in the store of Farley, Harvey & Co., the upper stories of which were burned. Three stores along Chauncey street, toward Summer, were burned. On the South side of Bedford street the flames jumped across Kingston street, from Brown, Durrell & Company's, to a big sandstone building owned by F. L. Ames and occupied by Taylor Bros., and this was consumed. The great granite building known as the Nevins Block, at the corner of Chauncey street, was the next victim for the flames, and the entire block clear around Rowe place to Kingston street was consumed. Crossing Chauncy street the fire soon had a good hold on all the stores which are enclosed in Exeter place, a small street running from Harrison avenue to Chauncey street. Here the firemen got control. At Rowe place the fire was partially checked from going toward Essex street, but quickly moved toward the opposite side to the immense Allen & Larrabee buildings occupying the square between Bedford street, Harrison avenue extension and Exeter place, at which point their further progress was checked.

GREAT AMERICAN BANQUET.

A Notable Gathering in Berlin With Minister Pheips Presiding.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—A grand American banquet was given at the Kaiserhof last evening, at which there were 250 guests. Minister Phelps presided. At his right were Count Herbert Bismarck and Mrs. Phelps. On his left were Prince Radziwill and Miss Phelps. Among the guests were Professors Mommsen and Curtius, and Consul Edwards and other prominent Americans with their wives.

Mr. Phelps highly eulogized the late Minister Pendleton, and in toasting President Harrison, alluded to the similarity of the virtues and traditions of Germany and America. The youths and maidens from America studying in Germany, he said, had never been tainted with the breath of scandal. The material wonders of America, he declared, defied the possibilities of rhetoric to do them justice, and the United States is proud of being the only nation yet born where the poor have a home, and where 60,000,000 of freemen prize education, love their country and worship God.

ARCHBISHOP WALSH STONED.

His Carriage Attacked by Orangemen and the Prelate Painfully Bruised.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 29.—Archbishop Walsh recently appointed to this diocese was installed last night at the cathedral in this city. While riding from the railroad station to the cathedral the carriage of the Archbishop was stoned by some Orange rowdies. One of the stones struck the Archbishop in the arm causing a very painful bruise.

Intense feeling is manifested by both sides and there are grave fears of further trouble.

The Naugatuck Valley Flooded.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 29.—The storm swelled Little Brook, under East and South Main streets, and filled 20 store cellars. The damage to stock will reach $4,000. The Naugatuck Valley from Thomaston to Birmington is turned into a sea by the Naugatuck River overflowing. The Naugatuck Railroad is covered in many places. A bad washout at Seymour badly delayed passenger trains. The bridge over the creek at Union City was washed away. Dunham Hosiery Company's dam at Naugatuck gave way. There is a bad washout on the Meriden road.

Clara Pierce's Murderer Still at Large

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 29.—The man arrested at Vanderbilt on suspicion of being the murderer of Clara Pierce, near Krauthaus, has been released, having proved an alibi. A body of men are searching for a tramp suspected of being the murderer. Miss Pierce was a pretty girl of 18. Her body was found in the road with three bullet holes through it, and the inquest revealed the fact that the girl had been outraged and then shot.

Work in Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 29.—Local insurance agents announce that losses by the late fire here will be paid in full. The work of adjusting losses is progressing rapidly. A heavy rain yesterday did not prevent a good deal being done toward clearing up the ruins. The contents of the bank vaults are all right. Relief contributions to the amount of $20,000 were received yesterday. Rebuilding has begun in many cases.

An Insane Negro's Terrible Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Geo. Murray, a negro who is subject to fits of insanity, ran amuck through East Houston street yesterday. He cut two Italians on the head with a hatchet, chased several men and women, and was just about plunging his hatchet into the head of a young woman when a citizen knocked him down with a stone and held him until a policeman arrived.

Several Persons Involved in a Failure.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—Ex-Sheriff D. A. Spragg has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The assignment involves W. S. Loutz, cashier of the Farmers and Drovers' National Bank, Dr. D. B. Braden and several others. The true situation of affairs is not yet fully known, but the liabilities amount to thousands of dollars.

Accidentally Shot.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 29.—Wm. H. Edwards, a private in the Morris Guards, was accidentally shot by Lieutenant Russell G. Bing, while the guards were shooting at a target yesterday afternoon. His recovery is doubtful. Bing was endeavoring to push down the breech when the gun went off.

Rich Haul by Burglars.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 29.—Henry R. Stowell's house in Athol was entered by burglars, who broke open a safe and obtained $5,000 in cash and securities.

Carpet Mill Burned.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 29. — The stockinet mill of the extensive Hartford Carpet Works at Thompsonville was burned this morning.

WON BY PRINCETON

The Football Championship Wrested from Yale.

BITTER FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY

A Tremendous Throng of People Who Were Wild With Enthusiasm.

Yale Made a Noble Fight from the Start to Finish—Splendid Work by the Jersey Veterans—Only Three Men Hurt—Princeton at the Head of College Football for the Second Time.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The deciding game for the intercollegiate football championship was played by Princeton and Yale at Berkeley Oval and was won by Princeton. There were 20,000 on the grounds, and the greatest excitement prevailed throughout the contest. On all sides were bright flags and banners of variegated colors. The collegians had congregated in force and kept up a continual yelling and tooting of horns.

The men on coaches had the best of it. They lined up in a long row with the Princeton coaches toward the east end. The class of '88 had the prettiest coach, rich with orange and black, with Ernest Carpenter, the captain of the glee club; Peters, the class poet, and Jim Hancock, the quarter-back of the '88 team on it. The Ivy Club, which is Princeton's swell society, was well represented.

The Yale men were also well equipped with coaches. Colonel Hanford had a coach of his own covered with girls; Colonel Beecher had a drag draped in blue, and Billy Bull, the great fullback, Walker Camp, Ray Tompkins and all the other old Yale reliables, were on tally-hos.

Professors Osborne and Marquand, of Princeton, showed their interest in the game by driving up in a big six-horse coach laden with ladies. Philadelphia sent a large contingent of Pennsylvania sympathizers with many girls and young matrons. The other colleges were all represented. Lehigh sent fifty men who cheered for Princeton, and hundreds of Columbia boys encouraged the Jerseyites by singing a song entitled: "Ames kicked; Trafford kicked; Ames got the best of it."

Cheered by the Crowds.

Amid a perfect hurricane of cheers and bugle blasts the Yale team came upon the field and scarcely had they got into practice when another tempest of cheers rent the air and Princeton's proud boys gamboled upon the field. There were hundreds of Harvard men present, and it was observed that they all cheered for Yale.

Brooks of Harvard was the umpire and Saxe of the present Harvard team referee.

Brilliant Playing by Both Teams.

The game from its inception was one of interest. Brilliant plays followed each other in rapid succession and the crowd vented its admiration in ear-splitting yell and shouts.

The fine plays were not confined to a few men, as on other occasions it has been the case. Every player did good work, and the few that were disqualified for foul work, it is fair to assume, forgot themselves in the heat and excitement of the game. Those who were unfortunate enough to be taken off the field were Rhodes, of Yale, and Jones, who played center rush for Princeton, in place of George, who injured his ankle in the early part of the game.

Princeton won the toss, and had the ball at the start, beginning the game with the "V" trick. In the first half Ames made several sensational runs, at one time covering half the length of the field, and requiring the entire Yale team to down him. Cowan, McBride, Gill and Heffelfinger also played brilliantly. The half closed, neither side having scored.

The Second Half.

At the commencement of the second half Yale had the ball and Gill gained ten yards with the wedge. Hanson snapped the ball and McBride made a thirty-yard punt. Ames caught it and was tackled by Stagg and Hartwell. McClung then got a chance at the ball and went at the end for ten yards with three Princeton men on his back. Then followed the hottest kind of playing for fifteen minutes, when Warren succeeded in making a touchdown for Princeton, from which Ames kicked a goal. The score now stood six points to nothing for Princeton.

Both teams when they lined up again played with new life. McBride tried for the goal from the field but failed. It seemed as though the game was all over but the shouting. Still the Yale men played desperately, and at one time had the ball well into Princeton's territory, but Captain Poe and his men were fighting as they never fought before, and playing all around the New Haven boys. Finally the ball was rushed to Yale's end of the field and Cowan scored a touchdown just before time was called. The final score was Princeton 10, Yale 0.

Dartmouth Secures the Championship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The Dartmouth College and Stevens' Institute football teams played at Hoboken, N. J., Dartmouth winning by a score of 19 to 8. This gives Dartmouth the championship.

Johns Hopkins Defeated.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 29.—The University of Virginia football team defeated the Johns Hopkins University eleven by a score of 68 to 0.

Won by Lehigh University.

ANNAPOLIS Md., Nov. 29.—The Lehigh University of Bethlehem, Pa., defeated the Naval Cadets at football by a score of 26 to 6.

BY THE WAY.

—Oh! for a Y. M. C. A., building.

—The public schools closed on Wednesday for the balance of the week.

—The State Canvassers find that Leon Abbett has a plurality of 14,253 in the State.

—Joseph Sullivan, of this city, was today convicted at Elizabeth, of illegal liquor selling.

—Free singing class as usual at the Y. M. C. A., to-morrow at 8 P. M. Young men are invited.

—To-morrow, St. Andrews Day, in Grace church, Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10 A. M.

—All young men interested in shorthand are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A., to-morrow at 8 P. M.

—Three gilded balls at the corner of Front street and Madison avenue, mark Mr. Samuel Dreier's pawn broking establishment.

—On November 22, Jennie M. and S. A. Potter transferred to Mary F. S. McCutchen, property in North Plainfield, for one hundred dollars.

—Six hundred names have been registered in the First Ward, but of this number probably Seventy-five or more will not vote on Tuesday next.

—That new (?) play "Humpty Dumpty" was resurrected at Music Hall, last evening, and there was a large number of persons at the resurrection.

—A party of Plainfield gentlemen met at the Astor House in New York, yesterday, and attended the Princeton-Yale foot ball game in a body.

—In the Orphans' Court at Somerville, on Tuesday, an order to show cause was granted in the estate of the late George W. Townley, of North Plainfield.

—The regular Friday evening meeting, at the Seventh Day Baptist church, will be omitted this evening in consideration of Mr. Burdick's address at Music Hall.

—The tail end of the Western blizzard reached here this morning, as per prediction. Snow fell for a time, and the wind blew at the rate of about thirty miles an hour.

—A free-for-all slugging match took place on Somerset street, near Jackson avenue, about dusk, last evening. The participants, it is said, were intoxicated, and they fought like tigers.

—The King's Messengers, a Children's Home Mission Band of the First Presbyterian Sunday school, will hold a parlor sale in the chapel to-morrow afternoon and evening. Admission 5 cents.

—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in the Trinity Reformed church, next Sabbath morning. The regular preparatory service will be held in the church, this evening, at 8 o'clock.

—Complaint is made by some of the West Front street merchants, who claim that some person, unknown to them, is in the habit of eloping with their morning papers, from in front of their places of business.

—"The Private Secretary" was produced before a small audience at Music Hall, yesterday afternoon. Some of the parts were well taken, but the absence of new and appropriate scenery made the play monotonous.

—Both the Democratic and Republican City Conventions will be held on to-morrow evening, the former in the Democratic Association rooms on West Front street, and the latter in the Republican Association rooms on East Front street.

—The regular meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held this evening. It is requested that all the members will be present, as there are several members-elect to be initiated into the order and other attractions will be had during the evening.

Death of Mr. T. A. Dunn.

The death is announced of Mr. Theo. A. Dunn, which occurred at his home on Broadway, at two o'clock, this morning, from paralysis of the bladder. The deceased was in the seventy-fourth year of his age, and leaves a wife and several grown-up children.

Mr. Dunn has been a resident of this city for many years past, and of late he has conducted the fruit and confectionery business in the store adjoining THE PRESS office on North avenue. He was also a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church.

CRESCENT LEAGUE'S BOWL.

Harry VanEmburgh Takes the Turkey, and Charles Potter Rogers the Cigars.

Mr. Howard L. Emerson, of this city, one of the most genial and generous members of the Crescent League, and one of New York's rising attorneys, put up a twenty-pound turkey, Wednesday night, for the members to bowl for. The contest was quite exciting, and created besides much enjoyment.

The bird went to Mr. Harry VanEmburg, while a box of cigars presented by Mr. William G. Brett, was won by the next highest on the score, Mr. C. P. Rogers. The prizes were presented with formal ceremonies and accepted with brief speeches. Following all this, Messrs Charles Thiers, Seymour Smith and Elmer Runyon, contributed their terpsichorean and vocal talents to the entertainment of the company.

The scores made in the contest were:

VanEmburgh	172	Reed	128
Bogers	170	W. Emerson	128
Craighead	153	Leggett	127
Davis	150	B. Kline	125

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

A Grand Sermon by Rev. C. B. Mitchell.

Rev. Dr. Ketcham's beautiful church was comfortably filled yesterday morning by Christian worshippers of all denominations. There were present and occupying seats on the platform, Rev. Dr. Yerkes of the First Baptist, Rev. Dr. Ketcham of the First Presbyterian, Rev. Dr. Lewis of the Seventh-day Baptist, Rev. Cornelius Schenck of the Trinity Reformed, and Rev. C. B. Mitchell of the Methodist Episcopal churches.

The services were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Ketcham; Rev. Cornelius Schenck read a portion of the 34th Psalm as the Scripture lesson; Rev. Dr. Yerkes then offered prayer, after which the Rev. C. B. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. church, preached an able sermon that showed careful preparation, from the text: "Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased," as found in the 4th Psalm, seventh verse. If space would permit we would gladly print the sermon in full. We can only congratulate the reverend gentleman on his effort.

The regular choir of the church were present and sang in perfect unison to the accompaniment of Dr. E. W. Hedges, organist. The collection taken up will be presented to the Plainfield Relief Association.

Burial Services.

The funeral of the late Solomon Flaig occurred from the First Presbyterian church this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Ketcham officiating. That divice took for his text the 14th verse of the 4th chapter of the Apostle James—"What is Life?" He spoke in eulogistic terms of deceased, as an honest man and upright citizen, and urged young men to follow his precepts.

The letter carriers from the post office attended in a body, the Postmaster accompaying them. Representatives were also present from the Fireman's Relief Association, Saengerbund and Turn Verein. Handsome floral decorations adorned the coffin. One from the letter carriers and clerks of the post office was in the shape of a handsome pillow with the words "His work is done," in purple flowers. The pillow itself was a mass of roses and other flowers. A sheaf of wheat and roses from Postmaster Force and a handsome pillow of roses with the words "Papa," a beautiful wreath of roses and other flowers also, were testimonials from friends and relatives of deceased. The remains were taken to Hillside cemetery and interred temporarily in a vault. The fire bell tolled 54 strokes during the progress of the funeral procession.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Councilman Dunham spent Thanksgiving Day with his brother in Brooklyn.

Mr. Charles Powlison, Secretary of the Northwest branch of the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A., is at home with his father in North Plainfield.

Mr. Augustus Frazee, who has been lying ill at his home on Peace street, for the past two weeks, is now very low with typhoid-pneumonia.

Mamie Ida, the three-years-and-twenty-one-days old daughter of George and Delia Voehl, died yesterday of membranous croup. The funeral will take place from the residence of her parents on West Front street, to-morrow at 10 A. M.

A Thanksgiving Day Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swalm celebrated the fifty-second anniversary of their marriage by holding a family gathering at their home on West Front street, Thanksgiving Day. Children and grandchildren to the extent of eighteen were represented at the gathering, and all wished the aged couple many future days of thanksgiving and happiness.

Mr. Swalm has passed his eighty-first year, and Mrs. Swalm's age is seventy-five.

Nothing is more provoking than a troublesome cough. Cure it with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cents.

PARK AVENUES AND ORIENTALS.

They Have a Joint Ball, and Follow it up With a Trip to Summit.

The Crescent on the night before Thanksgiving, was the scene of one of the most pleasing and successful public balls ever given in this city. The members of the Park Avenue and Oriental Social clubs joined forces, and entertained with choice music, dancing and supper, two or three hundred of their young men and young women acquaintances.

The ball was continued until the next day, yet all was good order and satisfaction. The music was by Boswald of New York. The officers of the two clubs, are: Park Avenue—President, E. C. Searing; Vice President, L. C. Beekman; Sec'y, J. C. Blimm; Treasurer, J. C. Martin; Sergeant-at-Arms, G. S. Martin. Oriental—President, Wm. Blimm; Vice President, F. Talliant; Secretary, R. Eick; Treasurer, W. B. Sharp; Sergeant-at-Arms, W. Marsh.

The gentlemen in charge included, General Director—Edward C. Searing. Floor Manager—Fred. Becker. Assistants—Messrs Joseph C. Blimm, Wm. Blimm. Floor Committee—Messrs Joseph C. Martin, Frank Talliant, Benj F. Crane, Jas. Casey, Jacob Blimm, Jr., Geo. McIntyre. Reception Committee—Messrs Fred. Haberle, W. Marsh, J. Murphy, O. G. Irvin, R. W. Schlereth, W. B. Sharp, J. Wyckoff, H. T. Sutphen, J. Huntington, G. R. Schlereth, H. Keller, R. Eick, J. Loughlin, G. Mehl, Jr., E. I. Vroom, E. Barrett, H. Carter, H. Windham, J. F. W. Bamberger, G. Babcock, J. B. Sharp, G. Kesselring, G. S. Martin, H. Henrahan, L. Hanlon, J. W. Poole, James Skelly, Geo. Scheelem.

After a short street parade the next day, the two clubs accompanied by Bartow's band left for Summit. They were met outside of the town by a committee from the Summit Lyceum, who escorted the Plainfielders to the club rooms as honored guests. During the day there was a target shoot at 40 yards, for a silver cup offered by John B. McGrath, proprietor of the Spring Lake Hotel. The prize was won by the Lyceum boys with a score of 220 to 134 by the Park Avenues and Orientals.

The ceremonies at the Lyceum included a speech of welcome by the President, Wm. R. Adams. He also presented the Park Avenue Club, on behalf of his club, with a magnificent gavel of agate and ivory, silver mounted, and inclosed in an old-gold plush case as on exhibition in the office window of THE PRESS. President Searing made a neat speech of acceptance. Addresses were also given by Vice President Talliant of the Orientals, Messrs J. C. Martin and J. C. Blimm of the Park Avenues, and Vice President Scott, and Mr. James Kelly of the Lyceum. During the day Mr. J. H. Carney, of this city, gave several of his humorous recitations, and the quartette of the Park Avenue Club also gave a few of their choice selections.

Meeting of the Exempt Firemen.

The members of the Exempt Firemen's Association held a special meeting yesterday morning at Fireman's Hall and appointed a committee to draft resolutions out of respect to the memory of their late brother, Solomon Flaig. Invitations were extended to all the officers and members of the fire department of this city and the borough, to attend the funeral with them in a body. Committees were appointed to take charge of the arrangements at the church; to toll the fire bell and to drape their hall in mourning. This Association gives a benefit of $50 on the death of each member. It was organized nearly two years ago and this is the first member it has lost by death.

Mr. Burdick on License.

Nearly all the clergymen of this city have requested Mr. Burdick to speak on license in Plainfield, and he will accordingly speak to-night on that subject in Music Hall, beginning at 7:45. Mr. Burdick will tell of the operations of license and anti-license in other towns in which he is acquainted.

Crowds On the Rollers Again.

Five hundred young and old people crowded The Crescent, yesterday afternoon and evening, and thoroughly enjoyed Miss Houghton's exhibition, the music and the skating in general. There were over two hundred skaters on the surface at a time.

Scoring For Turkeys.

At the Olympia alleys, Wednesday night, fifty of Plainfield's best bowlers contested for big fat turkeys. The following were the winners:

A. Wyckoff, 181; A. White, 180; C. Krewson, 155; C. Rogers, 184; E. Eaton bowled three games of 171, 180 and 160.

The A. O. H. Ball.

The ball of the A. O. H., No. 4, in St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall, last evening, was a grand success. The members of the Hibernia Rifles and Parnell Drum Corps of Elizabeth, were present in a body, and participated in the evening's festivities.

—Mr. Burdick conducted the temperance revival meeting in Warren Mission chapel, last evening, and Mr. William Rankin led the singing. The attendance was large, and a number of signatures were obtained to the total abstinence pledge.

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained unrivaled as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

REIMBURSING HIS LOSS BY FIRE.

Presentation to Father Stafford of Half a Thousand Dollars.

The Rev. John A. Stafford, assistant rector of St. Mary's church, received a very pleasant surprise Wednesday evening. A number of his friends waited on him and through the pastor, the Rev. Father Smyth, presented him with a check for five hundred dollars to make good the loss he sustained in the recent fire.

It will be remembered that when the rectory was so badly injured by fire on the morning of November 7, Father Stafford lost nearly all his books and clothing. The people of the parish at once determined to repair his loss, and their efforts were ably seconded by the members of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society.

Last evening Messrs Peter Flynn, A. McGuigan and Michael Flynn, Miss Rose Verdon, Mrs. Wm. Moore, Mrs. D. Mc Carthy and Miss Maria Kelly, representing the various societies, guilds, etc., met at the pastoral residence where they were received by Father Smyth. Father Stafford was then invited to the parlor and in a few happy and well chosen remarks Father Smyth informed him of the kind thoughtfulness of his friends. Father Stafford was indeed very much surprised but managed to give suitable expression to his gratitude. A very neat collation terminated the happy occasion.

Judge—2d District—Ed. C. Searing.
Inspector—M. Flynn.
Clerk—Thos. F. Harding.

In this ward the delegates were empowered to fill vacancies.

Mr. Jeremiah Compton was a candidate for Councilman in the Fourth Ward, but he withdrew in favor of Mr. Moffett. The meeting adjourned after a few remarks by Mr. James E. Martine.

A Dog Killed by Foxes.

Mr. William Grattan, a resident of this city, whose veracity has never—that is hardly ever—been doubted, is the authority for the statement that John Piffer of Cranford, while out hunting one day recently, came upon a den of red foxes in a clump of bushes on the bank of the Cranford river. Mr. Piffer killed three foxes, and found the hind quarters of a mastiff in the den, upon which the foxes had been feasting for some time.

Stuck in the Westfield Mud.

A large six-horse furniture van, containing the household goods of Mr. John Duck of Brooklyn, en route to his future residence on Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, became "stuck in the mud" near Westfield, on Wednesday evening, during the heavy rain storm that prevailed at the time. The goods reached their destination, last evening, not injured by the delay.

Catholicism in the United States.

At the Seventh-day Baptist church at 10:30 A. M., to-morrow, Rev. Dr. Lewis will discuss: "The late Catholic Congress and the Future of Roman Catholicism in the United States."

He led the German and his dudish dress was the admiration of the assembled fair, but his stout partner slipped on his favorite corn. Sensation! Salvation Oil to the rescue. Happiness again!

"THE PUBLIC UNANIMOUSLY DELIGHTED."

A Correspondent Satisfied With THE PRESS but Disgusted With What He Calls the "Do-Nothing Course" of the Councilmen.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—DEAR SIR—Public spirited citizens are unanimously delighted that you have taken up the project to have those unsightly and obstructive railroad freight sheds and tracks located elsewhere. They should be removed to some convenient point West of the station of course.

With those out of the way and Sycamore street widened and macadamized properly from gutter to gutter, that dilapidated part of our city between the railroad and Seventh street from Park avenue to Peace street will become its most flourishing section. If the electric cars are then run on Sycamore street, property on that street will soon be salable at higher prices than Park avenue property is now. Those who live there must be a slow set, or they would have acted in this matter long ago, both before Councils, and in appeals to the C. R. R. of N. J.

If Plainfield would elect enterprising men to run her city government, these flagrant matters of popular concern would have adequate attention. The do-nothing course of those who have been allowed to thrust themselves into public positions is becoming disgusting. Men without capacity to help create intelligent, healthful, progressive, public opinion, or govern in accord with popular interests have stood in the way of Plainfield's prosperity for 10 years, so that with a community of about 16,000 people, we have no street railways—nor water works—our sidewalks are not to grade and are too narrow; our streets meanly macadamized; property generally is slow of sale at low prices, and consequently our tax rate is high on increasing valuations.

If Plainfield had been intelligently governed for the last 10 years property on our leading thoroughfares would be worth today from twice to five fold what it is held for sale at now.

The thing which will most quickly invigorate our public and private financial condition would be an extended electric railway system in all directions from the station, the tracks laid on our main thoroughfares, or chief arteries of travel, where people go and want to go. It is time now for our citizens at large to trample under foot at once and forever the preposterous assumptions of a few people who own carriages, that our main highways should not be used for the comfortable and convenient carriage of those whom they call "common" people. Now is the time to defeat any man who will not actively labor for the quickest possible construction of street railways and water works, or who has not the recognized capacity to do so.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

To Vindicate Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, has called a council to investigate and decide upon certain slanderous stories which have been circulated concerning him. The council will meet in Mt. Olive Baptist church on Thursday next at 2 P. M., and will consist of the pastor and two delegates from each of the following churches: First and Park Avenue Baptist churches; Baptist church of Westfield; Fourth Baptist church of Elizabeth, Mt. Zion and Bethany churches of Newark, Second Baptist church of Orange, Abyssinia and Mt. Olivet churches of New York city and the Concord Baptist church of Brooklyn.

The State Superintendent Disagrees With the County Superintendent.

Mr. Nelson Blackford, of New Market, obtained the consent of County Superintendent Willis to change the boundary of School District No. 3, so as to include his farm in the Harris Lane District, but the State Superintendent decides that as the property was assessed in the District No. 3, when the loan was obtained for building a new school house, his property was a part of the security pledged and must pay its share of the bonded debt and interest thereon, but for general school purposes must now be assessed in the District to which it has been attached.

Drawing the Jurors.

The time for holding the December term of the Somerset County Circuit Court having been changed from the third to the fourth Tuesday in December, the Sheriff drew the jury panel for the same on Tuesday in the presence of Judge Bartine, Jameson and TenEyck. The following is the list of petit jurors from North Plainfield:

Jonathan Clawson, John Emery, Thomas Armstrong, James Sharp, Wm. Boe, W. H. VanWinkle, Jacob Voehl, Wm. Bodine.

Women's Night School and Its Teachers.

The night school for women will open in the High School building next Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock, and continue every Monday and Friday evening thereafter.

Miss Stout will be the teacher in charge, and her assistants will be, Miss Lansing, Miss Tabor, and Miss Mitchell. The last named, a graduate of this year, will have the care of the beginners' class of colored pupils.

When, from any cause, the digestive and secretory organs become disordered, they may be stimulated to healthy action by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills are prescribed by the best physicians, and are for sale at all the drug stores.

BRET HARTE'S SON AND ANOTHER'S WIFE.

The Latter's Husband Sues the Former for $20,000 Damages.

Francis K. Harte, of this city, son of Bret Harte, the author, is defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages brought by J. Jay Smith, who has an office in the Benedict Building, New York. He says that Harte has alienated his wife's affections, and that the two are now living together as man and wife in the new Agnes apartment house, No. 25 West Eighty-fourth street.

Mr. Smith has also petioned the Courts to give him the custody of his two children, who are with their mother, but he has not sued for a divorce. The couple signed an agreement of separation Nov. 12, 1888, which was to expire May 1, last, but Mrs. Smith has not lived with her husband since that time.

She is a very handsome woman who was Miss Aline Bouton before she married Smith eleven years ago. Mrs. Smith has had an income of $4,500 a year since the death of her father. She took young Harte to Europe on a morganatic wedding tour.

THE FIGHT FOR SENATORS.

Montana Republicans Talk of Impeaching the Democratic Governor.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 29.—The Republican leaders are now considering the impeachment of Governor Toole on the ground that without a shadow of authority he hired a hall, caused locks to be placed on all the doors and placed guards for the purpose of keeping out the contesting Republicans from Silver Bow, knowing that without these members the Democrats could do as they pleased.

The leaders have been in consulation with sveral eminent lawyers and believe they have found the way to get around the Legislature troubles. It is stated that Gov. Toole was not legally empowered to name a place in which the Legislature should assemble; that the only State officer who possesses such authority is State Auditor Kenney, and that official personally notified the members of the House to meet at another place than that selected by Gov. Toole.

In a lengthy legal opinion the Republicans of the Senate are advised to wait no longer for the recalcitrant Democratic members, but go ahead with their business.

The Lieutenant-Governor, the lawyers say, in their opinion, must, as the presiding officer, assume the responsibility of casting the deciding vote that is necessary to constitute a quorum.

Lieutenant-Governor Richards says that he believed the suggestion outlined in the opinion is the only solution of the difficulty, and unless the Democrats awaken to their duties he will break the deadlock.

MONOPOLY'S FIGHT.

Lawyers Fighting to Reorganize the Chicago Gas Trust.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Lawyers of the Gas Trust held a long conference to hit upon a feasible plan of reorganization which cannot be upset by the Supreme Court. Three plans have been drawn up and the stockholders will decide Dec. 14, which one to put in operation. "I do not regard the Supreme Court decision as a set-back," said President Billings to-day. "We did not want to be operating illegally. The court thinks the four gas companies had no right to combine in the way they did.

"We want to quit that manner of procedure and get within the pale of the law. It is a mistake to presume that the Trust is for the purpose of putting up prices. We fear the competition of capital, and we combine for the purpose of cheapening production and lessening the price at which we supply customers."

HE CURSED HIS MAKER.

Stricken With Paralysis and Afterwards Found Dead in His Room.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 29.—John Chana, a hopeles paralytic, 35 years old, was found dead on the floor of his room with a leather strap around his neck. It is believed he committed suicide, though some suspect foul play.

Chana was until recently perfectly strong and healthy. It is said that one day he cursed his Maker in a manner terrible to hear, when he fell to the floor dumb and paralyzed, in which condition he remained until he died.

Shallcross Taken to a Lunatic Asylum.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 29.—Considerable surprise was manifested within his large circle of friends, when it became known that Lewis W. Shallcross, of the great iron firm of Morris, Tasker & Co., a millionaire resident of Frankford, had been arrested on a charge of ill-treating his wife in a most brutal manner—beating and kicking her almost to death. The assault was said to be committed while he was on a drunken spree, but it is generally thought that he was insane. This theory is borne out by the fact that he has been taken to Kirkbride's Insane Asylum. Though very ill from the effects of her injuries, Mrs. Shallcross is recovering. She is about 30 years old, and her husband 38.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

Fears of a Possible Outbreak in the Cronin Case.

SPECIAL BAILIFFS NUMEROUS.

No One Admitted In the Court Room Without a Sheriff's Pass.

Judge Longnecker Making the Opening Speech—The Argument of Counsel Will Consume Nearly a Week's Time—Detectives Watching the Residence of Alex. Sullivan—Intense Feeling on Both Sides.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Very little time was consumed this forenoon in examining a few unimportant witnesses in the Cronin trial and Judge Longenecker is now making the opening speech. He is going over the evidence carefully. At the conclusion of the opening speech Judge Wing will speak for Burke and Coughlin and endeavor to explain away the strong circumstantial case made out against them. He will be followed by George C. Ingham for the prosecution, who will be answered for Kunze and O'Sullivan by Attorney Donahue. W. J. Hynes will show the weakness of the Clan-na-Gael alibis, and then Lawyer Foster will try to prove that there is no criminating evidence against Senior Guardian John F. Beggs, of Clan-na-Gael Camp 20. W. S. Forest will follow with an argument in favor of discharging the prisoners, and then Luther Laflin Mills, with all the force of which his poetic, dramatic and legal talents are capable, will bring the great trial to a close. The argument is likely to consume a week's time.

The lives of five men will thus be intrusted to the jury. The evidence against four of the five is as strong as any circumstantial evidence can be, and the jurymen have let none of the points, weak or strong, either for or against the prisoner, escape them.

Fears of a Possible Outbreak.

Special precautions has been taken in reference to possible outbreaks of excited individuals. The sheriff and police department arranged their plans in detail. Special bailiffs are more numerous about the courthouse than during the anarchist trial. All doors are guarded and no ladies allowed in the courtroom. No one is admitted except on presentation of a pass signed by Sheriff Matson. These precautions have been adopted because of the high feeling among the antagonistic Irish elements, and the fear that the closing speeches might provoke trouble in an indiscriminate crowd.

Alex. Sullivan's Residence Watched.

The residence of Alexander Sullivan is being constantly watched by a detective who has special facilities for communicating with the Chicago Avenue Police station, which is only a few blocks distant. This espionage has been ordered because Chief Hubbard received reliable advices that a concerted attack upon the residence in question, after the style of wild Western methods, might be made at any time.

There is no denying the fact that as the trial approaches its conclusion the feeling on both sides increases in intensity, and should its outcome be unfavorable to the prosecution this feeling might manifest itself in a serious form. The authorities, believing in the supremacy of the law, have evidently thought it well to take early precautions against any attempt on the part of the masses to take the law into their own hands.

THE SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT.

The Republican Caucus to be Held To-Morrow and Reed Has the Call.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Republican caucus, to decide on a choice for Speaker, has been called to meet tomorrow at noon. All the indications now seem to point to the nomination of Thomas B. Reed of Maine.

The strength shown by Mr. Reed is attributed by a few to the interference of the Pennsylvania Senators in the fight. Both Mr. Cameron and Mr. Quay deny that they have taken an active interest in the matter, but there is a belief among some that they have influenced the votes of a number of Pennsylvanians and turned them over to Mr. Reed.

A caucus of the Pennsylvania Republicans is to be held to-day to determine whether the delegation will vote as a unit or not. If the unit rule should be adopted the question of Mr. Reed's election would be decided absolutely in the affirmative.

Some of the friends of Mr. McKinley have been urging upon him the advisability of withdrawing from the contest, and it is believed that he has this question under consideration.

Great significance is attached to-day to the fact that two of the three Republican Congressmen from Missouri, who are pledged to McKinley, went into the conference of Southern Republicans held at the house of Representative McComas.

The leading spirit among the Southern Republicans is Congressman Wade, of Missouri, who is an open supporter of Mr. Reed.

The New York Republican Congressional delegation held a caucus at the Arlington last night. Chairman James J. Belden was the host. After a full discussion a ballot was taken which showed 16 votes out of 17 for Reed. Congressman Flood declared for McKinley. Knapp and Miller, who were not present, telegraphed that they will vote with the delegation. Flood finally declared that he would probably stay with his colleagues, insuring the 19 votes for the Maine statesman.

It is rumored to-day that Mr. Niedringhaus and Mr. Kinsey, of Missouri, will go over from the McKinley to the Reed forces before noon to-morrow.

Compositors Desire Higher Wages.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—Typographical Union No. 2 of this city has addressed to Clayton McMichael, editor of the "North American" and president of the local society of employing printers, a request for an interview to the end of securing a higher price for typesetting. The union rate is now 40 cents, while the non-union offices pay only 35 cents a thousand.

The Lawrence Bank President Surrenders.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—President W. W. Young of the Lawrence Bank voluntarily surrendered himself and gave bail in $2,500 for his appearance before Alderman O'Donnell on charges of embezzlement preferred by Thomas M. McCaffrey, one of the depositors in the defunct institution.

KILLED DURING A SPREE.

A Fearfully Bloody and Brutal Wife Murder at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 28.—Michael Kennedy, a salt boiler, killed his wife at their home near the salt yards last night. The two had been on a drunken spree for several days, and they had a quarrel.

Nothing more was seen of them until when Kennedy wandered about the neighborhood spattered with blood. He seemed to be recovering from a drunken stupor, and said that his wife had been killed by the cars.

Neighbors went to the house and found the woman lying on a bed drenched with blood, a pool of which covered the floor. The back of the woman's head and neck was cut, and on the floor lay a knife and an axe covered with blood. The body was cold, and the crime must have been committed early in the night. Kennedy made no effort to escape. He was arrested charged with murder, and his two sons were held as witnesses. Kennedy is 43 year old.

A NEW MONASTERY.

The Order of the Precious Blood to be Established in Brooklyn.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 29.—A rather remarkable lady has arrived in the person of the Rev. Mother Gonatte, foundress of the Precious Blood Order, in Canada, and head of the same community in the Town of St. Hyacinthe.

The reverend lady is enroute to Brooklyn, N. Y., where a wealthy American gentleman is building a monastery for the ladies of the Precious Blood. The lady in question has become famous in the Catholic world on account of her fervent piety, and it is alleged by the faithful that at a period following constant prayer the stigmata appears on the palm of her hand.

Von der Ahe Losing Heart.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29.—When Chris Von der Ahe returned from Columbus, he refused positively to talk about the meeting there, except to say that the circle of cities for the American Association was not completed. While Von der Ahe was at Columbus, he wired his secretary, George Munson, to sign players, but George wired back that he was helpless, on account of the Brotherhood tidal wave. Chris is undoubtedly losing heart, and St. Louis baseball cranks are getting scared, many prophesying that there will be no professional baseball here next year.

Jubilant London Bakers.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The bakers in this city are in a very jubilant mood over the success of their strike, but the poor who are not fortunate enough to be bakers are rueful over the advanced price of bread. In the meantime the capitalized Bread Union has acquired nearly three hundred bakery shops, besides several flour mills. The bakers have an exaggerated idea of the power of the County Council and are protesting to it in no moderate language against such a "monopoly" being allowed.

Brotherhood Talk on the Coast.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—A special from San Francisco, says: Ten members of last season's Boston's League team have arrived here accompanied by Manager Hart and Gen. Dixwell. The party are at the Baldwin and talk nothing but Brotherhood. Jim Hart is a stanch supporter of the Brotherhood, and says as this is his last season in the baseball business he feels at liberty to talk. He says that Commiskey, Boyle, Latham, King and O'Neil, of St. Louis, have signed Brotherhood contracts. Bill Brown has signed with New York.

Labor's Tribute to Tom Armstrong.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—The unveiling of the statue to the memory of Thomas A. Armstrong, the editor of the "National Labor Tribune," by the members of the labor organizations of the country, took place at Allegheny Park. Hon. Miles S. Humphries of this city, delivered the oration. Thomas Armstrong Highberger, the five-year-old nephew of Mr. Armstrong, performed the ceremony of unveiling the statue.

Dom Pedro's Reception.

LISBON, Nov. 29.—It is very doubtful if Dom Pedro will land here. The Provisional Goverment instructed the Brazilian Minister here that if the deposed Emperor desired to proceed to another port a steamer should be chartered to convey him, as the Alagoas returns to Rio Janeiro immediately. A private cable dispatch from Rio Janeiro says that Dom Pedro was ill when he left Brazil, and that he was accompanied by his physician.

Shot and Hanged Himself.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 29.—John Kreidler, a watchman in Barber's machine shop at Bath, was found suspended by the neck with a strap, from the door of a closet, and with a bullet hole in his heart. Kreidler had been drinking heavily for two weeks and was discharged from his position. Worry over this is supposed to be the cause. The suicide was 55 years old and leaves a wife and five children.

Killed Her Lover.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—While toying with a revolver last night, Josephine Welsh, a highly respected young woman of West Elizabeth, shot and instantly killed her lover, Charles Weite. The young couple were to be married soon, and Miss Welsh is crazed with grief. Weite was a young Englishman, 24 years of age, and a fireman on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad.

A Big Steam Barge Wrecked.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The big steam barge Calumet was run high on the rocks at Port Sheridan during a terrible gale on Lake Michigan last night. She narrowly escaped foundering and carrying all on board down with her. It was the good judgment of Captain Green that averted such a disaster.

Rev. Thomas Ewing Sherman's Lecture.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Rev. Thomas Ewing Sherman, the eldest son of Gen. W. T. Sherman, delivered the first lecture in the Georgetown University course, last evening, on "Winds of Doctrine; or, the Mystery of Knowledge."

Secretary Blaine Ill.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Callers at Secretary Blaine's residence on Lafayette square were informed that the Secretary was sick in bed, suffering from an attack of lumbago.

A CURIOUS COLLECTION.

A DANDELION which has grown to the top of a ten-foot pole is the product of a New Haven truck patch.

A CHICAGO husband and wife both filed petitions for divorce on the same day, each without the knowledge of the other.

JOHNSON MUNDY, a Tarrytown (N. Y.) sculptor who is nearly blind, is modeling a statue of a Union soldier by the sense of touch.

A FISHERMAN at Doylestown, Pa., saw a sunfish swallow a bee, and a few minutes later saw the fish on the water dead. He cut it open and the bee flew off.

A ROLLER in an Ansonia (Conn.) mill has succeeded in making a ribbon seventy and three-quarter inches long, three-quarters of an inch wide and five ten-thousandths of an inch thick from an 1889 cent.

A YOUNG lady of Columbus, Ga., has made a crazy quilt out of Louisiana State lottery tickets that failed to "connect" with the prize wheel. The numbers are worked in silk of beautiful colors.

A MAINE girl put a note and her address in a box of toothpicks, requesting the finder to write to her. A Kansas City man got the box, opened a correspondence, and a few days ago started East to see if the young lady was the sort of woman he wanted for a wife.

AT Leighton Buzzard, Eng., the other day a chapel was burned down in which it had previously been arranged to celebrate a wedding. The destruction of the sacred edifice had no effect in postponing the ceremony, and the man and woman were made one amid the smoking ruins.

THE fact that the passage of an electric current through a rose leaf will cause it to lose color was taken advantage of at a recent dinner in Paris. Instead of the ordinary card the seat of each guest was indicated by his name being inscribed in white letters upon a rose leaf at his place at table.

A WONDERFUL map of O'Brien County, Ia., was made for exhibition at the State fair at Des Moines. The map was wholly composed of corn grains, each town and township being distinguished by different colors. The railroads were marked by rows of blue-black "squaw corn" and the wagon roads with popcorn.

A CURIOSITY in the shape of a milk pumpkin was lately seen on a farm a few miles southwest of Anderson, Ind. The vine upon which the pumpkin grew was partly covered with loose dirt, when in bloom. At the points where the dirt covered the vine small roots grew out. The vine was lifted up and the roots carefully placed in a pan of milk, which was rapidly absorbed. The pumpkins on the vine grew to enormous size, and one weighs 125 pounds.

IN Elbert County, near Craft's ferry, on the Savannah river, lives a negro man who goes by the name of "Sheep Jess," who is a curiosity. His hair and whiskers are perfectly white and almost cover his head and face, leaving only small patches of dark skin around his eyes and nose, and are a perfect imitation of sheep's wool. His hair, or wool, grows rapidly, and his wife shears him every two weeks, thereby realizing enough wool to supply Jess, his wife and five children with stockings the year round, and sells enough socks to supply them in sugar and coffee. His wife has nearly enough of the finest part of the wool saved up to make cloth sufficient for a suit of clothes for Jess next winter. He is about thirty-five years old.

ITEMS OF INFORMATION.

"BRIGADE" meant originally a noisy crew or company, from Italian brigare, to brawl. It is of course a near relative of "brigand."

THE city of Washington is said to have been first called "The City of Magnificent Distances" by President Madison. It is so called on account of the wide, open spaces caused by the peculiar plans of its streets, and being originally laid out on a large scale.

SPIRES are erected on churches for ornamental purposes, and also to serve as hanging-places for single bells or a chime of bells, as the case may be. They have been in use, in various shapes, for ages. The earliest examples are the pyramidal roofs of the turrets of Norman date.

THERE is a common expression, "it suits to a T," that is a very old one. The T square or rule is an instrument used by mechanics when great exactness is required. When any thing is exactly right "it suits to a T." That is, it is correct in every way, as a piece of work would be if measured by the T rule.

ACCORDING to tradition Christ was crucified on Friday, on which account it has been customary for hundreds of years for hangings to take place on that day. Of late a sentiment against this strange notion has been developed, and the day is not selected as often as before, more particularly in the State of Pennsylvania.

IT is to be noted that on the 14th of April, the day after Easter in 1360, King Edward III. lay with his army before the city of Paris, which day was full dark of mist and hail, and so bitter cold that many men died on their horse's backs with the cold, wherefore unto this day it has been called the "Black Monday."

IN making sleighbells the ball is put inside a sand "core," or internal mold, just the shape of the inside of the bell. This sand core, with the jinglet inside, is placed in the mold of the outside, and when the melted metal is poured in it fills the space between the core and the mold. The hot metal burns the core so that it can all be shaken out, leaving the ball within the shell.

THE two sides of the face are not alike. As a rule, says a German professor, the want of symmetry is confined to the upper part of the face. The left half of the brain overweighs the right half; the nose leans a little to the right or to the left. The region of the right eye is usually slightly higher than that of the left eye; while the left eye is nearer the middle line of the countenance. The right ear is also higher, as a rule, than the left ear.

TOLD OF THE FAMOUS.

LORD SALISBURY has such an extreme aversion to tobacco that even his own sons do not venture to smoke in his presence.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES has refused to write a poem for a prominent magazine. He said that he felt that it was time for him to stop.

GREATNESS has its annoyances, too. Mr. Edison is called "Old Macaroni" by the Menlo Park boys, who have heard that he has been made a count.

PRINCE BISMARCK received over 1,000 telegrams of congratulation on the occasion of the twenty-seventh anniversary of his appointment as President of the Prussian Cabinet.

MME. MODJESKA is said to entertain more than any other woman on the stage. Her favorite form of entertainment is to give a quiet dinner to a half-dozen particular friends.

IN a recent interview Lord Tennyson is reported as saying that Keats and Horace were his masters, and that to the early study of their works he attributes his success as a poet.

BRONSON HOWARD recently remarked: "I suppose that I write a whole play about three times from beginning to end, but in doing so I copy many whole scenes unchanged. Certain parts of the play I may write six times before it suits me."

MEISSONIER recently said to a lady, who remarked, upon visiting his new house, that she missed pictures of his own from among the beautiful things with which he had adorned the rooms: "Ah, madame, they are too dear to allow me to keep them."

THE Countess Magri, better known as Mrs. Tom Thumb, is said to have fine business ability, and she plans the routes and makes arrangements for her traveling company. She is the possessor of $5,000 worth of jewelry, which she wears at her performances.

THE late Sunset Cox attacked Benjamin Butler while he was making a speech in the House. "Shoo-fly, don't bother me," exclaimed the irate Massachusetts statesman, with an irritated gesture of contempt. This was the origin of the once popular phrase.

Gives Good Appetite, New Strength, Quiet Nerves, Happy Days, Sweet Sleep.

A POWERFUL TONIC. A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration.

THE MOST SCIENTIFIC AND SUCCESSFUL BLOOD PURIFIER. Superior to quinine.

Mine was about as bad a case of malaria as could be, and yet Kaskine cured me after I had been dosed with almost every drug in the Pharmacopoeia.—J. D. Hird, B. A., Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

"For eight years I had dumb ague intolerably. Wishing myself dead a score of times. I never found a medicine worth the bottle that held it, until I took Kaskine. That was a happy day for me. It gave me appetite and strength. I can sleep like a top. I stand by every word of this."—Thos. Toole, Schuylerville, N. Y.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

REED FOR SPEAKER

The Choice of the Republican Caucus To-Day.

THE HOUSE OFFICERS CHOSEN

Mr. McPherson of Pennsylvania Captures the Clerkship.

McAdams Doorkeeper, and McKee Postmaster—The President Appoints a Batch of Consuls—The Democratic Caucus Postponed—Alarming Reports About Mr. Blaine's Illness Unwarrantable.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Balloting for Speaker in the Republican caucus commenced at 1 o'clock, Congressman McComas, of Maryland, presiding.

Thos. Brackett Reed, of Maine, received the caucus nomination for Speaker.

The balloting for officers of the House resulted in the election of McPherson for Clerk, McAdams for Doorkeeper, and McKee for Postmaster.

Sketch of the New Speaker.

Tom Reed looks anything but the traditional leader. He has the frame of a Japanese wrestler, and his head might serve for that of a Chinese giant. He is fat and tall, and his big-boned body is padded at every point with muscular flesh. His face is broad, fair and fat; the cheeks puff out, and a pair of small, half-almond eyes shine like diamonds under a broad forehead, which goes on and on upward until it fades away into a fuzzy baldness about three inches in front of Reed's crown.

Reed's mouth is a strong one, and he has a straggling red mustache on his upper lip. Reed's hair is thickest at the sides and at the back. It is not luxuriant at any place, and he combs the sandy locks well up and over his ears, so that the ends of them just touch the collar of his coat. The big round head is pasted upon Reed's broad, fat shoulders with a fat, wafer-like neck, and when Reed sits in his chair in the House, with his hands up under his chin and elbows leaning on his desk, you wonder whether he has any neck at all, and you can hardly imagine him to be the greatest man among all the members surrounding him.

He cares little for appearances, and during the quieter part of the session he walks about the House with his hands in his pockets, stopping now and then to tell a story to a crowd of brother members and making laughter wherever he goes. He never writes out his speeches for the "Record," and seldom corrects the proof of them as taken down by the stenographers. He can make as good an after-dinner speech as a Congressional one, and he enjoys the good things of this life as well as any other man in Congress.

Tom Reed is, however, simple in his habits. He is not a money-saver nor a money-accumulator, and he would be a richer man if he had remained out of Congress. During his past career he has lived very simply at Washington. His quarters were in the Hamilton House, a private hotel frequented largely by New Englanders. Reed had a couple of little rooms up near the attic, and he worked away at his desk against the wall and under a gas-jet. The only picture in the room was a print of Abraham Lincoln, whom Reed admired greatly. You never found him loafing about the hotel, and he has spent the chief part of his leisure in study. This year he has changed his quarters, and he will live at the Shoreham, which is more comfortable, but which will be quite as retired as the Hamilton.

The Democratic Caucus Postponed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The caucus of Democratic members-elect to the next House of Representatives which was to be held at the capitol last night for the purpose of deciding for whom the complimentary vote of the Democrats should be cast at the election of Speaker and other House officers, did not take place. It was found that a quorum was not present at the time set for the caucus to be called to order, and it was decided to postpone the meeting until Monday morning next at 10 o'clock.

Consuls Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The President has appointed the following consuls: William Monoghan, of Ohio, at Hamilton, Canada; John B. Osborne, of Pennsylvania, at Ghent; Delos H. Smith, of Arizona, at Nogales; William E. Gardner, of Wisconsin, at Rotterdam; Hiram J. Dunlap, of Illinois, at Breslau; Bedford Mackey, of South Carolina, at San Jose, Costa Rica.

Mr. Blaine's Illness Not Serious.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Alarming reports as to Secretary Blaine's illness are unwarrantable. His condition is in no respect serious. He caught cold at the banquet tendered by him to the members of the Maritime Congress. By the advice of his physician he is remaining indoors until it can be cured.

Hopkins Found Guilty of Murder.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 30.—William Hopkins, who shot and killed his wife Maggie Hopkins and her mother Esther Wagaman, at Phillipsburg, Sept. 22d, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. A new trial will be applied for.

Carried Over the Dam and Drowned.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 30.—John W. Collins, for twelve years superintendent of Collins' Mills, Dracutt, was drowned by being carried over the dam at Beaver Brook.

King Leopold Congratulates Stanley.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 30.—King Leopold has sent a telegram to Henry M. Stanley congratulating him upon the completion of his task, and inviting him to visit Brussels.

LAWLESS BANDS.

Over Forty Robberies Committed in One County During the Week.

READING, Pa., Nov. 30.—The arrest at Pine Grove of the four Long brothers for systematic robberies of local merchants' stores, of which the elder Long's establishment was one, has directed public attention to the necessity of ridding this region of the organized robbers who have lived for months upon private plunder.

There is not a village or town within a radius of thirty miles from here that has escaped the ravages of the lawless band. The value of goods stolen and destroyed by them mounts up to the thousands of dollars, and the frequent recent captures of supposed leaders seem only to have checked the outrages in slight degree. During the past week twenty more robberies have been committed, two of them upon the public highway and the others in towns with the aid of burglars' entering tools.

Near Lebanon, while F. H. Yetter was returning home, he was surrounded by a detachment of the gang wearing masks, and in the struggle that ensued was shot in the arm. Harry L. Frey of Manatawny, while walking on the road leading from Pleasantville to Shanesville, was knocked senseless and robbed by another detachment. Nine burglaries were committed in and around Orwigsburg during the week. Similar outrages have been perpetrated within the past four days at nine other places. Justice of the Peace Joel Dreibelbis had his house robbed at Virginsville, the postoffice at Frachville was cleaned out and the Pennsylvania Railroad freight depot at Pottstown. Morris Reynier's house at Linfield: James Boyer's residence at McKeansburg, Lewis Bridegam's boarding house at Tuckerton, Peter Helter's barn at Molltown, David Becker's residence at New Ringgold, and Albert Mohring's dwelling at 1,036 Spruce street in this city, have been successfully entered and robbed.

FIRE IN NEW JERSEY.

Several Buildings Burned and One Life Lost.

KEYPORT, N. J., Nov. 30.—Five buildings belonging to E. B. Stout and Mrs. William Conoker were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $75,000: fully insured. The fire was discovered in the bakery of Alonzo Yonkers on Front street. A high wind prevailed and the flames spread quickly.

The bakers employed by Yonkers and the members of his family were asleep when the fire occurred and were aroused with difficulty. All escaped except one baker named Jacob Leyrer who was burned to death.

The fire departments of Red Bank, Mattowan and Freehold assisted the local fire department in fighting the fire.

The building occupied by J. Antony, shoemaker, was torn down by the firemen, which prevented further progress of the flames. Alexander Block's dry goods store, the store of the American Union Tea Company, W. H. Collard's grocery store and T. H. Roberts & Co.'s big building were burned.

There were twelve families in the burned houses, who lose nearly all they possessed in the way of household furniture.

Jacob Leyrer's son was also terribly burned. The doctors say he will die.

In a Jersey Jail Awaiting Requisition.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 30.—Harrison Cohen, one of the partners of the firm of J. Susskind & Co., the "bankers" of 140 Canal street, New York, was arrested in Hoboken by New York detectives while he was preparing to sail for Hamburg. He refused to leave New Jersey without requisition papers, and was locked up to await the necessary documents.

A Coroner's Jury Verdict Not Sustained.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Despite the verdict of a coroner's jury exonerating from all blame Siegfried H. May, the whisky agent, for causing the death of Martin J. Flynn with his umbrella on October 30, the Grand Jury has found an indictment against May for manslaughter in the first degree for causing Flynn's death. May has not yet been arrested.

BRUTALLY HANGED.

A Murderer Slowly Strangled to Death by a Bungling Execution.

GUELPH, Ont., Nov. 30.—William H. Harvey was hanged here for the murder of his wife and two daughters on March 26th last. Harvey slept well and ate a hearty breakfast. The death warrant was read to him at 7.55 and his arms were pinioned and the procession, headed by Rev. Mr. Dixon marched to the scaffold. Harvey looked haggard and raised his eyes only once. The prayer for the dead of the Episcopal Church was said, during which Harvey's legs were pinioned and the cap drawn down.

The rope was then cut. The execution was a piece of brutal bungling. The weight which lifted the body was not heavy enough and the scaffold not high enough to give sufficient rebound to break the neck. The struggles and contortions of the victim were frightful and he slowly strangled to death.

Bid His Folks Farewell and Died.

QUINCY, Mass., Nov. 30.—Frank B. Adams, aged 35, unmarried, committed suicide by drowning himself in Wymouthback river. On leaving home he bade his folks good-bye, saying they would not see him again alive. He had recently returned from an insane asylum and frequently threatened to committ suicide, so no credence was given his words.

Murray Committed as a Lunatic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—George E. Murray the negro who armed himself with an axe, and whose antics created a panic among the residents of East Houston street and the Bowery, was committed to the Commissioners of Charities at the Tombs to-day. The men whom he injured in his madness did not appear against him.

THE SMOKING RUINS

Searching for the Bodies of Firemen in Boston.

THE LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

English Companies Reported to be Heavy Losers.

Total Loss About $4,000,000—$2,500,000 Covered by Insurance—How it is Distributed Among the Various Companies—The Burned-Out Business Men Already Looking for New Quarters.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—The burned district to-day presents a scene of desolation. A portion of the fire department spent the entire night in quenching the big blaze, while a cordon of weary policemen are still guarding the ruins. Incoming trains are packed with sightseers, and crowds of people have flocked to the scene, but only a few succeeded in penetrating the roped enclosure.

The walls of some of the gutted buildings are in a very dangerous condition, and the owners are contemplating razing them to the ground to prevent the possibility of accident. Gangs of men have already begun to clear away the debris. Nearly all the burnt-out merchants have made arrangements to occupy other stores at once and resume business.

A party of ten men was organized to search the ruins of the Brown, Durrell & Co. building for the remains of the missing firemen, Laddermen Loker and Buckley. Their coats were found buried beneath bricks and timber, and this seems to settle all doubts as to their fate. A further attempt to find the bodies will be made this afternoon by fifty street laborers detailed by order of Mayor Hart. Two more firemen—Michael Murnan, driver, and John Brooks, pipeman of Hose No. 7—are reported missing and are believed to be in the ruins of the Brown-Durrell building.

Nearly all the burned-out merchants have made arrangements to occupy stores at once and resume business.

Among the spectators at the ruins were 500 girls who were employed in T. Y. Crowell's book bindery, many of whom were the main support of families, and who have now no means of subsistence.

One banker in discussing the fire says: "The burning up of stocks and merchandise is in effect a sale of them to the insurance companies for cash, and will result in a short time in throwing a great deal of cash in our banks."

Most of the insurance lossesare made by the English companies, as in the case of the Lynn fire and, as these companies have no balance here, much new money must come from abroad.

John C. Paye's Insurance Agency estimates the total loss at $10,000,000. Other estimates are lower. The assessed value of the destroyed buildings is $796,600. Individual losers, as a rule, are men abundantly able to stand the loss.

The insurance companies are likely to profit by the fire in the long run, as the demonstration that so-called fire-proof buildings are not fire-proof, is likely to result in property being insured more nearly up to its full value.

The agregate insurance on the property destroyed is $2,753,720, as nearly as can be estimated. Insurance Commissioner Merrill says that with the exception of two or three of the new or smaller concerns there is no probability that the losses will break any of the insurance companies.

DOES IT DOOM COUGHLIN?

Dr. Cronin's Knife Found in the Possession of the Accused Detective.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—"When will these disclosures cease?" exclaimed Chief of Police Hubbard, as an important piece of evidence in the Cronin case came to his knowledge.

Barney Flynn is the policeman who weeks ago was ordered to arrest Detective Coughlin for complicity in the murder.

To-day Flynn remarked to his superior officer that there was a "little matter he had forgotten" that might be worth looking into as implicating Dan Coughlin.

Flynn said that on the night of Coughlin's arrest two pocket-knives had been found in Dan's possession. "At Dan's request," I locked them up in the Fidelity Safe Deposit vault for safe-keeping.

Chief Hubbard visited the deposit vault and secured the two knives. They were introduced in court and positively identified by T. T. Conklin as having been the property of Dr. Cronin. Officer Flynn swore as to how they came in his possession.

Murderer Hodge in the Jury's Hands.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., Nov. 30.—The evidence in the case of Harvey Hodge, on trial for the murder of his wife, was completed last night and the case will go to the jury to-day. The defense has made a desperate attempt to prove that the prisoner is insane, but the testimony of medical experts was to the effect that he was perfectly sane. The attempt to prove that his wife was unfaithful was also a failure. It is predicted that the verdict will be murder in the second degree.

Big Robbery but no Clue.

ATHOL, Mass., Nov. 30.—The money and jewlery stolen from Mr. Henry R. Stowell's house amounts in value to $25,000. The eight persons in the house slept undisturbed while the robbery was being committed. A strange fact is that the safe was opened by the combination, which was supposed to be known only to Mr. Stowell and his daughter, who is his bookkeeper. There is no clue to the robbers.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, of this city will preach Wednesday evening next at Grace Episcopal church, Westfield.

Mrs. W. K. McClure and two daughters of Broadway are visiting relatives on North Charles street, Baltimore, Md.

The funeral of the late Theodore A. Dunn, who died yesterday, will take place from the Seventh Day Baptist church on Sunday at 2:30 P. M.

The engagement is announced of Miss Fairbairn of this city, and Mr. Allan Worth of Westfield, a member of the Plainfield Bicycle Club.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Voehl, who died on Thursday, took place from her parents' residence on West Front street, this morning, Rev. C. B. Mitchell officiating.

Prof. T. E. Hazell, of North Plainfield, delivered an admirable address on "Vocal Music in the public schools" before the Somerset county teachers' meeting, held at Somerville, recently.

Mr. Hugh Janeway, the biggest man on the victorious Princeton football team, is well known in this city where he has spent many months. He is a grandson of the late Wm. L. Jones of Park avenue and Seventh street.

A committee consisting of Messrs I. W. Pangborn, James McGee, Geo. C. Martin and J. W. Jackson has been appointed to make the preliminary arrangements towards the erection of a new chapel in North Plainfield.

A most enjoyable sociable was held at the home of Mr. J. Oscar Stevens, at Evona, Thanksgiving night. About fifty were present. Music was furnished by Mr. George Rogers, and a bountiful supper served. Mr. Robert Burns added some recitations to the entertainment.

A number of guests were present at the Harned Academy on Park avenue, Sunday. Senor Castellanos, the delegate from Salvador, C. A., came on from Washington, D. C., to visit his son. Among other guests were Mrs. Oliver of Philadelphia, and the Misses Carpenter of Chappaqua, N. Y.

At the home of the bride in Philadelphia, this afternoon, will take place the marriage of Mr. F. A. Pope, eldest son of Elias R. Pope, Esq., of this city, and Mrs. Mary G. Childs, formerly Miss Gillingham. Mr. and Mrs. Pope will spend their honeymoon in Richmond, and afterwards reside in this city at Park avenue and Fifth street.

A musicale will be given at the home of Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, on LaGrande avenue, Monday evening, December 9. Mr. Carl E. Dufft, baritone of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, and also a member of the Lyric Ballad company, will be one of the artists. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Kitchen Garden.

The City Collector Contest.

Of the offices to be filled at the coming election none is more important than that of collector of taxes. There are several candidates who are seeking a nomination by the Republican Convention to be held this evening.

Mr. Johnson is again seeking re-election, and Justice Nodyne is also a candidate. Mr. Johnson has held the office several years and his fees and percentages have been large—over $2,000 a year. Some of the Republicans think he has been given his share by the party.

Justice Nodyne is well-known as an honest and deserving man, and his qualifications for the office are undoubted.

Our Papa Don't Know Nothing Till We're Out.

(From the Central Times.)

For some time past the ambitious young Daily Press has been claiming through sign-board posters, bowling club score cards, Music Hall programmes and advertisements "judiciously displayed" on its own bosom, that it is "Plainfield's only newspaper." The first thing The Press knows, its papa—The Constitutionalist—will remark: "Where do I come in, sonny?"

A Surprise Party

Was tendered to Mr. Henry Mellman at his home on Orchard place, last evening, at which there were abont twenty-five persons in attendance. The party was arranged by Mr. Charles Remsen, and the guests experienced a pleasant evening by dancing and in other social ways. Refreshments were served in abundance.

Narrow Escape from Drowning.

A boy whose name is said to be Crane, had a narrow escape from drowning near Farragut avenue, a few days ago. The boy accidentally fell into Green Brook and was being rapidly washed down stream by the swollen water when Mr. Robert Carson rescued him.

His Annual Offer.

Mr. Wm. H. Taylor, proprietor of Taylor's Hotel at Dunellen, makes his annual offer of a bottle of wine to the person who first reaches his hotel in a cutter. Of course the cutter must be drawn along over snow, and not conveyed there in a wagon.

A Good News Meeting.

The young men of the city are reminded of the meeting conducted by and for young men at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Spirited singing and live talks may be expected.

I have been suffering the past three months with rheumatism. One bottle of Salvation Oil gave entire relief. FRANK O'BRIAN, Baltimore, Md.

MR. BURDICK AT MUSIC HALL.

Music Hall was well filled last night with an audience that listened attentively to Mr. Burdick for over an hour and a half. Rev. Dr Yerkes, Rev. Dr. Lewis, Rev. Mr. Rodman and Rev. Mr. Honeyman were on the stage, and a large number of the best citizens were in the audience. Rev. Dr. Lewis conducted the devotional exercises, and Mr. M. M. Dunham led the choir.

Mr. Burdick said that some thought that the New York Court of Appeals had declared all prohibitory laws unconstitutional, but that was a mistake. There was no question as to the right to prohibit since the U. S. Supreme Court had so decided. Men talk of "personal liberty," but no man had liberty to do another injury. Some one said to him: "You want to tell us what to eat and drink, and next you will tell us what we must wear." He answered: "The law does that now. Put on woman's clothes and go down town, and see how quickly you will be arrested," Men are not allowed to do as they please, and never should be. The license system was all wrong because it permitted men to ruin families, wreck men made in the image of God, and destroy souls. Liquor sellers often acknowledged that their business was morally wrong but would say "There is my license," and think that was a sufficient answer. The very worst feature of the case was that the people who voted directly or indirectly for license were responsible, as the saloon keeper was really authorized by the voter to do just what he was doing. The voters were the principal, and the seller their agent, and every principal was responsible for his agent's acts. When recently a man fired a barn the Court not only sentenced him to the penitentiary, but sent the person who paid him to do it to the same penitentiary for double the time. As as illustration of the effects of high license, Mr. Burdick said that one saloon keeper in Philadelphia who sold $19,000 per year under low license, sold $87,000 under high; while another who sold less than $20,000 under low, sold $111,000 under high. This looked like concentration rather than destruction. If a manufacturer should come to this city and bring 500 employees it would greatly benefit the place and distribute money, but if a saloon keeper came it would simply draw money into his till from the poor at the expense of their families. Which was best? A laborer in Pittsburgh paid most of his money to a saloon keeper, and one night in a butcher shop heard this saloon keeper say: "I want five pounds of steak, cut thick," while he took home 20 cents worth of liver. He began to think, and resolved that he would quit liver diet, and soon he was able to order "five pounds of steak, cut thick," for himself, and now through sobriety and labor he is worth a million of dollars.

After the address Rev. W. E. Honeyman, by request, made an appeal for financial help to defray the expenses of this temperance campaign, and asked for $50 subscriptions, whereupon Mr. Charles Potter arose and promptly offered to give $50; Mr. Geo. Babcock gave $75; Mrs. Babcock, $25; Mr. Stewart, $25; Dr. Tomlinson, $25, and a large number gave smaller sums, so that about $300 was pledged before the meeting closed. Rev. Dr. Yerkes pronounced the benediction, after notice had been given of meeting this evening at 7:45.

The Bible on Temperance.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Does the Bible teach me to observe the question of temperance and to use all my power to banish rum from the face of the earth? That is often asked by professing Christians. They should read the following passages of Scripture and compare them with the signs of the times:

Proverbs III; 27, 28, 29, 33.
Proverbs IV; 7, 27.
Proverbs VI; 9, 16 to 19.
Proverbs VIII; 13.
Proverbs X; 23.
Luke XXI; 36.
Matthew V; 16 and 48.
1st Thess., V; 6 and 22.
2d Thess., III; 6.
James II; 14 to 20.

FRED NEIS, JR.

"Humpty Dumpty."

As THE PRESS stated yesterday, a thread bare production of "Humpty Dumpty" attracted a large audience at Music Hall, on Thursday evening, but it is just such "attractions" that will ruin Music Hall. The company performed at Elizabeth in the afternoon, and the Journal of that place says:

"The "Humpty Dumpty" that occupied the opera house yesterday afternoon was verily a "holiday snap." Never has so poor an imitation of this popular attraction for children been seen in the city. It could not even be classed as "amateurish." The only redeeming features were the specialty artists who appeared during the intermission and Prof. Smith's dogs. How Plainfield must have suffered!"

Sentence Day at Elizabeth.

Today was sentence day at Elizabeth, and the following persons were arraigned before Judge McCormick.

Thomas Flood, formerly of this city, convicted for indecent assault at Rahway, was fined ten dollars and costs.

Joseph Sullivan of Plainfield convicted for illegal selling was fined ten dollars and costs.

Ackerman, the man convicted for shooting at his son-in-law was committed to the county Jail for five months and twenty-nine days, and Borden, the saloon keeper at Linden who assaulted young Walker, got a like sentence.

Of Interest to School Teachers.

A compilation of all the school laws of the State, including those passed last Winter, has just been completed under the direction of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Besides the laws there are in the book the rules and regulations for the government of school officers, various decisions given by the State Superintendent on matters submitted to him and the blanks and forms prepared for the use of school officers. The book is a very useful one for all persons engaged in school work.

A Boy Accidently Shot Dead.

George Jobs, eight years old, accidentally shot himself dead with a rifle on Thanksgiving Day at Rahway. The lad, it is supposed, seized the weapon by the muzzle and in trying to draw it towards him pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the boy's mouth and lodged in his brain.

—Some exciting times are predicted for this evening when the Democratic and Republican City Conventions will take place.

Grape Cure Establishment.

Mr. Speer, of New Jersey, whose wines have such a well merited and extended reputation all over the country and Europe, for their age and excellent properties in cases of sickness, and are so famous for their curative properties, is about to build a large Hotel or Grape Cure Establishment on one corner of his vineyard. The House will accommodate five or six hundred guests who are to have the privilege of roaming among the vines in the morning to pluck the ripe grapes and breakfast on them while the cool dew is yet on.

To Rebuild Seeley's Mill.

The large paper mill that was destroyed by the freshet last Summer belonging to Mr. Seeley, and located near Scotch Plains, is to be replaced by a new mill much larger than the old one and is to contain all the latest improved machinery. Many of the old employees of Mr. Seeley who have been working at odd jobs are delighted to know that they will soon be in their old places. The building will be longer than before but not so wide, thus avoiding the force of the water.

A large part of the bank along the mountain side is being removed to make room for the new building. The dams will be rebuilt in a substantial manner. The mill will be one of the largest of its kind in the State.

The Asbestos Limited's Officers.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The Asbestos Limited of North avenue, held their meeting for election of officers as heretofore published in your paper of Nov. 26, and the following gentlemen were elected.

President—Count Stans-enburg; Vice President—Duke J. Boss-enburg; Treasurer—Major General Hat-enfield; Corresponding Acephalist—Prince Normando Pike-enburg; Directors—Faty Walsh and others. All communications and applications for drawings, specifications and estimates ethetialy required, should be addressed to their Acephalist, Prince Normando Pike-enburg, North avenue.

Washingtonville Wrinklets.

A necktie sociable will be held at the school house, Tuesday evening next. Come, bring a friend and have a good time.

A valuable horse belonging to Mr. Chas. Sage of Union Village, ran into a barbed wire fence on Wednesday, inflicting deep flesh wounds on the breast and legs.

Three little boys dressed in girls clothes and wearing false faces, created consternation among the little folks on the hill Thursday morning, until it was discovered that the disguised boys were their playmates.

HERBS FOR HOME USE.

HOREHOUND is good for a cold.

TANSY makes a very good tonic.

CATNIP has a proverbial reputation for its efficacy in cases of colic.

MINT is a very useful herb, having a good effect in cases of a sick or sour stomach.

ANY kind of herb poultice is very soothing. Prepare the meal as if for mush, and then add the herbs.

A CHICK hatched at York, Pa., first saw the light of day through three eyes. It had two mouths, but did not know how to use either, and died.

NEGLECT to maintain proper insulation of wires is the cause of most of the fatal accidents by electric wires in New York lately, according to experts.

TWO COAL dealers at Port Huron bid exactly the same figures for supplying the city with 600 tons of coal, and then they tossed a cent to see which should have the contract.

A LADY of Newville, Cumberland County, N. Y., has a piano which was owned by the wife of President John Quincy Adams. The instrument is still in excellent condition.

A HOP poultice is especially soothing on account of opiate qualities possessed by the hop, and for this reason a hop pillow has a happy effect on a person suffering from insomnia.

THE Unter den Linden of Berlin, with three lines of arc lamps separated by two rows of trees, is said to be the best illuminated thoroughfare in the world. The wires are under ground.

AN interesting discovery is said to have been made in India. This is nothing less than the lost books of Euclid of which a Sanskrit translation is said to have been found in Jeypore.

HELPS FOR HORTICULTURISTS.

BURY bones about the roots of the grape vine. The vine has a great love for bones.

A GOOD, honestly packed barrel of apples will usually sell for what they are worth. Good and bad apples together sell for the price of bad apples.

THE apple-grower who has good winter apples keeps them in good condition and sends them to market in honestly-packed barrels will probably realize a good price for them.

MORE trees and vines are ruined by reckless clipping and sawing than by neglect to prune at all. Never prune unless you know just what you want to accomplish by doing it.

THE average apple eater does not fancy a sweet apple. We like a sweet apple occasionally, but pretty soon we are willing to substitute the acid apple. Upon the whole sweet apples are not the kind to grow.

IT has been observed that the varieties of grapes that are prolific bearers are rampant growers with a wealth of roots. John J. Smith, of Dundee, N. Y., has hit upon the idea of grafting more delicate varieties, like the Delaware, on Concord roots, the result being a stronger and more vigorous growth, and greater productiveness.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the brea.. material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

CAPTURING A PRIZE

The Brotherhood and Association to Consolidate.

PRESIDENT PHELPS' STATEMENT

He is Non-Committal But Admits the Fact of a Combination.

A Possibility that Baltimore Will be Dropped—Mike Kelly Talks About His $20,000 Offer—A Big Sum Bid for Buck Ewing—Sunday Goes Back on the Brotherhood and Signs a League Contract.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30.—Unless the present baseball deal miscarries the American Association and the Brotherhood will make common cause against the National League in ten cities next season. The preliminary arrangements have been concluded, and the only thing now necessary is a formal acceptance of the proposed plan of amalgamation by a committee of the Brotherhood, who will meet at the Tremont House, Chicago, for that purpose within a few days, or, at least, some time before the meeting of the American Association in this city the 10th prox.

The proposition is to combine the present Brotherhood team in Chicago, Pittsburg, Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland and Indianapolis with Association teams at Columbus and St. Louis, merging the Athletic and Brotherhood clubs in Philadelphia and dropping the Louisville and Baltimore clubs entirely.

John M. Ward was in conference with Von der Ahe, Phillips, Whittaker and Layarus last Monday after the session of the Finance Committee, and the whole ground was gone over and the officers of the Association were pledged to the Brotherhood.

The Brotherhood contract was the subject of much discussion and it was arranged that some of the obnoxious features would be changed. It was agreed that nothing should be done until Ward could bring the matter before Hanlon, Pfeffer and other Brotherhood workers.

President Phelps' Statement.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 30.—President Zach Phleps, of the American Association, was shown the above dispatch and said: "I would be very glad to tell you all I know if I were at liberty to do so, but I am not. I am in such a position that I cannot now say anything at all about the matter. We have two or three plans on hand, any one of which is entirely feasible, and will strengthen the Association. I cannot tell you the nature of my business at Columbus Sunday. We are very busy now arranging our schemes, but of their nature I am not at liberty to speak.

"I do not want to deceive you, for that reason I will neither deny nor affirm the statement about the matter of a consolidation with the Brotherhood. I will say to you, however, in all candor, that at none of our meetings has the dropping of Louisville been suggested. Such a thing is not thought of. I do not think that any of the five clubs now in the Association will be dropped."

"How about Baltimore?"

"I don't know about that. Something has been said, I believe, about leaving Baltimore out, because that club is talking of going into the League. I don't know whether the management wants to stay in the Association or not."

"Will Syracuse be admitted?"

"I can not say," said Mr. Phelps. "There are several applications pending. A decision will be rendered in the matter of their admission by December 10 at the latest. I should say, if the consolidation scheme is carried out, that no more clubs will be admitted. The whole matter will be out within a week, and at the earliest moment I will tell you all I know."

Kelly Says He Refused $20,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Mike Kelly, the well-known baseball player, was in the city yesterday en route to the Pacific coast. During the day he held a levee at the hotel, and hundreds of his old friends called on him.

While talking about Brotherhood matters he said that the Brotherhood had nearly all the stars now and that he was going to get the remainder of them.

"The Pittsburgs will cut Brotherhood deserters into thumb-nails next season," is the peaceful remark attributed to "the only."

Kelly also said that Director Conant, of the Boston Club, offered him $5,000, and $5,000 a season to play with the Boston League Club for three years, but that he suspended the offer.

"Buck Ewing," continued Mike, "was offered the same bonus and $7,500 a year to stay with New York, but he wouldn't do it."

"Glascock deserted the boys for $1,000 and a $4,000 position contract."

Kelly is expected at San Francisco Monday or Tuesday. The Boston Club is already there, and Gen. Dixwell thinks they will all be loyal to the Brotherhood and play first for Chicago next season.

Sunday Released by the Players.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Billy Sunday has weakened on his stand with the Brotherhood and has notified the Pittsburg League Club that he will sign an 1890 contract. Anson and Spaulding won him over on the point that he promised President Nimick that he would sign without being restored. Sunday admitted to John Ward that he had gone into the movement with open eyes but had weakened and begged for his release.

Latham Denies that He Has Signed.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—Latham, third baseman of the Browns, is in the city. He denies that he has signed a Brotherhood contract. He says that King, Boyle and Robinson have not signed to play with the Brotherhood. They have received contracts from the Players' League, but as yet have not placed their signatures to them.

Nearly Cut His Head off.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 30.—John Sweeney committed suicide here, nearly cutting his head off with a razor. He had been on a spree and was despondent. He sent for his fiancee, Miss Mamie Duffy, to come and see him. She did not respond quickly enough to suit him, and he began slashing his throat. A policeman disarmed him, but too late, and death soon ensued.

CONSPIRATORS SENTENCED.

Aldermen and Detectives Sentenced to Prison in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—An opinion refusing an application for a new trial in the case of the City Aldermen and the Baudir gang of detectives, recently convicted of criminal conspiracy to defraud, has been handed down by Judge White, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, and Alderman Callan was sentenced to three years, Alderman Doughty one year, and Alderman Manese six months in the county workhouse; Detectives Baudir and Doyle, three years each; Dougherty, two years; Nagle one year and Bender six months in the county workhouse.

Detective Stoner is confined to bed by sickness and was not sentenced.

The plan pursued by the conspirators was: The detectives worked up cases and made information before the Aldermen, against certain parties for selling liquors without license. When the victims appeared before the Aldermen the case would be compromised and dismissed for a money consideration, and the amount divided between the Aldermen and detectives.

DISAPPEARED UNDER A CLOUD.

Judge Fursman's Son Disgraces an Honored Name.

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 30.—James Fursman, son of Judge Fursman of this city, has disappeared under a cloud, having, it is said, appropriated $5,000 belonging to the firm of Smith & Fursman, of which his father is a member.

Young Fursman's method was to take the money which the firm gave him to deposit and appropriate it to his own use. The first that was known of his misconduct was when the bank informed the firm that its account was overdrawn.

Young Fursman will not be prosecuted, as his father will make good the amount.

Suing Powderly on His Own Account.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Nov. 30.—Edward Callaghan, the plaintiff in the conspiracy suit against Powderly, Wise and Byrne, has made an affidavit to the effect that in bringing the suit he was not actuated by malicious motives or by a desire to break down labor organizations, and that no railroad corporation or others, individually or collectively, are aiding or abetting him. It was alleged by prominent Knights of Labor that the Reading road was back of Callaghan.

Greenwall Becomes a Catholic.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 30.—John Greenwall, who is to be hanged in Raymond Street Jail one week from to-day for the murder of Lyman S. Weeks, became a Roman Catholic yesterday. He was baptized in the presence of a number of prisoners by Father O'Hara, of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy. Keeper Wilson acted as godfather. Greenwall still claims to be innocent of the murder, and says that Krause fired the fatal shot.

Another Lone Highwayman.

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 30.—A highwayman, armed with a shotgun and pistol, compelled the driver of a Redding and Weaverville stage to throw out the treasure box of the Wells, Fargo & Co. and the mail pouches. The robbery occurred a few miles from here. There was but little money in the express box, but the robber secured considerable registered mail.

Jimmy Lynch Downs Joe Flaherty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Jimmy Lynch, of this city, defeated Joe Flaherty, of Boston, last night in four rounds, on Long Island. The fight was even up until the last round, when Lynch administered a quietus with a right-hander on the point of the jaw. The men weighed 122 pounds. The winner received $400 and the loser $100 out of the purse.

Confidence in Lynn's Mayor.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 30.—At the Republican municipal convention held last night, the present Democratic mayor was endorsed. This makes the nomination virtually unanimous, and party lines are withdrawn for once in order that Mayor Newhall can have an opportunity to carry on the work he has so successfully inaugurated since the great conflagration.

Jeff. Davis Again Critically Ill.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—Jefferson Davis' condition has again become serious, more serious than it has been at any time during his present illness. The members of his family still cling to the hope that his wonderful vitality and recuperative powers will pull him through.

Fortunes on Paper.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—There is absolutely no truth in the statement of offers of fabulous sums by various Californians for a fight between Sullivan and Jackson. The California Athletic Club has made no offer of a purse, and the story of $35,000 having been offered by the Pacheco Club is false.

Forty Years in Bed.

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 30.—Miss Mary Rankin died at her home near here yesterday, aged 60 years. She has been confined to her bed over forty years by a malady which rendered her helpless. She published a book about herself entitled "A Daughter of Affliction."

The Czar Suffering With Influenza.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—An epidemic of influenza is prevailing in this city and rapidly spreading. Already half the population are afflicted with the illness, including the Czar, the Czarina and two of their children. As yet no fatal cases have been reported.

Strikes in Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The striking dockmen of Bristol have accepted the Mayor's offer to arbitrate. The Clyde engineers will resume work on Monday on a promise that their wages shall be advanced on January 1, 1890.

The Wife Murderer Caught.

GREENVILLE, N. H., Nov. 30.—Wm. H. Hodgman, who killed his wife here, was held at Manchester on a charge of murder to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Death of Martin F. Tupper.

London, Nov. 30.—Martin Farquhar Tupper, the poet, is dead. He is best known as the author of the "Proverbial Philosophy." He was 79 years old.

The managers of 250 cafes in Brussels have been expelled by the Government for maintaining resorts for disorderly persons.

An explosion occurred in a coal mine at Bochum, Westphalia, by which fourteen miners were killed and four badly injured.

The London Trades Council has decided to support the full demands of the Silvertown strikers, and to call out the rubber workmen of the country if necessary.

Postmaster Halbrock of Brewster, N. Y., dropped dead in his office while attending to his duties. He was about 60 years old.

Robert B. Trippe, an Atlanta, Ga., lawyer, aged 35, committed suicide in his office yesterday by shooting himself in the head.

Mr. Redmond, editor of the Waterford, Ireland, "News," has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for intimidation.

While crossing the Rock Island tracks at New Lenox, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris, colored, were struck by an express train and instantly killed.

At Brookline, Mass., a number of Italian laborers were injured by a caving bank. One died on reaching the hospital and another is not expected to live.

Martin W. Delhanty, for many years clerk of the Common Council of Albany, N. Y., and a prominent Democrat, died at his residence in that city last night, aged 60 years.

By a fall of slate at Morris' stone quarries near Bellefonte, Pa., Frank T. Gallagher and Joseph Mayers were instantly killed and James Noon was seriously injured.

The statement of the Reading Railroad for October shows a decrease of $103,471 in profit of operating as compared with October, 1888, namely $950,688 against $1,054,159.

B. H. Bail has been appointed general freight agent of the Reading Railroad Company. He has been acting general freight agent of the company for some time.

A terrific and blinding blizzard has been raging over Lake Superior for forty-eight hours. Many vessels are overdue and grave fears are entertained for their safety.

J. Dobson was murdered at Osgood, Ind., by A. Bishop, his father-in-law, Dobson having mistreated his wife. Sympathy is with Bishop. No arrest has been made.

J. C. Gilliland, cashier of the Citizens' State Bank at Selden, Kan., was arrested on Thursday charged with forging mortgages and thus obtaining money from Eastern loan companies.

J. C. Gilliland, cashier of the Citizens' State Bank at Selden, Kan., is under arrest charged with forgery. He was making arrangements to leave for Pennsylvania when arrested.

The condition of the son of Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, American Minister to England, who is lying ill at Versailles, is greatly improved, and hopes are entertained for his recovery.

It is said that the attempt to organize the Federal Steel Company has failed. The object of the proposed company was to combine manufacturers of wire rods, wire, barbed wire, and wire nails.

The marriage of Miss Artie L. Cody, daughter of W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), and Horton S. Boal, both of North Platte, Neb., was celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents in that city.

The report is current, and believed that George B. Church has received the appointment of Deputy State Treasurer of New York State. He is a son of ex-Lieut.-Gov. Sanford E. Church of Albion, N. Y.

Four little girls, children of Hugh Dunn, a wealthy mine owner of Elliottville, W. Va., found a keg of powder in an abandoned working. In some way they exploded it and were blown to atoms. Their mother lost her reason when told of the fate of her children.

Weather Indications.

Died Suddenly on His Wedding Trip.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Rodney M. Curtis, of Binghamton, N. Y., died suddenly here while driving in a carriage with his wife to Fairmount Park. The couple were on a wedding trip to Washington, having been married on Wednesday last.

Water Filterings.

Various patterns of filters are in use, very few of which are of any value whatever. They act only as a strainer to remove the coarser impurities, but have no effect upon the microscopic bacteria, or matters held in solution, which are the most dangerous. A flannel bag is exactly as good filter as these expensive devices, and possesses the aditional advantages of being easily cleaned or renewed. The most effective filters are those in which a dish of porous stone or earthenware forms the filtering material, but it is best to make sure of the original supply of water, rather than attempt to purify it by any such uncertain methods.

A Natural Mistake.

Cholly—How did Fweddy come to lose his cane, Gworge?

Gworge—Well, the other day the officers came around to ahwest Fweddy, don't-cher-know, and by some mistake or other they got hold of Fweddy's cane instead of him.

"That was sad!"

"Indeed it was. And Fweddy needs his cane weal badly."

F. E. SPINNER, who was the United States Treasurer during the war and for many years after, is now eighty-eight years old. A cancer of the face is slowly eating away his life, and his sight is seriously impaired, yet he keeps up a correspondence with some of his old associates in the Treasury Department and shows the greatest interest in financial affairs.
